We Dedicate

In recognition of their loyal devotion to the teaching profession, their unwavering patience in dealing with student problems, and in view of her generous participation in school activities and his outstanding achievements in the field of agriculture, we, the senior class of 1954, proudly dedicate this Black and Gold to our friends and sponsors, Annalee Cloud and R. Hugh Caughell.

Journalism Class

Standing: Shirley Bright, Dwight Crouch, Lynn Beck, Arthur Baker, Judy Sicks, Gerald Trice, Bill Gaddis, Marlene Dauenhauer, Phyllis Scott, Marlene Yale, Mr. Wood, Phillip Eastburn, John Leming; Seated: Linda Roth, Rex Buller, Eddine Lawson, Jim Mitchener.

The Journalism Class of 1953-54 takes great pleasure in presenting this year's annual.

The art department under the direction of Mrs. Kessler, did the art work for the book. The student artists were Loretta Price, Jim Mitchener, Phil Eastburn, Lester Stamps, Jim Cromer, Earl Cruea, Dawnetta Dunham, Pat McCormick, Carolyn Small, Marilyn Small, Buss Williams, Charles Thomas, and Janet Lamb.

In addition to preparing the Black and Gold, the Journalism class published The Breeze, our weekly school paper.

The Black^{and} Gold

presents a  chronicle of life and chivalry within the fortress walls of Fairmount High for the year 1953-54

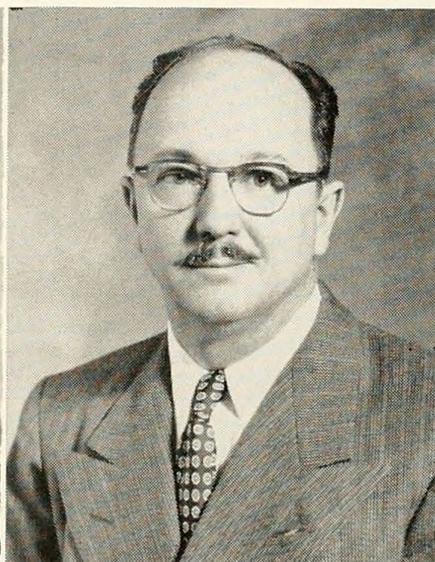

F. Stanton Galey

F. Stanton Galey, in his 30 years in the Fairmount school system, has proved to be a very capable school man. Mr. Galey has acted as Superintendent for 25 years. During these years the citizens of the community as well as the students have developed a high respect for his integrity and leadership. Well qualified for his position, Mr. Galey received his A. B. at Purdue in 1916, his M. A. at Indiana University in 1936, and has attended both state teachers colleges.

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

Leafing through the scrapbook of the class of '54, we came across some very interesting and amusing articles. On the first page we discovered the fact that we started off our freshman year with 72 students, but lost 14 during that first year. We surely were a large class then, and it's too bad that our membership had to dwindle so fast.

We also discovered some pictures and stories of several activities which we undertook that first year. A few of them included food sales, plastic towel sales, initiation, talent show, kid party, Fall Festival at which Jim Mitchener and Judy Sicks were our candidates for king and queen, and an apron special.

Our class officers were president, Marvin Smalley; vice-president, Buss Williams; secretary, Mary Agnes Partridge; treasurer, Eddine Lawson; social chairmen, Rex Buller and Mary Lynn Beck; historian, Linda Kerschner; student council representatives, Judy Sicks and Rex Buller. Our class sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Cloud.

Flipping on through the pages we came to the section entitled "Soph Year," which was also a time of activities and fun. During this year we had a penny supper, skating party, class parties, a Halloween party at Marlene Yale's, and our three class plays: Custer's Last Sit, Rising Flood, and Who Killed Ann Gage. The highlight of our sophomore year was ordering and receiving our class sweaters, which were navy blue with navy letters trimmed in burnt orange.

Marvin Smalley and Linda Kerschner were our king and queen candidates at the Fall Festival and our class sponsors were Mrs. Cloud and Mr. Caughell. The class officers for this year were president, Rex Buller; vice-president, Judy Sicks; secretary, Mary Lynn Beck; treasurer, Linda Kerschner; historian, Linda Roth; sergeant-at-arms, Jim Mitchner; social chairmen, Phil Eastburn and Phyllis Howell; student council representatives, Marvin Smalley and Mary Agnes Partridge.

We started our junior year off with a bang by ordering our long-awaited-for class rings which were, of course, (or at least we thought so) the best ones ever.

We also noticed on one of the scrapbook pages an article describing our new banking system. This was set up for the purpose of obtaining more funds for the senior trip.

A few other activities listed for this year were the Halloween Dance, at which Linda Roth was the junior candidate for queen, a skating party, bake sales, our play "Meet Corliss Archer", which was given in the round, and our junior-senior prom. As it was our turn to arrange the prom, we held it in the Spencer Hotel ballroom with decorations pertaining to the theme of "Undersea Fantasies."

Judy Sicks, Eddine Lawson, Linda Roth, and Dwight Crouch received the honor of being chosen to attend Girls' State and Boys' State with Lynn Beck and Marvin Smalley as alternates.

Our sponsors were again Mrs. Cloud and Mr. Caughell and our class officers were president, Marvin Smalley; vice-president, Judy Sicks; secretary, Linda Roth; treasurer, Linda Kerschner; student council representatives, Eddine Lawson, Rex Buller, and Dwight Crouch; social chairmen, Lynn Beck and Dwight Crouch.

