ON TOP . . .

We're on top!!! We've got what it takes and we're putting it to use the best we can.

We have all the assets it takes to be great. We've got good athletes, good speakers, good singers, good musicians and students who are excellent. We've even got a terrific faculty and staff. When we put all of these attributes together we've got our own special kind of people. No one can tell us that we're not fantastic because we know differently.

Statistics show that we have one of the lowest percentages of dropouts in the state of Indiana. This proves that we must be doing something right or else people wouldn't stick around for so long.

Kim Bolden demonstrates another way of being on top as she decorates for the 1978 junior-senior prom "Come Sail Away".

Below: The volleyball team felt terrific when they were on top after winning the county tourney.

... AND STILL CLIMBING

Even though we're great we've still got a ways to go. Every step we take and everything we strive for takes us closer to that one unique and mutual goal of success as students of M-G and as citizens of the world.

Some of us are great academically but some need to study harder. Some of us are natural-born athletes while others simply like to sit and watch. Many of us like music and excel in it while others would rather listen.

We can't all be great in everything so we all need to excel in what we can do best. If we combine all of our talents into one, before you know it we will be on top.

Some students work for the top in other ways. It can get tiring going up and down the school steps every day.

Monica McCorkle works to better her academic skills by studying whenever possible.

COMING HOME

Yells and screams of excitement came from the crowd as the final seconds ticked away off of the scoreboard. What was the reason for all of the joyful faces that could be seen? Our football team brought us a stupendous victory on homecoming day with a score of 30 to 0.

All of the festivities leading up to the highlight of the football season seemed to make it even more enjoyable. We kept a positive attitude so that the Eastern Comets didn't have a chance.

Black and gold day, jersey day and the macho machine contest brought enthusiasm into the school along with the excitement of the crowning of Priscilla Mack and Joe Kelich as our homecoming queen and king.

To top off the sensational week, Zeus and Roadmaster entertained students at the victory dance after the game.

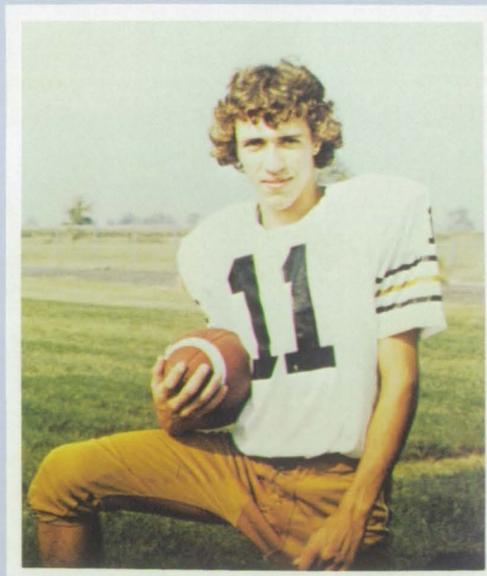

Below: A look of unsuspected surprise overcomes Priscilla Mack's face as she is announced as the 1978 queen.

THE FUN OF IT ALL

Homecoming did not only consist of crowning the king and queen, but it also was a week of activities for everyone.

A macho machine contest was held on Friday and Shelly Steiner was announced the winner with her antique car. Both black and gold and jersey days brought spirit to the student body. The most exciting part of the week was an outdoor pep session on Friday. During the pep session students participated in a tug-of-war, spirit contest and recognition of the football team. The seniors managed to walk away with top honors in the banner and hall decorating contests while the juniors took the spirit awards.

Come Sail Away

The junior-senior prom "Come Sail Away" highlighted the spring activities of M-G students. Still Water Creek was the performing band. The gymnasium was decorated with scenes from the song "Come Sail Away". Most of the decorations were made by members of the junior class. The juniors constructed a pier from the front door to the gymnasium to introduce the guests to the theme. Juniors were assisted in all preparations by class sponsors Mr. Duane Leatherman, Mrs. Carol Gallo and Mrs. Gayle Jackson.

Teresa Ratliff and Randy Floyd were crowned queen and king. Other king candidates were Damon Seacott, Dave Devore and Brent Lewis. Tina Root, Denise Wilson and Nancy Floyd were the other queen nominees.

Getting away from it all

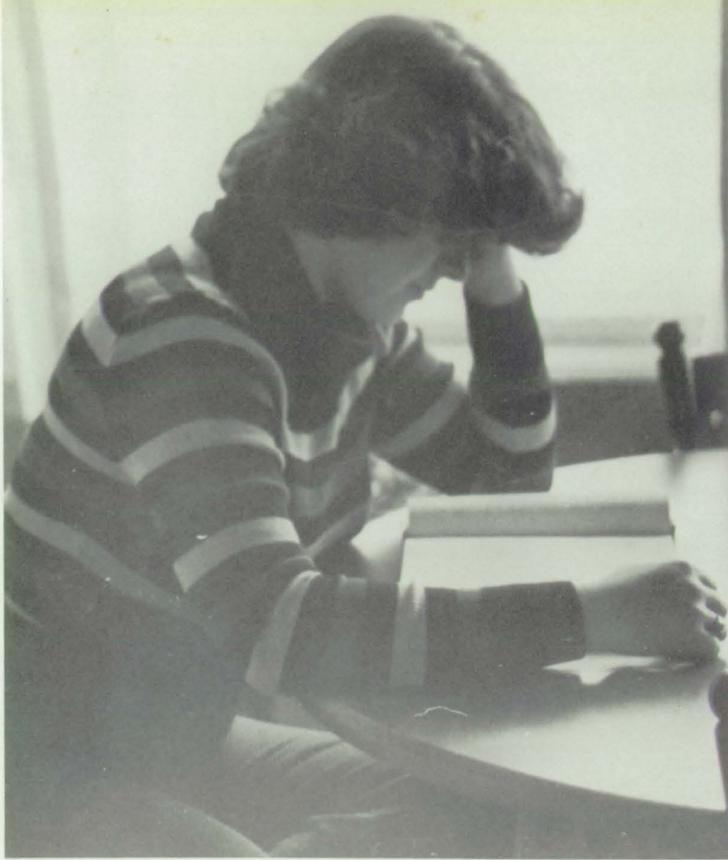

What do kids do when they get out of school? Where do they go? What do they think about? Well, we can at least try to answer these questions for the students at M-G.

After a long day at school some students feel that going to the park and bumming around will take away all of the tension. Others just like to cruise around the streets and be cool. Many students, though, have to practice for an upcoming event or go to an after school job. Then there are always the students who find it necessary to hit the books after school is out. What do you do when school is out?

This is the usual scene of the student parking lot just a few minutes after three o'clock.

Seniors Jeff Cragun and Bill Sizelove find that going to the park and messing around is better than going home.

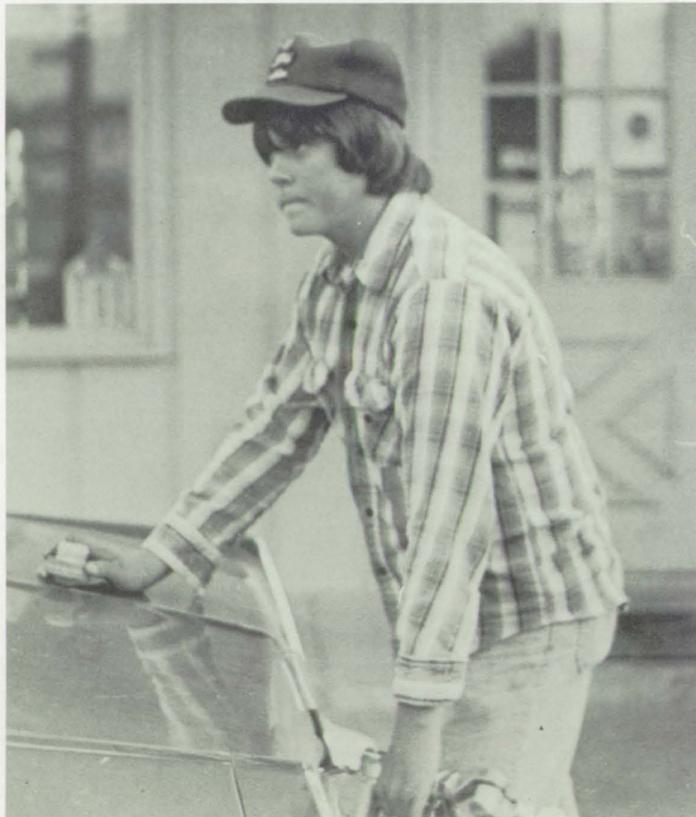

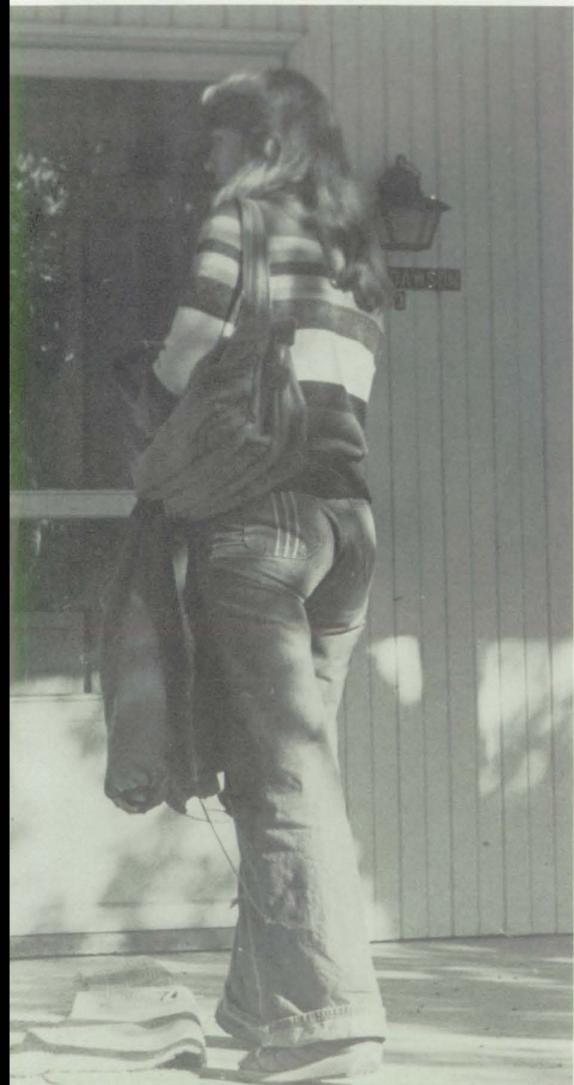

Above: Senior Pam Krieg knows what absolutely has to be done after school hours.

Below: Junior Mitch Smithson is one of the many students who have a job to take up their free time.

Entertainment

In the entertainment category, this year's producers put movies, music disco, and comedy into a blender and came out with "Saturday Night Fever". Sick humor was also tops on the list in the entertainment field with movies like "Animal House", "Up in Smoke", TV shows like "Saturday Night Live", "Soap", "Mork and Mindy", and comedians like Steve "Wild-n-Crazy" Martin and John "Bluto" Belushi.

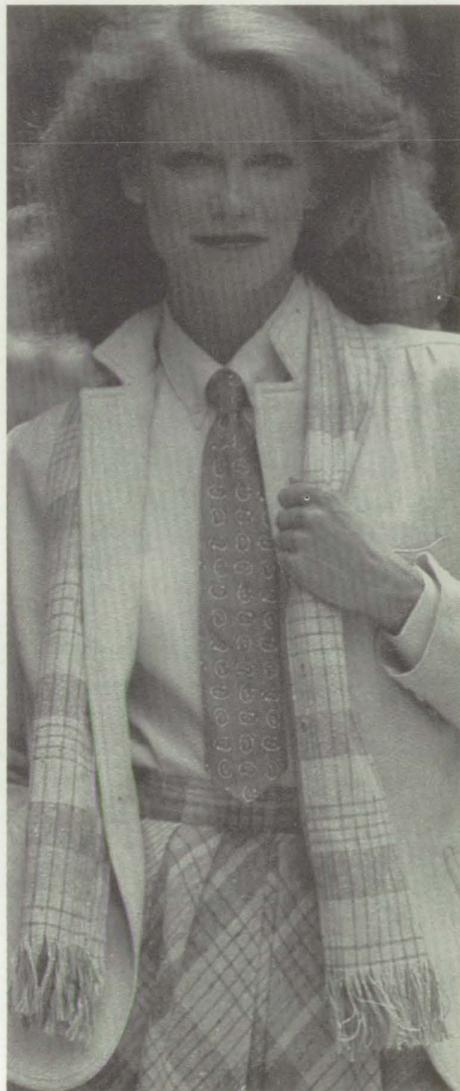

Fads and Fashions

Clothes alone do not make fashion. Fashion also includes accessories. This year combs, barrettes and flowers dress up the hair. A new way to style ones hair is to get it crimped. Belts pull together a blouse and skirt or a dress. On the feet of Madison-Grant students are clogs, boots, and of course, tennis shoes.

