Inside our side

When a person stops to think about FJSHS, many special memories come to each of us. Whether our memories are of being in the school play or making the winning touchdown, we all will remember these times for many years to come.

Despite being a small Madison County school, we are well known for many different reasons in our area of Indiana and beyond. It doesn't take a person long to realize that we take big pride in our small school.

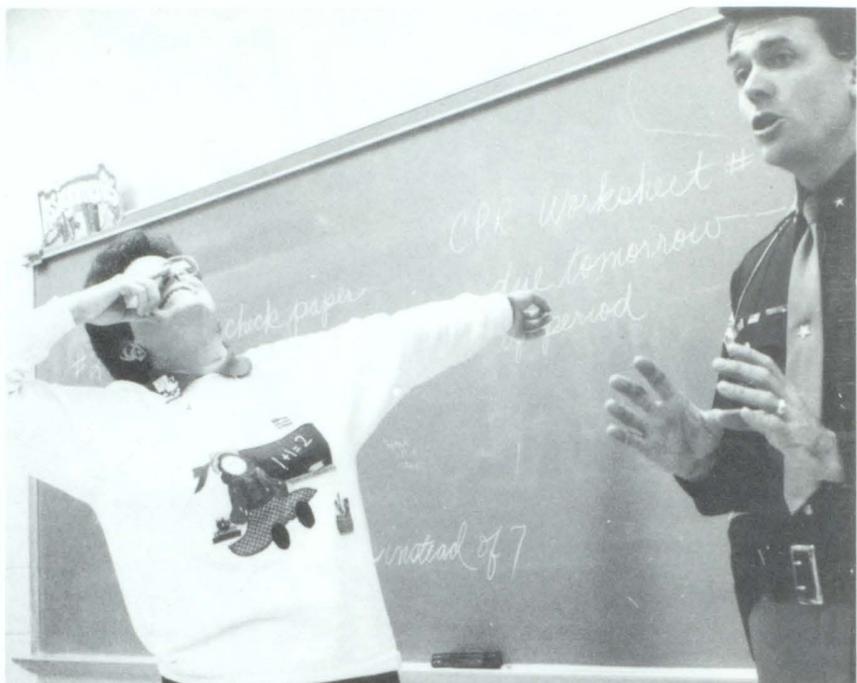

We are always remembered for the spirit and enthusiasm that we portray at "sectional time" for our sports teams. Our clubs and activities are also very vis-able throughout the community.

This year our school was awarded over six thousand dollars for improving in language, math, ISTEP scores, and attendance, the only West Central school to improve in all four areas. Our winter guard and '92 yearbook were also given first place awards for their excellence and hard work.

So to really find out about Frankton take a deeper look inside our side.

TUDENT LIFE

Showing our true colors

The activities here at Frankton are always second to none. The time and effort that are put into these activities by our students is unlimited. Although they are not always recognized for the work they do, it is always appreciated because we couldn't do it without them.

There are some students who just can't seem to get enough of the school. You often see them in the gym, on the field, helping with fundraisers, participating in a pep rally, or practicing for the play. These students are the ones who make the school seem to come alive. They not only own red and white clothes, but they actually wear them to school every Friday.

Not everyone gets this involved in school, but those who do seem to gain a life-time of memories. Not only do we have a lot of fun in these various activities, but we also learn some valuable experiences about life.

The different activities involving students makes each one of our memories at Frankton different and unique. It is our way of showing our true colors of pride for our school.

Summer Fun in the Sun...

Amber Gray 10, and Nancy Means 10, take a minute to smile for the camera while at camp.

At 7:50 on Tuesday, August 18th Frankton Jr/Sr High school was once again filled with students. As you walked through the halls you could see friends talking and laughing, boyfriend and girlfriend hand-in-hand, and the frightened faces of Freshmen trying to make their way to class.

During the summer you can find students almost anywhere you go. Applewood was a place where you could find many of your friends, whether they are cruising the parking lot, playing putt-putt, or at the movies.

Throughout the summer students go to various places around the United States. For instance Belinda Fresquez 11, traveled to New Mexico, where she spent a total of three weeks, then she went to Las Vegas Nevada, and California where she spent one week.

One of her memories from her vacation was traveling on the road that comedian Sam Kinison was killed in a traffic accident.

To many, summertime means sleeping all day, staying out all night and NO SCHOOL for three months. Warm, and sunny days help with that all the time fashion, the tan.

Some students go away for the summer and others stay at home and work or just enjoy themselves. Christian Peterson 8, went to Clifty Falls Indiana, Nancy Hall 10, traveled to the Smoky Mountains, and then there are those fortunate students who go up North to the lakes and go boating, camping, and enjoy various water sports. No matter where you go or don't go you can still enjoy your summer, for the simple fact you don't have to go to school.

Platonic or more

As you walk down the halls at Frankton there are a mixture of relationships. Some are strictly friends, some are acquaintances, and others are boyfriend/girlfriend. No matter what kind of relationship, they all had to begin somewhere. They might have just started as friends and ended up as more.

Here are some people who say platonic relationships do exist: Tiffany Vida 12, said, "There is a lot of relationships like that around Frankton." I have a lot of male friends and I don't like any of them for anything more." Another opinion came from Penny Dixon 12, "I believe that sex isn't everything, I have more male friends than I do female. Males seem easier to talk to." Heather Ater 11, said "You can get good advice from males about guy friends and there are no pressures with guys. You can have fun without messing around." Freshman Angie Stanley said "I've had a male friend for a long time and there's no attraction at all." What if the other person feels something for you but you don't feel anything for them? That question was left to Shane Sumpter 11, "I had a female friend once that liked me more than I liked her, but I didn't want to spoil the friendship we had by going out with her. Life is full of choices and choices are a cluster of decisions. With an AIDS-conscious society the quality of our relationships matter. If you are in a platonic relationship, that's great, but if you're more serious try to make wise choices.

erminating the Tigers

Nikki Juroff 11, follows her guide Clark Scott 11, during the blind wheelbarrow race. The class of '94 won the Homecoming games.

The week of homecoming brings out a lot of school spirit around Frankton, from not only the students but also the faculty, and the community.

The week before homecoming the underclassmen voted on their class prince and princess, and the seniors voted for their King and Queen. The prince and princesses were class of '94 Lyndie O'Neil, Josh Cress; '95 Jenny Ifert, Brad Smith; '96 Jana Alexander, Mike Maryan. The candidates for Queen were Myndee Paddock, Mary Ann Delph, Candi Maupin, Donna Jenkins, and Nan Wesson. The candidates for King were Terry Vest, Charlie Barr, Brandon Cobb, Mike Riley, and Todd Ifert.

On Sept. 19th the coronation dance was in the Eagles' Den for any high school student or 1992 graduate wanting to attend. This was a semi-formal dance, with a fall theme. The students walked under a barn as they came into the Eagles' Den. The gym was decorated with pumpkins, corn stalks, hay, and even our own scarecrow.

Homecoming week was kicked off by our annual dress-up days. Pajama day started the week off followed by boxer shorts, hat, and sunglasses day.

Next came inside out, backwards day. Wednesday Sept 23rd, a pep rally for the community took place around the annual bonfire. Before the pep rally, the senior and junior girls played a game of powder puff football, and the senior girls dominated over the juniors. Thursday, all black day was a big hit, and as usual red and white day was the most popular.

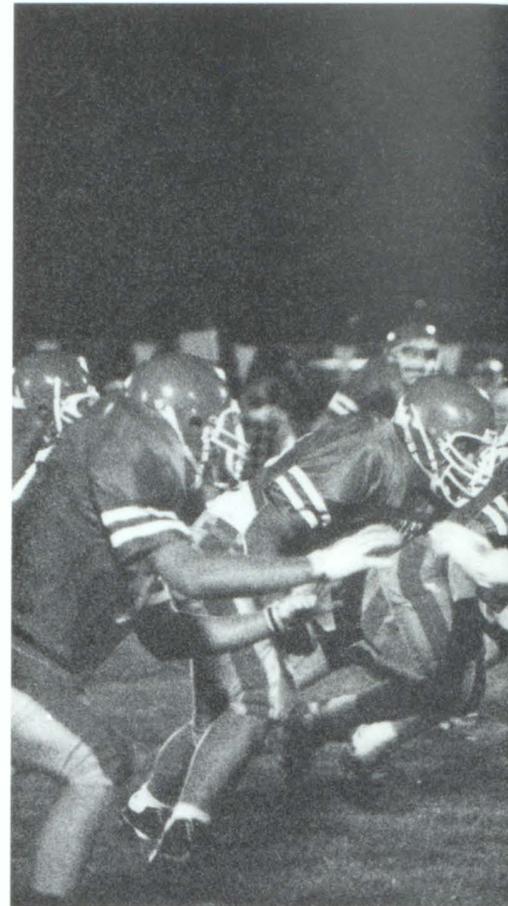

Friday Sept. 25th the annual Homecoming games were played on the football field during 6th and 7th hours. The Juniors were this year's big winners. Some of the games played were: Tug-a-war, pyramid building, human wheelbarrow racing, dizzy run and the balloon toss. The highlight of this year's Games was the Sexy Legs contest, which was awarded to Mr. Davis and Mrs. O'Neil.

At the homecoming parade the best float award went to the class of '93 with the title theme: Eagle Spirit, Gotta Have It! After the parade, the football game with Yorktown got underway. The team was really pumped up for the game. Frankton won this defensive battle 14-9. Marc Campbell scored twice for the Eagles while rushing 141 yards. Also contributing was Lawrence Leeman with three catches for 43 yards.

ACADEMICS & CLUBS

Ready and willing

Our clubs and academics are what makes our year here at Frankton full of memories and times.

Academics involve everyone whether they like it or not. If you attend classes at FJSHS you're a part of the academics here.

There are some in different areas of academics. Spanish, French, and National Honor Society are only a few examples.

From Chemistry to English our students show how academically inclined they really are. Many are invited to be in the National Honor Society, and others are invited to be in French and Spanish Honor Societies as well.

Any student can get involved in the clubs, and many of our students do. Parties, games, fundraisers, and community involvement are experiences gained from these organizations.

Whatever the involvement is, one way or another the participation is greater than ever, proving we not only put education first but also make academics and clubs just as important.

Foreign Language, Computer, and Business classes have one thing in common, they have become three of the student's favorite classes to learn something new and different.