And last, but not least, we turned to the final pages of the book on which pictures and items portrayed the events of our senior year. This was the year in which we played our first conference game in football with our senior guys helping out a lot.

Activities listed for this season were skating parties, football dance, Halloween dance at which Linda Roth was candidate for queen, senior play, "Little Women," talent show, and a bean supper. We also held the annual magazine sales with Marlene Yale as high salesman.

We found on a page, all by itself, a picture of Eddine Lawson and an article telling of her winning the D. A. R. award. I remember everyone was happy for her, because she surely deserved it.

The saddest parts of our scrapbook were the items telling about ordering our caps and gowns, name cards, invitations, and senior pictures. These were the times when we really began to feel as if we were leaving F. H. S. and all our friends and teachers.

So when baccalaureate and commencement arrived on the 9th and 10th of May, most of us were feeling pretty depressed. But this mood didn't last too long, though, as we were anticipating an event which was to take place five days after graduation.

The last pages of our book were filled with pictures, stories, and souvenir of the climax to our high school life, the senior trip. This trip, taken with the Miller Bus Tours, lasted from the 15th to the 21st of May and was filled with interest and fun for all.

And now we close the book on the pages of what will probably be the best years of our lives, with a sincere farewell to each and everyone we are leaving behind.

SENIOR CLASS WILLS

I, Evelyn Adams, will my ability to graduate to my brother Leon, and my seat in government class to Darelyn Ice and hope she can do better than I did.

I, Arthur Baker, being of curious mind, leave my school life to Mary Ellen and go to my next school, the College of Hard Knocks.

I, Lynn Beck, will my three years of varsity cheer leading to Marlene Crouch.

I, Larry Behr, will my ability to skip school without getting caught, to Don Cruca.

I, Joy Bethay, will my Southern accent to Jane Maple, who "borrows" it so much anyway.

I, Joe Blake, will my ability to loaf in study hall and get by (Ho! Ho!) to Larry Campbell.

I, Shirley Bright, will my five years in Booster Club to Linda Williams.

I, James Broyles, will my math seat to Alan Horn, who, I hope, can get better grades than I did.

I, Rex Buller, being in a sound state of mind, will my ability to tease all the little girls without getting murdered to Bob Peacock.

I, Catherine Carl, will my two years of typing, my ability to graduate, and my quietness to my sister, Marilyn.

I, Dwight Crouch, being in an emotional state of mind, will my fine record of going without shaving throughout high school to Bert Bush.

I, Diana Dale, will my nickname "Smoky" to anyone who can tolerate it as long as I have.

I, Marlene Dauenhauer, will my second million to my sister Carmen, for her loyal service in getting me up for school every morning.

I, Marilyn Deeter, will all the good times I have had to my brother Dave, and to Judy Bruner, I will my seat in government.

I, Jim Draper, hereby will my ability to get good grades in Math to James Larkey.

I, Phil Eastburn, will my three straight years of Math under Mr. Berg, to Melba Miller.

I, Bill Gaddis, will my ability to be the only lineman in F.H.S. history to score a touchdown to Joe Comer.

I, Charles Gosnell, will my ability to stay out of trouble to Fred Barnhart.

I, Harlan Haisley, will my 3 years in Mr. Berg's Math class to anyone who wants it and my position as president of the Fender Bender Club to Larry Stookey.

I, Bob Hayes, will my ability to get good grades in any class and not study to anyone who thinks he can get by with it.

I, Jack Holloway, will to Mr. Caughell my car keys and best driving habits for one week.

I, Phyllis Howell, will my knack for getting up at the last minute but still getting to school on time to my cousin, Susie Gaither.

I, Alice Keller, will my good times at F.H.S. to Judi Keith.

I, Lowell Kierstead, will to Dean Shrontz, my ability to get out of trouble and hope he hasn't as much use for it as I did.

I, Eddine Lawson, will my happy times at F.H.S. to my little freshman pal, Nancy Leach.

I, John Leming, will my ability to get into trouble in most of my classes to Orval Meyers if he can take getting called down that much.

I, Jay Marley, will my ability to get along with Mr. DuBois to Sonny Shelton.

I, Jim Mitchener, will my long sideburns to Sammy Williams.

I, David Moore, will my Plane Geometry book to Betty Rankin, and I hope she can learn more out of it than I did.

I, Mary Agnes Partridge, will to Mary Lou Clem, the privilege of being a student teacher for the fourth period beginning typing class.

I, Bob Plue, will my liking for Chevrolets to anyone who can stand the tappet noises and Ford owners' criticism.

I, Loretta Price, will my freckles to Kay Beck; I will be glad to get rid of them.

I, Jim Rich, will one Chevy hub-cap to J C Kirk for a start on the car he expects to get.

I, Dale Richards, will to my sister Karen Richards my camera and hope she has fun with it.

I, Linda Roth, being of sound mind (?), will my "free talk" with Mr. Wood to anyone else who wants to try getting by with it.

I, Josephine Roy, will my ability to get away with talking in study hall to Martin Lee Davis.

I, Phyllis Scott, will my ability to get along with the teachers to my sister, Mary.

I, Judy Sicks, will my noon rides in a green Chevie to my brother, Jon.

I, Charles Skinner, will my ability to make it through school to Shirley Thompson.

Being of sound mind and body, I, D.M. Smalley, do hereby leave to Dave Blair the ability to be president of his class for three years and still be sane, and to Chuck Himelick my bookkeeping book, if he can stand it.

I, Phil Smith, will my nickname "Mutt" to Orval Meyers.