The Annie Hall is an especially popular look this year introducing ties and pleated pants.

Styles at Madison-Grant are scarves, velour sweaters, neck band shirts, along with the ever popular straight leg jeans that can be worn with high heeled shoes.

Movies

A movie on the killing of the Jews by the Nazis in WW II was shown and titled "Holocaust". It started a great movement of demonstrations all across the nation.

News

This was a year filled with many national news events. One of the biggest things that happened in the world was the dying of the two popes. Pope John Paul I replaced Pope Paul after his death in August. Then, after only 1 month, Pope John Paul II took over.

Legionnaires' disease, as it was nicknamed, because of a convention of the American Legion in Philadelphia, has turned out to be a serious problem. There are more than 1000 confirmed cases, with approximately 160 deaths.

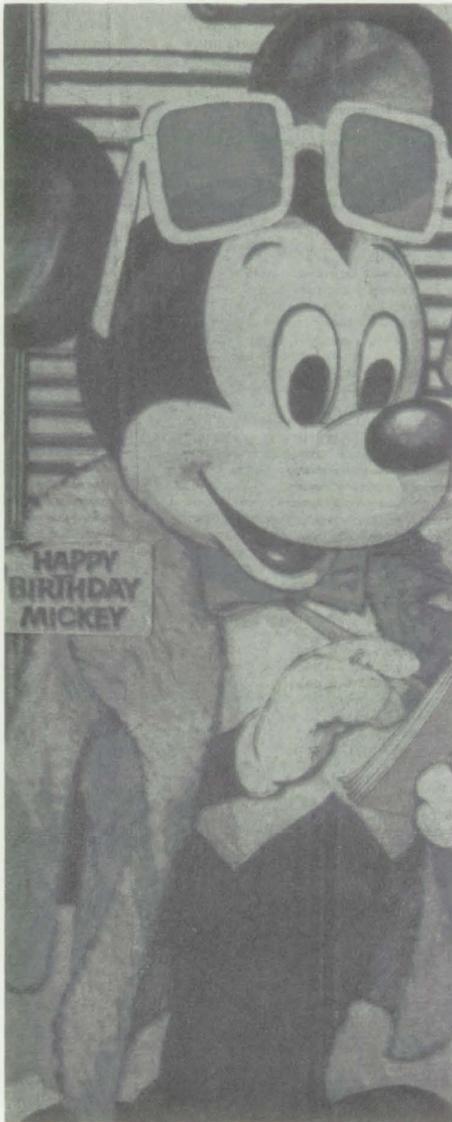

The farmers went on strike. They drove their tractors to Washington D.C., some took grain and dumped it in the streets, and some took animals and released them at the Capital Building to protest farm prices and to bargain for parity.

The Camp David Peace Talks in September between Menachem Begin of Israel and Anwar Sadat of Egypt were arranged by President Carter to bring peace between these two countries.

American artist Norman Rockwell died at the age of 84. He painted more than 300 covers for the Saturday Evening Post.

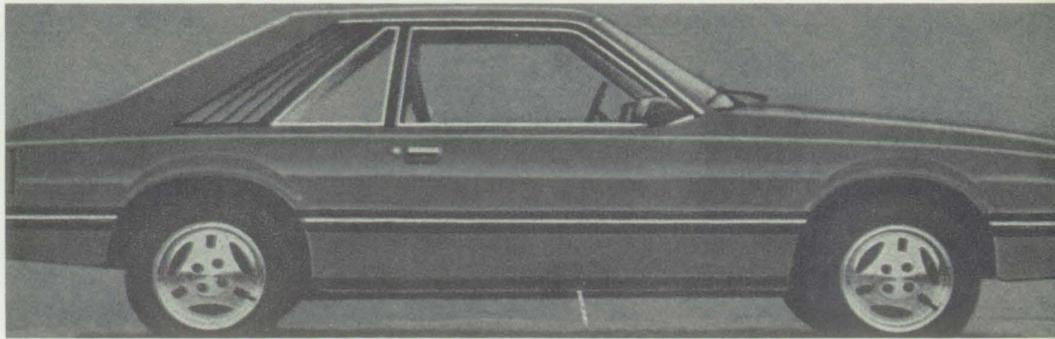

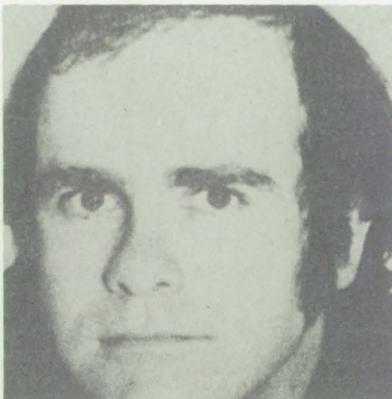

The New York Yankees came back after being 2-0 games down to win the World Series from the Los Angeles Dodgers.

GOIN' ON

Mickey Mouse celebrated his 50th birthday.

Elton John collapsed and was hospitalized with chest pains due to exhaustion and overwork.

The Indy 500 will go compact for this year's race using the Ford Mustang as the pace car. Due to the continuing rise in the price of gasoline, better mileage is the prime factor in the design, as it was for the rest of the automotive industry.

Solar energy is becoming a popular way of heating homes.

Inflation hit all time high in the United States and the dollar hit an all time low abroad.

A strong going fad is one of CB radios and stereo equipment. Thousands of dollars are spent each day for these types of components.

The girls volleyball team won their fourth sectional in a row and second Grant County Tourney.

The Argyll football team finished third in the CIC with a 6-4 record. They closed out the year with four consecutive victories which is a school record. The third place finish is the best for the Argylls in the CIC.

The North Central Evaluating team visited Madison-Grant High School November 14-17. The school is evaluated every seven years.

Gerald Ford decides to run for the presidency again.

Plans are being made for a new junior high school. The new school has temporary plans of a swimming pool and an auditorium.

Morris Kelsay attended the Future Farmers of America convention in Kansas City, Missouri. While there, he saw President Carter and Mickey Mouse.

Argylls show school spirit

Decorating hallways was the main event that took place during homecoming week. Capping off the celebration was a dance featuring the group "Jump Street".

Although Elwood managed to slip by M-G it was still an exciting week.

During halftime of the varsity game the seniors were announced as the winners of the hall and banner decorating contests. Their theme was "Scrubbing Bubbles". Also during halftime special honors were given to the 1973-74 graduating basketball players, cheerleaders, and managers. Spirit awards were given to Sherry Hurt and Joe Kelich as Miss Spirit and Mr. Spirit. Five people were chosen as the adult spirit team. These are adults who have shown great spirit and enthusiasm in backing the Argyll team.

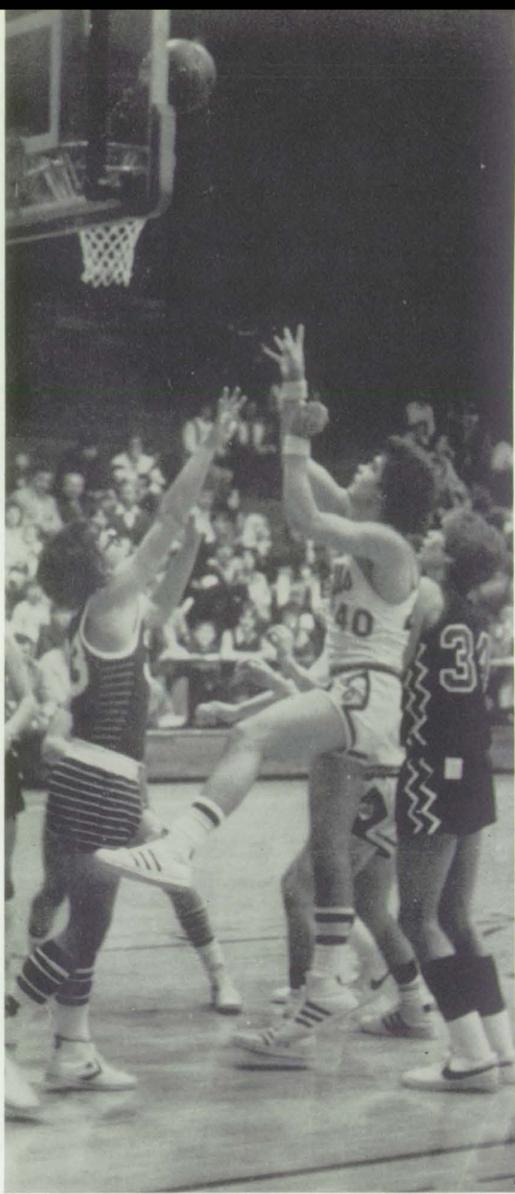

The adult spirit team consisted of (l. to r.) Marianne Harbit, Arlen Hasty, O.H. Rigsbee, Brenda Long accepting for her husband David and Max Leisure.

Migrants Make Temporary Home

Each year there are approximately ten students who attend school at Madison-Grant on a temporary basis. They are the migrants.

One such student is Santiago Garcia, sophomore. Santiago, who has been coming to Indiana for nine years, arrives here in July and stays in this area for about three months.

While going to this school Santiago says that Biology is his hardest subject and that P.E. and Spanish are his favorite classes.

Santiago doesn't have a hard time communicating with other students because he has been speaking English since about the third grade. While at home his family of eight brothers and four sisters speak a combination of Spanish and English.

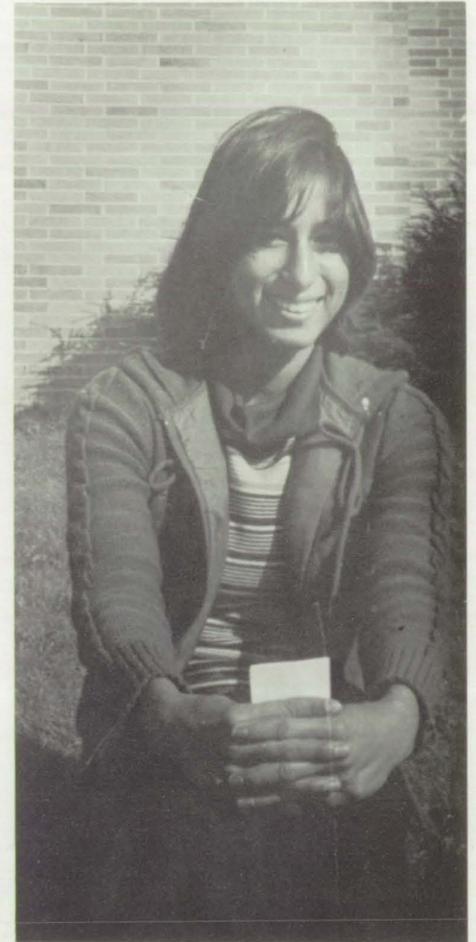

Adjusting from one school to another isn't hard for Santiago. He says "I take the same courses in every school and since most schools go at the same speed I don't have any catching up to do".

When asked if he had any hobbies Santiago grinned and said "picking tomatoes?" He also enjoys astronomy and football. "I play running back and quarter back for the Weslaco Purple Panthers when I'm in Texas," said Santiago.

Home to Santiago is Weslaco, Texas where he stays for seven months out of every year. From Texas his family travels to Powell, Wyoming where they spend the remaining two months before coming back to M-G.

Left: Maria Rodriguez enjoys the outdoors as she sits on the lawn outside of the high school.

Bushels of talent

Skits, songs, jokes and just plain fun were the materials that made up the first talent show at MGHS.

