The youth of today lives
In a world that is
Ever-changing, always moving.
A world which he does not understand,
Cannot comprehend--He goes on
Searching, seeking, constantly asking.

Searching for the answers to things
Yet unseen, yet unknown.
Searching for world apart,
Searching for that inner fire.

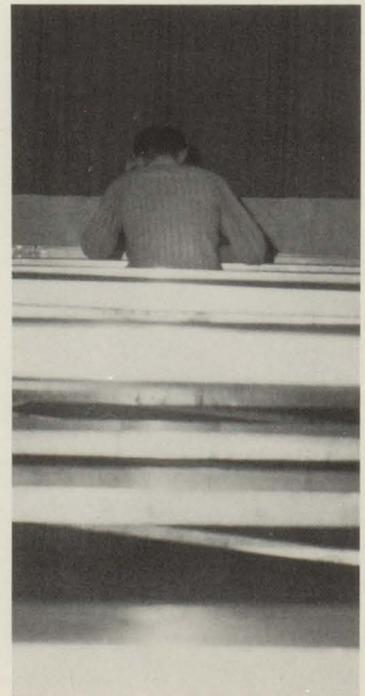

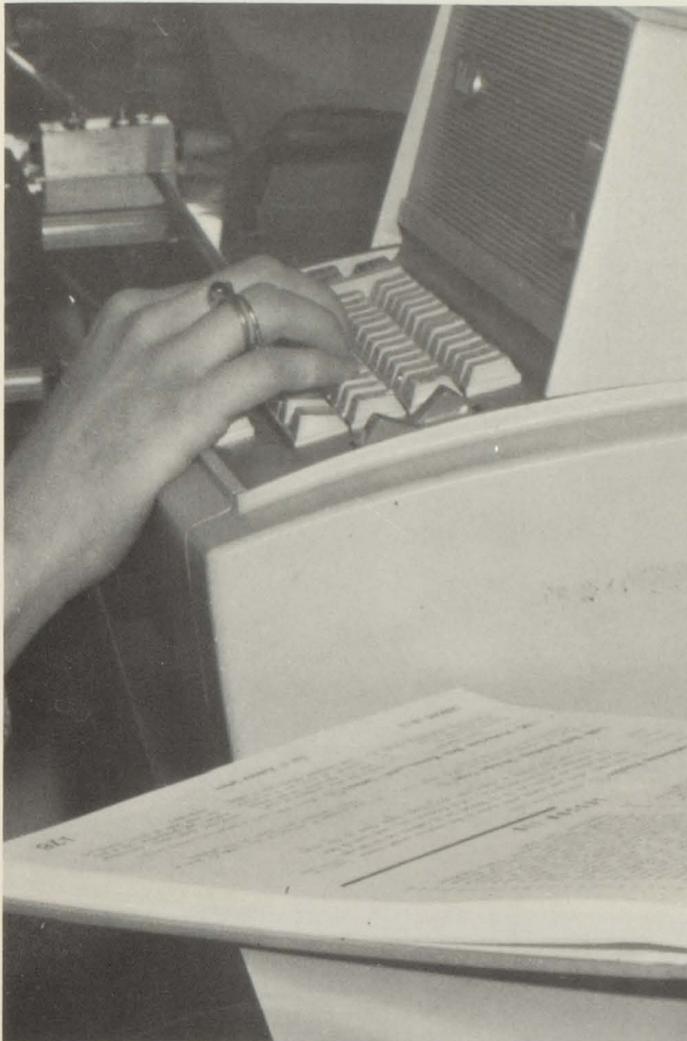

Seeking the understanding that
Is so desperately needed.
Wondering, curious, forever asking.
Probing, reaching out into the darkness,
Reaching out for a hand to guide the way.

Wondering, always wondering
Who Am I?
With an unknown purpose--destiny uncertain,
He is searching for identity,
Walking alone among the many.
Who Am I? Where Am I Going?

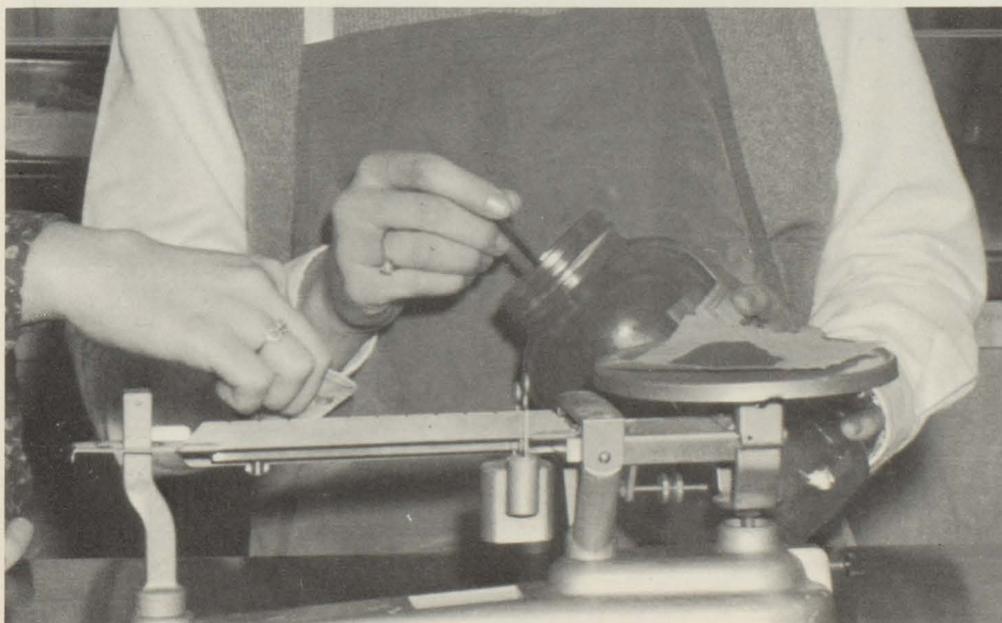

Living, loving, knowing, growing--
The youth is almost--but not yet--ready.
There are things to accomplish,
Questions to answer,
Thoughts to be thought, and
Senses to be felt.
And for what?
To know, to feel, to comprehend,
To prepare for the tomorrow
When he must stand in the world
Alone.

This is his challenge--
THE CHALLENGE OF YOUTH

A challenge that is not unanswered.
The world of Willkie is a world
Where shapes begin to take form.
A life, a way, a thing for me!
A chance to learn, to explore,
A place to grow and flourish,
A place to prepare for that world of Tomorrow.

the Stars” to Beauty and Fantasy

On the evening of May 24, 1968--a starry and still night--Willkie Students proceeded through an arbor of flowers into an entrancing world of fountains and stardust. Softly surrounded by the music of Frank Neville and his orchestra, prom-goers danced in the ballroom.

Entering into the next room, one came upon a warm atmosphere, set by candlelight and flowers and a pool enhanced with varied colors. In the same room refreshments were being served by our own Willkie girls from a lovely long white table.

As the evening's climax drew near, much curiosity was aroused as to who would be Willkie's 1968 Prom Queen. It was announced that this honor would be bestowed upon Miss Stephanie Fennimore, and she was crowned by Junior Class President Dennis Huntsinger. Her Majesty's throne was backed by a golden crescent moon with sandy craters at her feet.

Much work and last-minute effort from the Class of '69 was put into this Enchanted Evening, a long-to-be-remembered event.

Stephanie Fennimore smiles happily as she is crowned by Dennis Huntsinger.

Highlighted Musical Presentations

The 1968 Panther Band Variety Show, under the direction of Mr. Richard Wheeler and Mr. John Hamer, began its evening with a medley of Broadway songs entitled "The Variety Show Overture".

Highlighting this year's show were soloists Clifford Lehman and Mr. Hamer. Two seven-foot Grand Steinways echoed the strains of the "Warsaw Concerto", which was played by Mrs. Wheeler and Mrs. Hamer.

There were several groups that were featured in this year's show. Among them were: The Willkie Choir, the Swing Choir, the dance band, the Dixieland band, and even a Barbershop Quartette.

Mr. Clifford Brugger climaxed the show with a patriotic number, "Duty, Honor, Country".

On May 3, 1968, the choir presented the annual spring program. Featured soloists were Sandy Anderson, Larry Oliver, and Mary Braddock, Cliff Lehman, and Jeff McDaniel.

The Swing Choir and the Choir presented "Sing Out for Our Servicemen" on December 4 and 5, 1968.

"Kaleidoscopes" presented "That's All".

The choir entertained all when singing "Tie Me Kangaroo Down".

Members of Class of '69 Displayed

Joanne Cassidy played a stage-struck young actress, who returned her bracelet to Andy, played by Jeff Simmons.

Nancy Leveridge, played by Kathy Tyner, seemed confident of getting the lead role in the play.

The date was April 25 and 26, 1968; the place, Wendell Willkie Auditorium, and the occasion . . . a rehearsal? Funny as it may seem, this was the theme of the Junior Class play, "Curtain Going Up", written by Samuel French. Miss Burgess, a young teacher played by Carole Jarvis, faced the task of preparing the juniors for their class play. She lives through the complaints of a grouchy janitor, played by Kenn Diko, the fury of a jealous teacher, played by Gloria Piirto, and a feuding romance between her leading lady, portrayed by Joanne Cassidy, and two members of the male cast, played by Les Soard and Jeff Simmons. Along with all this go the hilarious antics of the entire troupe that last up to and including the night of performance.

Although the perils of Miss Burgess are well-known to any drama teacher, they provided delightful light comedy for the audience. And, of course, everything worked out well in the end; even Miss Burgess got her man!

Other members of the cast were Kathy Tyner, Mary Braddock, Barb Green, Marcie Fettig, Barb Widmeyer, Brenda Fuller, Candy Carter, Greg Keifer, Ray Williams, Mike Dixon and Ted Moser. Pat Shepard was the student director.

Gloria Piirto seemed to know everything there was to know about play production.

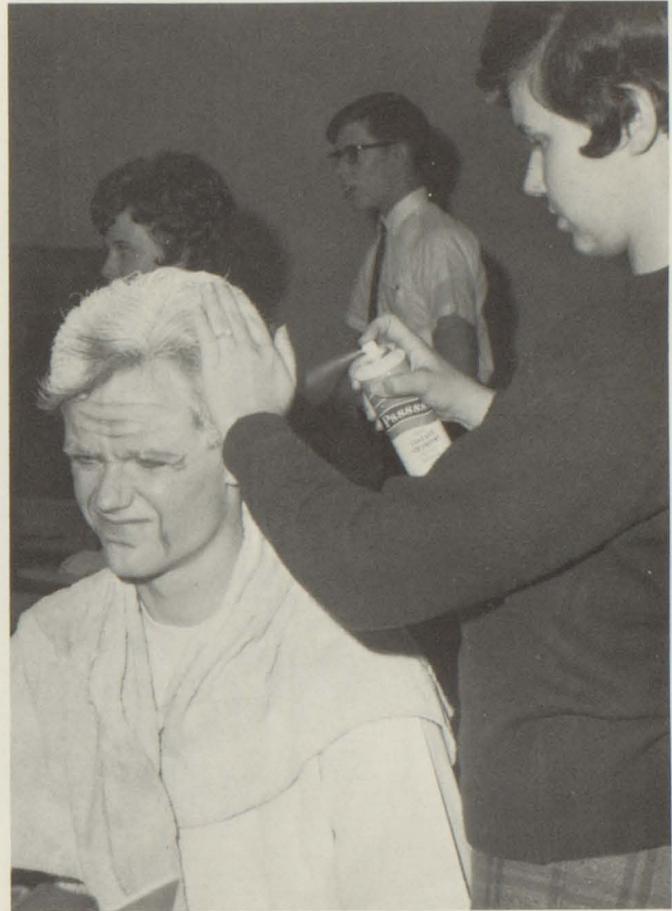

Dramatic Ability in Presentation of Plays

On November 14 and 15, 1968, the senior class presented "You, The Jury" by James Reach.

In this courtroom drama the audience had the chance to act as a jury and to vote whether Barbara Scott, played by Pat Shepard--on trial for the murder of Chester Arthur Brant--is innocent or guilty. When the prosecutor, Alan Woodward played by Steve Mayfield, builds up the case against her, the situation seems hopeless. But the lawyer and sister of the defendant, Edith Scott, played by Candy Carter, is able to bring convincing witnesses before the court, and at the end the jury voted "Not Guilty". Under the direction of Miss Sammis, assisted by Miss Crull and the student directors Marcie Fettig and Barbara Green, all three performances were very successful.

Other members of the cast who helped to make the presentation a success were Keith Sherman, Jeff Brewer, Gloria Piirto, Kathy Tyner, Carole Jarvis, Jeff Simmons, Greg Kiefer, Monika Wojak, Ted Moser, Debbie Himburg, Loren Culp, and Vicki Coston.

Diane Carlson adds the final touches to Keith Sherman's make-up.

Edith tries to calm an outburst from her client Barbara, played by Pat Shepard.

Prosecuting attorney, Steve Mayfield, presents "Exhibit A" to the court.

Float, Queen, Victory over Alex . . .

Homecoming Queen candidates were: Brenda Acres, Karen Albers, Marcia Fettig, Carole Jarvis, Janet Myerly.

Seniors showed their spirit by constructing a float.

Excitement Reigned over 1968 Homecoming

Homecoming 1968 dawned on a bright, crisp September 28. Festivities were off to a smashing start with a parade downtown featuring the Panther Band, cheerleaders, the Pep Club, and a float entered by the Senior Class entitled "Play-Boys." Also in the parade were the five queen candidates: Brenda Acres, Karen Albers, Marcie Fettig, Carol Jarvis, and Janet Myerly.

The Panthers outmaneuvered the Alexandria Tigers all the way and at half-time the score was 21 to 7. The halftime show included such numbers by the Panther Band as: "Up, Up and Away", "Look Sharp," and "Oh, You Beautiful Doll." At this time Miss Marcie Fettig was crowned queen.

During the last two quarters of play the mighty Panthers fought on to gain a final score of 34 to 14 over the Tigers.

Culminating the eventful day was the annual Homecoming Dance. It was held that evening in the Panther Den, with the "Humbugs" providing the music and floor show.