FJSHS offers French and Spanish to roughly 170 students. Mrs. Dunlap teaches Spanish I and all of the French classes from I-IV. Mrs. Fox handles the task of teaching all of the advanced Spanish classes.

Physical Education is nothing new for Frankton Jr./Sr. High School. Mrs. Huntsinger is one of the teachers for this class. She likes activities like pickleball (cross between volleyball and tennis). This class does a wide variety of activities including the 12 minute run and the forever famous circuit training. Mr. Urban the other missing link to the class says he enjoys competitive activities such as flag football.

FHS also offers an advanced physical education class. This class is involved in weight lifting and riding exercise bikes. This class also helps the students develop a good mental attitude and to also stay in good shape.

Art classes do a variety of things. The painting classes learn to paint different paints such as watercolors and oil paints. When they begin painting they watch Bob Ross videos, while Ms. Clark helps the students learn all the different techniques of painting. The students learn to paint animals, landscapes, and people.

Another one of the art classes that was available to the students this year was jewelry. The students in this class learned how to make jewelry out of paper, metal, glass, bread dough, fimo plastic, and etch.

Art student, Greg Basey said, "My most memorable moment in art is when we were cleaning out brushes in the sink and the faucet exploded!" Ms. Clark says, "The best thing about teaching art is trying a lot of new processes."

The health classes had a very interesting year. The Jr. High classes studied the eyes and ears. They learned what it would be like without them by being blindfolded and wearing earplugs. They also participated in a project to increase environmental awareness by taking objects considered as trash and making them into useful things such as plantholders, lanterns, windchimes, and many other useful things.

The high school health classes learned about the muscular and skeletal systems, circulatory system, reproductive system and practiced CPR. Mrs. Huntsinger stresses that everyone should know CPR because you should know how to perform it in case you will need to use it in an emergency in the future. "The goal for this class is to increase the health awareness," said Mrs. Huntsinger.

This year's history classes covered a large general area of the Americans. Taught by Mr. Phil Davis, the class received many hours of note taking, paperwork, tests, and filmstrips.

They also did a term paper the first semester and a project the second semester. This year's junior class was able to work with student teachers John Etchison and Aaron Kirkoff.

The Civil War and World War II are probably the most generally covered areas. Those along with the American Revolution are Mr. Davis's favorite areas to teach.

The volunteer math help program has been offered after school every Tuesday from 3-4. Mr. Housholder is the advisor of this program. "Attendance has been down. This is unfortunate since we have lots of excellent help there," replied Mr. Housholder.

Some of the additional students that help at these sessions are seniors Todd McCorkle and Scott McDonald. Both of these students offered much help for many students. Since both of these seniors volunteered at Math Help on a free basis, many students are very thankful.

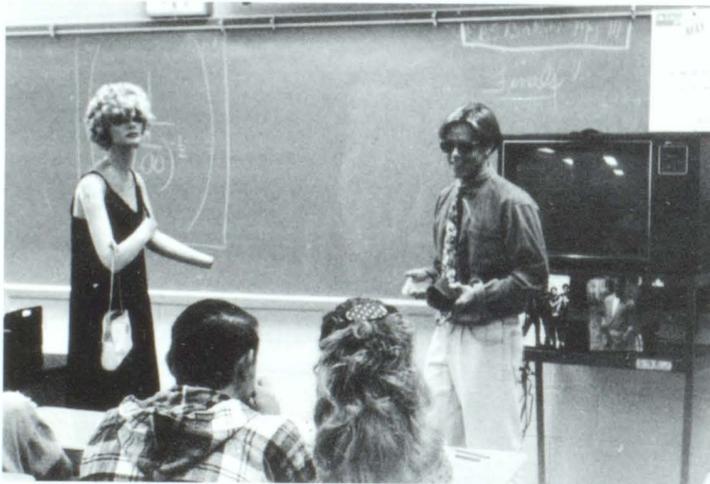

Science classes this year have been busy on working with labs and learning anatomical parts of different species. Many Biology II students suffered a "Chemical Change" this year during the semester change from Biology II to Chemistry I.

The students were anxiously anticipating the course change. The new problems these students were faced with were constantly keeping up with their new assignments and memorizing all the material needed for each new chapter. Mr. Canaday explains most of his students' impression, "At the beginning of the course most students tend to think that this class isn't very hard, but as the weeks go by, most start complaining, 'I can't believe he expects us to know all of this.'"

This year's biggest change in the English department is the removal of the EBS computers out of the media center and the placement of them into the classrooms. Mrs. Mills said it was no problem having them in her room.

Another change in the English department was the hiring of Mrs. Dyan Bays to teach the 9th and 10th grade English classes. Mrs. Bays took over after Mr. Hubbart's retirement last year. Mrs. Coryell is currently teaching junior high English classes due to Mr. Carter's retirement this year. She finished out the year, but the job has not been filled permanently.

WE'VE GOT The BEAT

1992-1993 was truly the year for changes for the FHS band.

Marching season started with a variety of changes. Among the major changes, Mark Harting a former assistant band director at LaPorte H.S. was hired as the FHS band and choir director. Mr. Harting came in with a new marching staff, new ideas, and a new philosophy for music. After 5 straight summers of band camp at Ball State, Mr. Harting this year sent the band to St. Mary's of the Woods College, near Terre Haute. Band Camp was a time for the band, guard, and marching staff to join together as a unit in preparation for the fall marching show.

As the band's first year in class "C" they were faced with many new challenges. But, according to Mr. Harting the band worked hard and achieved many goals.

The marching band's competition show consisted of songs "American Overture", "All Things Bright and Beautiful", and "Bacchanal." The band's first performance was the annual ice cream social. The band also performed at half of all the home Varsity football games. They competed in marching competitions at Highland, Con-nersville, Elwood, Muncie Central, and Marion.

The winter months were filled with Pep Band and Symphonic Band performances. The Pep Band performed at all the Varsity Boy's Basketball home games. The Symphonic Band held a concert Jan. 6 and competed in several concerts throughout spring. The Symphonic played a variety of difficult music, including selections from the current hit Broadway musical "Miss Saigon". The FHS band closed 1993 playing at graduation commencement.

TWIRLING The FLAGS

The 92-93 Color Guard began practices in the early summer in preparation for the fall guard season. 18 girls were involved in Marching Guard.

The Marching Guard also attended summer band camp with the Marching Band at Saint-Mary's-of-the-Woods College near Terre Haute. Band camp was an opportunity for the band and guard to work together to prepare for the marching contests.

The Band Boosters purchased new guard outfits consisting of white and silver bodysuits and black stirrup pants.

Winter Guard consisted of 16 members and 5 student helpers who began practicing in early December for their winter competition season. The Guard put in at least 18 hours after school practice time a week.

February 6 the winter guard began competing in contests. Most of these were out of state, and many times the guard had more than one of these contests in a weekend.

The FHS Guard traveled tirelessly throughout the Mid-West in their white blouses, vests, black jeans, and jazz boots performing to "Pushin' the Needle Too Far" by the Indigo Girls.

SINGING The TUNES

The halls are alive with the sound of music, especially the north halls at Frankton High School. Daily the sweet and exciting voices lift our spirits as we hear the different choirs practice. And if practice makes perfect...perfect is the word that describes their performances.

Girls Ensemble got off to an early start with their performance at the Frankton Heritage Days. They also were in the Madison County Choral Festival, along with the Show Choir, and the Concert Choir. At the Variety Show they performed selections from "Sister Act".

The Show Choir performed in the Festival of Trees Christmas Celebration at the Paramount Theater on December 2nd. Among some of the group's new experiences were performing in contests. The group did very well for its first time being involved in these contests. Among the awards that they received was a Division One placing which the group was very proud of.

Damon Brown from Indianapolis was the group's choreographer this year. The group was very active in the community. They sang at various meetings and parties in the area.

They also performed

BEHIND The SCENES

The Drama Club had an exciting year, they inducted many new members to the local Thespian chapter, they did the annual spring play, and the Thespians put on a Christmas play.

The Thespians Christmas play "The Most Beautiful Star", was about a young, blind girl, Joan, who wanted to be able to see again. On Christmas Eve a mysterious stranger came into her household and let her see for the first time. Before he left, he told Joan that someday she would see again, but she would have to have faith in God. In the morning, when she woke up, she was once again blind, but she knew she had been visited by Jesus, and the visit renewed her faith.

The play was double cast, with Toni Hanes and Sarah Burton playing the part of Joan. They performed it in four different churches around the community in December.

The Thespians also discussed going to England during the summer of 1993, but the plans were cancelled due to lack of interest. It has been re-scheduled for the summer of 1994. They will be there for nine to ten days in the month of June.

The spring play was a production of "Get Smart", starring Brad Compton as the main character, Maxwell Smart (86). The play is based on the television show from the 70's, about a group of counter-espionage agents, CONTROL, trying to foil the evil plans of KAOS. Nan Wesson plays, 99, Smart's sidekick. The play included an extensive cast with Chinese girls and blondes who were kidnapped.

SPEAKING The LANGUAGE

During Homecoming Week, the Spanish Club started its only fundraiser, when they sold Eagle Pops to help raise money for the Senior All-School Academic Scholarship and their trip to Don Pablos, a Mexican restaurant on March 19. The $100 scholarship is given to a senior who is planning to major or minor in a foreign language during college.

In December, the Spanish and French clubs had their Christmas party together in the cafeteria. The club members had a gift exchange and a Scavenger hunt.

The French Club sold Eagle Pops in February where the profits went

APPLYING The KNOWLEDGE

The French and Spanish Honor Society inducted their new members in February. The new students were Penelope Dixon, Todd McCorkle, Steve Clute, Jesse Wright, Nicole Juroff, Erica Ramey, Geep Harrison, Brian Culp, Clint Clark, Donna Leeman, Amanda Closser, Nancy Hall, Mike McDuffee, Chad Barr, Julie Richwine, Angie Singer, and Julie Lennon.

To be eligible, a student must have completed three semesters of foreign language with an A- average and be enrolled in the fourth semester. His/Her overall average must be a B+.

Both the French and Spanish Honor Societies spent some of their fundraising money to go eat at restaurants. The French Honor Society along with the French Club went to eat at Renee's in Broad Ripple.

The Spanish Honor Society and Club also tried a new place this year. They went to eat at Don Pablo's in Indianapolis. This gives the student a fun way to enjoy the culture of the language they have been learning about.