This show, sponsored by Concert Choir, included any students who had a talent that they wished to share with other people.

The first prize of twenty five dollars went to Bryan Ferguson and the Chickadees for their performance of "Rockin' Robin". Second prize, fifteen dollars, was given to Pam Krieg for her rendition of "Hard Hearted Hannah" and third prize of ten dollars went to Lisa Smith who sang "I Honestly Love You".

Also at the show were special appearances by the Concert Choir, Mr. Duane Leatherman and Gary and Beth Walton.

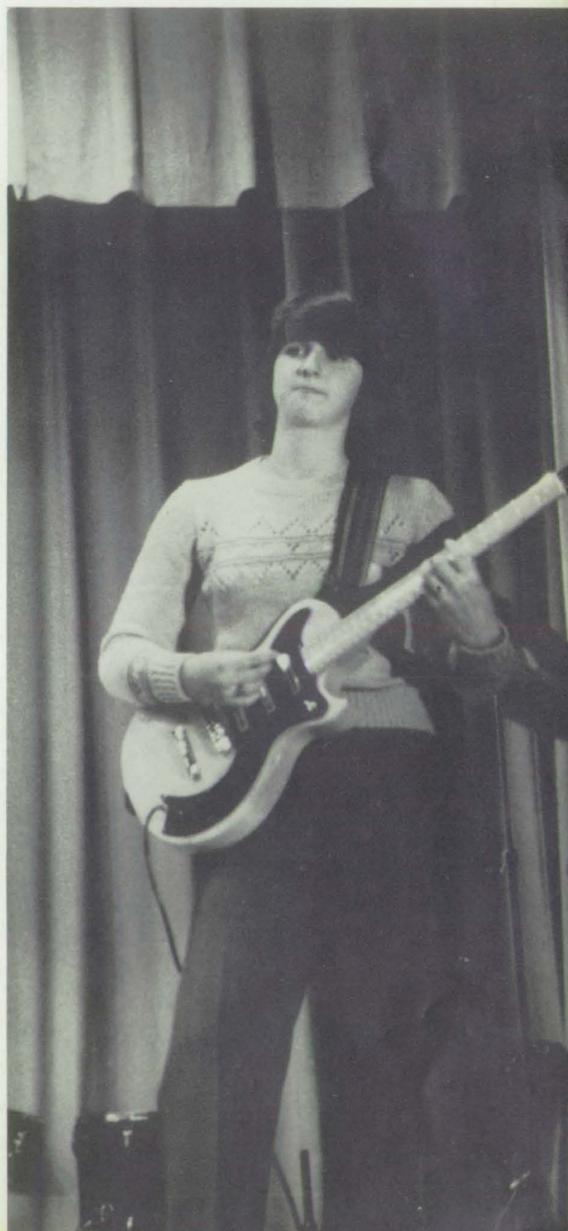

Right: Beth Walton, choir director, and her husband Gary entertain the audience as they sing "You Light Up My Life".

Below: Dawn Worl, junior, plays her electric guitar to the beat of "Woman In the Moon" at the talent contest.

Right: Junior, Kim Simpson shows everyone her talent by singing "Day By Day" from the musical "Godspell".

ACADEMICS

Mrs. Richards teaches her students a few of the techniques involved in speech.

Doug Lawrence, junior, listens intently to instructions in auto mechanics class.

Freshman George Trent seems to be fascinated with the internal parts of a frog as he dissects one in biology.

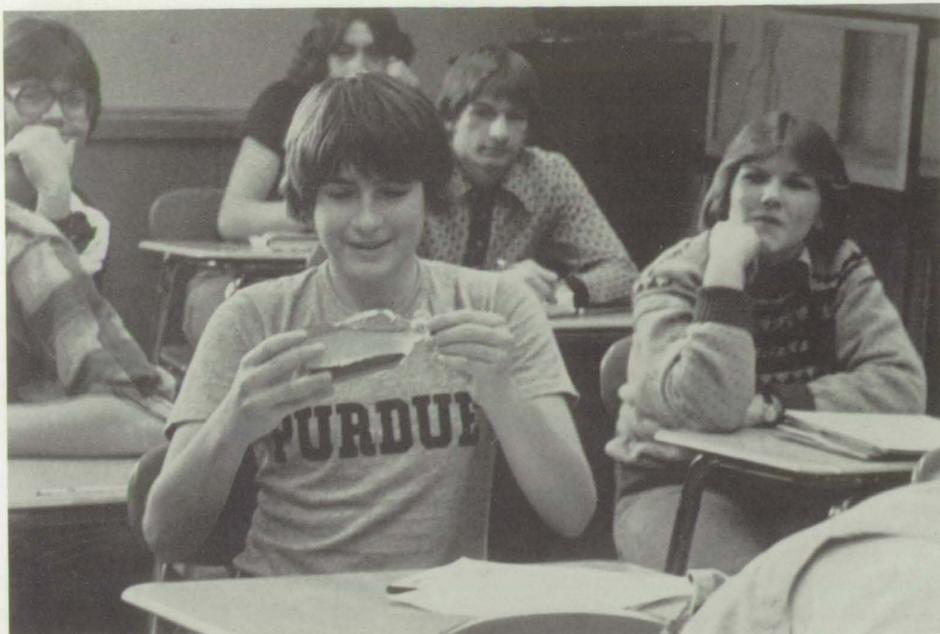

Greg Hurst and Greg Phillippe seem to be having difficulties while working in auto mechanics class.

Biology offerings are increased

Advanced Biology was offered this year. It was not available last year because of a lack of interest. Advanced Biology lasts one semester. The first nine weeks deal with microbiology, studying microorganisms such as bacteria; the second nine weeks is spent dissecting things such as frogs and unborn pigs.

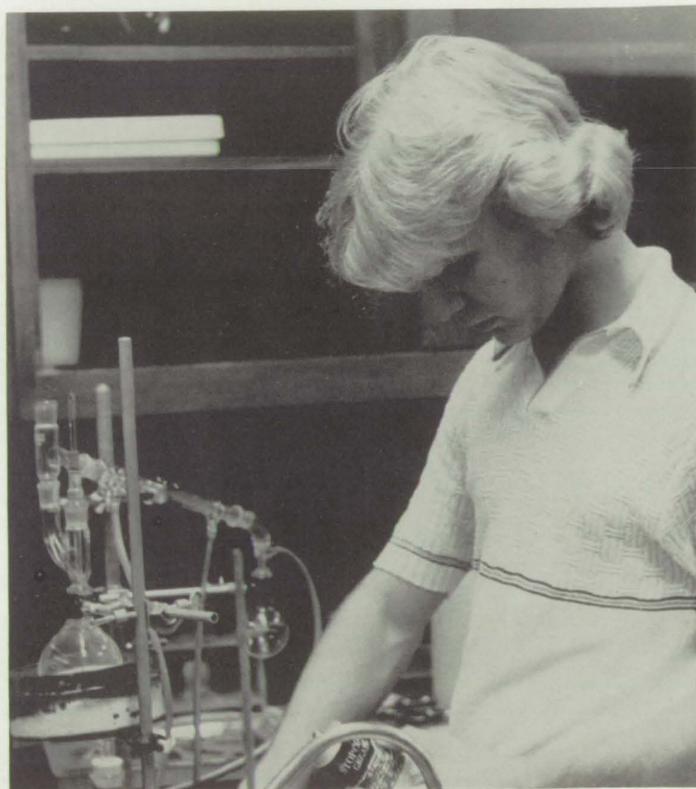

Freshmen with high grades in science could take Biology this year. Those not having the high grades took the introductory courses to biology, chemistry, physics, and environment.

More than just counting

Advanced Math was added to the classes making up the math department. Advanced Math is an introductory to pre-calculus. It is the highest math class available here at Madison-Grant.

Two years ago students signed a petition asking for a higher math class. Advanced Math, though, was not organized until this year because of a lack of a teacher.

Advanced Math helps prepare students for the calculus classes that they will take in college.

Geometry is not always exciting, as these students seem to be finding out.

Phase electives dropped

Juniors and seniors no longer have a choice of which English classes to take. This year the English department did away with the phase elective program.

There is only one English class a junior is required to take. This is English 11. Seniors have a choice of taking Senior English, which lasts one semester, or of taking College Prep, which lasts the entire year.

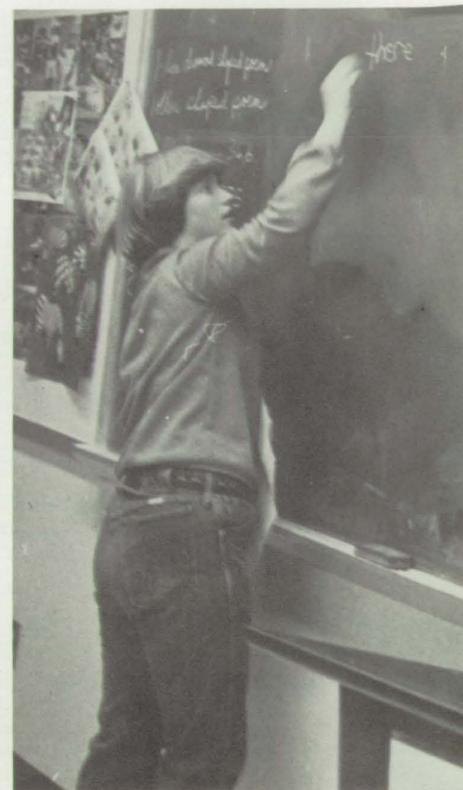

All of this was brought about to help students do well on competency tests, testing which will go into effect in the near future. Competency testing is when a student must achieve a certain score on a competency test in order to graduate.

Working to put his thoughts into another language is Spanish II student Scott Rogers.

Spanish 3 added to curriculum

Spanish III was offered by the Spanish department this year. In Spanish III, the students learned the culture of Mayan and Inca Indians. They spent class periods cooking Spanish food in the Home Ec. kitchens. They also made displays for the showcase in I hallway.

French I students learned the basic skills required to speak the language. French II students used the skills acquired in French I and further developed them.

Morris Kelsay and Chris Watson try to inconspicuously have a conversation in Spanish III.

Steph Hinds and Chris Hollingsworth take a last look at the French calendar before the test.

Choirs assist in productions

The musical "South Pacific" was the major show for the choral department this year. Cast members were chosen from the Concert Choir. The choral department also sponsored the all-school talent show.

There are five different types of choir a student can take. These types are: Sing For Fun, Varsity Mixed, Beginning Chorus, Girls' Chorus, and Concert Choir.

The choirs went to contest and also went to a choral festival in the spring. The choirs are directed by Mrs. Bethany Walton.

Mark Stitt, Steve Smith, and Bobby Wise concentrate on the harmony of a song in choir.

Students enjoy singing the latest hits during Girls' Chorus.

Annette Lineback and Kelly Pemberton watch their music so as not to miss their entrance.

Students taking band get the opportunity to blow their horns.

Band attends many contests

The band is a unit of organizations in itself. It is made up of three different bands, which are the Concert Band, the Pep Band, and the Stage Band.

The Concert Band performed at the annual Spring Spectacular. It also presented a Christmas concert. It went to contest in April.

The Pep Band consists of 30 players. They play at the home basketball games and at a session of the county tourney.

The Stage Band was organized for members of the band who enjoy playing jazz and pop music.

Also, many students take part in the District Solo and Ensemble Contest.

Diana Coffin does not let a little rain stop her from marching.

Students make their own kind of music during band.

Girls' State Delegates: Tina West, Jennifer Hasty, Pam Krieg; Alternates: Tara Hopkins, Linda Ferris, Pam Woodruff.

Delegates form government

Three senior girls and four senior boys attended Girls' and Boys' State at Indiana State University in Terre Haute during Summer, 1978.

During their one-week stay, they learned how the state government is run by setting up their own state government. They also held elections, listened to guest speakers, and had special entertainment such as attending a Frank Sinatra Concert.

The American Legion Auxiliary sponsored the delegates. After returning from Girls' and Boys' State, the attendants went back to the Auxiliary and gave a report on their stay.

Tina West and Pam Krieg discuss the proper procedure for voting on a ballot.

Mrs. Burnett gives help to Ron Glos on a problem in Psychology.