I, Vera Smith, will the typewriter that I have used for the last two years to Donna Faye Holder, and to Joanne Clement my ability to stay awake in classes.

I, Phyllis Stanley, will to Jimmie Cromer all my good times at Fairmount High School.

I, Charles Thomas, will my seat in U. S. Government to anyone who likes history.

I, Gerald Trice, being of unusual mind, will my Solid Geometry book to Richard Broyles, hoping he can understand it.

I, Benjamin Underwood, will my ability to keep out of trouble to any underclassman who needs it.

I, Buss Williams, being of sound mind and body? leave to my little brother my ability to be a star in basketball but not to quit.

I, Marlene Yale, will my ability to sell $200.80 worth of magazines to Dawnetta Dunham.

In Memoriam

Students and teachers of Fairmount High School were stunned by the accidental death of Meredith Peterson on January 29, 1954. Meredith had entered Fairmount High as a freshman last fall, having previously attended Liberty Township School. Although many of us had not learned to know Meredith well, he was a popular boy with his classmates; and his tragic death aroused the school's deepest sympathy for his family and friends.

SPEECH CLUB

The Speech Club has had many varied activities this year. A resume of the events attended is as follows: In November, members of this group attended the state Thespian Conference at Indiana State Teachers College and the N. F. L. student congress at Peru; on December 2 and 3, several members attended the Purdue Legislative Assembly; the drama section had an outing in February, when they attended the Drama Festival at Ball State Teachers College; Dorothy Nelson acted as Parliamentarian during the Model U. N. Assembly at Anderson College on March 12; other events attended included the Individual Speech meets at Howe Military Academy and a Speech Festival at Indiana State Teachers College.

Plans are now in the making for attendance at the Indiana High School Forensic Association state finals on May 1. Present plans call for the presentation of "Cheaper by the Dozen" as an all-school play around May 7.

Mrs. Nall and several members of the club hope to attend the Thespian National Conference at Indiana University, which takes place June 21 to 25.

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

Fairmount Chapter 62, Future Farmers of America, was an outstanding chapter during the past year. Shown with the organization is Clarence Mart, Liberty Township Trustee, receiving a fire map of his domain. The boys spent a considerable amount of time locating and numbering every set of buildings in the township. The chapter again participated in the state Fire Prevention contest of which the map was a part of the entry.

The chapter was proud of John Jessup, a former member, who was presented the highest degree of the Future Farmer organization, the American Farmer degree. His brother, Roger Jessup, received the award at the national convention for John, who was then in Korea.

Robert Blair was presented a $25 savings bond and a plaque for receiving recognition in the state dairy activities competition. Robert was one of five in the state to receive such an award.

The chapter had several other entries in state competition. Robert Sheets was a candidate for honors in soil and water activity. Farm mechanics honors were sought by Rex Buller. Three boys were candidates for the State Farmer degree; namely, Robert Blair, Robert Sheets, and Rex Buller.

Robert Blair's award was the only known honor received when the annual went to press. Phil Compton was elected District 6 director for the past year at the 1953 State Convention. Rex Buller served as District Secretary. The chapter selected the two senior officers, Harlan Haisley and Rex Buller, to be the official delegates to the State Convention, April 1, 2, and 3.

Other activities in the chapter were varied and many. James Rich won the local pest contest and placed seventh in the county contest. Phil Jones entered the district speech contest at Monmouth and placed second.

The 1953-54 officers of the F. F. A. were president, Rex Buller; vice-president, David Blair; secretary, Joe Comer; treasurer, Larry Stookey; reporter, Robert Sheets; sentinel, Harlan Haisley.

Front row: Mr. Caughell, Clarence Mart, Rex Buller, David Blair, Larry Stookey, Robert Sheets, Joe Comer, Harlan Haisley, Jerry Cline, Ronald Rayn, and Gene Wood.