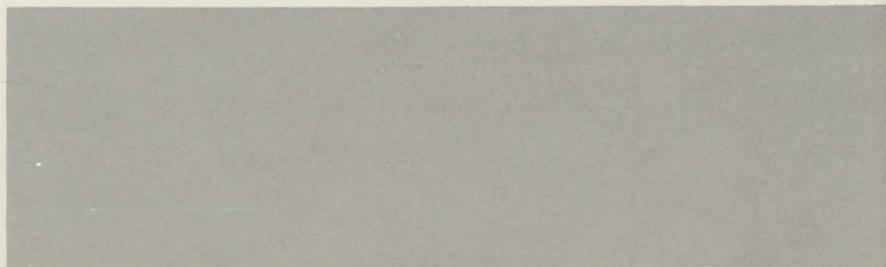

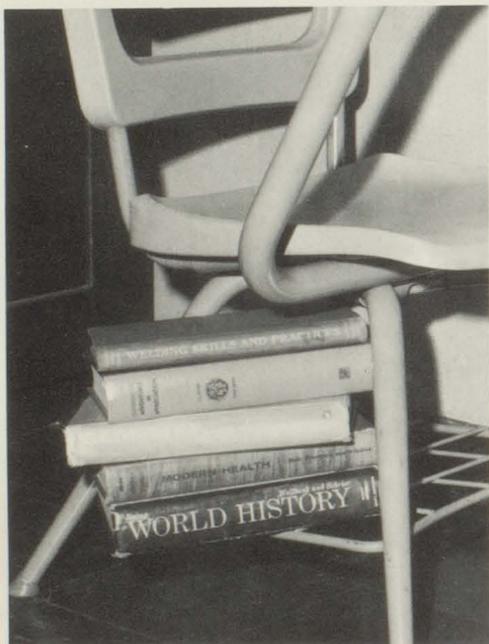

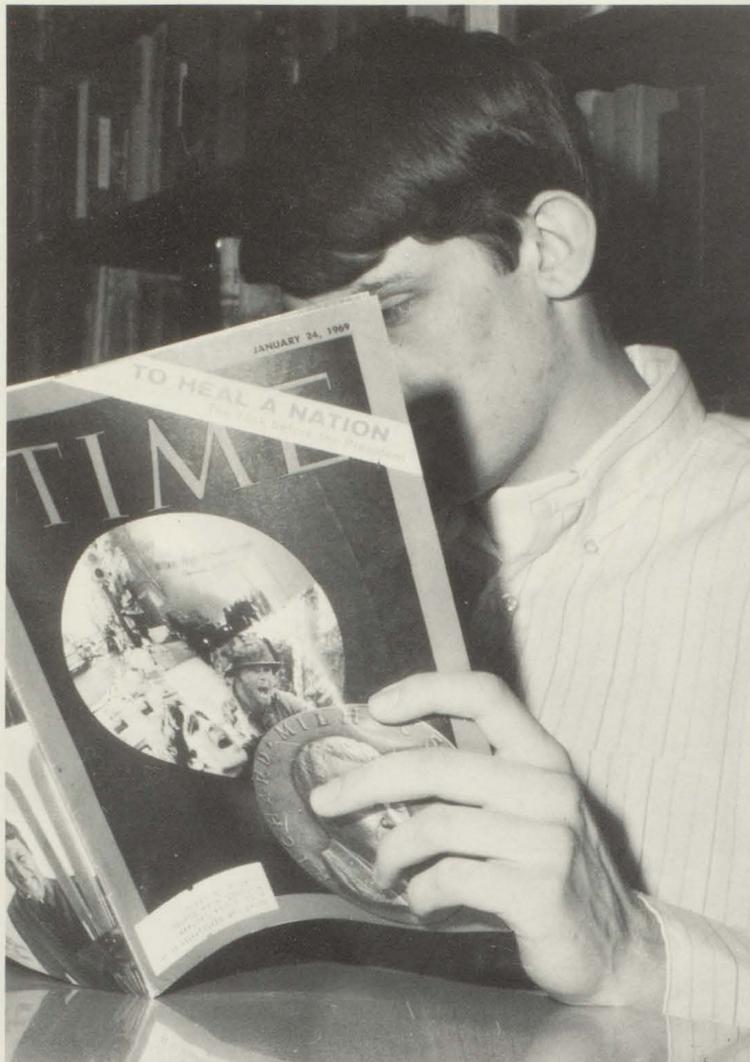

All this added up to the best Homecoming in the history of Elwood.

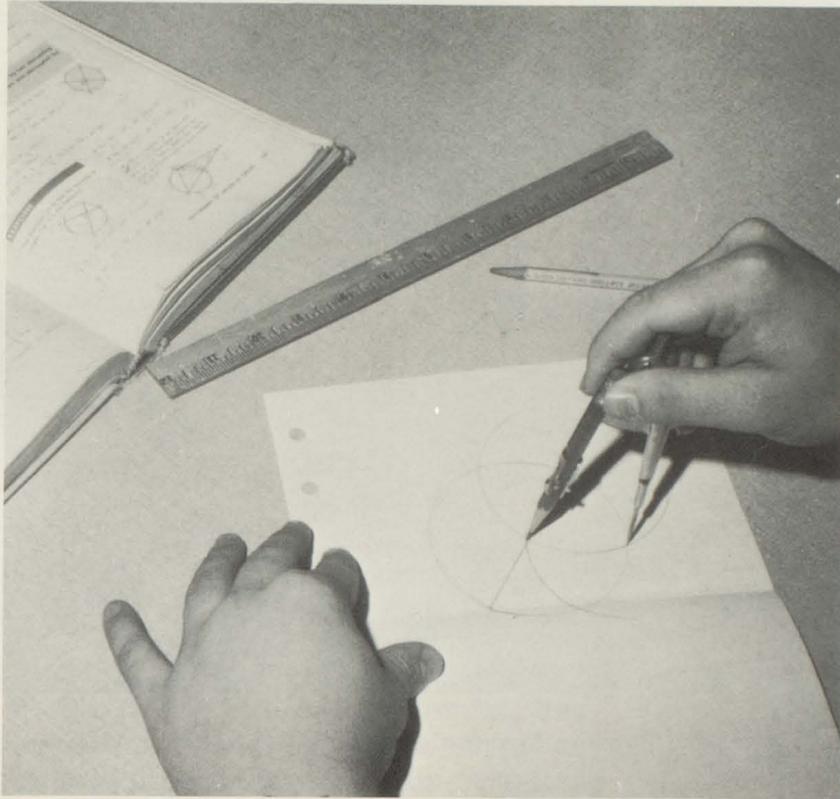

Marcie Fettig is crowned Homecoming Queen by Principal Blair Sullivan.

Joe Davis runs option play during second quarter to set up the third score of game.

ACADEMICS

Education's value does not reveal itself to youth
Immediately.

It comes slowly from the stacks of
Term papers, themes, labs, and everyday
Assignments,

Textbooks, machines, progress,
Ink stains, red pencils, notebooks,
Last-minute cramming before exams,
Inability to find the right book

In the midst of the many on the shelf, Convocations, speakers. All are

English Courses Gave Students the

Students in Mrs. Barr's advanced composition class worked hard to finish an in-class writing assignment.

Journalism students worked diligently to meet their deadline.

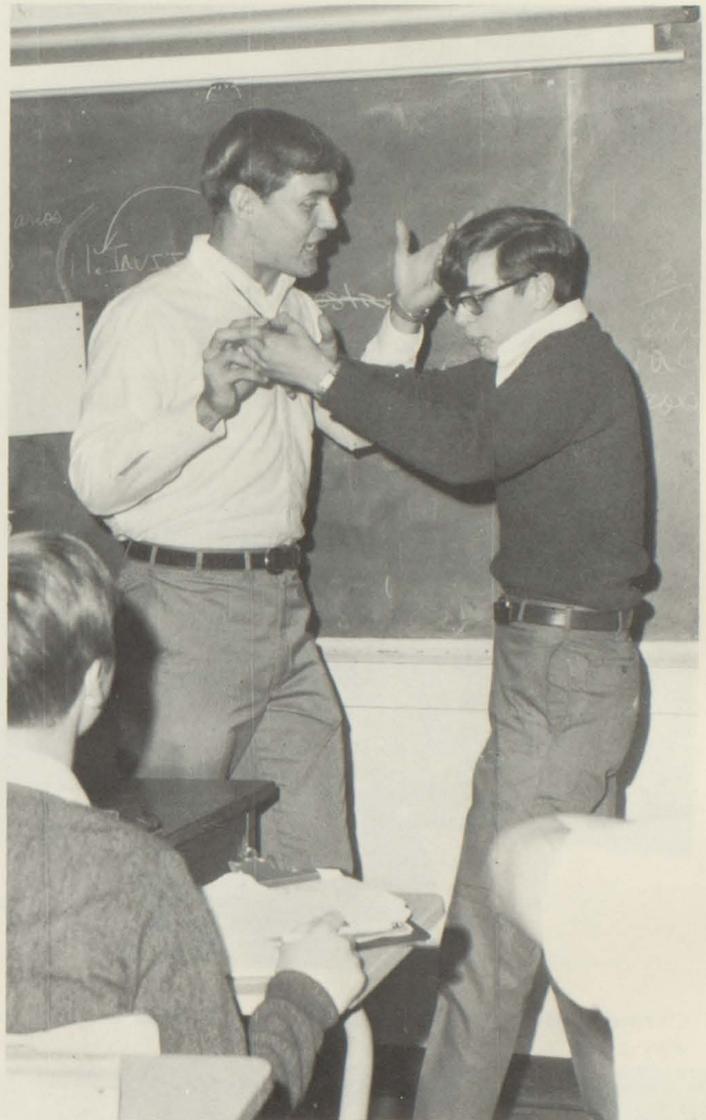

Ability To Communicate Better with Mankind

The ability to speak and write effectively is important in our modern world. Success comes to the person who has at his command the words he needs and the necessary knowledge of his language to help him use these words as he wishes. No matter how good a person's ideas are, they are of no use if he cannot express them clearly. Because English is so essential, all students are required to have at least three years of English.

First semester English is devoted to grammar and the correct usage of our language. Second semester English introduced us to the writings of many famous people. Many college recommended books were read. Some of the books read were "Scarlet Letter", "Pickwick Papers", "Lord of The Flies", and "Twice Told Tales".

Other classes offered by the English department were journalism, speech, advanced speech, Honors English, and advanced composition.

Willki-Hi World, The Megaphone, and the daily radio broadcasts are prepared by the Journalism class. Honors English and advanced composition are offered to seniors who want to further their knowledge of our language.

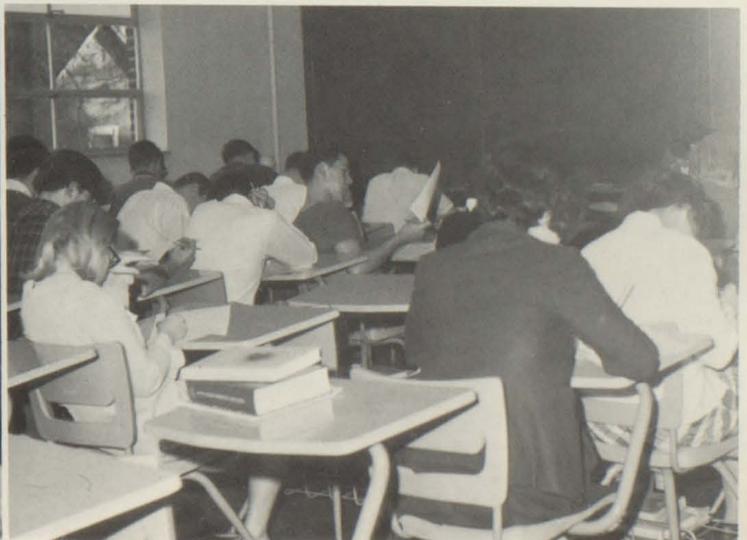

Dennis Huntsinger gives a very convincing speech, but Tom Moser seems to oppose his ideas.

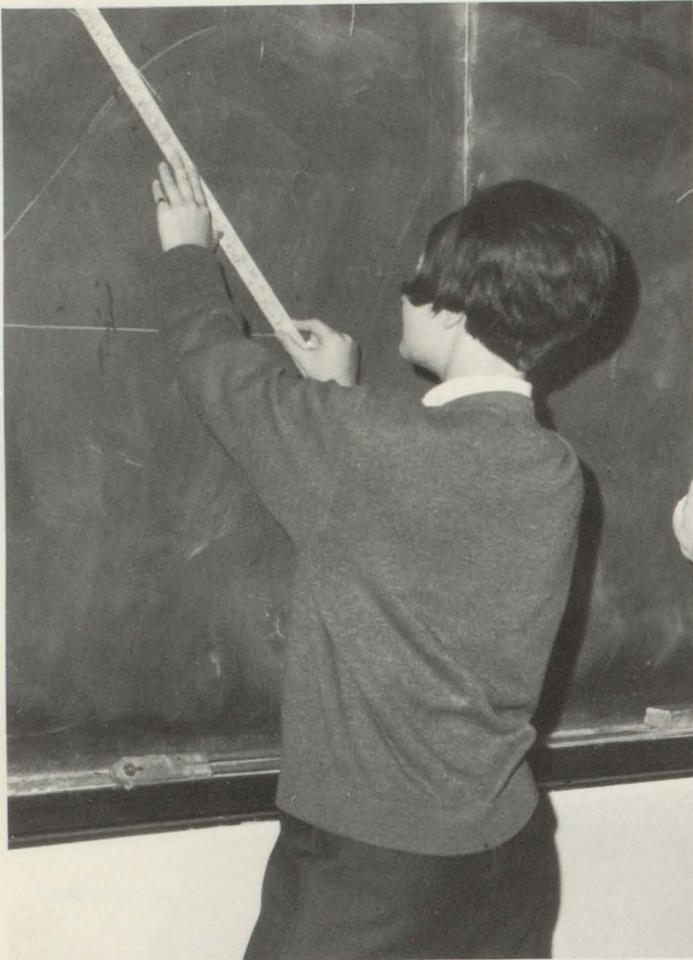

Miss Sammis assists freshmen in completing an assignment.

In Mrs. Starkey's English classes, Juniors learn the fundamentals of good English.

The Exact Science of Mathematics

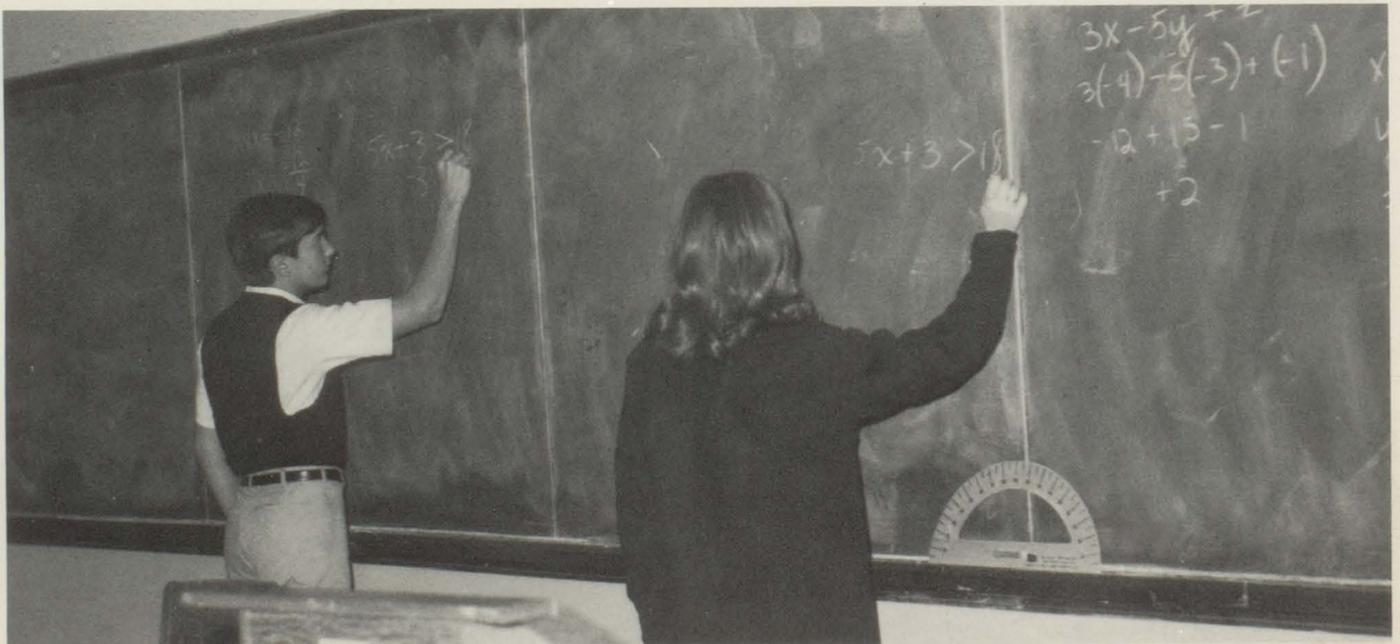

Carmen Garcia constructs an isosceles triangle in geometry class.