Seniors prepare tax forms

The Social Studies department at Madison-Grant is designed to teach the students about history of the world, including the United States, location of countries, and the economics of the United States.

Government, which is required for all seniors to take, is a semester class. Students in Government learn how to fill out tax forms besides how our government is run.

All students at M-G are required to have a minor in Social Studies. U.S. History, a one year class, is required for all Juniors.

Above: This year's DAR Good Citizen's award went to Lorie Devore.

Shari Spence spots Janice Love while she does a headstand.

Exercise can be fun in phys. ed.

Students taking physical education learn the skills of basketball, golf, shuffleboard, tennis, badminton, and volleyball.

Each student is required to take two semesters of P.E. during their freshmen and sophomore years.

Advanced P.E. are for junior and senior students who would like to further their skills in sports.

These P.E. students learn the proper techniques to playing volleyball.

Health classes teach first aid

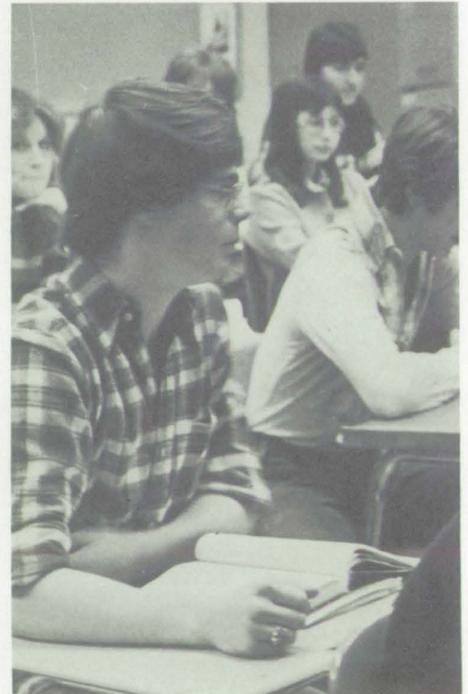

For the first year, the Health classes had dream tests. They write down their dreams, and then the students discuss the dreams in class.

Students in Health classes learn emergency first aid. This includes artificial respiration and heart massage. Students also learn the parts of the body and the body systems. They also study the body functions.

All sophomores are required to take Health. Health classes last one semester.

Susan Niverson receives help from Linda Phillips on her Health assignment.

New faces in Ind. Arts

Two new teachers were added to the Industrial Arts department. They are Bob Starkey and Terry Rickard.

Students in Printing learn how to print things such as invitations and programs. They also print and paste-up the school newspaper, the Clan Courier. Students in Auto Mechanics learn how to repair cars. Students who take Drafting learn how to draw designs for things such as houses.

The Industrial Arts department also offers Power Mechanics, Woodworking, Graphic Arts, American Industries, Welding, and Metals.

Larry Silvey takes on the responsibility of sorting type in Printing.

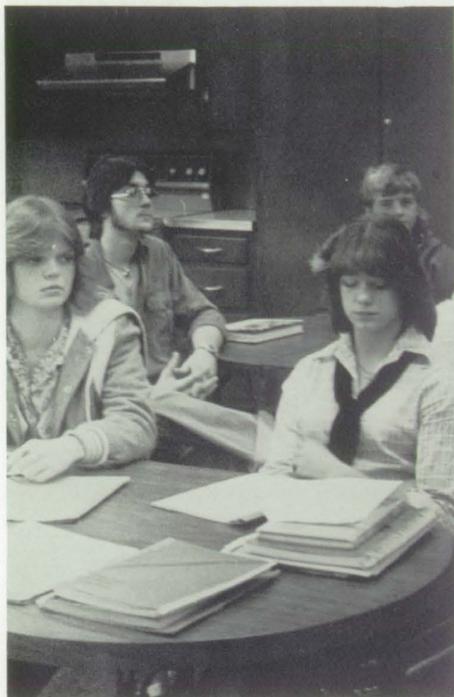

Randy Brookshire and Joe Kean help each other with their Woodworking assignment.

Raymond Hiatt does paste-up for the Clan Courier in Printing.

Doug Ferree prepares the type for the basketball programs.

Kim Morrison finds Foods class tiring.

Julie Hoheimer, Cindy Webb, and Jeanette Kilgore carefully listen and take notes.

Preparing for their future

Home Economics at Madison-Grant ranges in many different areas. Child Development, Family Management, and Marriage and Family Living are only a few which help guide the students in all phases of life in their future.

Clothing classes offered this year might have been small, yet they made progress.

Food classes, cooking everything from buckeyes to pizza, always kept the halls lingering with aroma.

Students develop clerical skills

Starting a new year, the Business department eliminated their nine week courses this year. Sales classes kept the display case in A hallway filled as a requirement for the class.

Business can also be fun as shown by the Advanced Accounting class at their Christmas dinner.

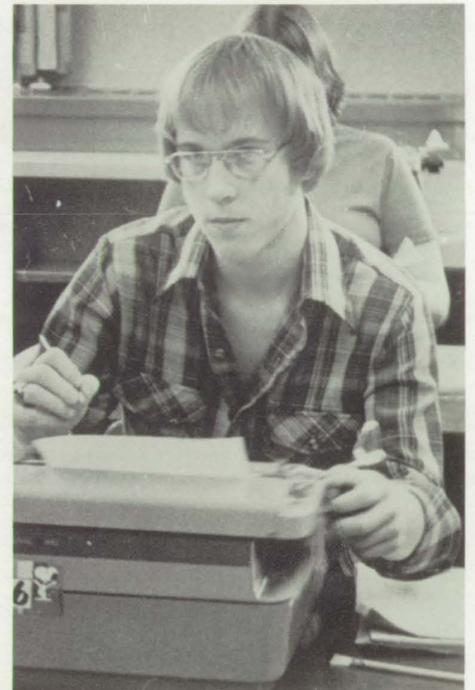

Planning for the coming year, the department hopes to offer Sales, Accounting, and Business Math to sophomores.

Making the world colorful

With instructions and advice from Mrs. McConnell, art teacher, students erected macrame hangings, string art, and water color paintings in Basic Art class. Drawing students learned the basic skills to drawing animals and people.

A painting course was offered this year to let students express themselves with paint and canvas. Art students also created Christmas cheer by decorating doors and windows during Christmas time.

Priscilla Mack and Jamie Osborn discuss the proper way to use a roller in Printmaking.

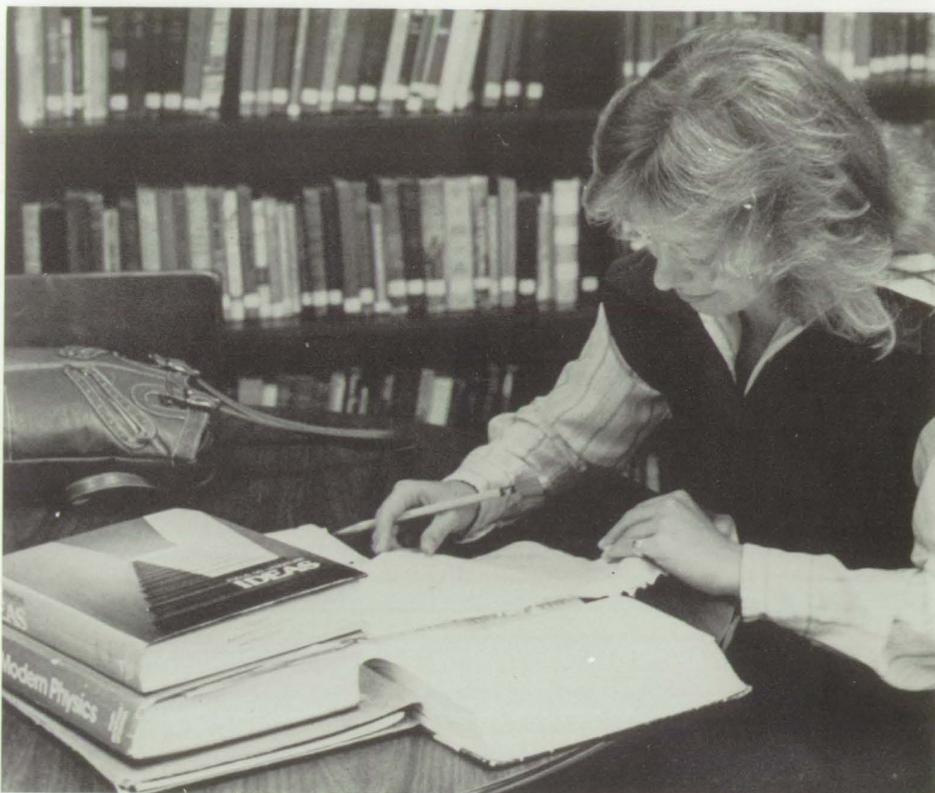

Brad DeLong traces snowflakes for Christmas decorations.

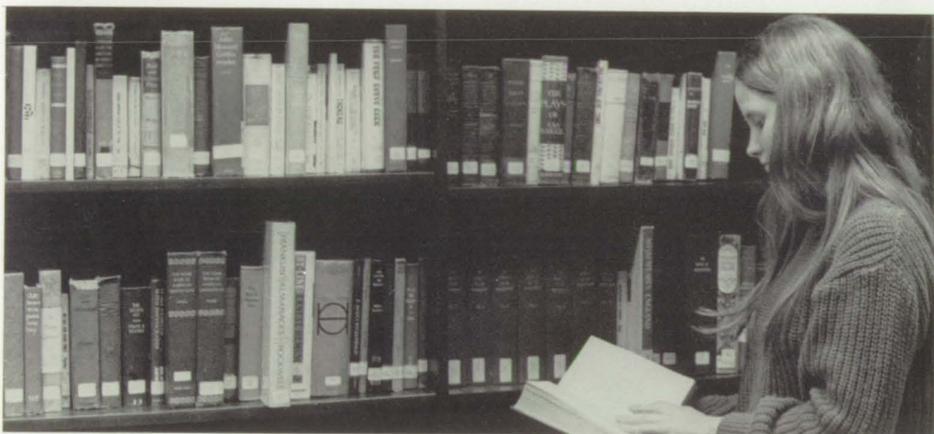

Need answer? Go to library.

The library is more than a place that offers information. To Mrs. Janet Gough and the library assistants, it is a never-ending job.

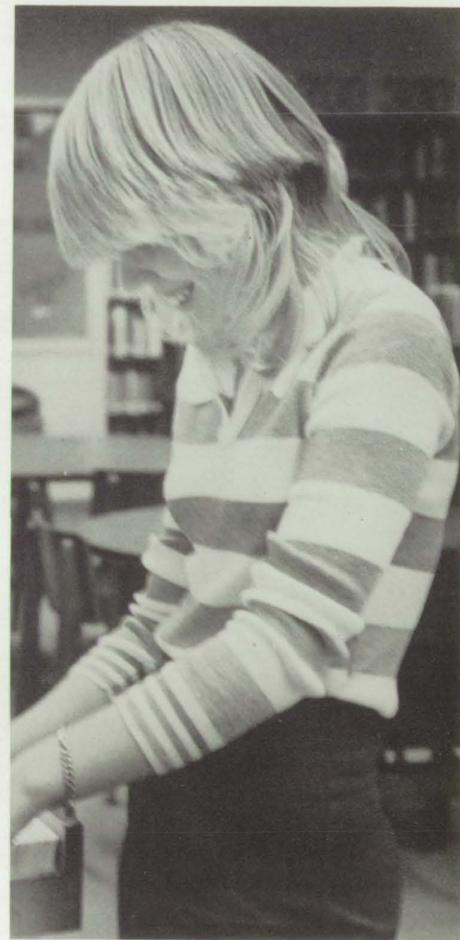

Besides checking out books, the assistants deliver the library equipment to the class where it is needed. They must also keep the vertical file up-to-date. If any book is damaged, the assistants repair it. They also make the display on the bulletin board. They make sure that books are on the proper shelves and in the correct order on the shelves.

Karen Mathews uses the library as a quiet place to study.

Lower rates— take driver's ed.

For the second year, Driver's Education was offered during the school year. For those not being able to work it into their schedule, they can still take it in the summer.

An advantage to taking Driver's Ed. during the regular school day is the students receive practice in driving on snow.

For taking Driver's Ed., many insurance companies lower their rates. Also a Driver's Ed. student can obtain his license earlier.