F. F. A. BASKETBALL TEAM

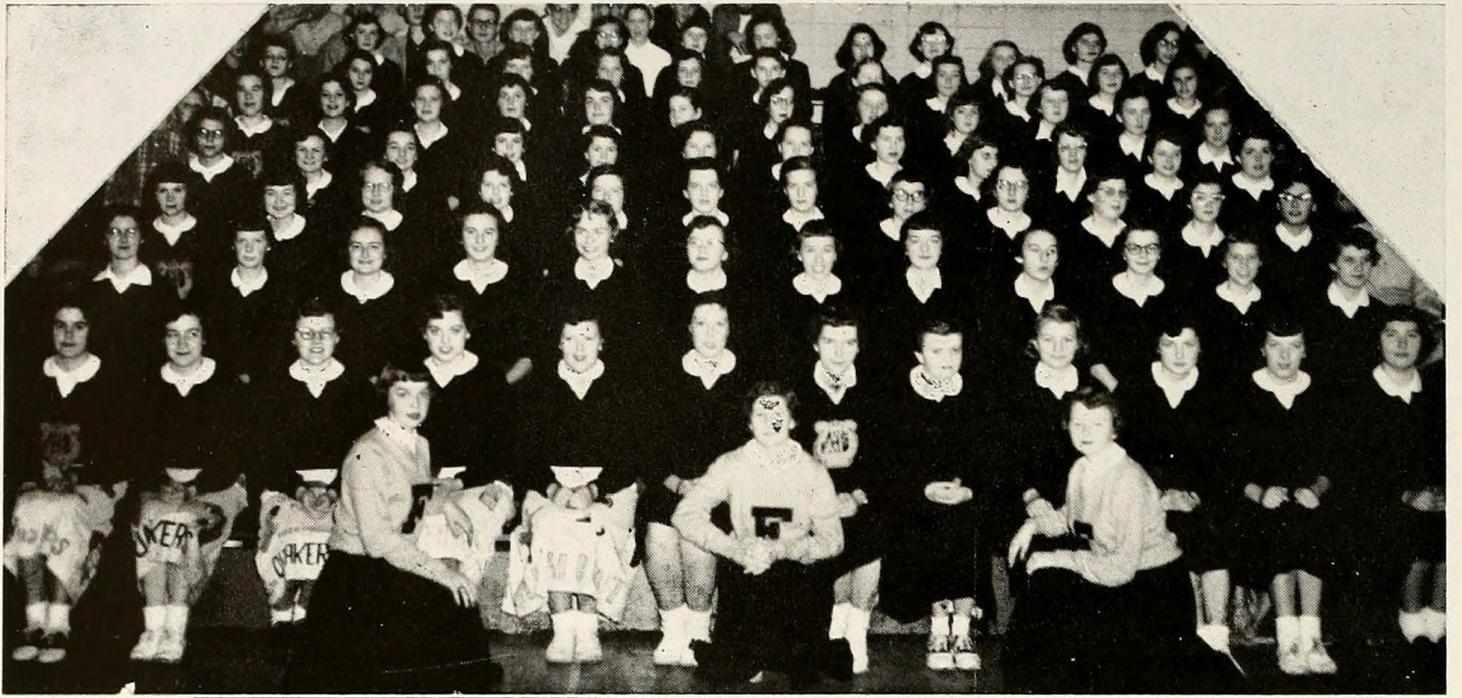

The F. F. A. basketball team played only a four-game schedule due to the lack of a coach. After much delay, Eddie Thomas accepted the responsibilities of coaching and then some games were scheduled.

Several of the boys had had previous experience playing basketball, so the farmer quintet ended the season with a 3-win and 1-loss record. The farmers started the season on January 25 by getting defeated at Anderson. On February 11 they traveled to Gaston, where they chalked up a victory, 40 to 37.

Then the Gaston five played a return game here, again suffering a loss, 43 to 36. The squad ended the season by outscoring Anderson 43 to 38 on February 17.

The boys on the team enjoyed the season very much. Mr. Thomas and the boys thought they did extremely well considering that they started late and had very few practices.

The team should be very strong next year, since they will lose only one boy through graduation.

COMPLIMENTS OF CLYDE NIHISER, PALACE THEATER

BOOSTER CLUB

"Yea Rah, Quakers", "Good Luck, Team", and "Go Get 'Em, Quakers" were just a few of the yells heard from the Fairmount Booster Club this year as they cheered the Quakers on to victory.

The club was at its largest this year with 88 members. The girls wore black, long-sleeved, V-necked sweaters with white dickies and dark skirts. For the last two or three games and the first Sectional tourney game, the girls wore gold scarfs.

The club's main activities this year were the Basketball Banquet, which honored the team, coach, and cheerleaders, on March 8, and a Basketball Bounce, honoring all county schools and teams, on March 19.

The club had a very successful year, but it could not have been so successful without the girls' cooperation, hard work, learning new yells, keeping trim and neat, and most of all, practicing good sportsmanship throughout the year. But even with these traits, the club could never have accomplished all they did without their officers, who were president, Linda Roth; vice-president, Judy Sicks; secretary, Norma Sullivan; and treasurer, Ramona Stroup. Then, of course, neither the club nor their officers could have accomplished so much without the help and leadership of their sponsor, Mrs. Anna-lee Cloud.

Membership this year was as follows: Linda

Roth, Judy Sicks, Lynn Beck, Shirley Bright, Phyllis Howell, Diana Dale, Loretta Price, Mary Bright, Ramona Stroup, Marilyn Buller, Carol Sue Smithson, Susan Johnson, Jane Crist, Janet Lamb, Louise Williams, Dorothy Nelson, Norma Sullivan, Kay Beck, Janet Reasoner, Janice Avery, Judy Hollenbeck, Shirley Thompson, Dottie Kendall, Patsy Parrill, Linda Green, Ruth Blair, Jayne Beck, Phyllis Scott, Eddine Lawson, Janice Wimmer, Leveda Crouch, Janet Hoke, Marilyn Small, Judy Frye, Connie Maple, Nancy Comer, Linda Ramsey, Sandra Boykin, Sondra Eltzroth, Sue Bayless, Marlene Smalley, Marlene Crouch, Bonnie Ancil, Mary Susan Pegram, Kay Payne, Phyllis Pernod, Jane Hoke, Jane Buffington, Virginia Chapel, Nancy Bush, Judy Turschman, Susan Callahan, Sue Gaither, Joyce Holloway, Jane Ellingwood, Roberta Spence, Maru Lou Thomas, Juanita Kendall, Elmira Robinson, Janice Jarvis, Margaret Dumpert, Patty Meyers, Sandra Nottingham, Janet Hill, Martha Clem, Karen Main, Loretta Peach, Sally Ivans, Lora Lawson, Saralee Himelick, Melba Miller, Betty Rankin, Dixie Davis, Judy Peacock, Jane Hunt, Betsy Relfe, Bonny Pettiford, Nancy Leach, Rosalie Spahr, Lois Jean Seward, Carolyn Miller, Beverly Cromer, Sandy Skinner, Dianne Scott, Darlene Thompson, Pauline Ancil, Linda Lewis, Linda Williams, Betty Holloway, Patsy Kierstead, Carolyn Gross.