WRITING The NEWS

A number of Mass Media and Journalism students worked hard to publish and make FJSHS publications more enjoyable for the students. The twenty-six members of both Mass Media and Journalism produced twelve issues of the Eagles' Wings newspaper this year. The Journalism class sold the newspapers every two weeks not only to the students but also to the community as well.

To purchase a newspaper it cost twenty-five cents, faculty got them free. They also sold Valentine Wishes, for fifty cents for all the students who wanted to tell those people they most admired that they cared about them. Christmas Wishes and Senior Wills were also sold for fifty cents and put in the newspaper. Andy Lamaster, Editor-in-Chief, said he thinks that we have accomplished a lot, but it all takes time and gradually we learn to better ourselves from our mistakes.

The Mass Media and

Journalism classes also work hard to get the yearbook done and ready for the annual yearbook dance which is held every year in the fall.

Jenny Springer, assistant editor, said she wishes we had more money for the yearbook so we could have more spot color and color pictures. Kelly McKinley, Editor-in-Chief of the Eagle, said that she hopes all of the hard work that all of the students have done throughout the year pays off. Because no one really knows if the yearbook will be a success until the students open it up in the fall.

SHOWING The DEDICATION

The Academic Team's first competition was Saturday, November 21st, when they defeated Union County 120-130. They also competed against Madison Grant. At half time the Quiz Bowl Team was behind 100 points, but came back and tied at 130 points. In the over time they were tied again at 140. In the second over time, the team really did it. They beat Madison Grant by 20 points for a score of 160-140.

January 30th, the Cardinal Quiz Bowl went up against Wes-Del and won 140-120. After that, they competed with Shenandoah, but lost 150-100. The Cardinal Quiz Bowl Team made it to 3rd place.

The teams that competed were on Channel 49 sometime the first of March.

Have you ever wondered what the Media Club does? You might think nothing, but believe it or not, they do help everybody. Media Club is a group of students that help around the media center with the equipment like the VCR, TV, camcorder, the reader printer, and computers.

They also help with Channel One by starting the program every day. Media Club members are the ones who take care of the bulletin board: "You and the News". They also help with the card catalog in case a student needs to find a book.

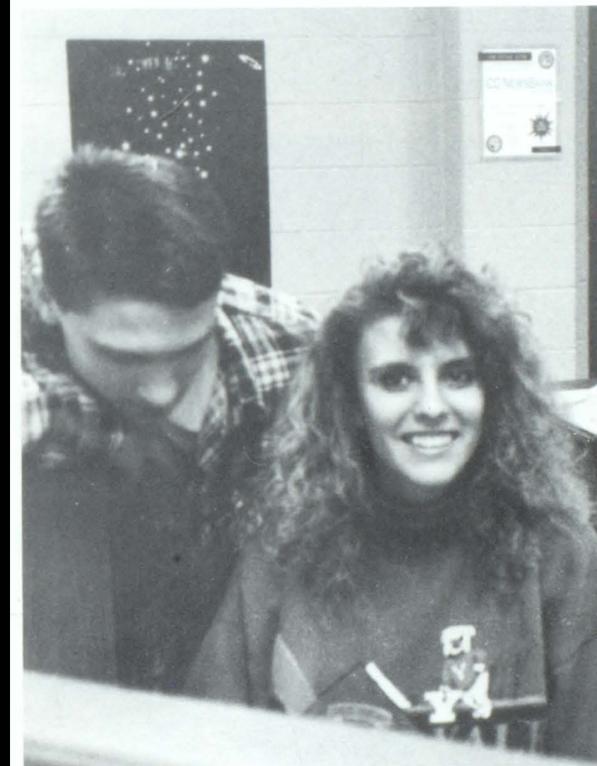

This club does most of the daily work necessary for students and faculty to effectively use the media center's many materials.

Mary Ann Delph, said "I worked at Leach Elementary for fun and the experience, but it's not what I plan to do in college. Sarah Hoover, said "I worked at Frankton Elementary I thought about going on to school to become a teacher, but I've changed my mind. Sarah and MaryAnn are just a few of the cadet teachers. # LOOKING TOWARD The FUTURE

The FHA (Future Homemakers of America) is a special club offered at FJSHS. Mrs. Davis, the club sponsor, said "The FHA is always a pleasant group to work with." The officers were President Michelle Bennett, Vice President Cresta Martindale, Secretary Wendy Montgomery, and Treasurer Karen Hannah. Mrs. Davis also said, "The club enthusiasm is up and club enrollment is the highest it has ever been." FHA prepares you for the real world. You pick up skills that are not acquired until later in life.

One of the activities that the FHA did this year is bake cupcakes. Mrs. Davis really enjoys the students and their activities. This is Mrs. Davis's last year of teaching due to retirement after this year. The members all tried to make this the best year FHA has had and they accomplished that goal.

HELPING The COMMUNITY

Like every year, the Health Club members planned many activities and drives to help needy people. Mrs. Folsom, the Health Club sponsor, teaches students how to live healthy and the principle of helping other people.

Top issues, which are discussed in monthly meetings, are the yearly food drive in December, to help needy people in the area, and the blood drive, which takes place in the fall and spring time. Results are always successful. The food drive received 3,000 canned food items.

The blood drive in the fall resulted in 46 pints of blood and 106 in the spring. The spring blood draw result was the most ever received and was dedicated this time to Mrs. Doneice Heady who had to have surgery. "I think it is just nice that our students and faculty have a desire to help people and be good citizens," said sponsor Mrs. Folsom.

Other main activities are baking cookies for the nursing home patients at Halloween. The club went Christmas caroling at many nursing homes. They also volunteered their last activity at the Jr/Sr Special Olympics in May.

The Peer Helpers also participated in many activities this year. In their weekly meetings, they discussed some of the situations they faced throughout the week and tried to come up with the best solutions for those problems.

In the fall the group had their retreat for new members at Bradford Woods. During this retreat, the group was involved in activities that brought the group closer for an unforgettable time.

REPRESENTING The STUDENTS

This year the student councils here at Frankton kept busy as usual. The high school council had a tough year ahead of them with the absence of the sponsor, Mrs. Jones. The two copresidents Todd Ifert and Myndee Paddock took on the load of responsibility and made sure that everything got done.

The high school council sponsored many activities this year. The Coronation Dance, the spring dance "Spring Break Fever", and MORP were the groups biggest successes of the year. The council was also in charge of all of the Homecoming Games activities. The highlight of this year's games was the Best Legs competion between all of the teachers.

47 woodwinds, 15 brass, nine low brass, and seven percussion made up the 1992-1993 Jr. High Band. This year's band was under the direction of Mr. Dave Miller, a recent graduate of Ball State University. This was his first year as a band director.

The band played a wide range of musical selections including "Greasy Kids' Stuff", "Simple Gifts", and "Windwood Overture."

Several students competed in the solo/ensemble contest at Pendleton Heights High School February 6. Several students were also selected for the All Madison County Band. They were Jenny Bales, Kurt Cooper, Cynthia Meyer, Nick Smith, and Justin Weber.

HITTING The NOTES

The Junior High Choir has had a very busy year with performances all year long. They performed in the Christmas Concert, the Variety Show, and the Jr. High Spring Concert.

They sang a variety of songs this year, including "After Beeps", "Shout Amen", "Country in the Heart of America", and "Let the River Run".

"The performances were the most fun part about being in choir," said Wendy Clevenger '97. They performed in many different places. They performed outside of Frankton, at Leach, Jackson, and Frankton Elementary Schools.

Cheryl Edgecomb's most memorable moment was singing in front of the judge at Solo and Ensemble Contest. There she received a first division rating.

PEOPLE

The inside story

The people here at Frankton are what makes it unique and special. Each one of us adds to the big picture and makes this school what it is.

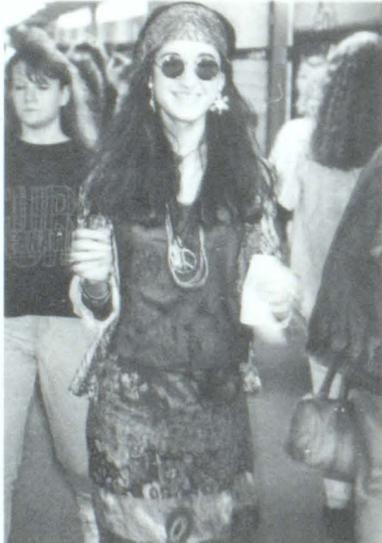

The classes this year were kept busy throughout the school year with planning for dances and various fundraisers. The seniors were occupied by ordering their caps and gowns for graduation. They were also anxiously counting down the days until May 28th. The juniors worked hard on their magazine sales in September, which paid off because they earned $8136, the highest class earnings so far. Josh Cress and Brandi Alexander were the top sellers in this year's sales.

The sophomores got a jump start in raising money for prom by sponsoring various dances. Freshmen worked hard to learn the new ropes to high school. Eighth graders had fundraisers to help earn the money they needed for the trip to Washington D.C. The seventh graders were busy trying to get used to coping with a whole new school and classmates.

Each unique person is a part of our inside story.

In the Beginning Strangers...

The Best of The Worst

"The Best of the Worst" comes to mind when this class is thought of. The Seniors not only achieved this definition during their four years of high school, but also earned it in many more ways than one.

In the beginning of this four-year relationship, the Seniors were somewhat strangers since half of them came from Leach and the other half from Frankton. Many couldn't agree with each other and others just ignored one another. But through it all and through the tough times they finally got to know one another to start many new friendships that had never existed before.

Before many tests, homework assignments, and hours working on term papers the Seniors of 1993 struggled just like any other class would, but in the end there was always a fellow classmate that would help see one another make it through the day. The class of 1993 may have been known to be the worst class to go through FJSHS, but their generosity, courage, knowledge, and friendliness let them leave as the best.

Seniors At Last

With this being their last year in high school, these class officers tried hard to make it the best year of their lives and of their fellow classmates by planning and scheduling dances, homecoming games, graduation, along with other senior events. Todd Ifert, said, " I think the senior class has improved throughout these four years of high school. We've come from being the worst to being the best." This year's class officers were: Myndee Paddock, Treas.; Todd Ifert, V-Pres.; Kelly McKinley Pres.; Nan Wesson, Sec.

Was that embarrassing or what?!

Every senior has had some embarrassing moments at one time or another during their four years in high school, and this class is no exception. When the seniors were asked what their most embarrassing moment was, many responded.