Students learn trade for future

This year the Special Education class took a trip to Sinclair, a craft shop in Gas City.

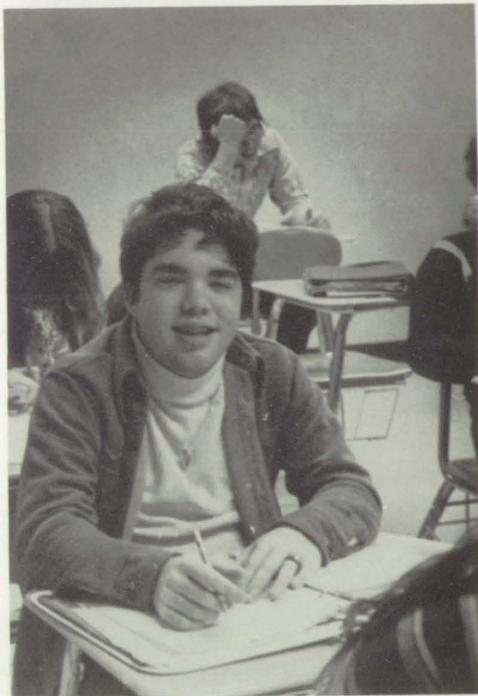

Special Education has been at Madison-Grant for four years. This year the class is taught by Mrs. Jill Miller.

Classes in Special Education include history, language arts, math, science, and pre-vocational skills.

Learning to fill out application forms were taught in pre-vocational class.

Special Education students like having time to do what they want.

Special Education gets new teacher

Many juniors and seniors here at Madison-Grant attend vocational school at either Elwood or Marion. They spend half of a day here at the high school and spend the other half at vocational school. For attending vocational school, the students receive three credits per semester.

Vocational school includes training in many different areas, from auto mechanics to working in hospitals. Vocational school offers learning skills that cannot be gotten from books. The students learn by doing. Vocational school helps prepare students for their futures.

Craig Ferguson works on the house that the Vocational School students are building.

Foreign Language to Foreign Art

The Spanish Club, sponsored by Mrs. Melson, started up again after a year of delay. The year proved to be successful with the selling of cheese crocks and sausage to raise money while many activities were enjoyed by the members including bowling, roller skating, a Halloween party with masks, and a Christmas party. The club also bought T-shirts with a Spanish saying and took their annual trip to a Spanish restaurant to eat.

Several students got involved in the newly formed Humanities Club this year. The group consisted of art, music, and speech students. The purpose is to expose the students to art, museums, theatre and concerts. The club attended the Madrigal Dinner at Marion College.

They attended camp at U.S.C.A. this summer, bringing home four first place ribbons. The cheerleaders also decorated the locker room when we won the County Tourney and made cookies for each football player.

The Junior-Varsity cheerleaders also attended U.S.C.A. where they placed third and fourth.

Freshman cheerleaders attended Ball State, but there was no competition.

Also creating spirit were the six guy cheerleaders who assisted the cheerleaders.

Also helping out with M-G spirit were the Mat Maids. The mat maids helped with announcing, scoring, and awarding ribbons.

Mat Maid officers this year were: Judy Abney, president; Cheryl Martin, vice-president; and Karen Pruet, secretary-treasurer.

Campus Life enjoys fellowship

Good times, fun and fellowship is what Campus Life is all about. Discussing problems and solutions to teen's problems and having parties and making new friends are some of the things that were done at meetings. With the help of a staff from Taylor University and Mr. Leon Earnest, sponsor, students discussed what's happening and their feelings. With a Burger Bash to start things off, a ski trip to Swiss Valley in Michigan and a trip to Florida in the spring to top things off, things never seemed to slow down. The Florida trip taken with other schools in the area, was a good time in the sun. The ski trip was a little wet, but no one seemed to mind much with the thought of maybe getting snowed in. With all this and the area parties one just couldn't get bored!

Santa doesn't need more help with the reindeer Campus Life provides.

FCA sells hot cocoa

That cup of hot chocolate that tasted so good at those fall football games was sold by the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. In addition to monthly meetings and, of course, the sports the members are active in, the club planned a trip to a professional ball game. Officers this year were president, Steve Wilson; vice-president, Mark Hurt; Jay Jarvis; secretary-treasurer, Joe Kelich.

Working hard makes MG better

After working hard for five semesters, students who were able to maintain a 3.25 grade average were rewarded by receiving an engraved scholarship plaque. Students who kept up this average for seven semesters received a medallion.

Being chosen on the basis of service, scholarship, character and leadership, members of the National Honor Society have been busy this year in community projects. Their officers are: Dan Coffin, president; Marilyn Joyner, vice-president; Teri McNutt, secretary; and Lisa Hinds, treasurer.

The Student Council sponsored many convocations during the year. Serving as president of the Student Council was Angie Ellingwood.

The Student Activities Board sponsored the Basketball Homecoming and dance which were a great success.

Speech only academic team

Expression through speech is one of man's oldest forms of communication. That's where the speech team and the M-G chapter of the National Forensic League come in. Under the guidance of Mrs. Richards, the new speech coach, the speech team traveled to meets all over the state. They performed in various areas, such as drama, original oratory, humorous, impromptu, poetry, radio, and extemporaneous speaking.

Recognized for the first time at a school assembly as M-G's only academic team, they brought home ribbons in various categories.

Elected officers were Jenny Payne, president, and Linda Ferris, vice-president.

Thespians gain new members

This year Drama Club merged with the newly formed Liberal Arts Club. Thespians, however, still continued to remain separate. At their induction ceremony early in January, six new members were sworn in. To become a Thespian one must have earned ten points by performing in a dramatic or musical production.

This year's play was the "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis". Under the new speech teacher and Thespian sponsor, Mrs. Richards, the play turned out well.

Chris Watson was elected as president of Thespians with Pam Krieg as vice-president and Tara Hopkins as secretary-treasurer.

Future careers in farms, health

As the Future Farmers of America celebrated their 50th year, the Madison-Grant chapter participated in many different activities.

In June, three members attended the State Convention at Purdue. Gregg Wood, and Chris Trimble worked as delegates, while Morris Kelsay sang in the State Chorus and was later elected district vice-president.

After school started under a new advisor, Mr. Don McDermit, Jeff Dupouy led the chapter in rat bait sales raising over $80.00.

During the year, the FFA participated in the County Soil Judging contests and many livestock judging contests. Other activities included putting out a corn plot and an annual trip to King's Island in the summer.

Homemakers and dance activities

The Future Homemakers of America sponsored many activities during the 1978-1979 school year. One very successful activity this year was the Christmas Ball. The members worked on various committees to plan everything from decorations to food. The dance featured the band "Morning Star." The dance was held between 8:00 and 11:00 p.m. and attended by approximately 130 people. FHA member, Nikki Moon, was crowned Christmas Ball queen.

The F.H.A. sponsored other activities during the year such as "Turkey of the Year", a Christmas party for young children brought in by members and the Mother-Daughter Banquet held in the spring.

Band plays its way up

"The Royal Argyll Regiment" performed at the ISMA contest this fall receiving a Division II rating. Attaining this required many hours of practice both before and after school. They also performed at the home football games. Drum majors this year were senior Joe Greentree and junior Danny Mack.

Money making projects this year included selling Gem Soap, Manor-Texas fruitcakes, and cheese.

Elected president this year was Janis Brewer. Mark Matney was V.P., Janet Lloyd was secretary, Karen Ratliff was treasurer, Bryan Ferguson was historian, Rammie Walliser was reporter.

The Argylletes Drill Team performed with the marching band at the home football games and at ISMA marching contest under captain Marcie Bledsoe and assistant captain Patti Stanley.

In addition, the Argylletes performed at the home basketball games and at two drill team competitions in the spring.

In addition to Marcie and Patti as captain and assistant captain, Dawn Martin was treasurer and Tami Hipskind as historian.

Ar-Guys & Gals put on their best

Time, practice and effort were three of the main ingredients the Ar-Guys & Gals put into their group this past year.

The group, under the direction of Beth Walton, performed for various clubs, companies, nursing homes, churches and schools.

The main attraction of the Ar-Guys & Gals is the show in the spring. The show includes a variety of singing, dancing skits and just plain fun.

The officers for the Ar-Guys & Gals this year were president, Pam Krieg; secretary, Angie Ellingwood; treasurer, Jonna Powers; and historian, Steve Wilson.

Choir presents "South Pacific"

There is one class here at Madison-Grant that students must audition for to get in. This class is Concert Choir. Directed by Mrs. Walton, the Concert Choir performs all year round. The choir, who sponsored the program, sang at M-G's first talent show last fall. They also participated in the Fairmount Friends Church annual Christmas program. Choir members had the chance in the spring to perform with other robed choirs from surrounding schools at the Choral Festival. Their biggest feat, however, came in November when they presented the musical "South Pacific". Leading parts in the musical were played by Jennifer Hasty and Joe Greentree. Concert Choir officers for the year were: Greg Chesney, president; Pam Krieg, vice-president; Angie Ellingwood, secretary; Brian Ferguson, treasurer; and Jeff Cragun, historian.

Staff struggles for perfection

While walking down a hallway, you may look into a certain room and say, "Wow! What a mess!" That so-called "mess" just happens to be the headquarters for the Obliviscaris and the Clan Courier.

Members of the staff worked hard during the year to put together a school yearbook and school paper. Mrs. Rebecca Kirby, staff advisor, also put in lots of hard work and many long hours.

The staff had lots of fun, parties and laughs, but there was also a serious time where everyone got down to business to meet deadlines.

Putting out a newspaper was a big job for this year's small staff. Much work had to be done with not many to do it. The members spent many long hours in class and after school interviewing people and writing stories.

Getting off to a slow start the Clan Courier came out monthly during the second semester supplying students with the news of the school.

It may look like Jenny Payne is writing a new comedy series but actually it's only ads.

Camera club shoot for the top

Camera club members this year went to the Marion Chronicle-Tribune to tour the photographers' department. They were told by the staff to put character in a picture by tight subject cropping and good composition. They also learned how the Chronicle-Tribune prepares a color picture for publication.

Under the guidance of advisor, Mr. Dave Nesbitt, club members learned how to handle a camera, to take different types of pictures, to develop film and to make black and white prints properly.

Officers for this year were Tonya Young, president; Randy McCune, vice president; Becky Stone, secretary-treasurer.

Science club makes return

The Science Club was revived this year after an absence of several years.

The 125 members may belong to one or more divisions of Science Club.

In the fall the geology group took a cave exploring trip to Wyandote Caves near Corydan. They also visited state parks and area quarries.

Touring the laboratory at Marion General Hospital and talking with persons in the medical field were activities of the medical group.

Star gazing describes the activities of the astronomy group.

The entire group hiked at one of the state parks this winter and many of the members went on the Chicago Field Trip, April 6. The Chicago trip was a project of the original Science Club.

Teachers face North Central

Madison-Grant High School has six new teachers that joined the staff this year.

The new teachers this year were Mr. Terry Martin, Mr. Donald McDermit, Mrs. Jill Miller, Mrs. Peggy Richards, Mr. Terry Rickard and Mr. Robert Starkey.

Besides the new teachers, students had three full time substitute teachers the first semester. Substituting for Mrs. Joyce Burnett was Mrs. Jan O'Shea. Substituting for Mrs. Susan Overman was Mrs. Janice Hanes, teaching the English classes, and Mrs. Betty Ferree, teaching the French classes.

Teachers spent much of the first semester preparing for the North Central Evaluation, which occurred in November.