SENIOR DANCE CLUB

In 1949, Mrs. Cloud, with the help of some freshmen girls, formed a club to teach the fundamental techniques of dancing to those students who cared to learn. The club had to hold meetings out of school when the gymnasium was not in use. There was about an hour of instruction followed by dancing.

The club was carried on through 1950 and 51. Then in 1952 it was divided into two clubs, the Junior and Senior Dance Clubs. The Junior Dance Club consists of 7th, 8th, and 9th graders; while the Senior Dance Club consists of sophomores, juniors, and seniors.

Through club dues and contributions the club was able to buy a juke box and a large number of new and used records. The machine was also used for noon-hour dancing and parties held at night.

During the 1952-53 year the club concentrated mostly on learning new dances; and with the money brought in from dues, they bought more new records.

In the fall of 1953 the Dance Club had grown so much that the sponsors made a rule that before joining the club, a person would have to have a partner of the opposite sex. Although this lowered the number of members, there was more work accomplished.

This year the members of Senior Dance Club concentrated on having dances in the evening as a money-making project. Their first dance was a formal Valentine's Day dance and was held on February 13.

Officers of the Senior Dance Club this year are Dwight Crouch, president; Jim Mitchener, vice-president; and Linda Roth, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Cloud is still doing a fine job of sponsoring the club.

JUNIOR DANCE CLUB

Officers for the 1953-54 Junior Dance Club were president, Benny Payne; vice-president, Patsy Kierstead; secretary-treasurer, Sammy Williams. Loretta Price, a senior, and Marlene Crouch, a sophomore, were the student leaders.

The members learned the straight waltz, the two-step, and the jitterbug. The Sweetheart Waltz was also learned. This waltz is a routine of several different dance steps. Not all the time was on modern dancing. They also learned the Virginia Reel, Heel and Toe Polka, and Square Dancing. These dances are known as Old Folk Dances. When the new fads, Bunny Hop and Hokey Pokey, came out, we all saw the Junior Dance Club doing them every noon.

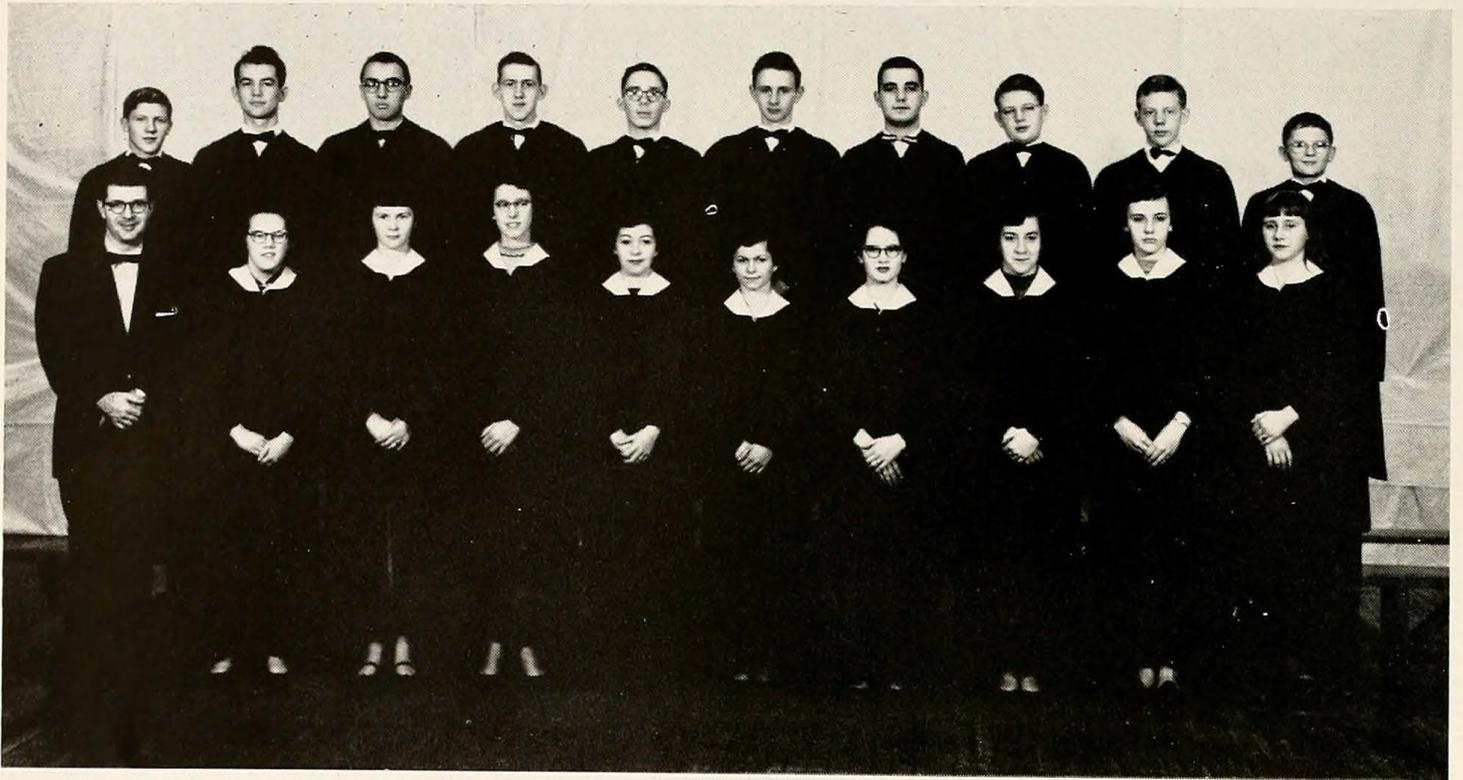

Social etiquette was also learned, that is, manners which all young people should practice in their social life, not just when dancing. This training will be very valuable to members as they grow older and as they participate in more social activities.