Greg Isenhour said his was when he got caught mooning another bus on the way home from a band contest. Jason Hahn was embarrassed when he farted at band practice and Mr. Harting told the Show Choir class. Mary Ann Delph will never forget the time she got hit in the head with a volleyball in gym class and had to be taken to the emergency room because she had a concussion. Terry Vest was surprised when his dad stopped in at one of his parties. Shannon Orick was hit in the head by a ball he had kicked to begin with. But the most embarrassing moment had to be when Jacob Kinnaman was de-pantsed by Jodi Dolliver, '91, and Angie Thompson, '92.

Darrol Parker ran to get a drink of water during Tennis season and fell into a bush. Guy Pearson was so eager to play basketball his freshman year, he ended up scoring a basket for the other team. Laura Mauck stuffed her bra during a Freshman Basketball tourney and as she was cheering, the toilet paper started falling out.

High School just wouldn't be complete without a few embarrassing moments to look back on.

To the Class Of 1993 Football Players

By Andy York

Forever in my memory, forever in my mind,
Will remain the special times.
The memories of football, those of the best kind,
If I ever lose them, may I be punished for the worst crimes.

From the second year of the highest school,
With the back of fleeting feet,
To the reign at one, on top of the poll,
The times when it seemed we could not be beat.

The brief moments of joy, the long moments of tears,
All disappeared on nights of cold,
Three Novembers, three different years,
The brave warriors, were no more bold.

We began at the grade of four,
And battled until that of the twelfth,
All I can ask for is more,
But the equipment is back to the shelf.

At seventh, we could not muster one win,
The next year, we were to have only one,
By the twelfth we were to begin
A new record, that with the most won.

The sweltering days in the first of August,
The times when I thought I could not go on, the heat, the sweat, but I knew I must,
For I knew it would pay off when we met our foe.

From day one, we had a mission,
From Secina, we would gain respect,
In everyone's mind, we were wish'n
To give Seccina a beating in effect.

The season started, and did we battle,
Most fell to our mighty power,
Many opponents, their heads we did rattle,
To only one did we cower.

The time came for the playoffs to begin,
Our chance for vengeance was not to be denied,
Against our first two foes, we did win,
The fire in our hearts would have made the Crusaders run and hide.

The week of practice before
Was the most intense of the year,
Everybody on the team had to prepare for the war,
Because this year, we weren't going to shed a tear.

The fateful night had come around,
As expected, the crusaders had no respect for us,
The only thing we could do was to run them into the ground,
This year, we sent them crying to their bus.

The fans joined us on the field,
To celebrate and congratulate,
It seemed that to no one that we would yield,
That we had just gotten out of the gate.

The next we were shot down
By the Shamrocks of Westfield,
All of Frankton wore a frown,
Our emotions we could not shield.

The best time, the worst time,
All happened within a week,
A bell for each did chime,
As the once mighty, were reduced to the weak.

Thus was our football career,
Ended on one cold dark night,
Never can we say 'next year,'
Never can we come back to fight

Always remember each other,
Vow never to forget,
From Coach Cress, our mother
To the times we wouldn't quit.

Forever in our memories, forever in our minds,
The memories of our football, the best of all time.

Juniors, Ready to move on

The junior class patiently awaited the prestigious title of being in the upperclass. While they were waiting they decided to make their Junior year the best it could be. At the very beginning they carefully chose their Class officers. Holding the Presidents seat was Josh Cress, Vice President; Chrissy Aynes, Secretary; Lyndie O'Neil, and Treasurer; Greg Smith. As things progressed they proved that they were able to make things happen. Homecoming was their first big accomplishment, they took the title of Homecoming winners away from the Seniors, as they finished the year, Prom was the last big accomplishment that went off with a bang.

Sophomores in the Midst of Things

In the beginning the class of '95 thought that this was the year to have the time of their lives. How more wrong could they be? Sophomores had a lot of planning to do, and this started from the first day of school. Last Spring they have chosen their class officers. For the President's seat they chose Todd Rode-wald; Vice President, Clint Clark; Secretary, Charity George and Treasurer was Brian Adams. As the year flew by they planned a dance to start their prom fund, had the first sophomore party in recent years and made plans to have a car wash right here in Frankton.

Freshmen Ready to Work

As the Freshmen made the big move from Jr. High to High School they had to make some major sacrifices. A lot of the free time that they once had was filled with three to four hours of homework and studying. They wanted to make a good impression on the upperclassmen so they proceeded to elect their class officers: President, Marc Henderson, Vice President, Brian Ice; Secretary, Rachel Hall; and Treasurer, Justin Shirley. They made the successful transition from Jr. High to High School.

Eighth Grade Ready for Bigger Things

The eighth grade worked hard to get where they got this year. They had help from four individuals that served as their leaders, and helped to voice their opinions. As their President they chose Wendy Clevenger; Vice President, Jason Copeland; Secretary, Mindy Hobbs; and Treasurer, Leah Harper. One of the main adventures the eighth grade took this year was an exciting trip to our Nation's Capitol, Washington D.C. It was an experience to remember. As they were winding down the year, they were looking forward to the next and becoming a part of the exciting life in high school.

Seventh Grade In For A Change

As the new seventh graders came from the elementary to the Junior High they were in for quite a few changes. Not only were they in a new environment, but they had to adjust to seven teachers, changing classes, and not being able to go where you want all of the time. They also had to learn how to deal with new people, and all sorts of attitudes. However, they wanted to do things right so they made sure they had the right leaders. To start the year off right they named President of the class to Misty Hall; Vice President, Shawn Ice; Secretary, Jenny Purcell; and Treasurer, Kari Brummett. What a great new beginning!

Educating The Future

Working hard to make our school what it is, these faculty members are very dedicated to their jobs. Not only do these people work hard to achieve success among their students, but also to achieve it for the community as well. There were many changes this year among the staff. Mr. Harting is the new band and choir director along with Mr. Miller being the new Jr. High Band director. Our school welcomed Mrs. Bays into the English Department and said goodbye to Mrs. Davis at the end of the year after teaching 32 years of Home Economics.

Through all the tests, grading papers, hours of figuring grades, and extra time spent here at school for whatever the case, our faculty is truly the best at educating the future.

In the heat of the moment

Frankton sports programs have never failed to bring excitement to us. Through our share of ups and downs we have felt a wide range of emotions that can never again be duplicated. The pride and spirit that is seen in our students shows that we are all proud to be an Eagle.

One of the biggest highlights of this year's sports was becoming football sectional champs by beating Seccina. The thrill of victory could definitely be seen in the tears of the football players and the fans. Our boy's basketball team made it to the semi-finals of the Anderson region, only to be beaten by the number one ranked team in the state, the Anderson Indians.

Frankton's track teams have been moving up and have been improving their records. The boy's tennis team has shown tremendous improvement in its second year here at Frankton.

Each of us hold memories of this year's sports events whether it was playing in the sport or just being a loyal fan. In the heat of the moment Frankton athletes and fans never let us down and always make us proud.

The girls ended up with a 4-0 season. This doesn't include the many invitationals they placed high in, conference, or sectional. Lesley Benefiel and Andrea Ramsey, two of the top runners, placed in the top 15 at sectional and in the top ten in conference. Lesley led the team throughout the year and received Most Valuable Runner, the Work Horse Award, and was named all-conference.

Although the boys' team didn't have an undefeated season, they still maintained a winning record of 4-2. The boys showed determination and ran a good season. Troy Davenport was a big help to the team's achievements. He received the Most Valuable Runner Award, placed in the top ten in both the conference and sectional, and he was also a regional qualifier. Andy Tatman was given the Work Horse Award.

Everyone helped contribute to the team's wins and making their team complete. Both of these younger teams learned from their experience on the team and we can expect to see them keep improving throughout the next few years.

And they're off! Our Eagles start the race strong as always.

Eagles tackle a 10-2 season

crowned WRAC Champs.

The balanced attack of Todd Ifert's 1274 passing yards and Marc Campbell's 1419 rushing yards made it possible for the "SCREAMIN EAGLES" to have an impressive season. Hamilton Heights was the only tarnish on the Eagles regular season record of 7-1.

We know that we couldn't have gotten as far as we did if we didn't play as a team, but there were some players who did exceptionally well. Marc Campbell received Most Valuable Player and Most Valuable Linebacker/Defense; Most Valuable Lineman Offense was awarded to Brandon Cobb. Ron Hinton received Most Valuable Lineman Defense; Most Valuable Back Receiver went to Todd Ifert, Jess Frazier was awarded the Most Improved Award, and Chad Barr received the Rick Vida Award.

Warming up with the jamboree as always helped the team get ready for the season ahead. Our first big wins came from conference rival Lapel, Wes-Del, and Shenandoah. We pushed an average of 25 points between us and these three teams. There were teams in between, but Sectional's where it all began.

ROUND 1: Frankton-49; Northeastern-6. What a way to kick off Sectional, and it didn't hurt the ego either.

ROUND 2: Frankton-29; Union County-13. And the era continues, we can hope this will help us against Scecina. (which is the only thing in our eyes)

ROUND 3: Frankton-20; Scecina-14. The tide keeps on rolling and so do the Eagles. Oh the taste of SWEET victory!!!!

ROUND 4: Frankton-6; Westfield-27. Well all great things must come to an end, but what an ending. Although we were disappointed at the loss, we remembered the fight to get there, and that we had made it one more step closer to a State Championship.

Coach Otis Cress

Some could call this the year of revenge and others call it sweet victory. Anyway you put it, the game against Indianapolis Scecina will always be remembered. After two years of torture, and having our mascot being bullied by them, it was their turn to suffer. Although we didn't man-handle their mascot, we did shove the 24-20 loss in their face. ## Eagles soar to a great season

Coach
Tom Gordy

What is red and white and tough all over? It's the Frankton Junior Varsity Football Team. This team has a bright future ahead-with a lot of expectations in mind. This team gave the new class of Freshmen a chance to get used to their years ahead in varsity football. Many of the teams that they played this year, they will see eye-to-eye later on down the road.

This team put out many long and hard hours through out the season and their record of 6-1 reflects it. their only loss of the year was to Yorktown with the score of 8-14. "Sheridan was our toughest opponent this year because they had a good running back. They were also bigger and more athletic," Clint Clark, 10. Steve Clute, 10, thought that Yorktown was their toughest opponent.