Mathematics, the oldest science, is also as new as any, living and flourishing today as never before. It is almost impossible to imagine the many ways in which math is used in our everyday lives and the effects it has upon us.

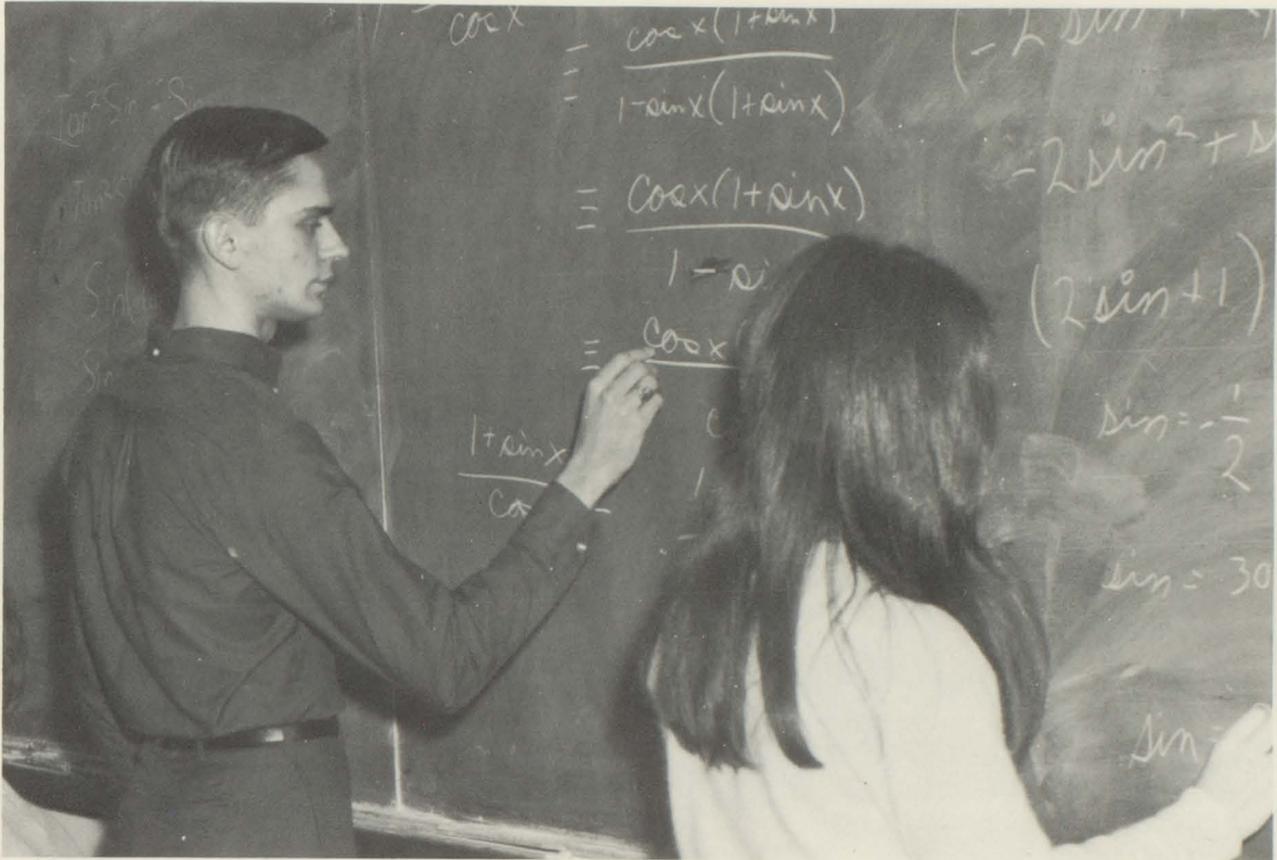

Willkie High School offered several courses in Math. Basic fundamentals of mathematics were gained by students taking general mathematics, taught by Mr. Zerkle, Mr. Harbron, and Mr. Donald Brown. Students on the Academic course began their study of math with Algebra, which was taught by Mr. Harbron, Mr. Zerkle, and Mr. Compton. Mr. Donald Brown taught sophomores the theories of plane geometry, and inculcated in them a sense of logic. Juniors went into more advanced studies of Algebra under Mr. Harbron. Seniors who were interested in an advanced course in solid geometry, trigonometry, analytic geometry, and calculus took Senior Math, which was taught by Mr. Donald Brown.

Two senior boys, George Acres and Robert Sherman, competed in a Math contest at Franklin college, where Robert placed twelfth in the competition. This and many other challenges were provided for in the math department.

Algebra problems present new challenges to freshmen.

Science Courses Brought Them into Direct

In physics class, these students study force and motion.

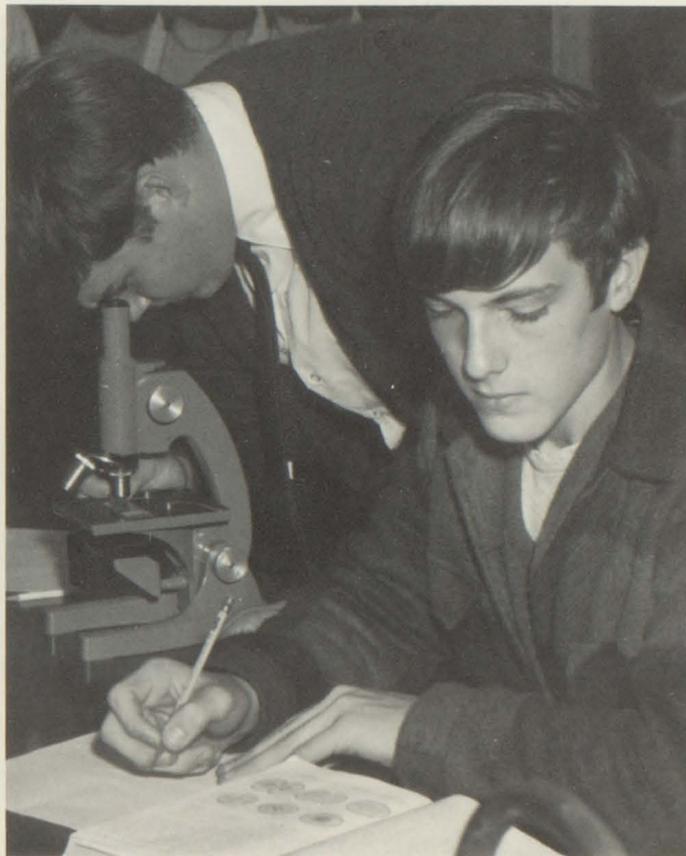

In advanced biology, the work on the cat is the most advanced dissection.

Contact with Challenges of Tomorrow

The science department at Willkie is as diversified as the field of science itself. Classes in biology, chemistry, and physical science provide knowledge vital to the modern student in our scientific world. Textbook knowledge is necessary but much practical knowledge is gained through numerous field trips in the advanced courses of physics and advanced biology. Classes are stimulating as well as informative, and advanced students are encouraged to pursue their own specialty in special projects. Willkie High School believes scientific knowledge is necessary and the science department makes this education available.

Faculty members in the science department this year included: the department head, Mr. Smith, who teaches physics and physical science, Mr. Mitschelen and Mr. Alexander teaching biology and advanced biology, and Mr. Huffman teaching chemistry and physical science.

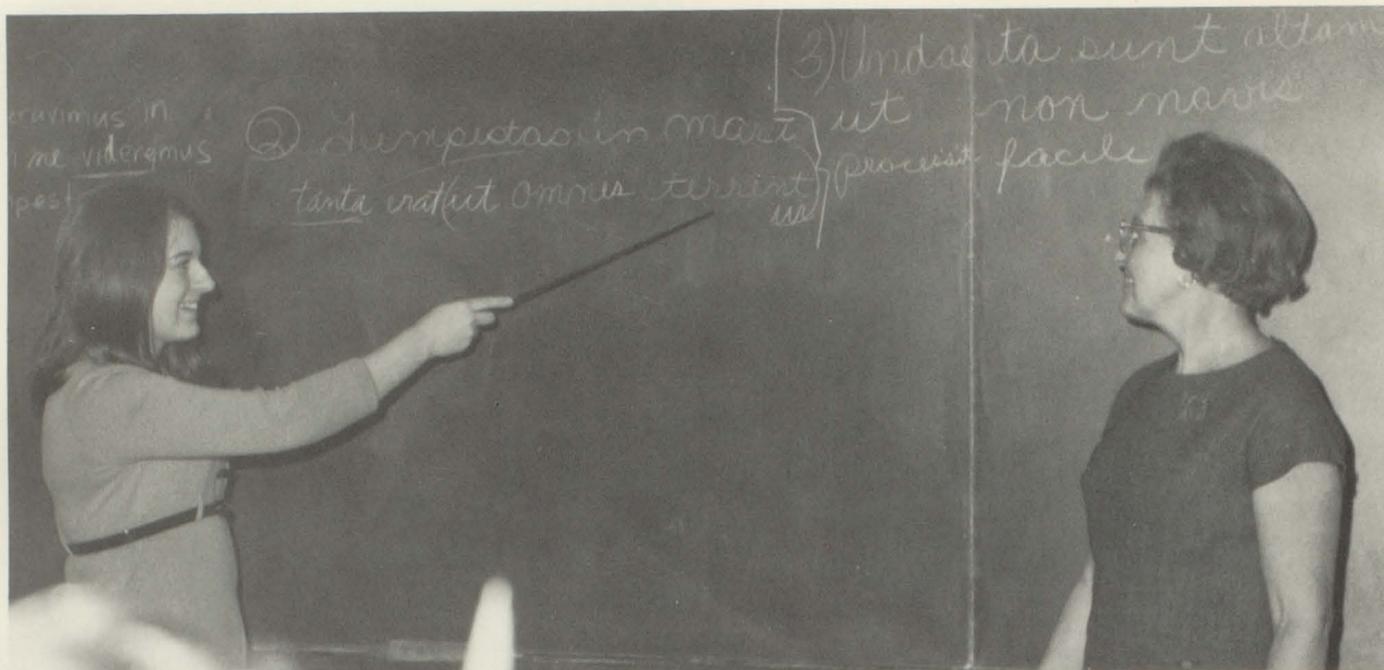

Use of the microscope is an important part of sophomore biology.

Chemistry students learn that accurate weights are essential.

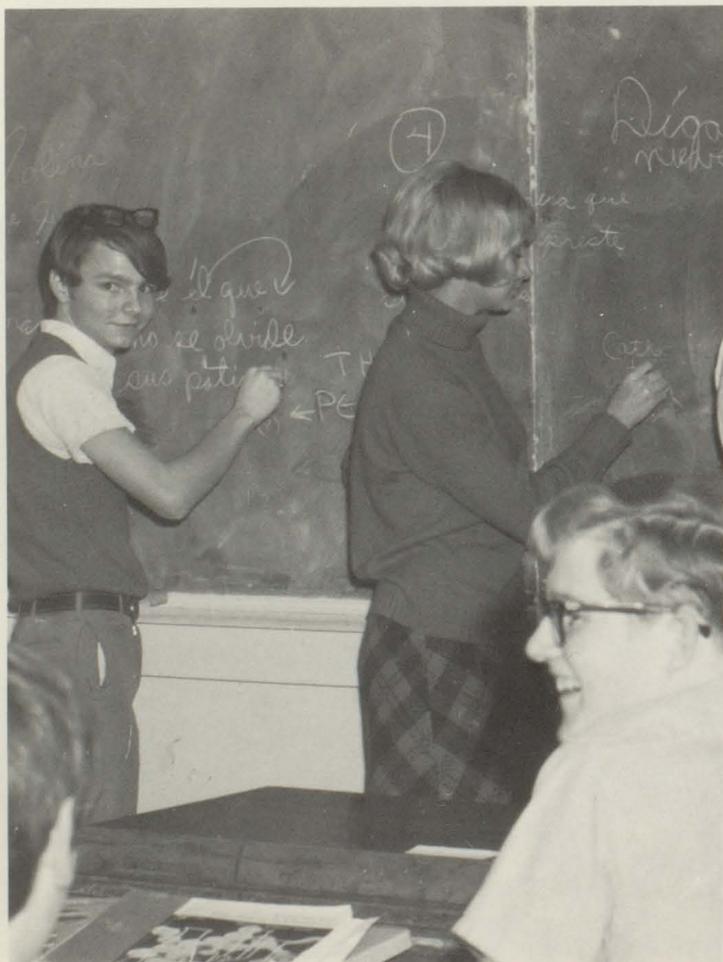

Foreign Language Study Brought Students

Mrs. Sharp listens attentively as Debbie Hobbs explains this construction.

Spanish students practiced translations by putting them on the board.

Latin students learn about the customs of ancient Rome.

Closer to Customs of Many Nations

This year, as in years past, Willkie High School offered three foreign languages. By studying the customs, history, and the way of expression of a people, a better understanding of others in our world was brought forth and received.

Latin, an ancient tongue, is the basis for many of the languages of today's world. The language and the customs of the Ancient Romans were taught by Mrs. Sharp. This year, the course was narrowed to two years of study.