In order to join this club a student must be in the 7th, 8th, or 9th grade. He must also have a partner of the opposite sex. This cuts out those students who want to join alone. Still the organization had around sixty-six members this year.

New records were bought by this group for the juke box. The records were used at noon by the students who liked to dance. Parties after school also used them. The records and the juke box provided many happy dancing hours for the students.

Mrs. Annalee Cloud was the faculty sponsor. Mrs. Cloud said, "The students in Junior Dance Club are interested and eager to learn." This is necessary in every club to make it a success.

COMPLIMENTS OF RICH BROTHERS — OLIVER FARM EQUIPMENT, SINCLAIR SERVICE

CONCERT CHOIR

The High School choir, under the direction of Paull McCoy, had a small but well-balanced choir of nineteen members this year. Due to the difficulty in scheduling a choir period, it was finally set that the choir period would be the last twenty minutes of the noon hour and the first twenty minutes of the fourth period. The choir met four days a week at this time.

Several important appearances were made during the year with the most notable being the Music Activities Day at the Friends Church, the Thanksgiving Program given in the auditorium, and the Brotherhood Week Program. They participated also in the Spring Arts Festival. The choir also took many interesting trips to see the Ice Show in Indianapolis and the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra Concert at Purdue University.

Another highlight of the year was the annual City Schools Conference held at Purdue in February. Eight members of the choir were chosen on a competitive basis to sing in the 350-voice chorus. The students chosen to attend were Eddine Lawson, Nancy Leach, Joanne Clement, Nancy O'Brien, Audrey Wright, Fred Hayes, Don Kesler, and Larry Gibson. Sara Lea Hayes accompanied the group as an observer.

Officers for the choir were president, Eddine Lawson; vice-president, Sara Lea Hayes; secretary-librarian, Nancy O'Brien; and accompanist, Sara Lea Hayes.

CONCERT BAND

The Fairmount High School Concert Band, under the able direction of Paull McCoy, had quite a busy and successful year. The band held summer band practice two days a week with one day devoted to practicing marching techniques. The band added much to the entertainment at the football and basketball games in which they participated. The band played for several activities during the year including the Civil Defense Picnic, the January Activities Day at the Friends Church, the annual Spring Arts Festival, and several pep sessions. The band also played for Baccalaureate and Commencement.

The band enjoyed many interesting and entertaining trips during the year. The trip to see the Ice Show at Indianapolis in October will long be remembered by the band students. A concert given at Purdue by the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra was also a highlight for the band members.

The band again sponsored a Band Tag Day in which all members of the grade and high school bands participated. The purpose of Tag Day was to collect money for the Music fund. The Band Boosters Club held a meeting at which new officers were elected. Also at this meeting a band progress report was given.

The band gave an informal "pop concert," February 4, to the public and also to the high school students. A concert of popular and light classical music, it was enjoyed by all that attended. The band's formal concert was given on May 7.

Tom Wood entered the district contest in piano and won a superior rating which entitled him to enter the state contest at which he again, for the second straight year, took top honors.

The band enjoyed their new informal uniforms this year, which consisted of gold corduroy skirts and trousers and black wool sweaters.

Members of the concert band include: Joan Lewis, Karen Main, Patsy Kierstead, Jane Buffington, Janet Hill, Darlene Thompson, Phillip John, Jack Wood, Mr. McCoy, J C Kirk.

Norma Sullivan, Judy Peacock, Nancy Stewart, Larry Wood, Buddy Stitt, Jayne Kirkpatrick, Richard Payne, Terry Theillen.

Tom Wood, Dixie Davis, Dan Garner, Gene Webb, Carolyn Gross, Sally Ivans, Jimmy Smithson, Ruth Blair, Donald Kesler, Mary Jane Casner, Bonny Pettiford, Marceil Polk, Ronnie Wood, Jane Hunt, and Diana Dale.

Fred Hayes, Tim Smith, James Tutorow, Wendell Hollenbeck, Betsy Relfe.

Jay Hunt, Bill Main, David Clement, David Madigan, Denny Stroup, Steve McDaniels, Jere Wysong, Charles Wallace, Bert Bush, Phil Jones, and Jon Sicks.

TWIRLING CORPS

Five girls acted as the twirling corp this year for the marching band. These girls participated in floor shows at some of the home basketball games. Jane Crist was acting captain of the corps.

Members of this group included Melba Miller, Janet Reasoner, Susan Callahan, Nancy Bush, and Jane Crist. They appear in the picture in the same order as they are named.

These officers lead the two groups of 60 girls through the year under the direction of Miss Joan Lea McTurnan. The clubs held parties, a turkey dinner at Christmas, and attended several state and district conventions. In the spring of 1953 Lynn Beck was elected president of the Northeast District and also served as state vice-president. Linda Ramsey was elected parliamentarian at the spring meeting on the Ball State campus. This spring the club made its annual trip to Chicago for a weekend, visiting places of education and culture.