Staff work on reports

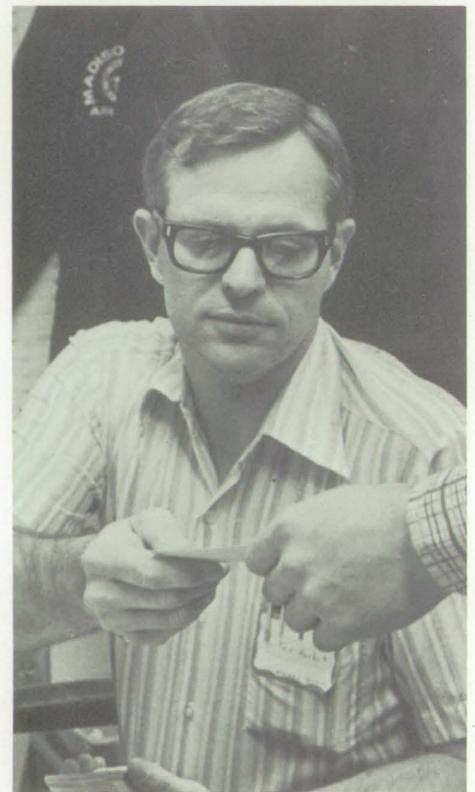

New as vice principal at Madison-Grant High School is Mr. Tom Eversman. He came to Madison-Grant from Cambridge City, where he was assistant principal. Mr. Eversman, who has taught Algebra I, Algebra II, Plane Geometry, Trigonometry, Analytic Geometry, and Introductory Calculus, commented that Madison-Grant students have lots of enthusiasm and good attitudes.

During the fall both teachers and administrators were involved in the North Central Evaluation. North Central Evaluation of Secondary Schools is composed of the majority of high schools in Indiana and other midwest states. Madison-Grant has been a member since 1926, when the high school was at Fairmount. Every seven years Madison-

Grant is visited by a team of educators to observe teaching methods, facilities, and activities. They evaluate the school for current education practices and make recommendations. Teachers also have to evaluate themselves.

CAPPS, Comprehensive Assessment and Program Planning System, was another project for teachers this year. It is directed by the State Department of Public Education. Each school corporation must make a list of goals and objectives and teaching strategies for subject matters as these areas adopt new books. This year the emphasis is on reading, spelling, and composition.

During the second semester, each teacher had to make a list of fifty words relating to the subject they taught.

Seniors Survive Many Changes

The seniors of '79 have seen a lot of different things come and go in Madison-Grant. During our four years here we have been through two principals, Mr. Merrill Holloway and Mr. Paul Davis; three vice-principals, Mr. Paul Davis, Mr. Duane Hodgins and Mr. Thomas Eversman; three basketball coaches, Mr. James Miller, Mr. Art Muselman and Mr. Terry Rickard; and two football coaches, Mr. Paul Gallo and Mr. Frank O'Shea. As seniors we have seen a lot of new happenings . . . a man coaching girls' basketball . . . non-teachers coaching girls' gymnastics and tennis . . . "Favorite Turkey" . . . seniors being required to take Senior English. Also, we are the last class to graduate without taking the competency test, and the last class of the '70's.

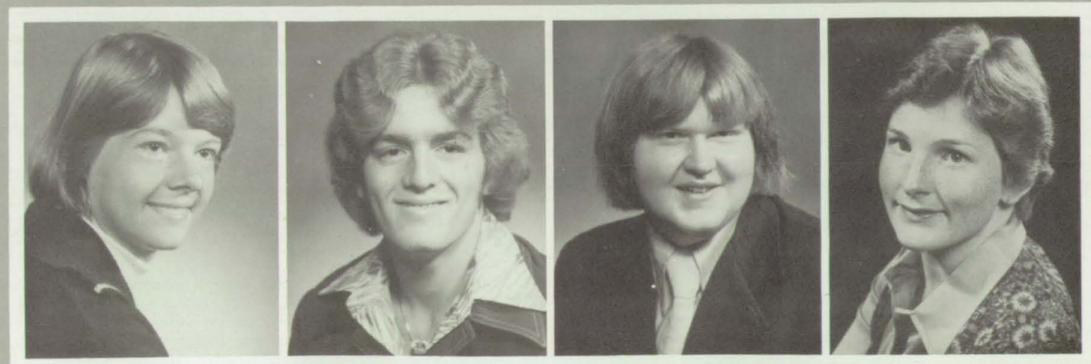

Leading the senior class were Leasa Pulley, president; Sherry Hurt, vice-president; Priscilla Mack, secretary and Jennifer Hasty, treasurer.

Shelly Rafting

Rowing along a river with the waves whirling against the sides of the raft, Shelly Steiner has found an enjoyable sport not many students participate in.

She has been rafting for the past six years. During that time she has rafted through the Grand Canyon (Colorado River), Desolation and Cateract Canyon (Green River, Utah), and Salmon River (Utah).

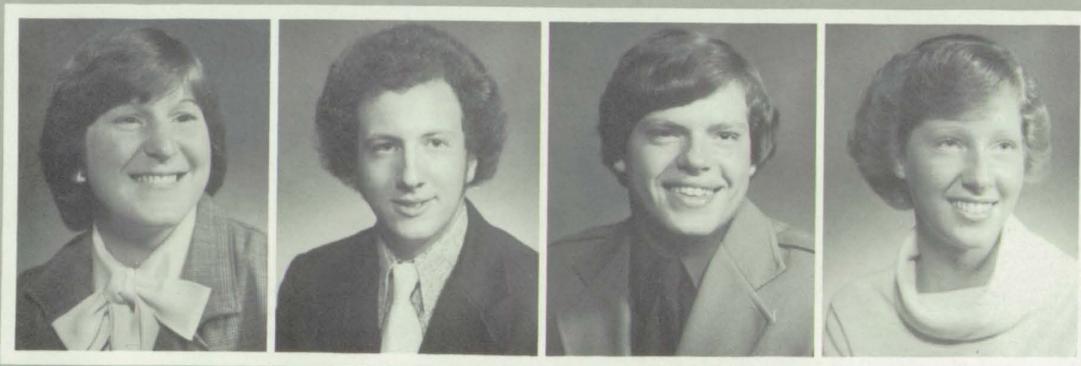

The best time to go rafting, Shelly said, is during June, July, and August. When she goes on these trips, Shelly goes with her family. They have seen old Indian caves, falls, and inscriptions from people who are believed to have discovered the canyons.

Shelly thinks that running the rapids is the most dangerous part of rafting. When doing this, she said it would be very easy to take an unexpected swim if the ropes are not secure or if they break.

This year we decided to focus a spotlight on a few of our seniors. These seniors don't do the everyday things or they do something you wouldn't expect of them.

Shelly guides the raft down the channels of a river during one of her rafting trips.

Mark Singing

Strumming his guitar and singing along is Mark Gluff. Mark has been singing for five years and accompanying himself on the guitar for three years.

Mark's mother and his three brothers all play the guitar and sing, so it was natural that Mark would want to play and sing. Mark enjoys singing country and western because he thinks it is easier than rock, but he enjoys listening to rock.

Although he has never competed in a contest, Mark would like to. He wonders how well he would do against other people.

Mark said, "If I ever had the chance to sing as a career I would, but it is very hard to be discovered if you only sing for yourself."

While sitting at home, Mark enjoys singing one of his own tunes.

Dancing has been one of Kim Pulley's main interests for the past 15 years. The last 5 years she has also been teaching dance lessons.

Kim enjoys several different types of dance such as jazz, ballet, tap, and modern. She also teaches in these four areas. One thing Kim likes about teaching is the chance to work with small children.

During the 15 years Kim has been dancing she has been in 20 recitals and has gone to several conventions. At the latest one in Cincinnati, there were 2,000 people and some famous dancers taught new dances.

Juniors look ahead

With three years behind them and an anxious year of being a senior ahead, juniors got involved in many school activities to make the class of '80 one to remember.

Juniors participated in a great number of sports activities such as baseball, football, girls' volleyball, and track. Many joined various clubs and 20 were inducted into the National Honor Society.

Realizing they had only one year of high school left, juniors began thinking about college. Many students took the PSAT in preparation for the SAT they would take later for entrance into college. Others who wanted to start a job after high school instead of attending college took vocational school courses. Most of the 42 students enrolled in vocational school preferred taking auto mechanics and other classes relating to mechanics.

Even though these students are feeling the excitement of the year ahead, the juniors of '79 will still look back at the years behind them with fond memories of M-G.

Rammie Walliser, junior, demonstrates some of the techniques of "Tae Kwon Do".

Flying fist and feet

"Tae Kwon Do" meaning "the way of fist and feet fighting", is the Korean style of Karate practiced by Rammie and Belinda Walliser.

Rammie was seven years old when he began and is now a second degree black belt holder.

Belinda was six years old when she began and now is a first degree black belt. Both students help instruct the art along with their father who is a third degree black belt.

There are five other colors of the belt besides the black. These belts each carry two degrees, the lowest degree being the best. The black belt has nine degrees, ninth being the highest.

Before going on to the next degree or color of a belt, you must be tested. During the testing you do a routine to show the instructor how much you have learned.

Rammie and Belinda practice along with several others three times a week for 1½ hours.

Sophomores choose black and gold for class jackets

After finally accomplishing the task of ridding themselves of the "Freshman Image", the class of 81 could be considered a full-fledged part of Madison-Grant High School. Sophomores found themselves competing in varsity and junior varsity sports rather than the separate freshman sports. Becoming involved in many more school activities and taking part in different school organizations played a big part in the sophomores strive for acceptance.

After receiving their class rings in August, sophomores concentrated on picking colors for their jackets. For the first time ever, the class of 81 chose our school colors, black and gold, and decided to put their names on the back.

This was the year the sophomores finally achieved their ultimate experience, obtaining their driver's license so that they could now drive places with fellow classmates rather than their parents. But first they had to go through the many experiences of driver education and driving on country roads and back streets, then practice parallel parking in a vacant lot with their instructor.

Country living

"I enjoy farming, but I don't want to make it strictly my life," says Paul Compton.

Paul comes from one of many families in the Madison-Grant area who engage in farming. The Compton family lives on a 400-acre farm. They raise about 2,300 hogs and 100 beef cattle and several crops.

Paul's chores include cleaning pens, repairing machinery, baling hay, grinding feed and feeding. Paul also administers shots to hogs for pain and swollen joints and assists sows during birth.

Paul's work load depends on the time of the year. During school months Paul usually does light chores after school. On Saturdays and vacations he works about 9-10 hours a day. During the summer, the days are 12-13 hours long.

To Paul Compton, sophomore, working with pigs is only one of the many jobs of farm work.

Freshmen adjust

Where is F hallway? Why won't my locker open? Where do these stairways end up? HELP! !! On the first few days of school comments like these were heard from some confused newcomers here at Madison-Grant. However, the freshman class soon began to fit in and become a vital part of our student body. They learned how to adjust to a new school, new teachers, and a new way of life. Combining the former Quakers and Goblins into Argylls was an apparent success because of the participation of the freshmen in sports and school activities. Yet while carrying home a load of books, they found out quickly that high school is a lot of work, too. But the most fun for the freshmen was making the friends that they could keep for a lifetime.

Freshman class officers are: Steve King, treasurer; Lisa Shull, vice-president; Tammy Horn, secretary; and Jim Terhune, president.

Can-it!

Dave Johnson, freshman, is a beer can collector. Dave has been collecting cans for about three years and has about 600 cans.

Living on the highway, Dave finds many of the cans out in his yard. He also attends beer can shows where he buys different brand names. Dave has two cans, Old Crown Ale, which are worth about 75 dollars each because the brewery burnt about three years after it started making the beer. Dave said this was his favorite can because of its value.

Dave keeps the cans on shelves in his room. When asked if his parents have any objections, Dave said, "My parents don't object just as long as I keep the cans clean."

He isn't looking for any special cans just now. But Dave said he plans to "keep on collecting them".

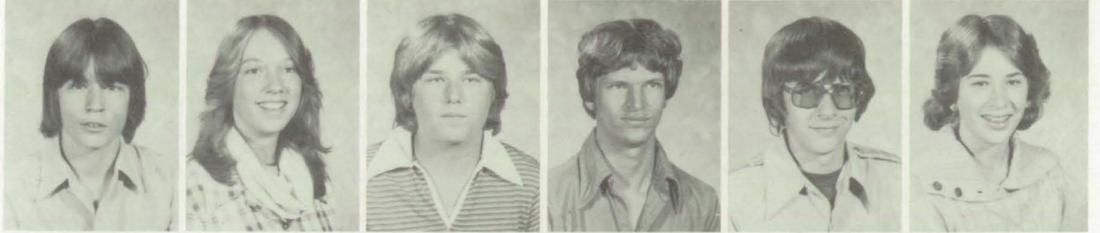

Freshman Dave Johnson stands proudly in front of his valuable collection of beer cans.