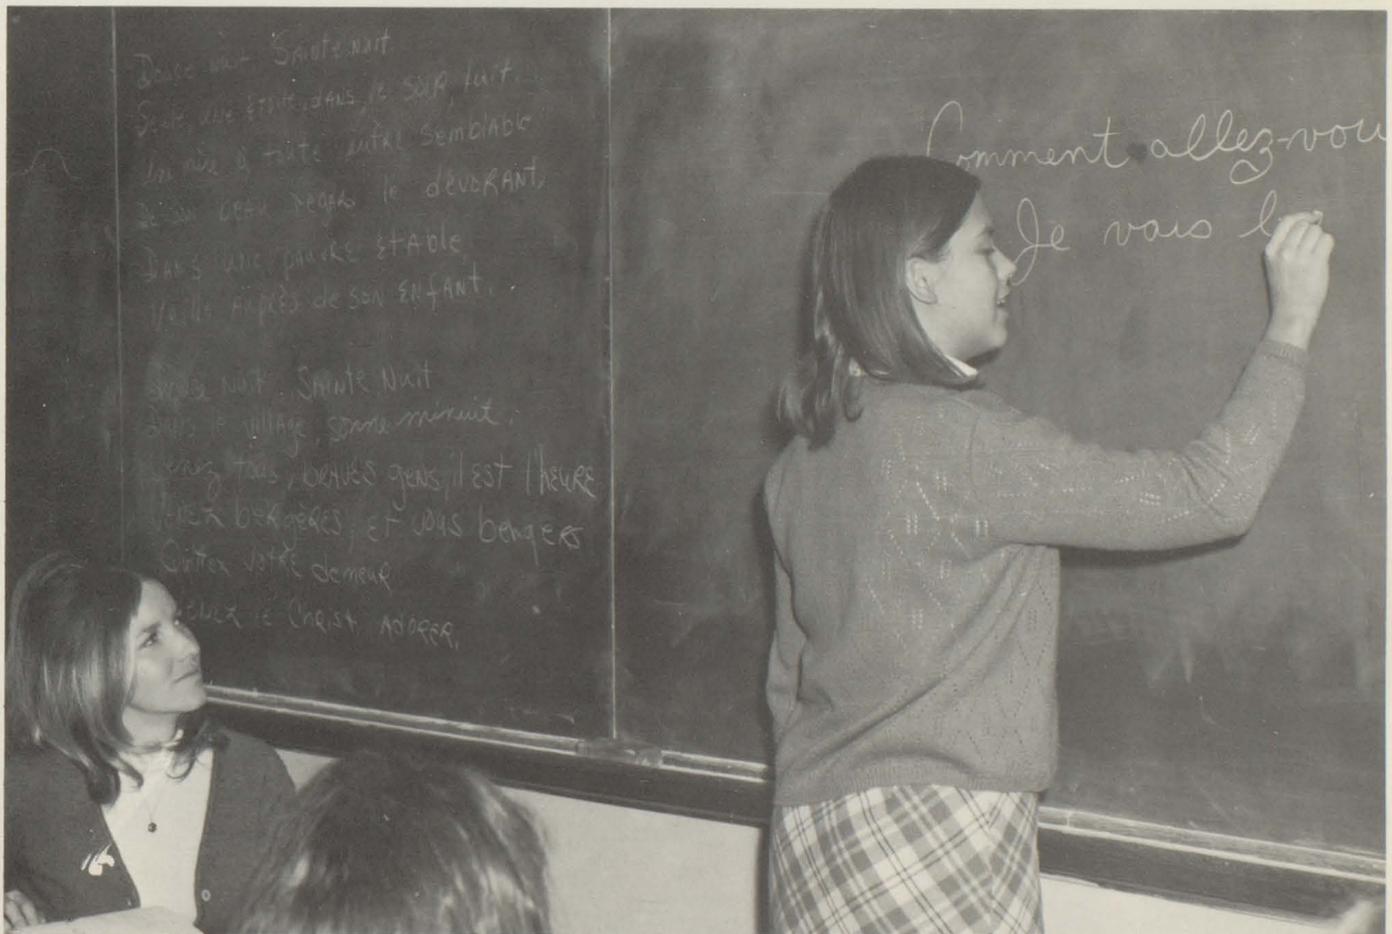

Spanish is the language of many of our Latin American neighbors. This year, the language was presented to Willkie students by Mr. Compton. In Spanish classes, students used tape recorders to work on translations, comprehension, and pattern drills. Magazines from Spanish speaking countries were read to gain a better understanding of Spanish culture.

French, considered by some to be the most beautiful of all the Romance languages, was taught by Miss Cole. French students wrote descriptive sentences about pictures as vocabulary studies, along with their regular work. They also wrote dialogues which they presented to the class.

Both French and Spanish were two-year courses.

Gloria Piirto practices French conversation as Mrs. Cole looks on.

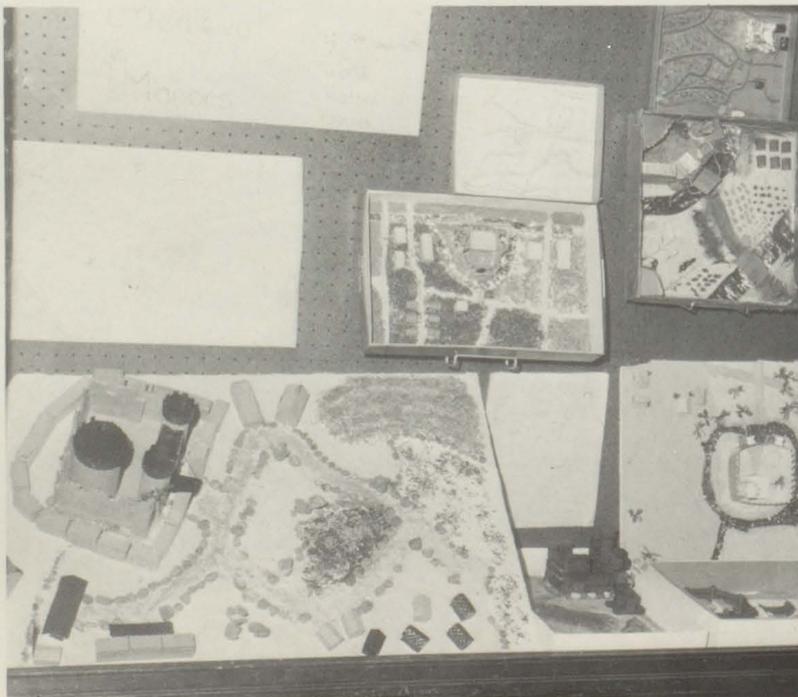

Social Studies Gave Students a Deeper

Geography students concentrate on completing their maps of Europe.

World history classes made replicas of medieval manors.

Sociology classes held panel discussions.

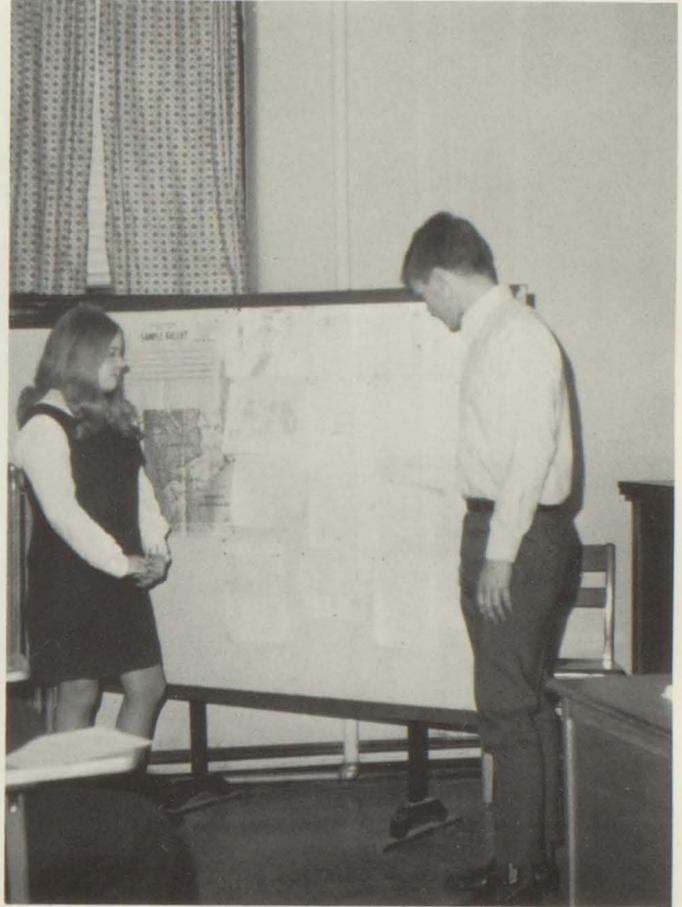

Insight into Today's Problems.

This year being the one for the National election, politics seemed to be on the tongue of every American. There seemed to be a desire to know a little more about our country and how it operated.

Many Americans became involved in bitter and antagonizing discussions during this time of conflict and tension. Students in social studies classes at Willkie were no exception.

Discussions in world history, U.S. History, civics, geography, sociology, psychology, and economics classes made students aware of the social problems and working of the government in the past and present.

Social studies teachers were: Mr. Phil Brown, Mr. Singleton, Mr. Ward, Mr. Bailey, Mr. Hiatt, Mr. Spear, and Mrs. Merritt.

After a discussion of politics, Andy Baker and Jeff Ball analyze political cartoons.

Juniors taking U.S. History enjoyed lively discussion of our country's past.

Expressing Oneself Is the Major

The Panther Band puts in hours of rehearsal to present music to the public.

Mr. Brugger takes the choir through a rehearsal during third period.

Aim of the Music and Art Classes

This year's music department consists of three classes: music appreciation, choir, and band.

Music appreciation was started last year to provide a class for students who enjoy music. This class studies different types of music such as opera, symphony, and jazz.

The choir learns the proper way to vocalize besides getting education in sight reading. They sing religious and serious music as well as the popular songs. The choir presented many programs to the public as well as the school.

Band members work to present music for sports events and to the school in the form of concerts. The band was under the direction of Mr. Richard Wheeler, and the choir and music appreciation class was held by Mr. Clifford Brugger.

The Willkie art department under the supervision of Mr. Gary Miller, gives students a chance to express themselves. This is done through studies of tempera paintings, mosaics, and portraits, as well as still life.

Art requires not only talent, but a sense of creativity. As an elective course in the high school, it offers an individual the chance to learn of the difficulties involved in the fine arts.

Through successes and failures, students earn a greater sense of appreciation and selection.

Art students work to complete one of their many projects.

P.E., Driver Ed., N.Y.C. Developed Skills

Basketball was a favorite in boys' physical education courses.

The main goal of the Willkie physical education department was to develop a student physically, mentally, socially, and emotionally through organized games and activities.

The physical education classes offered a wide variety of activities and games. Weather permitting, the students went outside to participate in such sports as softball, field hockey, track and field, and archery. When the weather was not so good, students were inside taking up different activities which included volleyball, gymnastics and floor exercises, folk dance, cage ball and basketball.

The P.E. classes were offered during the summer as well as the regular school term.

The instructors for the boys classes were Mr. Hicks and Mr. Bailey. The instructors for the girls' physical education classes were Mrs. Watson and Mrs. Merritt.

Girls in health classes learned the make-up of the human body.

After learning the rules, girls in P.E. classes held volleyball tournaments.

and Prepared Students for the Future

Drivers' Education is a course offered to those students 15 years of age or older. This class taught students the importance of safe driving practices, and helped them to become courteous, skillful drivers. They had class room instruction and driving experience. Mr. Hocker, Mr. Hicks, and Mr. Mitschelen were teachers in these classes. After having completed this one semester course, most students found the final test much easier.

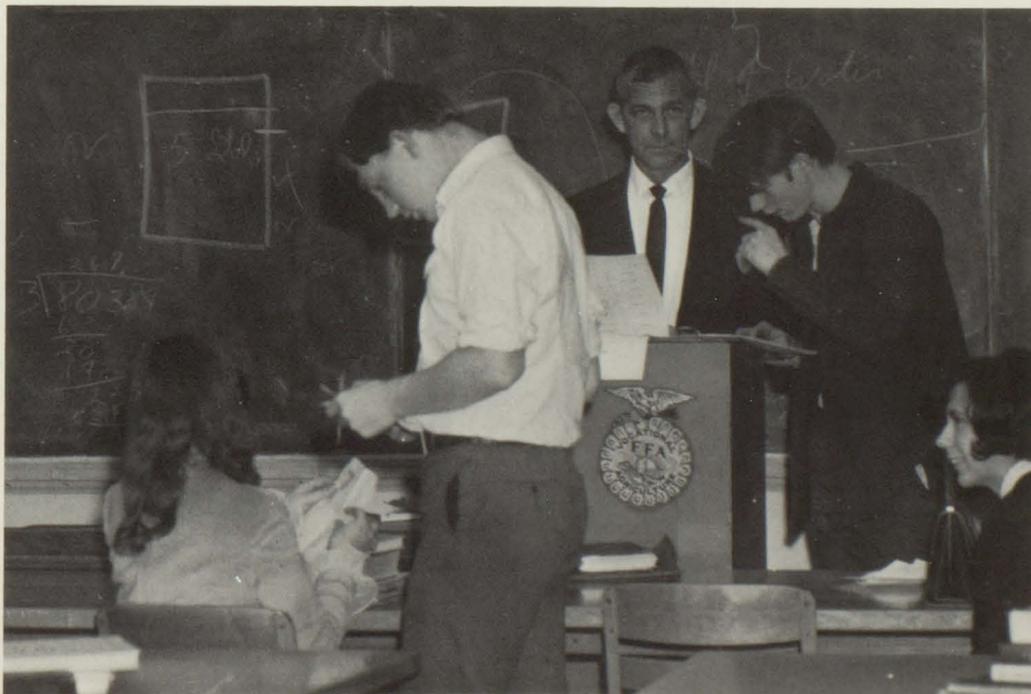

Willkie High has been fortunate to have the Elwood Neighborhood Youth Corps as a part of its curriculum for the past four years. This program is under the direction of Mr. George Ray and is open to students 16 to 21 years of age. The students are able to earn money and credits at the same time.

Many of these students are placed in jobs within the Elwood School System. The N.Y.C. program developed in students a sense of responsibility.

Mr. Hicks enters the car for another practice driving session.

N.Y.C. students spend time in the classroom discussing work experiences.

Home Ec Developed Skills Needed for

BELOW: Members of the foods classes learn the proper way to set a table.

Home Economics at Willkie was designed to prepare girls for a future life in the home. Class work included not only studies from books, but actual participation in duties necessary to establish a happy and healthy family environment.

In beginning and advanced clothing, girls learned to put in set-in-sleeves, collars, hems, and also were required to do a home project. Beginning foods stressed nutrition and how to put a meal together. In the advanced class, students learned the finer arts of cooking.

The interior decorating class visited a china shop, and studied the styles of furniture in visits to furniture stores. They were also required to complete a home project.

This year family living and child care classes were combined. Problems of the home were studied, and visits were made to nursery schools to observe the behavior of pre-school children. Students in this class held a Christmas party for pre-school children.

Santa Claus highlighted the Christmas Party given by the family living classes.