When asked if they would go undefeated next year, freshman Mike Maryan said, "we have a lot of talented players returning." If next year's record is anything like it was this year, then this statement will definitely come true.

Volleyball Team Gets Experience

Coach
Linda Bailey

The Eagles struggled in the 1992 season, being led by just three seniors. The team achieved lots of experience, even if they didn't have a winning season. After their regular season record of 8-21, they went to sectional to be defeated by Pendleton in 2 matches.

Not only was the team young, but they also received a new coach. Linda Bailey is not new to Frankton. She is a '78 graduate, was cheerleading sponsor from 1983-86, and varsity volleyball coach for two seasons and is one of our substitute teachers.

Twelve girls received a varsity letter this year, three were seniors, two juniors, and seven were sophomores. The junior varsity was filled with six freshmen and a sophomore.

The sophomores dominated the awards list. Chrissy Aynes 11, received the passing award, Stephanie Hobbs 10, received the serving award, Julie Graham 10, received the spiking award, Mila Mittendorf 10, was named most improved, and Donna Leeman 10, received the blocking, and most kills award.

As tradition dictates, Varsity girls huddle together to plan their strategy for the next play or serve.

Eagles love this season's record

the teams playing.

In 1991 the team was in last place in the Conference, their improvement showed, when they were tied for 2nd in the Conference 1992. Some of the things that helped the team get there was beating 2 top ranked teams. "With a couple of breaks, we would have been undisputed in the WRAC, instead of tied for 2nd", said Mr. Sharpee.

The team will be losing 3 seniors from varsity next year. The team was young and strong, and should be able to make-up for the lost players.

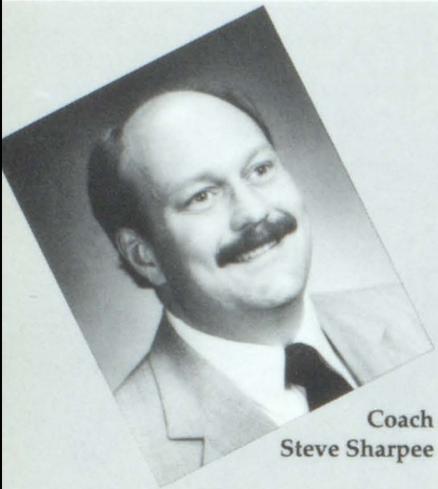

Brent Mallernee was our only player to receive honorable mention in conference, he was also number one singles. Mr. Sharpee says, "We could have several players make all conference if they work on their skills".

Although Mr. Sharpee was head coach, there was lots of time and, patience given by the volunteer coaches: Tim Davis, Kipp Riser, and Joe Graham.

"Many coaches and spectators have commented on how well our boys demonstrate sportsmanship and effort, they are already winners", said Sharpee.

Coach

After the first nine games of the season it looked as if the Varsity Boys Basketball team would end up with an excellent season, with their only losses to Hamilton Heights and Muncie Burris. In the middle of the season the Eagles had a seven game losing streak and ended the regular season, 9-7.

In the Sectional opener, Frankton faced off against the Elwood Panthers. Frankton defeated the Panthers by 3 points to advance to the second round. #1 ranked Anderson was Frankton's next sectional opponent. The Indians ended Frankton's chances for sectional and their season.

After the season, three players were recognized by being voted onto two area all-star teams. Seniors Lawrence Leeman and Chad Vinson were named to the Sertoma All-Star team, while Junior Shane Sumpter was named to the WRAC All-Conference and Madison County All-Star team.

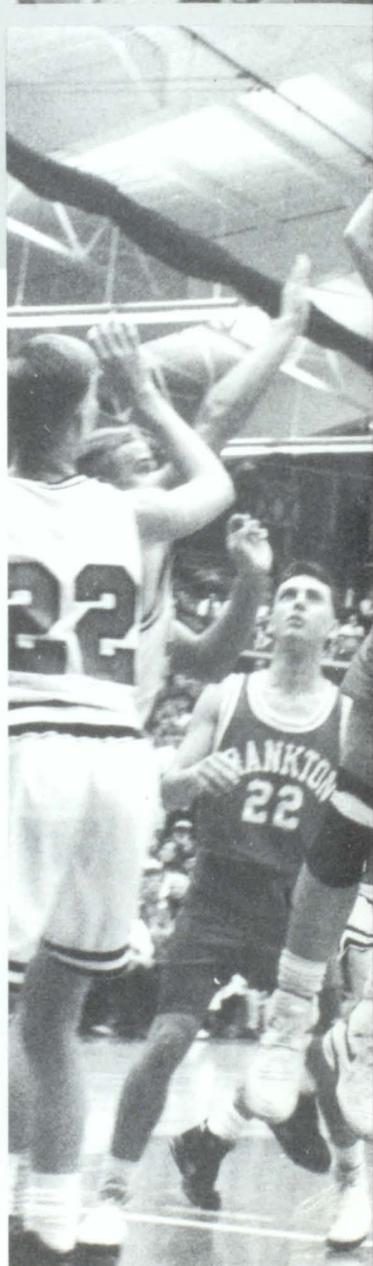

At the basketball banquet, Vinson took home the Best "D" Award, while Sumpter was the team MVP. Senior Guy Pearson received the Ty Hays Award and Sophomore Brent Brobston was the Eagles Most Improved Player.

Frankton lost four outstanding seniors at the end of the season, but the Junior Varsity team has many talented players coming up to the Varsity ranks in '92-'93.

Aiming high for the future

Coach

After losing its first game of the year, the Junior Varsity basketball team went on an eight-game winning streak. The winning streak came to an end with its loss to Highland. In the middle of the season some of the players began to move up to the varsity, which weakened the j.v. and caused some of their losses. They finished their season 12-6;5-2 in the conference.

Even though this year's freshman basketball team had the same 14-3 record as the '91-'92 freshman team, they accomplished something that hadn't been done in three years. They won the WRAC conference championship with their win over Delta in the championship game. The team also had victories over Mount Vernon and Shenandoah in the Tournament. The team ended up with an excellent record of 14 and 3.

This year, Josh Crisp was given the Leadership Award. The Best Defense Award was received by Nathan Hobbs. Most Improved Player was Jamie Cole. Best Offense was awarded to Chad Clevenger. Mr. Hustle this year was Jason Hobbs.

The success of both the j.v. and freshman basketball teams shows the varsity team's potential for a winning season next year.

The Girls Varsity Basketball team had its ups and downs throughout the season. The team was made up of two juniors and seven sophomores, but despite their lack of senior leadership the team finished with 11-8 record and 4-3 in the conference.

The team finished the regular season with a three game winning streak and set a school record for most points in a girls' or boys' basketball game when they scored 102 points against Delta. In that same game, sophomore Donna Leeman broke the school record for individual points in a game, when she scored 45 points.

In the first round of sectional, the Lady Eagles played Anderson. Both teams had chances to win, but in the 4th quarter the Indians prevailed and ended Frankton's season.

Donna Leeman was chosen for the All-Madison County team while Julie Graham was named Honorable Mention. Both girls were members of the All-Conference team.

At the award ceremony, Leeman was named MVP, the top rebounder, and the top field goal shooter. Stephanie Hobbs was awarded the most assist award, while Carrie Benefiel was the top free-throw shooter.

The Junior Varsity team lost the first three games of the season, but were able to end the season with a 11-7 winning record. This year's team could be the deciding factor in the outcome of the '93-'94 Varsity team record.

The Eagle wrestling team finished a fine season with a 14-7 record in dual meets. Due to the talent the team had, the Eagles placed well in all of their invitationals, and tournaments this year. The big highlight of this year's season was winning a sectional championship. The Eagles beat the defending champion Elwood Panthers, followed by Wes-Del and Alexandria.

At the sports banquet seniors, Mike Wethington, Charlie Barr, and Marc Campbell received awards for this year's team captains. Best record went to Jeremy Fetty with a 30-5 record. Most Team Points Award went to Josh Cress. Charlie Barr and Josh Cress tied for the most pins with 18. Earning the Most Takedowns Award was Brent Mallernee. Most Near Falls Award was given to Andy Tatman. This year's most improved wrestler was Danny Elston. Receiving the Workhouse Award was Jamie House. The Most Valuable Wrestler Award went to Brent Mallernee. A special award was given to Marc Campbell who holds seven school records in wrestling.

Next year, the Eagles will be led by Semi-State qualifiers Brent Mallernee and Danny Elston. Next year's wrestling team is a team to look out for considering the amount of talent the team has.

We've got the spirit!!

Cheerleaders at Frankton do a lot more that meets the eye. The long hours spent practicing and decorating would surprise many people.

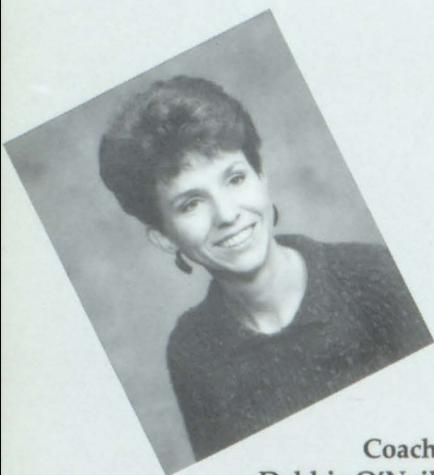

The cheerleaders started their season in July with cheerleading camp. The girl's had practices all summer long to prepare for football season. They also sponsored a dance in the early part of the year to raise money for outfits, banners, pom-poms, and many decorations. Half-way through football season the girl's started working hard on cheers and dances.

One of the cheerleader's favorite things is buying goodies for their Homecoming Honeys and Sectional Sweeties- needless to say it's one of the guys' favorite's too!

Errors cost Eagles big wins

Coach
Kyle Campbell

Returning nine lettermen, seven which were starters, the Eagles figured to have another twenty-win season. They could have easily accomplished this if it hadn't been for one tiny thing: ERRORS. Errors cost the team some big games. As a result, they were denied the WRAC crown and another twenty-win season.

They did have a few bright spots though. They went 9 innings with conference rival Yorktown defeating them 7-1. There were also two no-hitters from two different Frankton pitchers. One going to Todd Ifert, the other going to Noey Salazar.

In the sectional, the Eagles drew a first-round bye and played Anderson first game. With some help from Anderson errors and some great defense from the Eagles, Frankton was able to win 5-3.