Playing the big time

"It was uncomfortable, but we had fun," said freshman Sherry Turner, about the fourteen girls riding to New York in two vans.

Sherry is a member of the Fairmount All-Stars softball team that played in the Cinderella-Princess world series in Corning, New York. The All-Star team was formed by picking the best players from each Fairmount softball team. The team was coached by Sue Smith and consisted of fourteen players.

The All-Stars went to the finals of Joanie Butcher, Tammy Bright, Jana Titus, Marcie Moon, Regina Gross, Sandy Wells, Deb Pollen and Sherry Turner get psyched up for the first game of the Girls' National Softball Championship.

their season prepared to play Marion, but Marion did not enter, so the Fairmount All-Stars were pronounced the winners and were awarded the trip to New York.

The girls played Canada in their first game, but lost 0-6. The Fairmount team came back to win the second game 9-6, but were defeated in their third game 0-24.

After the series the girls had dinner at the Hilton Hotel, where they held a queen contest between the girls of the softball teams. Tammy Bright, freshman, represented Fairmount. A girl from the Virgin Islands was crowned queen.

While in New York for six days, the girls stayed with parents of the softball players who volunteered their homes.

Girls make it four in a row

The girls volleyball team had another great season winning the Grant County and sectional titles. This makes the fourth straight season that they have won the right to go on to regional. But the girls lost to regional winner Belmont to end their season at 14-8.

Donna Titus led the team in spiking with 205 kills and in serving with 96 points. Kelly Haisley was high setter and Leanne Stookey had the most blocks with 14. Titus, Stookey, Linda Berdnt, and Coach Charlotte Denney made the All-County team and the first ever ALL-CIC team.

Donna Titus shows her elation as the Argyls chalk up another victory.

Co-captains Donna Titus and Leanne Stookey get tangled up as Mindy Runyan is too embarrassed to look.

The Argyls are calm and cool ready for their next attack.

Female cagers have good year

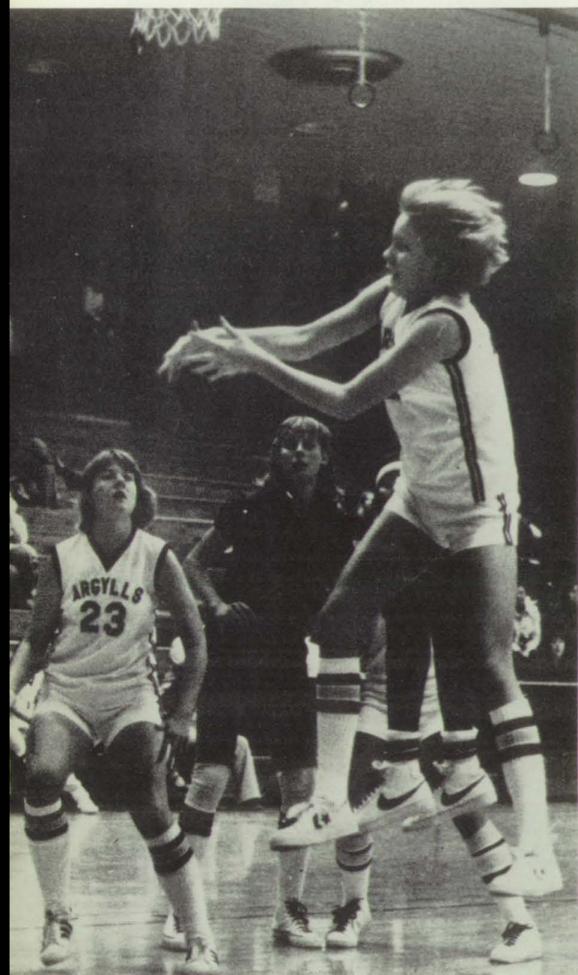

Girls basketball enjoyed its greatest season ever by winning six games out of nine after Christmas to end their season at 8-9. This year was the first girls Grant County Tourney held at Mississinewa. The girls lost in the championship game to Eastbrook, 32-31.

Leanne Stookey led the team in scoring with a 20.4 average, in field goal and free throw percentage. Jackie Kelich led with 133 rebounds. Stookey made the All-State honorable mention, All-Tourney, All-Sectional, and All-County teams. She was also voted Grant County Player of-the-Year. Linnie Stookey and Kelich made All-Tourney honorable mention and Ann Morgan made All-County. Linda Berndt made All-County honorable mention. The team was assisted by John Carpenter who did a very fine job, according to Coach Newland.

Gymnasts fight for survival

In 1977, Ted Harbitt, athletic director, stated that the girls gymnastic team will no longer be a program at Madison-Grant High School due to the high cost of the equipment. The plan was to phase out the program in three years. Controversy over the decision continued this year as on February 13 a group of parents carrying a petition with 180 signatures appeared at a school board meeting to fight for the program.

For the first year, M-G has hired coaches out of the teaching ranks. Coaches Jill Wyant, Sherry Goodman, and Vonda Powers help the girls in their first coaching jobs.

Lisa Shull waits for the okay to begin her routine on the floor exercise.

Tracy Hoke shows great form on the floor exercise.

Girls keep on trackin'

Anna Justus set two new records in the 1978 girls' track season. She broke the 440 yard dash record with a time of 59.6 and set a new time of 2:33.5 in the 880 yard run. Justus, along with Jody Sams, Cindy Leach, and Deb Burgan, set a new record in the 880 yard medley with a time of 1:56. Donna Titus leaped 4'10" for a new record in the high jump. Making the trip to regional were Justus in the 440, Karen Garner in the 880, Lynn Duncan in the mile, and Leanne Stookey in the softball throw.

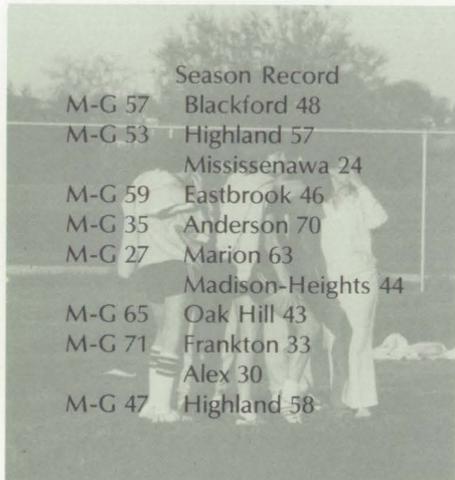

The girls finished at 4-8, coming in second place in two of the three-way meets.

Anna Justus crosses the finish line in first place in the 880 yard run at the CIC meet.

One last fling by Leanne Stookey gets her a second place finish in the softball throw at the CIC meet.

Girls do well in sectional

With seven returning letterwomen, the girls tennis team had its most productive year ever placing second in the sectional. Judy Pettit won the sectional in singles for the second consecutive year. Tina Root and Leanne Stookey lost in doubles competition in the semi-final round and Paige Woodruff and Patti Moss had to forfeit in the semi-finals.

Woodruff and Moss completed the season with an 11-2 record and Stookey went undefeated in singles with a 10-0 record. The girls ended with a 6-5 record.

Next year's team will have five returning letter winners under new coach Debb Hackney.

Cross Country team rebuilds

Madison-Grant's Cross Country team, coached by Dave Strasemeier, had a rebuilding year in 1978 with only one of five lettermen returning to the squad.

In 1979, Rich Duncan led a team composed of four of five returning varsity members. Carl Chambers is the only team member lost to graduation. The team ended its season at 4-8.

Commented Coach Strasemeier, "If they work hard over the summer, we can have an excellent team next year."

Individuals win championships

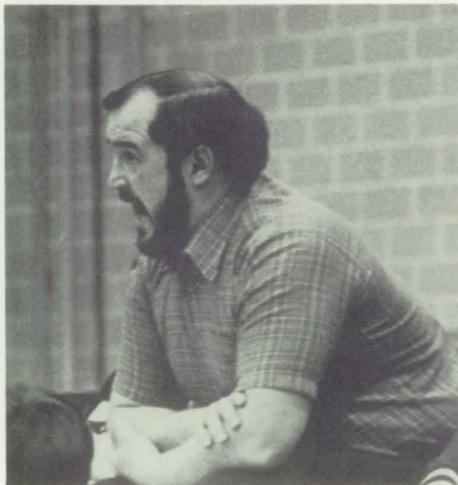

Captain Wayne Smock posted a 17-3 record to lead Argyll wrestlers through a long season. In the 119 lb. class, Smock won tournament championships at the County, CIC, and sectional meets, and third in the regional.

Mike Barkdull finished the season at 16-4 with county and sectional titles in the 105 lb. class. Tony Smock won the County Tournament at 112 and was runnerup at the sectional.

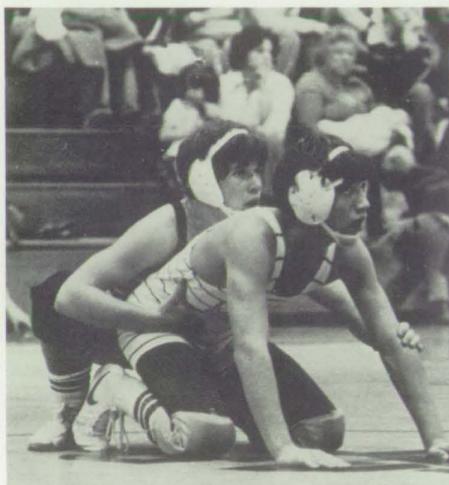

Wayne Smock and Carl Chambers, who also went to regional, were the only seniors on Coach Gallo's squad.

Argylls have good season

After losing the first two games of the season, the Argylls came back to even up their record at 2-2 including a 30-0 Homecoming win over Eastern. This marks the second consecutive season that the Argylls have won the football Homecoming. The Argyll's season ended at 6-4 and their highest finish ever in the CIC, third place with a 4-2 record.

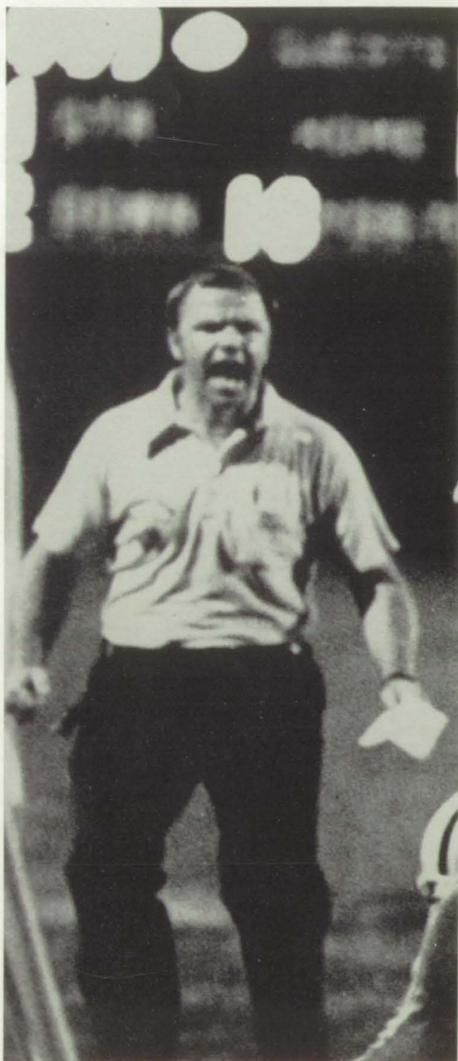

Brad DeLong, Brent Duncan, Joe Kelich, Jack Titus, and Phil Vogel made the All-County team. Titus and Kelich also made the All-CIC team. Kelich made second team All-State kicker and the Grant County Defensive Player of the Year for the second consecutive year.

Next year should also support a strong squad with a fine 7-1 B-team coming up.

The team proved time again that they could come back, win the close ones, and above all work as a team.

Boys capture county crown

Under new coach Terry Rickard, the boys basketball team won the Grant County Tourney and had one of the best won-loss records in Madison-Grant history, finishing at 13-8. Bennett and Eastbrook fell victim to the Argylls during their run for the crown. And the Argylls also had a share of the CIC championship until a three-game losing streak ended their hopes.