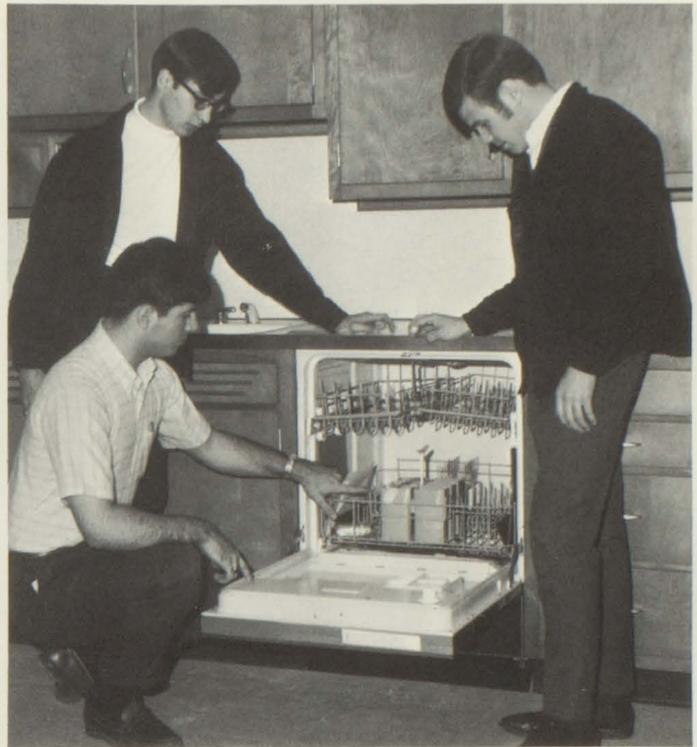

In clothing classes, the right way to sew was taught.

Vocations in the Home and Business

The second semester saw the introduction of a new course for Willkie students, the Vocational Foods Service class.

The purpose of the class was to help prepare students for commercial foods work in restaurants. The class was offered to senior boys and girls. It met the first three periods each day. One period was spent studying related information on commercial food service and the other two periods were devoted to intensive lab study. An institutional stove, refrigerators, large fryers, food mixers, dish washers and other appliances were part of the new lab. The class was under the direction of Mrs. Tolle.

Understanding of Business Principles

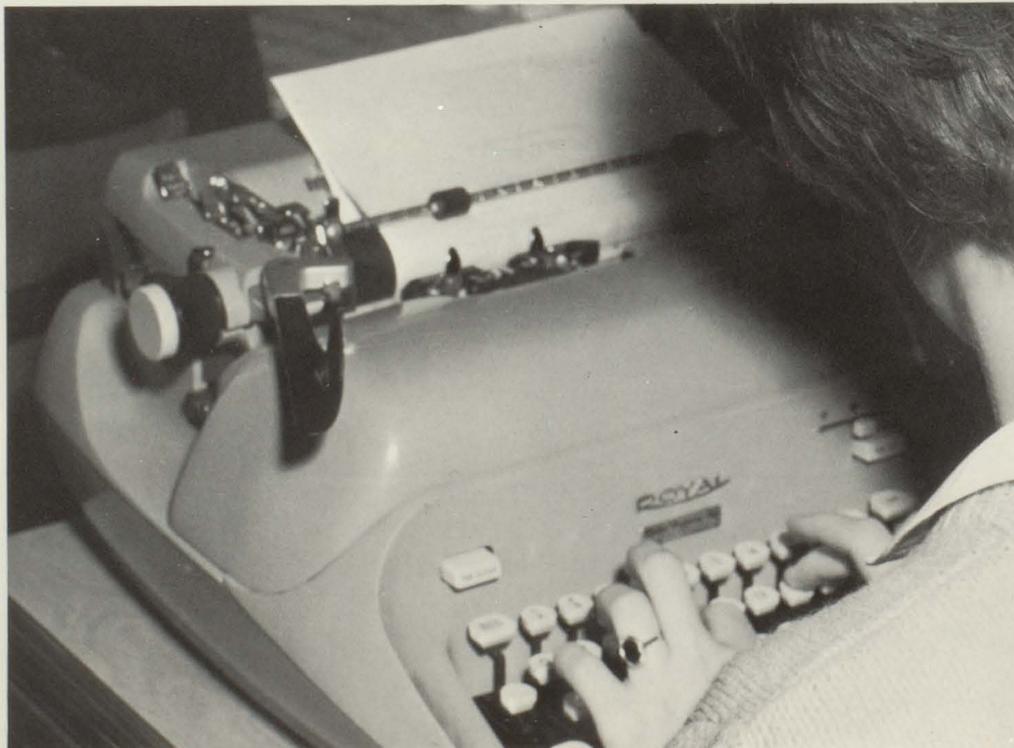

Students learn the fundamentals of business math in Mr. Burton's class.

Shorthand students must concentrate as Mrs. Kintzel dictates to them.

Proficiency on the typewriter is one of the skills learned in business education.

Was Stressed in Business Education

The Business Education classes at Willkie are concerned with the development of students in their personal economics and in the understanding of business affairs.

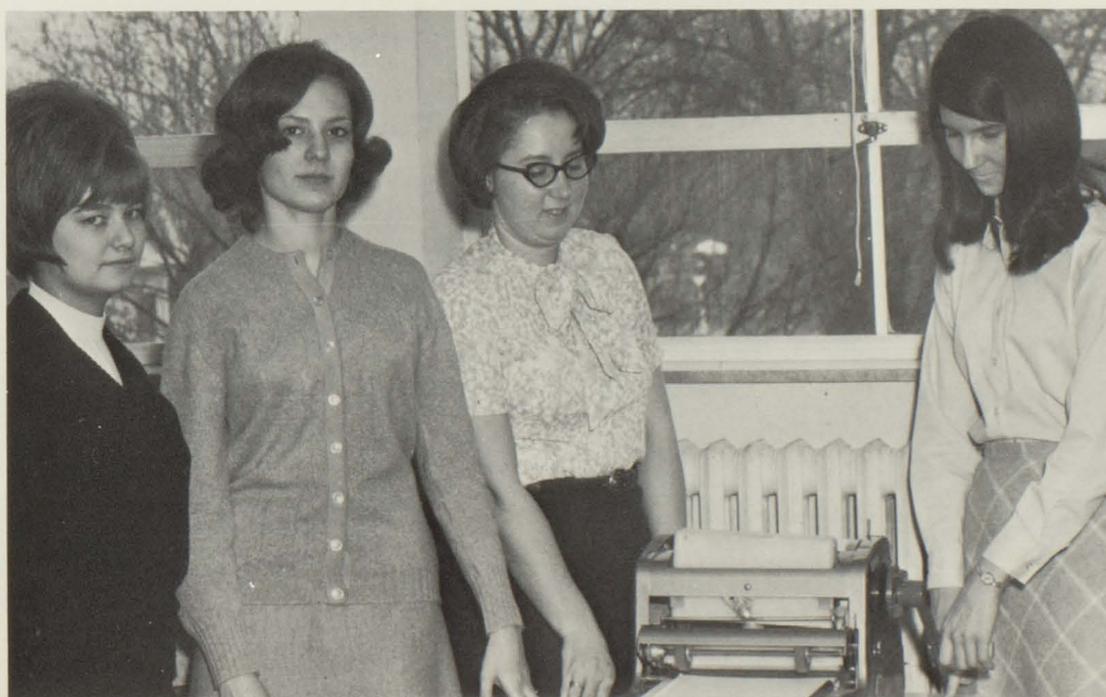

In order to prepare students for the business world, Willkie High offered three major business programs--general business, secretarial, and general clerical training. Classes in these areas gave students needed information and skills and helped them choose a vocational area.

Classes offered this year were bookkeeping, shorthand, advanced and beginning typing, general business, record keeping, business math, business law, and selling.

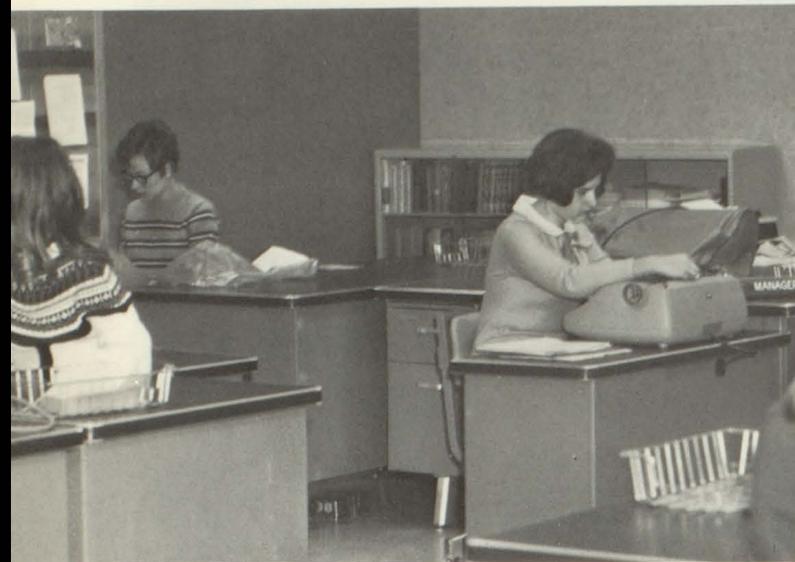

Bookkeeping is an important subject taught on Willkie's business curriculum.

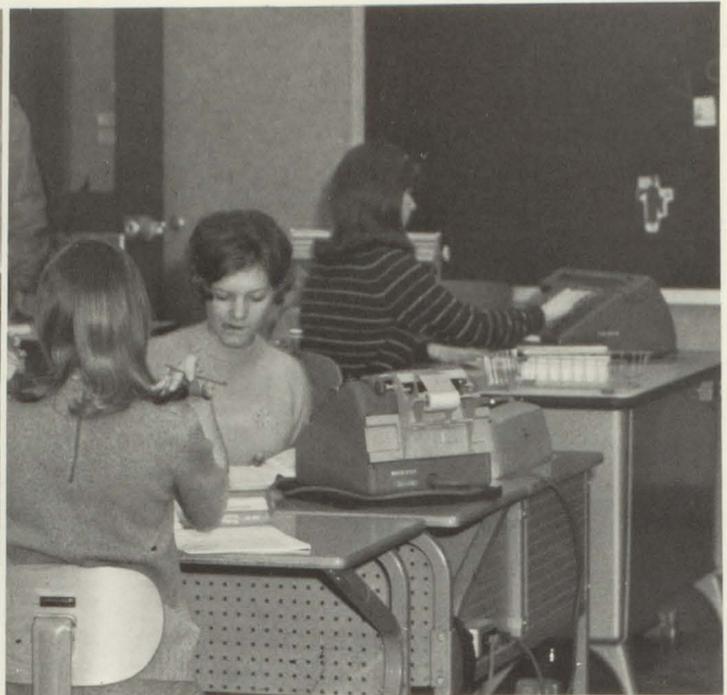

In Secretarial Training, students learn the use of business machines.

Simulated Office Conditions Aid Learning

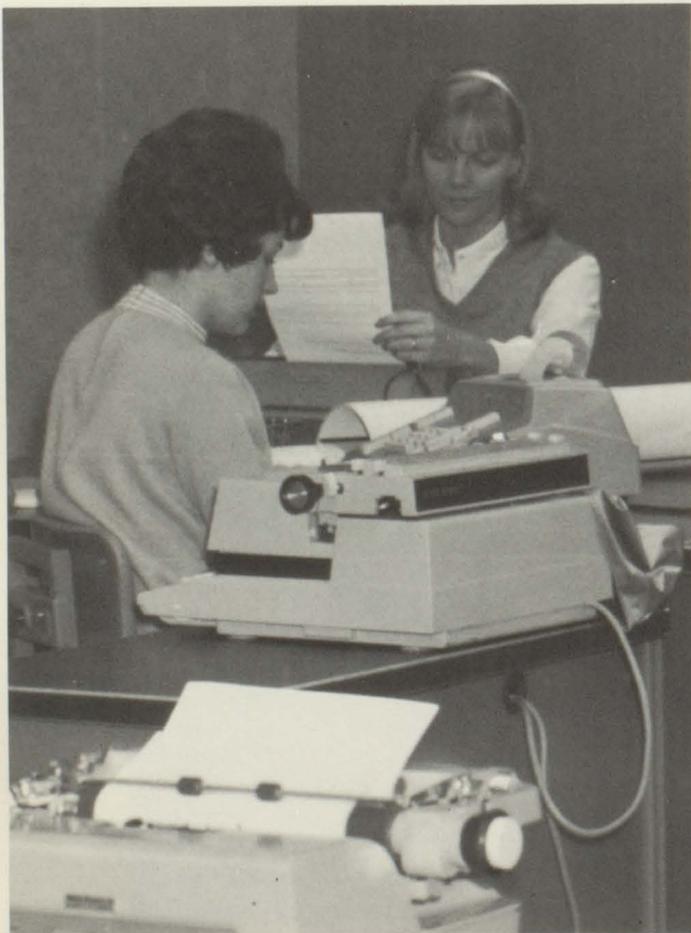

Office environment was part of V.S.T. training.

V.C.T. students enjoy working in new lab.

Cathy Foor and Paulette Boyer work to complete project.

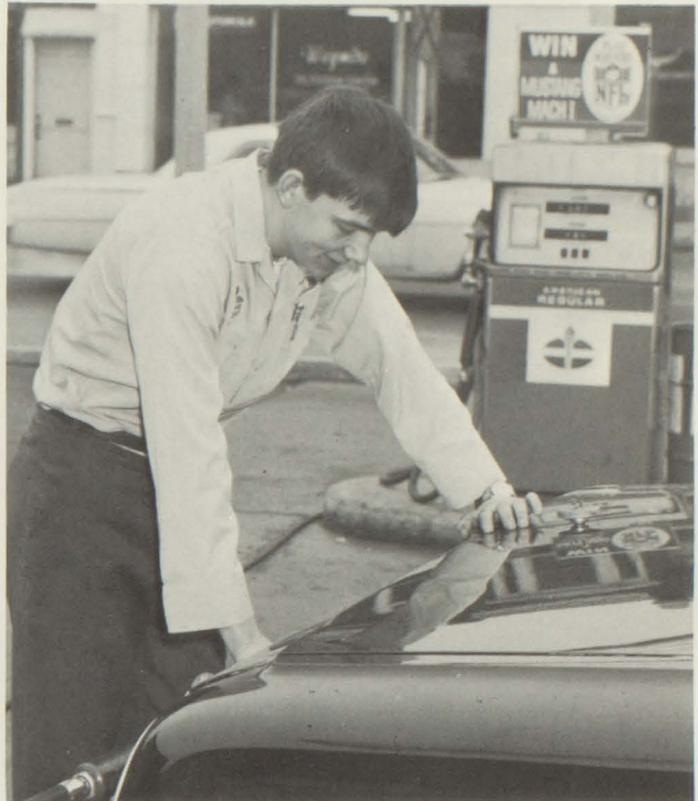

Vocational Stenographic Training is a three-hour program in which students pursue their studies in shorthand, transcription, typing, letter writing, business machines, filing, duplicating, and machine calculation. Dictation is taken in a modern electronic laboratory. Emphasis is placed on human relations, and office procedures. Student-trainees worked on legal, medical, manufacturing, retail, technical, and other projects, and performed duties of office manager, steno-receptionists, librarian, and supplies and equipment clerk.

The Vocational Clerical Training is to prepare students for office occupations such as clerk typist, bookkeeper, or office machine operator. Three hours per day are spent in the laboratory--two on projects and one on related training, such as reviewing mathematics or advanced bookkeeping.