The next game a rematch of last year's title game against Highland wouldn't be so easy. A couple of errors and one bad inning led the Eagles to their defeat 10-5 by the Scots.

At the awards banquet Brent Mallernee took home MVP honors. Mallernee also received the award for most hits, 47, a new school record. Also receiving awards were Greg Smith for mental attitude, Brad Douglas for most improved and most stolen bases, and Todd Ifert for best defensive player.

Safe at home in a cloud of dust is Steve Jackson, 10.

LadyEagles have turnaround season

Coach Steve Guthrie

Coming off a 5-11 season, the Lady Eagles had their sights set on a better season, which they accomplished.

They posted a 12-6 mark, led by the pitching of Melissa Jones and the hitting of Rachel Cummings, Carrie Benefiel and Carol Robinette. I was not just these players that won the games for the Eagles. They had talent in every position. Even the players on the bench were able to come in and get the job done. With this kind of depth, the future of Lady Eagles Softball looks bright.

The team captains that led the team were: Jenny Bryant, Bobbie Douglas, Windy Hawkins and Julie Graham.

Leading the Eagles in batting average was Rachel Cummings. The Work Horse award went to Windy Hawkins and Julie Graham.

The Most Valuable Player award was given to Melissa Jones.

Earning special awards on the JV team were: Adonica Paschal for best batting average, Ronda Neese for being the Work Horse and Melissa Hartman for being the Most Improved. The team captains for the JV team were: Sandy Burchette, Robyn Jones and Ronda Neese.

Golfers survive tough season

Coach
Dennis Huntsinger

The Frankton golf team struggled this year to win only 3 meets while losing 13. This was mainly due to player inexperience. They only three seniors and one junior, five sophomores and two freshmen.

Next year looks to be a good one in Frankton golf. The team will be under the leadership of number one player Ryan Andis, and returning lettermen Chad Webber and Tom Marshall.

With a record of 3-13, the Eagles could have easily been 6-10 if only a few putts would have fallen. The times the Eagles really needed those putts were at three heartbreaking losses to Cowan, Muncie Burris, and conference-rival, Lapel. They lost those three meets by a total of only 4 strokes.

At the conference meet, the Eagles improved from 7th the year before to 6th this year. They also improved their standing in the Tipton Invitational to 5th from 7th the year before. At sectional, the Eagles had nowhere to go but up after finishing in the cellar in 1992. The Eagles did make an improvement by placing 10th in the 12-team field. At the awards banquet, Ryan Andis stole the show by winning awards for most pars (52), most birdies (5), and for Most Valuable. Earning Most Improved was, sophomore, Steve Westlund.

Tennis less than a great season

Coach
Tim Davis

With the number one singles player returning, first year head coach Tim Davis had high hopes on improving on last year's 2 wins and 11 losses.

After going their first nine matches without a victory in 1992, the 1993 eagles hoped to start off on a better note. Opening with three straight losses, visions of last year began to return, but with a victory over Madison Grant in their fourth match came new spirit. Winning two out of the next four matches, the girls had sights on doubling last year's win total. Finishing the season losing their last four matches, the girls had to settle with an improvement of one win.

The girls finished the season with 3 victories and 9 losses, almost doubling their winning percentage from the year before.

Earning varsity letters for the 1993 Eagles were Susie Davis, Nikki Herren, Jenny Ifert, Erica Ramey, Miki Shii, Stephanie Storm, Shannon Weaver, and Kim Wright. Miki Shii also received the Best Mental Attitude award.

The JV team consisted of Melissa Dyehouse, Heather Eddy, Jill McCord, Michelle Rydman, Simone Schiske, and Cathy Hanes, who was named the Most Improved Player.

Leading for the boys was Jason Rodewald. He had three first place finishes and four second place finishes. His best time for the year was 11:00. One of the boys best meets was at the Tipton Invitational. The team placed second overall and Jason Rodewald placed tenth out of 85 runners in that meet.

For the girls, it was another winning season. Seventh grader, Christen O'Neil led the girls to a 5-1 record. She had three first place finishes and placed fifth in the Tipton Invitational. Her best time was 9:23 in a 1.5 mile race. The girl's only loss came to a very good Anderson Eastside team.

With the young team they have, Mr. Ritz had this to say: "Since we're losing only four eighth graders, we should have a very good team next year."

Jr. high football team kicks-off a promising future

Coach
Lew Wallace

"18-32-48 HUT! " is the familiar sound heard on the field during a jr. high football game.

Even though the 8th grade began and ended with their only two losses to Elwood and Alexandria, there was plenty of wins in between, "I want to learn more about the game and to work with Coach Cress." said Jason Beardsly looking forward to high school next year.

Jarod Cress was awarded Outstanding Defense and Jason Beardsly received Outstanding Offense. The Most Improved Player this year went to Bryan Perkins while Mike Pelsor doubled with the Mental Attitude Award and the MVP of the Team.

The 7th grade team fought long and hard for their only win of the season. They were 1-7 on the year. This win came during an overtime against Sheridian. Reid Andis, MVP, looks forward to next year with a different approach, "I won't have the 8th graders to beat up on me." The outstanding offensive player was awarded to Reid, while Levi Alexander received the outstanding defense award. Doug Westlund earned the Most Improved Award. James Hellman and Peter Graham were awarded for their mental attitudes.

in the Madison County Tournament. Since volleyball starts so early in the year, practicing every day and playing together can teach you a lot about a person. Needless to say many new friendships were started. Like most girls do, they had lots of fun while learning more about the game through the season. Most of the girls say they can't wait to play again next year.

The eighth grade girls came up with a season record of 6-3, and placed 3rd in the Madison County Tournament. This eighth grade team was very strong-willed and serious about their game. When they did lose they didn't go down easy. This team also has very good leadership quality and worked together well. These girls that go on to high school volleyball next year will have lots to give to the team. Like the seventh grade these girls also made time for laughter. Besides you know what they say about all work and no play!

Work pays off for wrestlers

Coach
Otis Cress

This year's junior high wrestling team finished a fine season. The team compiled a 5-3 record in dual meets. Leading the Eagles was Zack Hinkle with a 12-0 record. The team started off with a 3-0 record before losing the next two meets against Hamilton Heights and Shenandoah. After those two losses they won two more in a row against Alexandria and Tipton. In the final match of the year, the team lost a hard-fought battle to the Elwood Panthers.

At the awards banquet, there were six awards presented to outstanding wrestlers. Earning the most valuable wrestler award was Jared Cress. Taking honors for most takedowns was Joe Barr. Mike Pelsor took the award for most improved wrestler. Zach Hinkle got an award for most nearfalls and also one for the best record. The award for most pins went to Tony Filomeno, and Mike Pelsor received the award for most improved wrestler.

This is one of the jr. high sports that allows elementary as well as jr. high students to compete at the same status.

With all of these wrestlers receiving awards, next year's high school team can look forward to a great season.

Homecoming was a big part of the year for the 13 girls. They stood on the track and cheered with the high school cheerleaders. Next they decorated their truck for the parade. The 7th grade cheerleaders were really excited about these things since it was their first year to all these new things.

This was also the first year these girls had cheered together. It's always hard the first time with people who do things differently. There's the Frankton way and the Leach way and always conflict. But this never stops the girls from cheering on the eagles or trying out again.

Girl's team takes county crown

Coach
Lewis Wallace

After Posting a 7-3-1 record and sharing the Madison County championship last year, the girls team was able to improve to 8-2 and become the outright champions of Madison County.

The boys ended the season with a 3-7 record, one win short of last year's 4-7 record. With only five eighth graders out of an eighteen member team, this was an expected down year for the Frankton's Jr. High boy's track.

At the Jr. High Track awards banquet, Jason Copeland took home the Outstanding field events, Outstanding Sprinter, and Most Valuable awards for the boys team. Also receiving awards for the boys were Joey Hobbs for Outstanding Distance Runner and Jason Rodewald for Most Improved.

For the girl's team, Gwen Hobbs was awarded the Outstanding Sprinter and the Most Valuable awards. Wendy Clevenger received the award for the Outstanding Distance Runner, Glenda Hall received the Outstanding field events and the Most Improved awards, and Elizabeth Merrit was also awarded for being the Most Improved.

ORE STUDENT LIFE

Ready for more

As the last semester of school comes around many students improve their skills in daydreaming. The classes seem longer and the days seem to drag on forever. As all of the clubs and activities come to an end, many students are filled with anxiety for summer vacation.

However, the last semester is also full of some of the most fun events of the year. The Variety Show gives the choirs and band a chance to show off all of the hard work that they've put into the school year.

For those who attend Prom, the monotony of the school is broken with the excitement of this big occasion. For Seniors, the countdown to graduation which began so long ago, finally begins to dwindle.

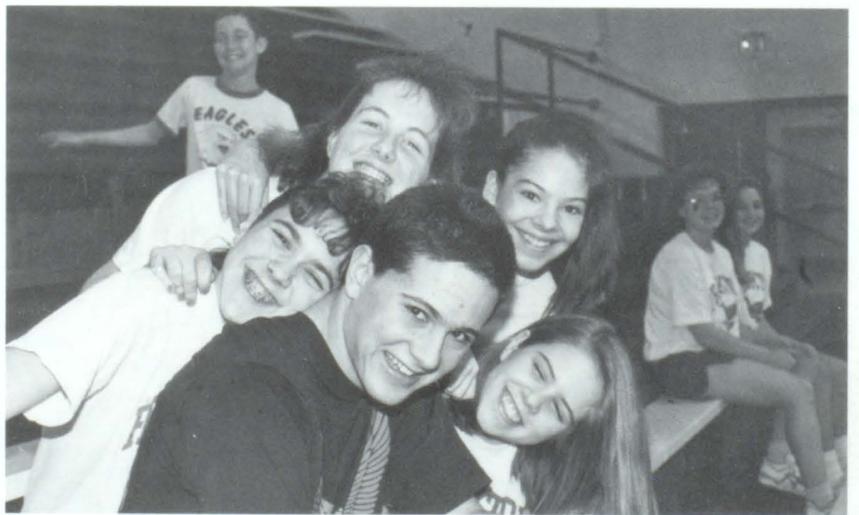

As this last semester began, we proved that we were ready for more excitement and fun.

The Anderson Boy's Basketball Sectional is one of the best-known basketball sectionals in the state of Indiana and even beyond. The feelings that a person experiences at the Anderson Sectional are feelings that can very rarely be duplicated.