Terry Lane led the Argylls in scoring with a 15-point average. Brent Duncan and John Zirkle also were leaders in scoring with 11-point averages. Zirkle led the team in rebounding while Jack Titus and Terry Jeffries handed out the assists.

Lane, Jeffries, and Duncan made the All-Tourney team. Lane and Duncan were also named to the All-County squad with Coach Rickard being honored as co-Coach-of-the-Year.

Coach Strasemeier's B-Team won 8 of their first ten games, but then fell into a bit of a mid-season slump in losing 6 of 7 games before their last 3 victories.

Ross Reeves led the team in scoring, rebounding, and field goal percentage, while Todd Stroup made 79 assists which was 56 more than anyone else on the team.

Scoring was frosch problem

Coach Summers' 1978-79 freshman basketball team had problems with scoring in the first part of the season and could not get into a winning groove during their 4-win and 12-loss season. The team was involved in several close basketball games, but failed to win their share.

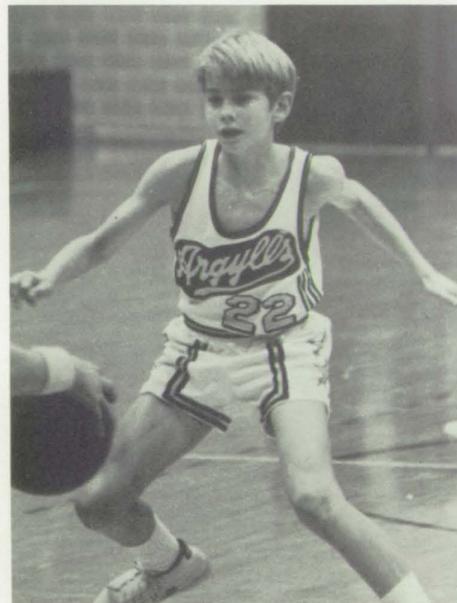

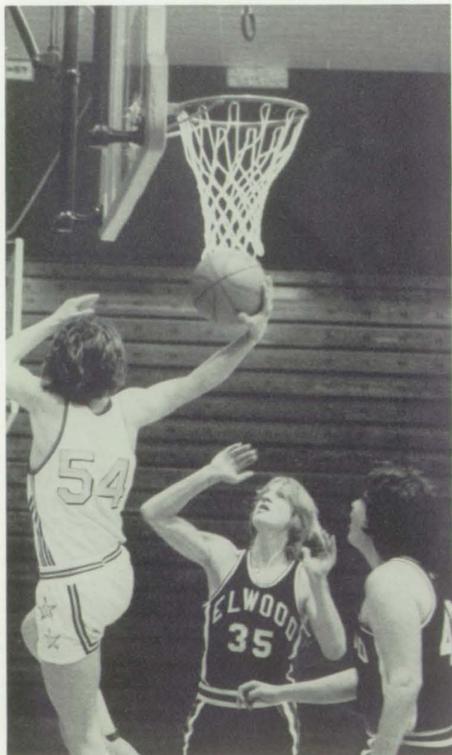

The freshman B-Team had many of the same problems that the A-Team had during their 3-11 season.

The freshmen are looking ahead to having a good season next year as Junior Varsity players.

Baseballers have winning season

The 1978 baseball Argyls made it to the finals of the Grant County Tourney before losing to Eastbrook, 11-10. They also lost in the sectional to champions Marion 2-0.

The baseballers were led by team captain and batting champion Mike Pollen along with six other seniors. Jerry Slaven was the leading Argyll pitcher with 84 strikeouts and a 2.71 E.R.A.

This year was also Sam Lower's last season as head coach. The team ended with a 12-10 record and a 4-2 CIC record. The Argyls tied for third in the conference.

Coach Wright will have higher hopes for the 1979 team that will have four of five returning lettermen from their 6-4 season.

Varsity team members were Kevin Barkdull, Phil Leckron, Rick Warren, Troy Wilson, Jeff Forrest, Brian McLane, Morris Kelsay, Mike Barkdull, Danny Coffin, and Mark Matney.

Managers work just as hard

A team isn't complete until it has the hard-working services of a manager. And here at Madison-Grant, we have a lot of devoted managers.

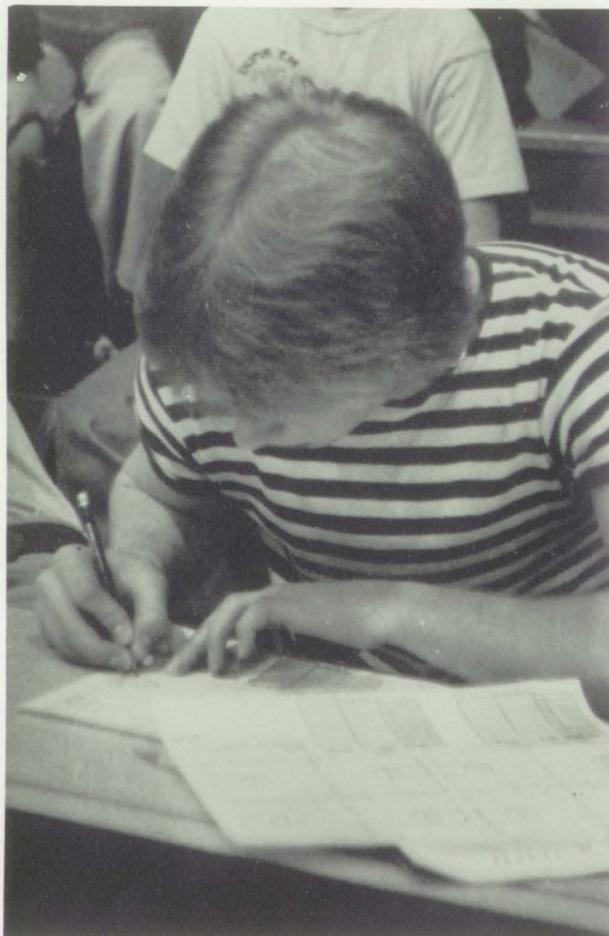

Often the manager's job is washing uniforms and after awhile that can get very boring. Volleyball managers are found running just as much as the players, chasing after stray balls. Keeping score is another job. Managers arrive early before practices and games and leave late after everyone else is finished. All in all, the managers' job is a much-needed job for a team. And whoever says that a manager doesn't deserve her or his letter, should just ask a manager.

Managers of boys basketball, Danny Yoder and Greg Pierce, look on as their Argyls win.

CLIMBING ... AND STILL

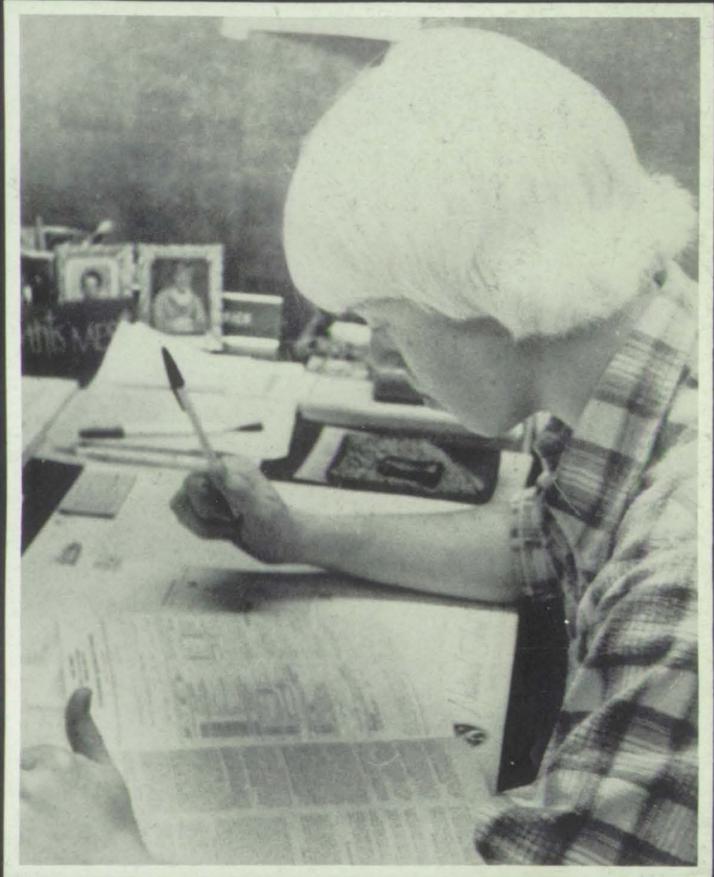

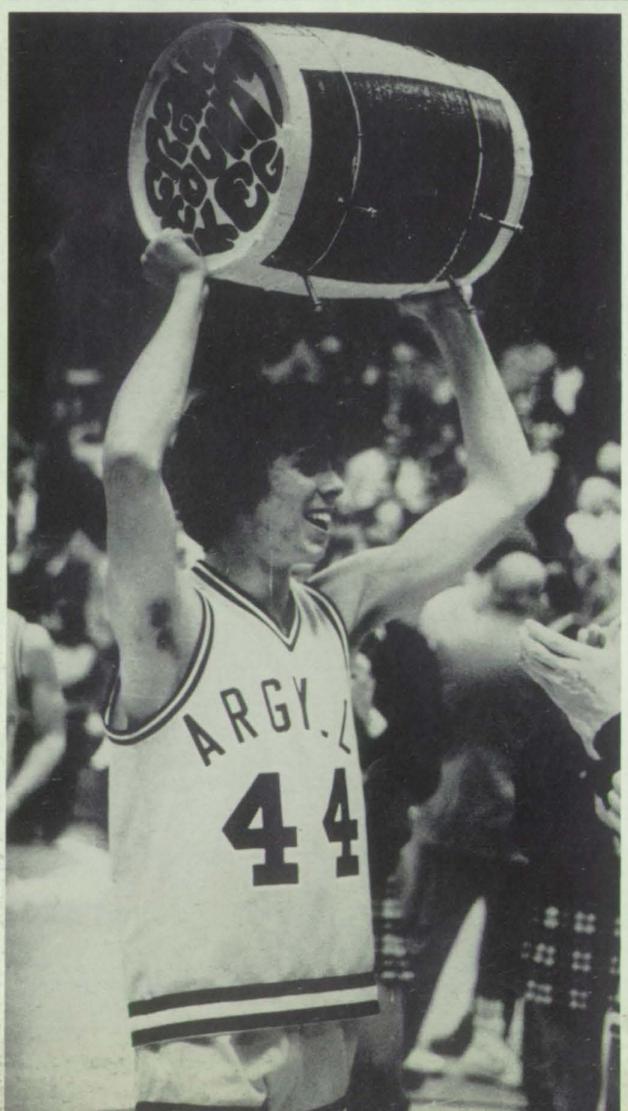

Once again the halls of M-G will be hushed by the effects that summer vacation brings.

Many things in our lifetime come and go as we change from year to year. But, through all of these changes, memories remain to remind us of the times we spent together.

As the year comes to an end, each of us begins to make plans for the summer. Some of us will return next year to a higher grade, but there are those, such as seniors, who must now begin to plan their entire future.

Whether it is working at a summer job, going on summer trips, or just basking in the summer sun we will all remember the times, good and bad, that we spent together during the 1978-79 school year at Madison-Grant High School.

Above: Rick Warren is just one of the many seniors of M-G to fill out an application for college which will eventually lead to his future.

Brent Duncan displays one of the fruits that hard work brought to M-G this year as teammates and fans look on.

Looking through a book with print, pictures and artwork may mean nothing to some people, but a yearbook requires more than these few meager qualities. A yearbook should signify patience, hard work, determination, talent, friendship and most of all memories that will last a lifetime. This book was not put together out of duty, but it was put together out of those six major qualities. As you open the covers of this book in years to come, please remember that this work was done for "you".

We worked hard making this yearbook, but thanks must go to those who helped even in the smallest ways. We would like to take this chance to thank Gayle Studios, National Schools Studios, and Mr. Nesbitt for their pictures; the staff at the Ball State Journalism Workshop; Mr. Larry Glaze from Herff Jones who helped us through complications; Mr. Richard Young for his generous help in photography; and Mrs. Rebecca Kirby for her time, patience, and hard work. Most of all, we would like to thank the people without whom there would be no yearbook. Those people are you; the faculty and student body of Madison-Grant High School.