The Office Education Association (O.E.A.) met during class. They participated in a civic activity of sending Christmas cards which they had made to servicemen and to guests in nursing homes. The Club was represented at the O.E.A. Leadership Conference.

D.E. Classes Learn Selling Techniques

Distributive Education is a program involving part-time work in local businesses, and classes at school for juniors and seniors. Juniors studied basic business concepts, salesmanship, and merchandising, and developed employment skills. Seniors studied marketing concepts and techniques at school and went to work in a selected business. This gave the local stores and businesses in cooperation with the school a chance to provide on-the-job training for students with a career interest in selling, advertising, display, public relations and the management of these functions. D.E. students worked between fifteen and twenty-five hours a week and received credits for their classroom activities as well as for their work experience. Their work assignments were rotated so that they could receive training in several aspects of the business.

D.E. student Rick Sizelove gains work experience at Callaway's.

In the background V.C.T. students are using the flexowriter and accounting machines. Elizabeth Kapper is operating the comptometer and Christy Heflin is operating the rotary calculator.

Steve Miller did many jobs at Sears while working as a D.E. student.

Industrial Arts Students Learned New

Industrial Arts students explored machine shop to find a vocational interest.

Welding student uses techniques taught by Mr. Gren.

Mr. Waterman shows Karen Albers the proper way of finishing picture frames.

Techniques, Did Production-Type Work

The Industrial Arts classes introduced students to industrial occupations and methods. They gave students a chance to explore many areas to determine whether there was a vocational interest.

Beginning classes in printing learned the basics of printing. Complete offset printing was offered the second semester. It involved photomechanics, and processing and printing of photographic plates on modern offset presses. Students did production-type printing in the school system.

Woods classes went from the operation of hand tools to advanced machine operation. Skills were applied by the students in making projects.

Home Mechanics, a class offered to girls, stressed minor repairs and craft work. Home Repair classes dealt with maintenance of equipment around the home.

Students in welding classes learned techniques in arc and acetylene welding. Power mechanics students studied outboard and small gasoline engines. Blueprint reading introduced students to blueprints and their interpretation.

Classes were also offered in drafting, machine shop, general metals, electricity, electronics, and industrial math.

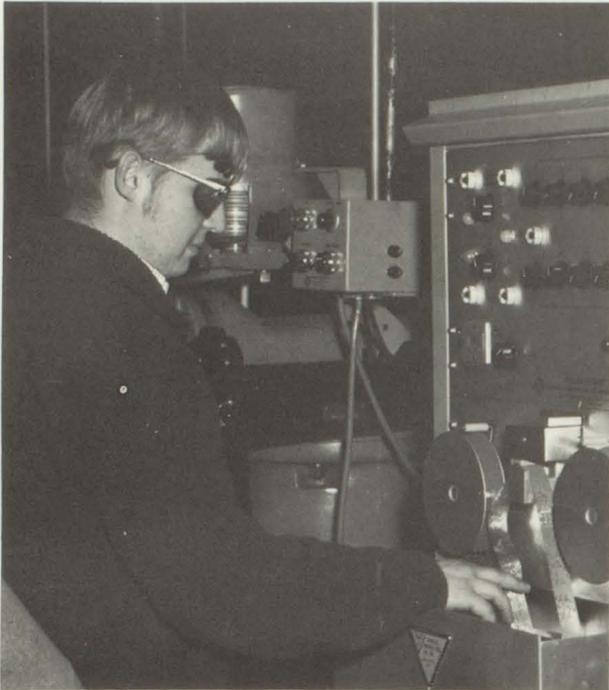

Mr. Pantos demonstrates processes used in printing to his classes.

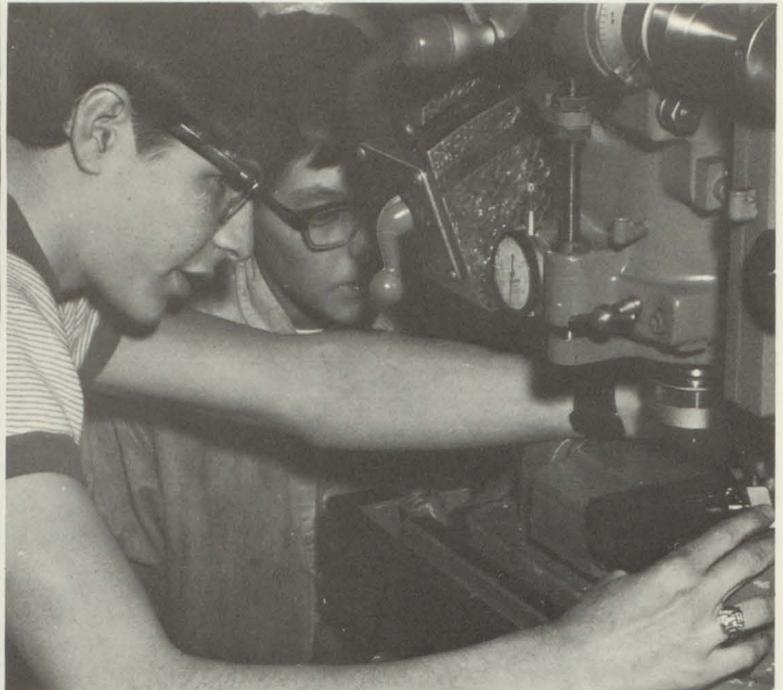

Terry Ward works to complete a craft project in Home Mechanics.

V.M.S. Added New Equipment to School Lab

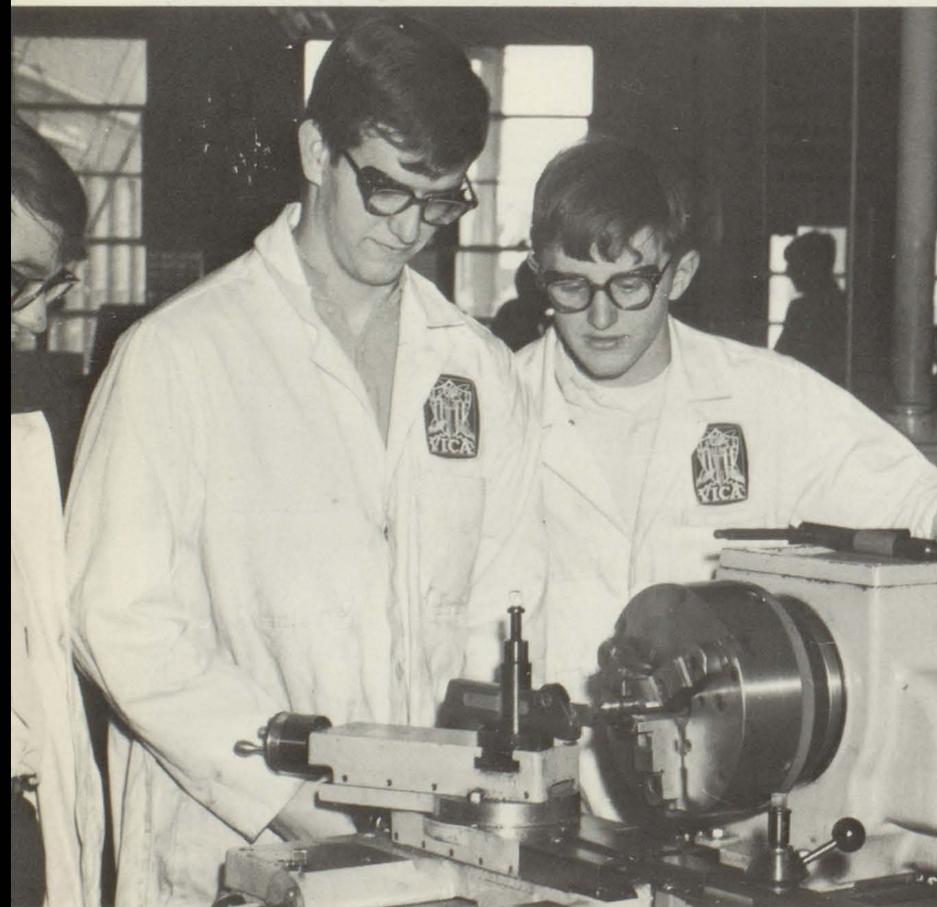

James Bucci works on the numerical control machine which uses alpha numerics as a means of controlling machine.

Boys were taught to do duplicating work or 3-D die sinking for forming dies and for mold injection.

These boys are working on a newly purchased lathe.

Willkie's Vocational Machine Shop classes have made it possible for students to gain the basic entry skills in machine trade areas. Mr. Rayshich has attempted to develop more realistic working conditions and better working relations among the students. A new numerically controlled machine was part of the new vocational school lab.

The V.M.S. Club (V.I.C.A.) helped to develop leadership and helped students find their real potential. This year the Club sold candy and had many other projects to raise money. New coats with emblems were ordered. The V.M.S. Club joined with the other Vocational Industrial Clubs of America at Willkie for the annual banquet.

V.A.M. Classes Studied Auto Maintenance

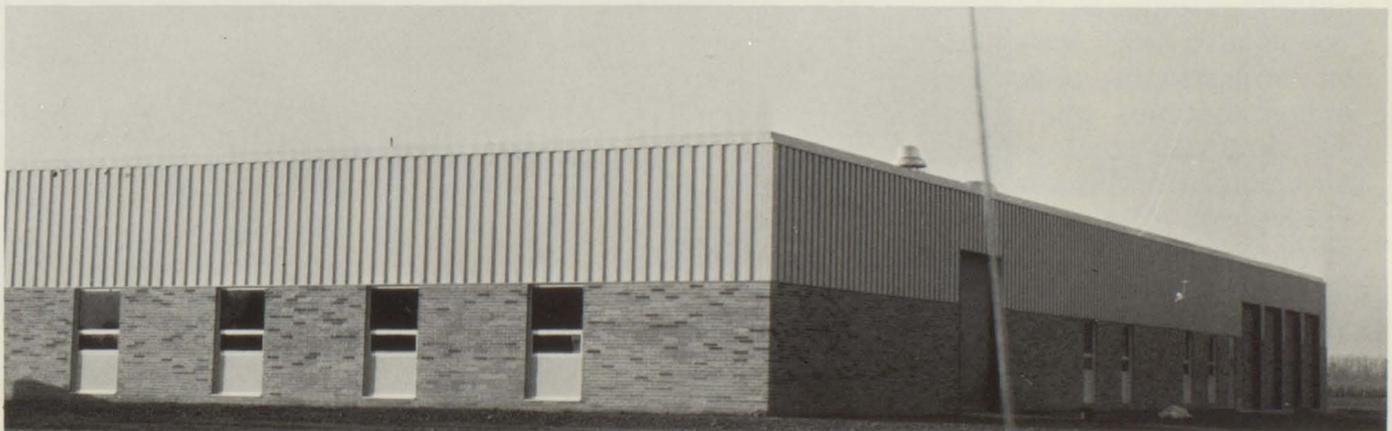

Vocational Auto Mechanics, V.A.M., is a program offered to junior and senior students. The purpose of the class is to train boys who plan to enter auto mechanics as a vocation.

Students in the class studied the complete automobile and the maintenance of various parts and systems. Then they actually performed maintenance on various makes and models.

The V.A.M. Club (VICA) met after school one day per week. Membership was limited to only those who were enrolled in the V.A.M. class. Members could work on cars at that time.

Alan King is fixing a dent on this car. Elwood's new Mid-Central Area Vocational School was opened for classes this year.

V.B.T. Class Gained Building Experience

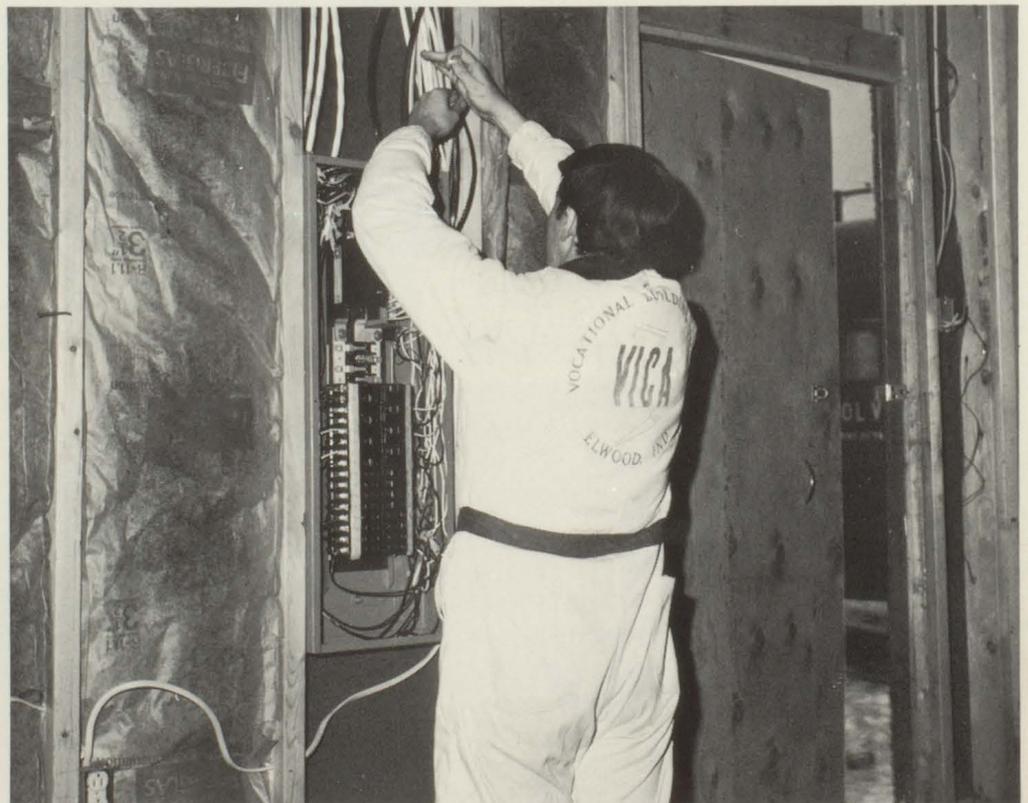

Joe Scholl splices wires in the attic in the electrical junction box.

The Vocational Building Trades class is a program for students who plan to enter a construction trade area after graduation. This class gives all the practical and technical experience that accompanies each area of study in construction. The class worked on building a 3-bedroom home on North 13th Street, which is to be completed by the summer of 1970.

Members of the Vocational Building Trades Club took a trip to the State House to participate in the state-sponsored workshop. The voting delegates at the convention were Cyrus Shipley and Mike Metz. The club also held a spring banquet to acknowledge honorary members of the club.