The Eagles were ready for their first round draw, the Elwood Panthers, who we had beaten in a close game during regular season.

Spirit for our team was portrayed in many different ways throughout the week. For those students who were the dedicated fans, Student Council sponsored the annual dress up days. Monday was "Death To the Panthers" day and throughout the day students were seeing black everywhere they looked. Tuesday, the day of our first round game was the traditional red and white day.

The game against Elwood proved to be very emotional. It came down to the final seconds, but Frankton came out the victors. Even though the Eagle team and fans were feeling the thrill of victory, they were already thinking about the next game against one of the top-rated teams in the state, the Anderson Indians. Although students were apprehensive about the big game, the spirit for our team didn't let down a bit.

Wednesday, students came to school decked out in ties, sunglasses and hats. Eagle fans went back in time, took a flash from the past and visited the 60's on Thursday as they dressed in hippie clothes.

Friday finally rolled around and the school was definitely ready for their big semi-final game against the Indians. Seventh period, the cheerleaders put on a pep session for the team. Coach Bauchert added a little comedy to the pep session by putting the players on the spot and asking each of them questions about the game.

When the game started, Eagle fans were backing their team all the way. Even though our boys came up short of their goal of upsetting the Indians, they played their best and made us all proud to be called an Eagle.

o you wanna dance?

Musical preference makes no difference when you attend a dance at Frankton Jr./Sr. High School, with RMD-J providing the music. From Garth Brooks and AC/DC to Shabba Ranks and the Spin Doctors, you can hear almost any song you like, as long as it is appropriate for a school function.

Many students attend the sock-hop dances, which are usually after a football victory or a home basketball game. Just about everyone gets out on the floor to show off their latest moves, or just simply to show off.

The yearbook dance, a dance in name only, is the Friday after students receive their yearbooks from the previous year. As you walk into the gym you don't see a bunch of crazy, wild kids jumping around. Instead you see a bunch of crazy, wild kids sitting on the floor signing each other's yearbooks.

There are a few semi-formal dances throughout the year. A couple are the Coronation dance, and the Spring dance. Students proved that they were still able to get down and dance despite their "Sunday best" outfits. Most people enjoyed dressing up for a change but, it was not uncommon to see a pile of high heeled shoes off to the side of the dance floor.

Another dance that was a big success this year was the MORP dance, which took place in April. MORP is prom spelled backwards so it was a very informal girl-ask-guy dance. The student council chose a Hawaiian Luau for this year's theme. Instead of just dancing, FHS students could also play beach volleyball, or participate in the hula hoop and limbo contests.

Doug Gassner 9, proved to everyone that he can hula hoop. Many others tried and failed, at the MORP dance.

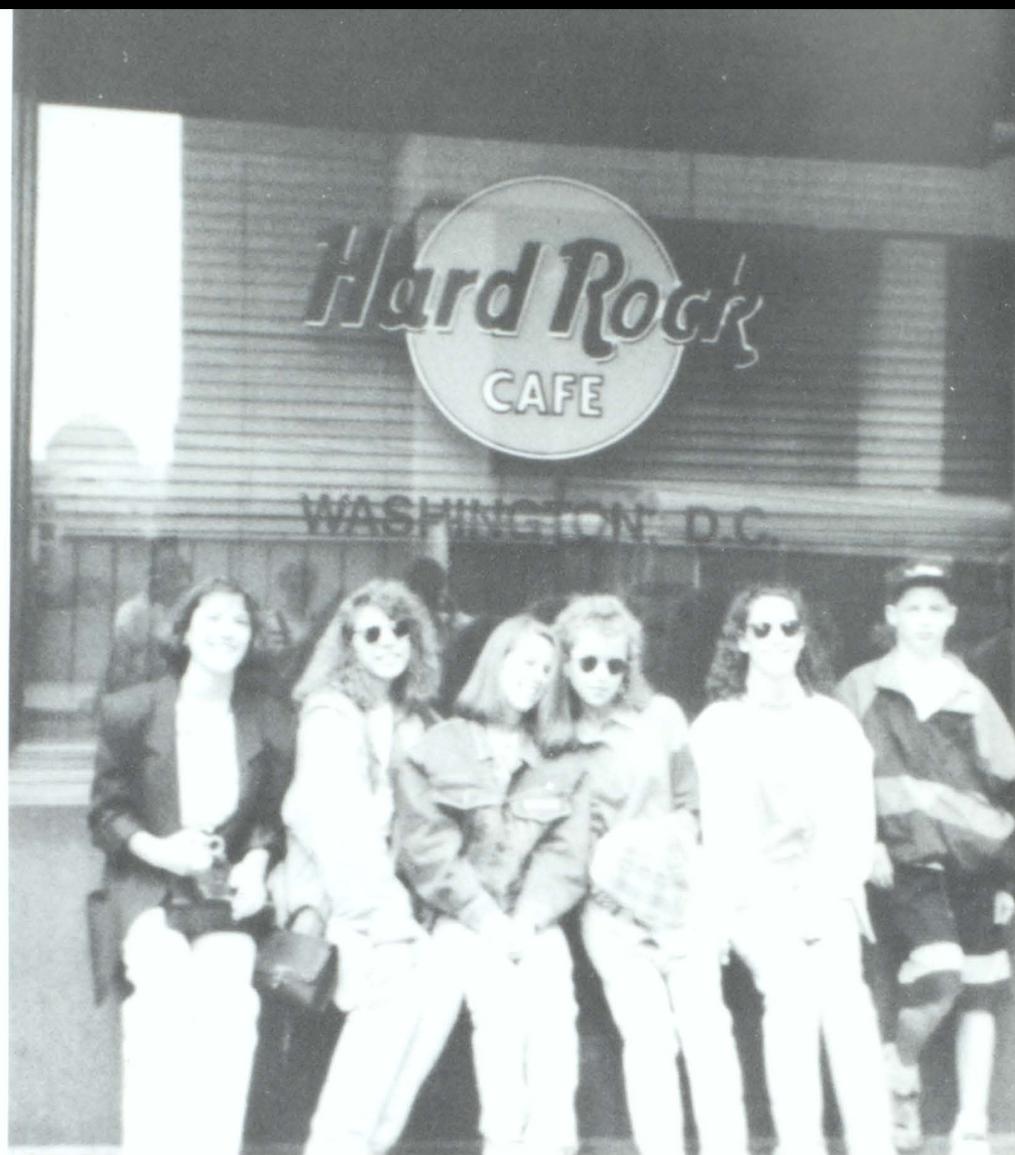

Jennifer Hart 11, Chrissy Aynes 11, and Nikki Juroff 11, show how much fun FHS dances are.

lass of '97 visits Washington D.C.

On March 30, 1993 most members of the 8th grade class traveled to Washington D.C. After a one hour and six minute plane ride they arrived in Washington and boarded the tour buses and took a 30 min. drive into Washington D.C.

Their first stop was Arlington National Cemetery. Then they traveled up a hill to see the changing of the guards at the tomb of the unknown soldier. While at the cemetery they saw Robert E. Lee's plantation, which was his home before he left for the civil war. They also saw John F. and Robert Kennedys' graves and the Eternal Flame.

Next stop was Ford's Theater, the Peterson Home, and the Hard Rock Cafe. At the Peterson Home they saw the bed and pillow where Abraham Lincoln had died on.

At 2 p.m. they had the opportunity to meet with Indiana senator Dan Coats, and a few of the students had the opportunity to get their picture taken with him. Leaving there they got to see the Supreme court and the Capital building.

Then they traveled to the Vietnam Wall memorial, which was an experience for most of the group. Some students looked up friends or relatives in a book and found the name on the wall. The names are arranged by date of death.

A Almost Paradise

"The gym was so gorgeous. I loved the pond with the fish," was Miki Shii's reaction when she entered the prom. Each guest at prom was treated like royalty as they walked down the red carpet, cameras flashing, and the crowd oohing and aahing. The fantasy continued once they entered the school and walked over the pond and around to the dance floor.

The court was called in for what we were all waiting for, the announcing of this year's king and queen. The king's court was announced: Josh Cress, Clark Scott, Cam Paddock, Greg Smith, and Brad Douglas. Last year's king, Marc Campbell, passed his title on to Brad Douglas.

The queen's court consisted of Chrissy Aynes, Kristin Fihe, Kerri Carter, Nikki Jurroff, and Lyndie O'Neil. Kelly McKinley, last year's queen, gave her crown to Lyndie O'Neil. Brad and Lyndie were joined in the theme song, Almost Paradise, by the court and then everyone else.

"I thought it was fantastic. I was impressed by how they transformed the gym into an elegant formal setting," said Mr. Warner. "I was also impressed in how well-dressed they were." Some of the seniors thought that last year's decorations couldn't be beat and that's how the juniors feel about this year's. "If they work hard enough they might be able to, but I doubt it," said Staci Reed.

After the prom, prom-goers were treated with first class passes to post prom.

The '93 post prom was considered a success. The unique theme was "Places of the World". The activities began when the parents started setting up on Friday afternoon. Post prom was loaded with cool places. To fit the theme it would be appropriate to name some of the countries that took part. Africa had a Bungee Run, Mexico had one shot miniature golf and nachos. In Japan everybody got a chance to show off their voices with "Karaoke". Another big attraction was the velcro wall.

All in all, this prom will go down in history as one of the best proms ever, and the memories will remain for years to come.

In the Spotlight

The Jr.High band plays their tunes while being led by Mr.Miller.

On Friday May 7th 1993 in the Eagle's nest, the music department staged a variety show. Acts included everything from soloists to the high school band. The variety show gives the students involved in the music department a chance to show off all of their hard work that they have put into their groups throughout the year.

This year the format of our variety show was changed due to our new director, Mr.Harting. Instead of a long three hour show full of lip synching and skits, Mr. Harting brought a little more class to the performance. Student's talents were given a chance to really shine in true form.

Though most of the acts were large groups, there were also a few small acts. Mark Harting played a tuba duet with John Jones from Ball State University. Jill McCord played a Concerto on french horn, Allen Rhodes played Eric Clapton's "Tears in Heaven". Kristin Johnson sang "Endless Love", and Megan Stickrad sang "That's What Love Can Do".

Among the large groups was the Jr. High Band which played "Rock 'N Roll Forever". The Jr. High Choir sang "After Beeps". "After Beeps" gave ideas for several unique answering machine messages. Tawny Couch, Tiana O'Brien, Loranda Cunningham, and Cheryl Edgecomb sang a quartet of "A Whole New World" from the movie "Aladdin".