Cafeteria Help

Helpers pictured are Joan Miller, Julia Miller, Lois McGlynn, Carolyn Bannister, Mike Riggs, Mrs. Downing, and Mrs. Clifford behind the serving counter, and Arlene Brattien. These six students assisted Mrs. Anna Downing and Mrs. Clarence Clifford, the regular cooks. They prepared and served the noon lunches for the high school students and children from North Ward. Cooperative and efficient work made the cafeteria a relaxing place for all patrons.

Ace and Cliff

Sweeping floors, washing blackboards, tending the furnace, painting, and building necessary articles for the classrooms are just a few of the many duties undertaken by our two expert custodians, Clarence Clifford and Ace Sellers. Mr. Clifford began his years of service at F. H. S. in 1930; Ace joined him 12 years later. Together, these two men work many hours a day fulfilling our needs and keeping our school in excellent condition. We would like to give our sincere thanks to Ace and Cliff, for their work is deeply appreciated by both the faculty and students.

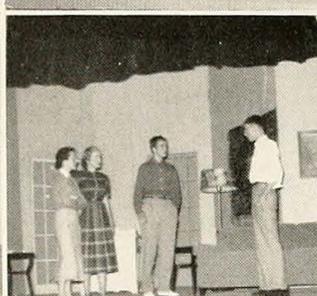

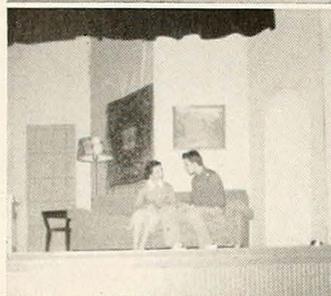

Bus Drivers

Safe and pleasant transportation to and from school daily for nearly 200 students is the major responsibility of these men. Many other activities demand their services during the year. Alertness, consideration, and a sense of seriousness for their work characterize these drivers.

SOPHOMORE PLAYS

Students of the sophomore class presented two one-act plays on January 22. They were a drama, "The Talk of the Town," and a comedy, "Couldn't I Kiss You Goodnight?" Adeline Mart Nall and Lewis Berg, class sponsors, directed the plays with the help of two student directors, Diana Dale and Mary Agnes Partridge. A sophomore talent show was presented between the stage productions.

For "Couldn't I Kiss You Goodnight" the cast was: Mrs. Anderson, Jane Crist; Mr. Anderson, Larry Wood; Jane Anderson, Connie Maple; Paul, Don Cruea; and Mary Anderson, Sandra Boykin.

Others who deserve credit for the plays were stage managers: Jack Skinner, Jerry Underwood, Shirley Scott, Mary Jo Mendenhall, Dottie Kendall and Judy Frye; business managers, Phil Mitchener and Melba Miller; prompter, Judy Frye; publicity, Marlene Crouch, Norma Sullivan, Nancy Comer, Connie Maple, and Judy Frye; programs, Melba Miller; ticket committee, Mary Scott, Virginia Chapel, Jane Crist, David Dumpert, Susie Johnson, Norma Sullivan, and Phil Mitchener; ushers, Sue Bayless, Jane Ann Ellingwood, Linda Ramsey, Sue Gaither, Jane Hoke, and Jane Buffington.

JUNIOR PLAY

The juniors gave their class play in the high school auditorium October 29-30. The play presented was a comedy, "Mother Is a Freshman." Adeline Mart Nall was the director, and Janet Lamb was the student director.

The play concerned a mother who got funds to keep her daughter in college by attending the same school. This was possible because her first and middle names were the same as those of a founder of a scholarship fund, Abigail Fortitude. Many comical situations developed since the daughter was a sophomore and the mother was a freshman.

Two of the parts in the play were double cast; they were the parts of the mother and Professor Michaels. The cast was as follows: Abigail, Ramona Stroup and Dorothy Nelson; Susan, Janice Wimmer; Sylvia, Janet Hoke; Professor Michaels, Dick Stroup and Larry Stookey; Dean Gillingham, Phil Jones; Bobo, David Blair; Mrs. Miller, Darelyn Ice; Bunny, Louise Williams; Helen, Marilyn Small; Carrie, Leveda Crouch; Clara, Carol Sue Smithson; Margie, Carolyn Small; Howie, Jim Dunn; Bill, Charles Himelick; and Jack, Bob Blair.

The stage managers were Richard Broyles, Joe Comer, and Don Garner; prompters, Jane Maple and Susie Buller; business manager, Jim Dunn; costumes, Louise Williams; and publicity manager, Mary Lou Clem.

SENIOR PLAY

Romance, tragedy, comedy, and drama were all to be found in the three-act play, "Little Women," which was presented by the senior class in the auditorium on April 8 and 9. This play, also directed by Mrs. Nall, was the dramatical highlight of the year.

Adapted from the novel by Louisa M. Alcott, the play concerns four sisters: Jo, the tomboy; Amy, the little lady; Meg, the housekeeper; and the patient, sweet-tempered Beth. The dramatization included other characters from the novel: Marmee, the girls' mother; Mr. March, their invalid father; the irascible Aunt March; old Mr. Laurence, the wealthy neighbor; Laurie, the ideal of young American manhood; John Brook, the bashful teacher; Hannah, the well-meaning cook; and Professor Bhaer, the German teacher who falls in love with Jo.