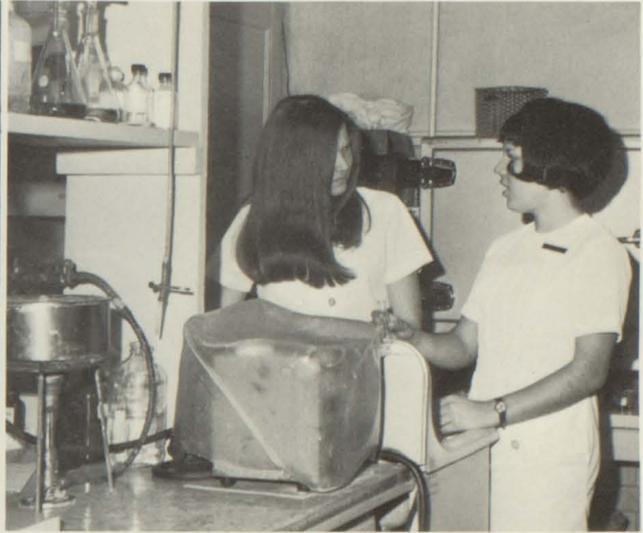

Mike Bouslog connects wires to the circuit breaker box in the house which the Vocational Building Trades class is building.

I.C.T., V.E. Prepared for Industry

I.C.T. class discusses work problems and experiences.

Denise Delong and Brenda Acres learn new skills in the hospital lab.

The Industrial Cooperative Training program (I.C.T.) offered students a one-hour class and an experience in work in a trade or industry. They spent a minimum of 15 hours per week at various types of trades or skills such as machine shop, electronics shop, general factory work and other areas.

The I.C.T. Club met monthly. A banquet was held at which time students could express appreciation to employers and parents for participation in the program. Awards for outstanding I.C.T. students were presented at this time.

Mr. Robinette taught the classroom phase of V.E.

The purpose of Vocational Electronics, which was offered to junior and senior students at Willkie for the first time this year, was to train students to become technicians in industry. The course covered basic electronics and phased into telecommunications and logic circuits. Students used test equipment and modular circuits for experimentation of basic electronics. During class, students had projects such as soldering practices and the building of an amplifier.

Co-editors, Carole Parker and Janet Myerly, make a last minute check on copy in preparation for meeting a deadline.

Photographers: Kris Knauer, Kenny Brown, Bob Fernung, and Larry Oliver.

This year's Crescent was compiled with many purposes in mind. It was to provide an accurate record of school functions, organizations, and learning experiences in business, academics, and vocational areas as well as an enjoyable album of pictures. The co-editors and staff have used new ideas and arrangements to make this an interesting collection of the things that happened during this school year.

The 1969 Crescent's co-editors, Janet Myerly and Carole Parker, have put creative and constructive thought into its production. This past summer, Janet Myerly attended a two-week Yearbook Workshop at Ball State University, at which she learned the mechanics involved in producing a yearbook. None of the results would have been possible without the help and guidance of the sponsor, Mrs. Hilda Chapman.

Exchange students from Germany and Italy added to the Student Council-sponsored International Day.

Student government has taken its form at Wendell L. Willkie High School for quite a number of years as the Student Council. Student Council strives to promote a smooth relationship with the faculty and the students themselves. This body of students are elected to express their opinions on the school and its surroundings. The meetings of Student Council were held the first and third Mondays of the month to discuss and plan the activities.

This year, through the efforts of Foreign Exchange, we had as our exchange student, Monika Wojak from Germany. This program was in its fourth year of work and was sponsored by Mrs. Sharp.

The officers of Student Council this year were: Brenda Acres, president; Tom Wessler, vice-president; Candy Carter, secretary; and Theresa Warfel, treasurer. Mr. Dudley and Miss Sammis were the sponsors for Student Council.

Student Council and Foreign Exchange

This year's foreign exchange student, Monika Wojak, hails from Sandhorst, Germany. While in America, she lived with the Robert Carter family.

Monika's subjects at Willkie included journalism, civics, U.S. history, British literature, biology, choir, typing, and Latin.

She was kept very busy this year by Pep Club, Concessions Club, Crescent staff, Thespians, senior play H.K.K., Willkie Swing Choir, and the Megaphone staff. She was also assistant director for the senior one-act play, "French Toast."

Monika listed her hobbies as gymnastics, music--playing the piano, writing, and reading.

Monika performed with her American sister, Candy, at the Sing Out for Our Servicemen.

Even though involved in many activities, Monika can always find time to write home.

Thespians was an active group at Will- kie and for the first time was co-sponsored by two drama instructors, Miss Roberta Sammis and Miss Vicki Crull.

The size of the Troupe was limited to sixty. New apprentices had to earn at least ten points by participating in one of the productions or activities of the organiza- tion to gain full-fledged membership.

Among the many and varied activities of the group this year were the one-act plays. The seniors, directed by Steve Mayfield, presented "French Toast".

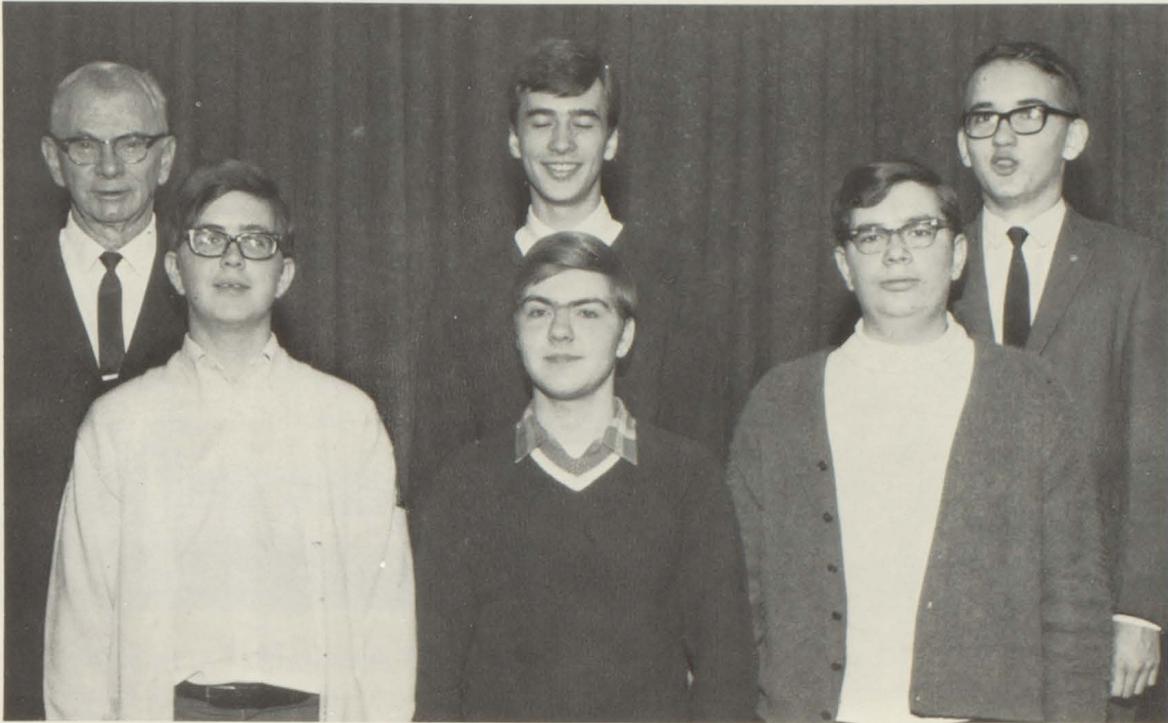

Theresa Warfel directed the junior pro- duction, "The Last Leaf", Gloria Piirto directed the sophomore play, "An Apple for the Teacher", and Candy Carter di- rected the freshman presentation, "Early Frost".

Members of the troupe attended the Thespians production of "The Beauty and the Beast" at Mississinewa High School. This year, the Thespians voted to donate all the money in the treasury over and above the original balance to the newly formed Dollars for Scholars.

Willkie students were active in the various forensic pursuits this year. The debate team, consisting of Tim Leathers, Steve Wright, Jerry Hoffman, and Carl Leth argued the Problem: "Resolved that the United States should adopt a program of compulsory military training."

The highlight of the year was the annual Debate Conference and Student Legislature at Purdue University. Elwood's representatives in the House were George Acres, Gloria Piirto, and Pennie Williams. Senator Candy Carter presented a bill on the electoral system that passed the Senate.

This year's orators upheld Elwood's tradition as "worthy opponents" in the forensic world.

National Honor Society and Academic

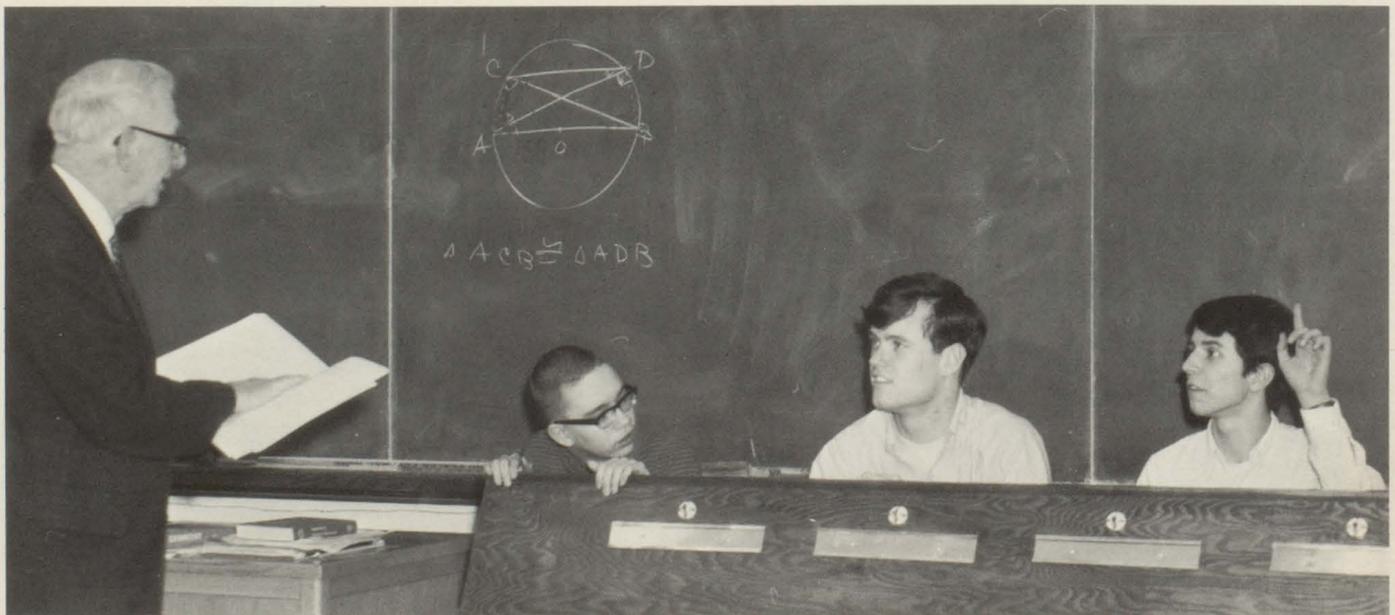

Academic Team: FRONT--L. Leonard, L. Oliver, K. Sherman, S. Wright. BACK--Mr. Brown, J. Julius, C. Parker, S. Albers, M. Summers, G. Cole, Mrs. Merritt.

This year's Academic Team under the direction of Mr. Donald Brown has been very active during the past school year. This team has met with other such teams from Highland, Pendleton and other surrounding schools.

The team consisted of three seniors, five juniors, and one sophomore. Questions were put to the members of the opposing teams simultaneously, and the first to recall the answer scored. Each question had a point value, and there were a number of bonus questions. There was no way that a member could prepare for a meet. All questions were based on knowledge previously gained through reading diverse subjects. Many subjects were covered, such as science, math, English, literature, history, current events, and the arts.

Mr. Brown quizzes members of the team during a practice meet.

Team Spotlighthed Willkie's Scholars

To be a member of the National Honor Society a person must maintain at least a B grade average, demonstrate leadership, character, and service qualities.

Juniors and Seniors who meet the qualifications are chosen for probationary membership, and Seniors who maintain these requirements are initiated as permanent members of the National Honor Society at the end of their Senior year.

The Lions club sponsors an Honor Banquet for the members and their parents every year in March.

The Junior members who participated in the 1968 initiation ceremony were Roger Edens, George Acres, Carole Parker, Candy Carter, and Janet Myerly.

Mr. Donald Brown is the sponsor of National Honor Society.

Math Club Explored Math Concepts

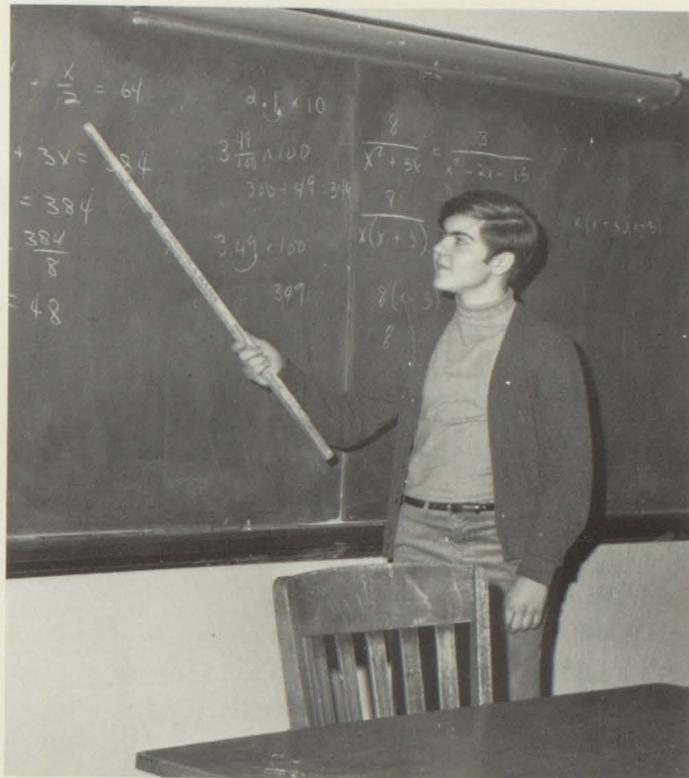

The Math Club in its second year at Willkie High School met every third Thursday of the month. A member of the club was required to give a demonstration of some mathematical problem to the other members at each meeting. By doing this, members could promote a greater interest in various aspects of mathematics.

Miss Vicki Coston gave a report on the Math Workshop at Indiana University, which she attended in July. She also gave a talk on group theory, a topic she studied while at the Workshop. Velinda Smith gave a very interesting demonstration on data processing.

The members of the club received the Indiana School Math Journal which is a mathematics magazine for high school students.

The club decided to initiate an honor program this year to recognize outstanding members.

The Megaphone staff was composed of students from the journalism class who had a desire for something different, a quick-thinking attitude, a variety of interests, and above all, a willingness to work.

Mrs. Nina Hiatt served as the sponsor of the staff and oversaw all copy printed by the students. This year Candy Carter and Les Soard were co-editors of the Megaphone.

ATHLETICS

Exhausting hours of practice, and the Youth develops speed, agility,
A strong body.
Muscles flex--then tire.
Excitement grows, flares toward Victory--
Or pales before the specter of defeat.
Why does he strive so?
It is the ache of the soul to surpass,
The will to win.
What is life without goals?
A faint echo of Reality.