The cast was as follows:

Meg Diana Dale
Jo Linda Roth

Beth Mary Lynn Beck
Amy Judy Sicks
Mrs. March Shirley Bright
Mr. March Bill Gaddis
Aunt March Phyllis Scott
Hannah Mullett Alice Keller
Mr. Laurence Bob Hayes
Laurie Dwight Crouch
John Brook Marvin Smalley
Professor Bhaer John Leming
First girl Loretta Price
Second girl Phyllis Howell
Third girl Marlene Yale
Fourth girl Joy Bethay

Stage managers were Charles Thomas and Harlan Haisley. Prompters were Marlene Yale and Phyllis Howell. The picture of the cast which appears on the opposite page was taken the same day that Mrs. Nall chose the performers, and depicts no actual scene.

QUAKER FOOTBALL TEAM

The 1953 football Quakers finished the season with a respectable 3-won, 1-tied, 5-lost record. This was Fairmount's first year playing against all varsity competition in 40 years.

The Quaker gridders' best game was played on the eve of September 29 when they invaded Alexandria, where they upset the Tigers, 31-25. Other outstanding games included ones with Royerton and Portland. Although both were lost, the Quakers rolled up a considerable margin in yardage.

Four Quaker players were rewarded for their services for the past year as they were placed on the All-Mississinewa Valley Conference Team. Junior halfback Orval Meyers was Fairmount's only representative on the Conference's first team, while tackle Bill Gaddis, and Jim Mitchener, and guard Joe Comer made the second team.

Jim Mitchener and Orval Meyers led the individual scoring for the season as both scored 34 points. Jim Mitchener also upheld an excellent punting average of 30.9 for the entire season.

All in all, the Quakers had a good season under Coach Jim Barrett and should have another one next year.

VARSITY BASKETBALL TEAM

Coached for the second year by James Roth, this year's Quaker team rolled up an impressive 16-won, 5-lost record, including two tournaments. In the five-team Mississinewa Valley Conference, Fairmount tied with Portland for third place.

QUAKER SKETCHES

MITCHENER—Captain and high scorer of the team, Jim ended his third year on the varsity. Generally controlling both bankboards with his rebounding, and playing at guard, forward, or center equally well, he will leave a large place to be filled through his graduation. Jim played his best games against Summitville and in the sectional against St. Paul's and Marion.

BLAKE—As the team's second leading scorer, Joe was noted for his one-handed set and jump shots. Best free throw shooter on the team, Joe's shooting accuracy and determination will be missed next year. He played his best games against Dunkirk and Frankton.

DRAPER—The team's leading defensive player, Jim also kept his opponents on their toes with his deadly two-handed set shot and jump shot. Jim is a senior who will be missed next year. He played his best games against Sweetser and Eastern.

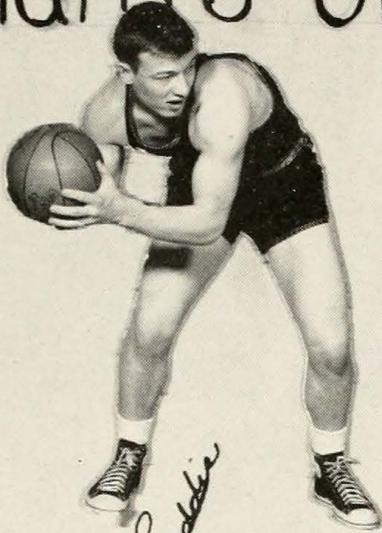

CROUCH—Smallest player on the squad but seemingly big to many opponents, Dwight was a good ball-handler and kept the defensive alert with his two-handed set shots. Dwight is a senior who played his best game against Mississinewa in the County Tournament.

GADDIS—Most valuable replacement who was out most of the year with a broken arm, Bill was dangerous on the boards. He hit his peak in the sectional against Marion.

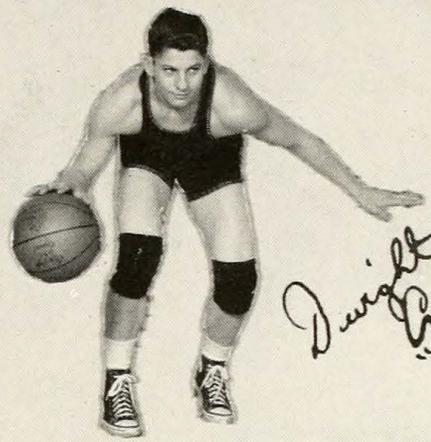

STROUP—Most improved player on the team, Dick was a very valuable rebounder and a good defensive man. His hook shot began connecting at the end of the season so his return next year will be welcome. He played his best game against Royerton.

ALLEN—Proving a first-rate replacement, Bob started late in the season to connect on his set shot and proved his value to the team. He also returns next year. His best-played games were with Summitville and St. Mary's.

TRACK SQUAD

The 1953 track squad ended up with a fairly successful season. They won two, dropped two, and placed second in a three-way meet. A total of thirty-five places were won in three relay meets and the sectional meet.

Three boys placed in the sectional for the Quakers, namely Bob Allen, mile run; Jim Mitchener, pole vault; and Rex Buller, 100-yard dash.

Senior tracksters who graduated in the Class of '53 were Jim Reynolds, Jim Wallace, Paul Tolbert, Henry Prine, and Jerry Lewis.

The track season had not started when the annual went to press, but the 1954 team is expected to be strong in almost every event.

CROSS COUNTRY

The cross-country team, though only winning two and losing seven, was successful in respect to its manpower. The team had no seniors but was composed of two juniors and four sophomores. The boys should amass several wins next year through experience gained this year.

Jerry Blake was the top runner with the other boys running right on his heels.

The boys are expected to be quite strong next year.