E-Men Promoted the Athletic Ideals

The officers of E-Men this year were Chris Juday, president; Dave Tatum, vice-president; and George Acres, secretary-treasurer.

Qualification for E-Men's is based on a point system and it is an honor for any boy interested and active in school sports to be a member.

E-Men tried to promote sportsmanlike conduct, enthusiasm, and school spirit. They sold concessions at underclass ball games and took subscriptions for Panther Boosters as money-making projects.

This year E-Men presented sweaters to boys who had earned them at the beginning of the second semester. Jackets were awarded at the Sectional Pep Session.

Mr. Jerry Burton and Mr. Lyle Mitchelen were the sponsors of the E-Men.

Tim Hobbs, Ken Runyon, and Dennis Huntsinger sold concessions as one of the E-Men's fund-raising projects.

Close Season with 4—6—0 Record

This year Wendell Willkie High School fielded a talented, hard-working team for its varsity edition of football. Strong support by Seniors led the team to a 4--6--0 season record. Joe Davis, Senior quarterback, led the team to early victories until injuries forced him to the sidelines.

The team started off with a come-from-behind win against Noblesville and pulled off an upset victory over Munice South. But, being a small team, injuries took their toll of players to hamper the Panthers' attack.

The entire backfield will return as experienced players next season, including Junior Dave Swinford, who replaced Davis at the quarterback post to finish the season.

Swinford talks to Coach Bailey about offensive strategy as Coach Mitschelen looks on.

The Freshman Football squad, under the leadership of Coach Spear, came on strong after the first of the season to finish with a fine 3--3--1 record. Credit goes to the excellent defensive backfield and line which held the opposition to three points of the Panthers' total. The passing game came on late in the season to boost the offense to victories over Peru and Alexandria, and a thrilling win over Mississinewa.

The Junior Varsity did not fare so well, recording only one victory and a tie in eight attempts. The victory came against Frankfort in the third game. Two weeks later the team fought to a tie. Lack of material plagued the team from the start but the hard-working Panthers played their best throughout the season. Many of the boys will be back to fill varsity posts next year.

In the sectional, played at Memorial Field in Anderson, the Willkie team defeated Markleville in 15 innings before losing to Frankton. Our mighty Panthers fought their way to a victory in the Mid-Central Conference Tourney played at Tipton.

Ron Romig, Chris Juday, and Bill Skillman led the team in pitching honors, with the help of Joe Davis and Ken Runyan. The batting crown goes to Bill Davis for his .408 average.

The Panther Golf team had a very successful 1968 season with an exceptional 13 and 3 record.

The Panthers did very well at the Culver and LaPorte Invitationals. At Culver they placed ninth while at LaPorte they placed fourth.

In the CIC meet, Elwood once again showed their strength by taking second place. In the sectional they placed sixth having their best team score of the year.

The Varsity golfers this year were seniors Tom Austin, Joe Scott, Richie Brunnermer, Howard Huffman, and Roger Mays.

The tennis squad supported a 3--11 record under first year coach Rod Hicks. The team, all underclassmen, did a fine job while gaining valuable experience. The team had many close matches losing 6 by a score of 4--3. Elwood finished 5th in CIC competition against more experienced teams.

Varsity members of the Panther tennis team were Jerry Armstrong, Parke Hahn, Keith Sherman, Larry High, and Dennis Hughes.

The 1968 Panther track team was led by Mr. Van Bailey, coaching high school track for the first time. The team showed consistent improvement after a slow start, but saw its only victory against conference foe, Hartford City. Junior Joe Davis was the only member of the team to qualify for the sectional. He was voted the outstanding member of the team for his pole-vaulting. The young team, with twelve underclass lettermen, tied for sixth place in the conference.

Second best record was sported by team captain George Acres in the 127 lbs. class, 15--5. He also won the C.I.C. Championship and placed third in the Tipton Tourney and the Indianapolis Sectional.

Record and Share in C.I.C. Crown

The Panther varsity basketball team showed great enthusiasm this year, under the guidance once again of Coach Tom Spear. The team battled to a final record of 13 wins and 7 losses after regular season play, winning over two major rivals Alexandria and Tipton.

The cagers were able to maintain an undefeated record in the C.I.C. until meeting with Wabash, who brought about their first and only defeat in C.I.C. action. Defeated only once, the Panthers were able to share the C.I.C. crown with Huntington.

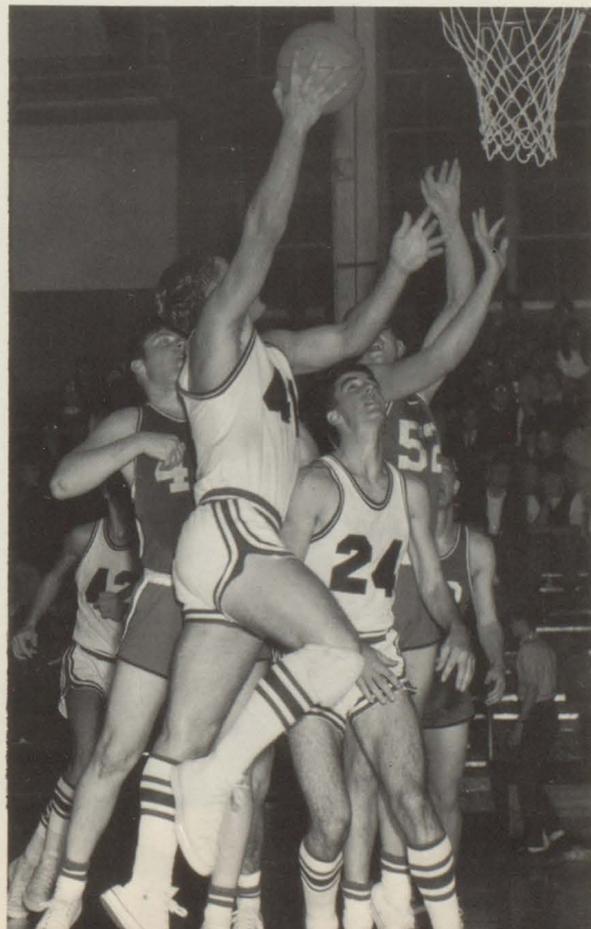

Graduation will take away seven key seniors from the squad. Included in this list are Ken Runyan, Chris Juday, Dennis Huntsinger, Tim Hobbs, Jerry Armstrong, Parke Hahn, and Joe Davis.

In sectional play the Panthers overcame Fairmount with a score of 81--60, but went down to defeat by Marion in the final game.

Jr. Varsity Hit 10 Straight Victories

The dexterity and determination of the Junior Varsity Basketball team led it to a winning season. The players were coached by a former varsity player, Rod Hicks. He coached his cagers to a 12 and 6 win-loss record for the season. The cagers tied the school record of ten straight victories. Some of the outstanding players who led the team to victory were Jerry Bomholt, Don Powell, Pat Rice, and Kevin Clark. The team showed outstanding ball-handling in the Muncie Central and Huntington ball games. The team had one of the best records of all Junior Varsity teams in the C. I. C. Members of the team gained experience which will strengthen the varsity squad in the future.

PERSONALITIES

Life is a myriad of colors, experiences . . .
An opportunity for youth to lose himself
In the laughter and companionship of Others . In the blur of faces,
He wonders if he can really become a part,
Bonds grow in those moments
Erasing doubts .
Joy, happiness, exhilaration . . .
Anxiety, sadness, sometimes despair,
Love, hope, faith in those about him--
All are in the kaleidoscope of Emotions that someone has called

Class Officers and Steering Committees

The Sophomore Class demonstrated a sense of responsibility, enthusiasm, and a talent for leadership, as well as scholastic ability.

They began making their class outstanding by choosing officers: Jim Mock, president; Brian Courtney, vice-president; Leeann Harting, secretary; and Jerita Carroll, treasurer.

The Class of '71 carried out tradition by building toward their prom with a successful candy sale, and selecting class rings and sweaters. Mr. Eldon Everidge served as head sponsor.

Provided Leadership in Class Activities

The members of the Class of '70 undertook one of their most exciting years. They assumed the many responsibilities of upperclassmen. They also proudly flashed their class rings, which they obtained at the end of their sophomore year. The Class of '70 chose the Collegiate round-shaped rings over the traditional rectangular rings.

The class had various projects throughout the year. One of the most important was the sale of decals. The money received from these projects was added to the fund for the Junior-Senior Prom. Through the leadership and brilliant workmanship of the class, they planned a very festive occasion.

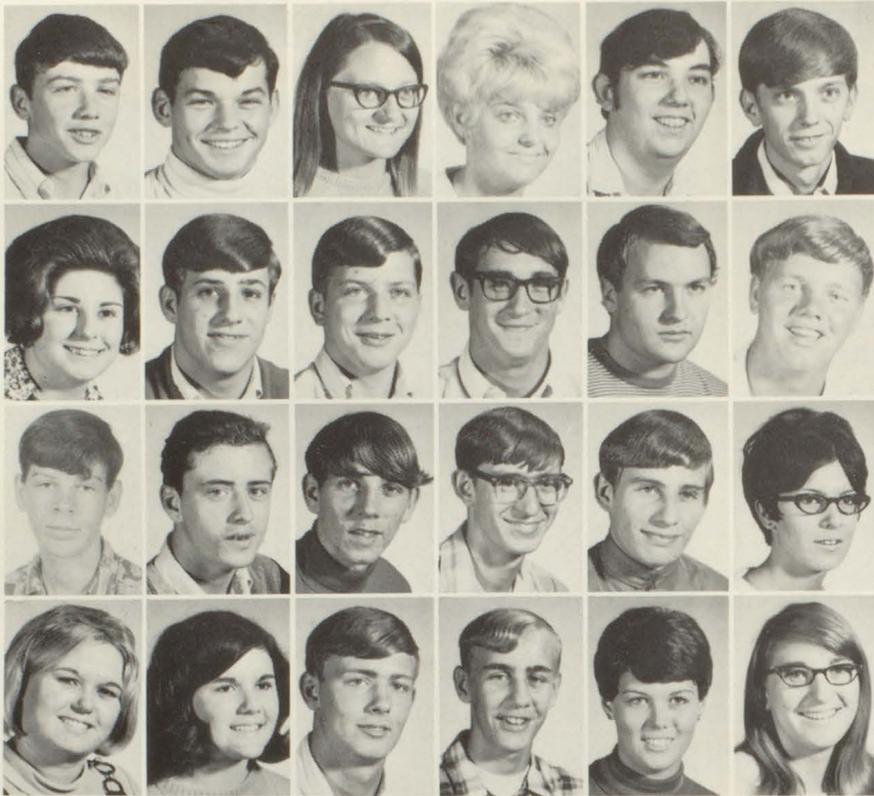

To head the class through such an eventful year, Juniors chose the leadership of Tim Harris, president; Mark Rogers, vice-president; Connie Parker, secretary; and Susan Glenn, treasurer. The head sponsor for the class was Mr. Gary Miller.

Senior Class Was Guided by Able Leaders,

When students entered the august halls of Willkie High as lowly frosh, the prospect of graduation seemed a far-away goal indeed. And yet, as Seniors, the members of the Class of 1969 have reached a turning point in their lives.

After a year of adjustment to high school life, during which time they worked on the Student Council, they struck out on their own. As sophomores, they placed leadership in the capable hands of Mike Courtney, president; Brenda Fuller, vice-president; Marcie Fettig, secretary; and Karen Albers, treasurer. Looking ahead to the Junior-Senior Prom, they worked diligently on the traditional candy sale. They chose red class sweaters and gave themselves the choice of the Collegiate or rectangular style in class rings.

Moving at a fast pace into the status of upperclassmen, the officers for the junior year, Dennis Huntsinger, president; Janet Myerly, vice-president; Marcie Fettig, secretary; and Karen Albers, treasurer, worked well with the steering committee in this all-important year. To bolster their treasury the class sold zip code books around the area and distributed Christmas catalogues for an Elwood merchant. To assure that the Prom would be the most beautiful ever, members of the class began working on it early in the year, choosing Ted Moser and Candy Carter as co-chairmen. The long hours of making flowers, hammering wood, and hauling in materials paid off: "Stairway to the Stars" was elegance in itself. Members of the class managed Prom activities and the junior classplay practices at the same time, and "Curtain Going Up" kept the audience in stitches with its hilarious antics.

The officers of the senior class, President Jerry Armstrong; Vice - President Janet Myerly; Secretary Debbie Himburg; and Treasurer Kathy Tyner proved the worth of their talents as they led the class through the final wonderful year. Seniors started it off with a bang, setting a new precedent with a senior float in the Homecoming Parade, and choosing candidates for the Homecoming queen. The officers and steering committee selected announcements and decided upon emerald green as the color to wear on Graduation Day. The sponsors, under the direction of Mr. Tom Pantos, head sponsor, helped immensely during the years.

And now members of the class of 1969 can look back over four years of hard work, good times, and fellowship. Their pictures will remain in this book, as they take their place with those who have gone on before them. The cycle continues, but they will always retain the memories of four wonderful years at Willkie High.

ADVERTISEMENTS

So with curiosity,
Tinged with cynicism,
Youth wanders through the tomorrow
That is today.
He searches for meaning
Somewhere in the middle.
Without this searching, maybe
Life would lack a little something.
He stands firm in belief, in understanding.
He finds security in the durability of learning.
Having only his wisdom to clear a way,
He searches -- knowing the key is Faith.

Christy McCord, a Willkie High alumna, enjoys her work as a teller.

Indiana was a great place to get a start.

It still is.

We were pretty young ourselves when we joined General Motors. But look at us now. We're the world's largest producer of automotive electrical equipment, making everything from generators for cars to batteries for missiles.

Indiana was a great starting place for us, it'll be a great starting place for you. Because here at Delco-Remy we need people like you. Young people trained and anxious to meet the many challenges of transportation.

If science, engineering or research interests you, dig in now. Study hard. Prepare for a career.

Then look us up. Right after college. Here in Anderson, Indiana.

what pays for business expansion?

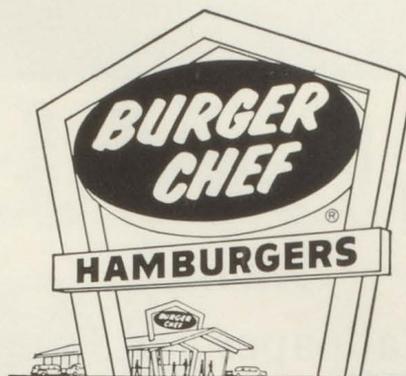

Sam started in a hole in the wall, but his hot dogs were the best in town. People beat a path to his door. It wasn't long until he was making a profit.

Now he needs a larger place; he's thinking of hiring people, and he'll be increasing his orders to suppliers for food and equipment.

This is the cycle of expansion of a business — the cycle that results in new jobs and new markets for products and services. Expansion comes from money set aside out of profits. Profit isn't a dirty word. It's necessary to our free enterprise system of business growth.

At I&M, our expansion program has enabled us to create new jobs while improving our engineering and business methods to better serve our customers with low-cost, dependable electricity.