From the large High School groups was a mixed choir which sang "All I Ask of You". The Girls' Ensemble sang a medley of songs from the movie "Sister Act."

Also the High School Show Choir did their side-splitting rendition of "Bohemian Rhapsody". Topping off the night was the High School Band, which played "Tubby the Tuba", with John Jones as the tuba soloist.

op of the class

On the evening of Wednesday, May 26th the high school awards program was held in the Eagle's Nest. Although many underclassmen were awarded, the seniors were the highlight of the night.

Among some of the clubs recognized were student council, media club, journalism, drama club, and the band. Special awards were given to people involved in show choir, vocational school, and industrial arts.

The top students in math, English, health, and P.E. were also awarded. Students with a grade point average of 3.75 or better were also recognized and given various gifts for all of their hard work.

Among those were those students who received a Dollars for Scholars Award. Elwood Elks gave their scholarship of Teen of the Year to Anna Swartz.

Awarded from our armed services included Scott McDonald and Jenny Bryant with the Army Reserve Scholar Athlete Awards, Andy York received his scholarship from the Air Force, and Jason Hahn, Craig Rodewald, and Andy Lamaster were among those who received the special scholarships from the Marines.

Todd Bozell received the Masonic Lodge Award and an Anderson Vocational School Award.

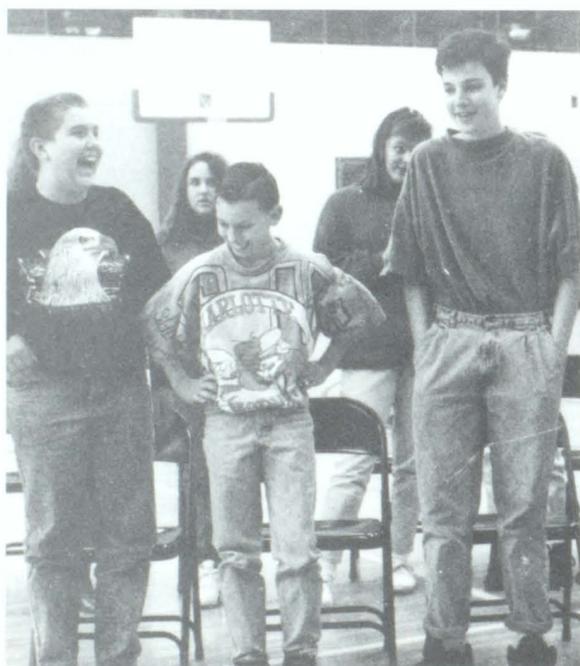

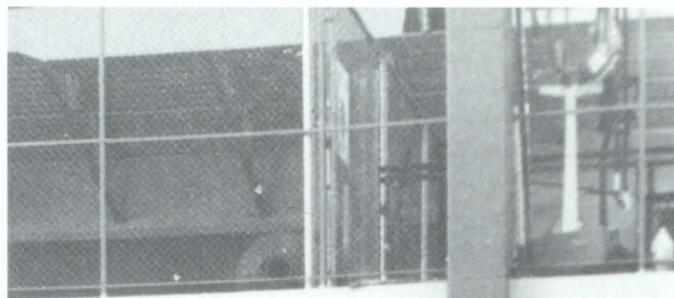

At the end of the program Mr. Warner gave out his special awards. Todd Ifert, Jessie Frazier, Kelly McKinley, Myndee Paddock, and Nan Wesson all received the Principal's Award. Scott McDonald was recognized as Salutatorian and Myndee Paddock was honored as the 1993 Valedictorian.

Both were given plaques to always remember their accomplishments.

Anna Swartz receives her Dollars for Scholars Scholarship.

Mrs. Lee awards all of her media assistants with certificates during the program.

These junior high students sit anxiously wondering what, if any awards they might receive.

One step closer

Elizabeth Merrit is given an Extra effort Presidential Academic Fitness award by Mrs. Isbell during the ceremony.

Wednesday May 26th at 2 p.m. was the fourth annual jr. high awards banquet. The ceremony, following a 1:30 p.m. eighth grade tea of punch and cookies, is designed to give the jr. high student the separate opportunity to be honored for their accomplishments.

The awards are in the subject areas of: math, English, social studies and science; special areas of: band, perfect attendance and reading awards; greater community areas of: American Legion, Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR), Midwest Talent Search and Presidential Academic Fitness.

The subject awards were given in recognition of all A's or based on effort and overall grade point average. Band awards were given for participation and extra effort. Reading awards were given for having read 10 points or more in the Electronic Bookshelf (EBS) program.

Both the DAR and the American Legion gave awards based on merit and special achievement both earned and selected by faculty members.

The Midwest Talent Search involves the taking of the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT), and scoring in the 95th percentile or above in either the California Achievement Test (CAT) or the Indiana Statewide Testing for Educational Progress (ISTEP).

The Presidential Academic Fitness award demands testing scores in the 80th percentile or higher for both the seventh and eighth grade years.

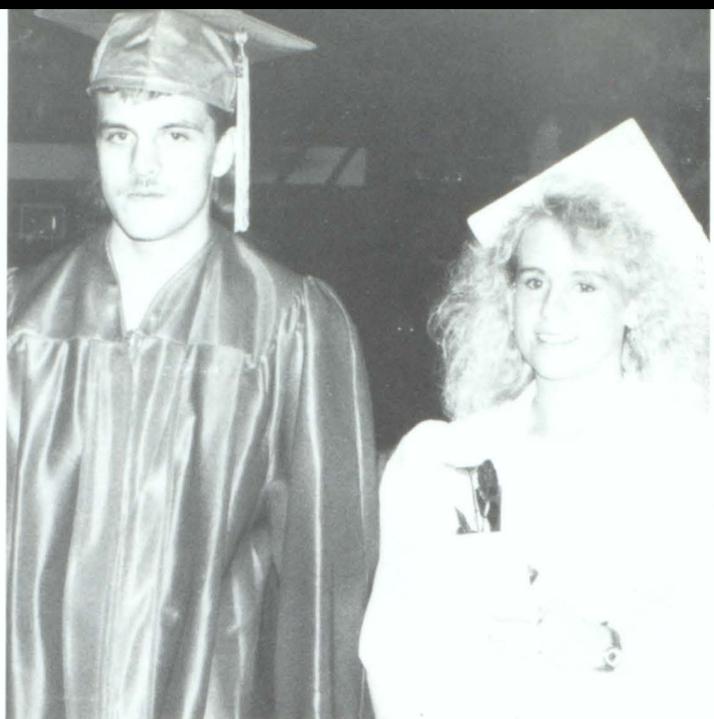

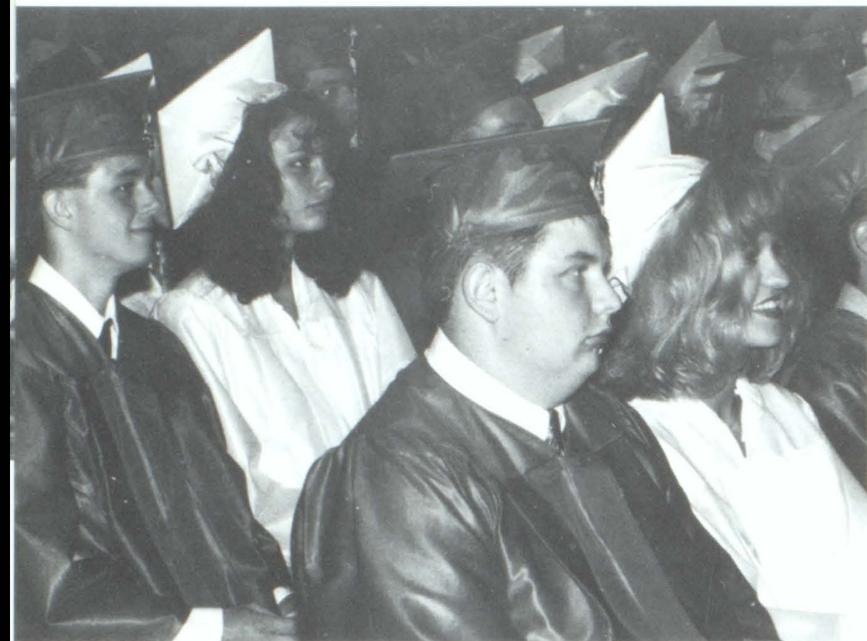

Mrs. Susie Isbell, guidance counselor for the junior high students and freshmen, said, "I feel honoring these students is important not only to recognize work well done, but also as an incentive to do well later in life both in high school and above."

Wendy Clevenger is presented with the DAR award during the eighth grade awards ceremony.

Molly Jameson, Jim Hellman, Misty Hall, Glenda Hall, Brian Shuter, Wendy Clevenger, James Clark and Ivy Johnson were some of the students receiving Midwest Talent Search awards, sponsored by Northwestern University.

Garrett Jackson and Jenny Bryant walk down the gym in the Eagles Nest for one last time.

The National Anthem began the '93 graduation ceremony in the Eagles' Nest on Friday, May 28. This was the first time in recent years that Frankton had graduation on a Friday.

Then, the high school band accompanied the seniors in the processional. Juniors Nicole Juroff and John Canfield served as escorts. When everyone was seated, the senior show choir girls sang "Here Within My Heart." Kristin Johnson sang the song "Friends." This song was about friendship lasting a lifetime. The show choir finished the musical selections with "I'll Remember You."

Then the class president Kelly McKinley gave a speech about memories of Frankton and how the seniors should stand up for what they believe in. Third ranking senior Penelope Dixon gave a thoughtful poem for the seniors. Salutatorian Scott McDonald gave contrasting views on winners and losers. Valedictorian Myndee Paddock told her fellow classmates to set goals and go for your dreams.

Principal Stanley E. Warner recognized senior award winners before fourth ranking senior Nan Wesson gave her poem which informed the seniors that there is a time for everything.

Then, as David Bartlow presented the graduates, Superintendent George Dickison awarded the senior class their diplomas. A great deal of excitement came upon the class of 1993 as they received their keys to the future. A reception was held in the Eagles' Den after graduation.

The class flower was the red rose and the white rose. The class motto was "The key to happiness is having dreams - the key to success is making them come true."

WHAT'S TO COME

Ready for anything

As the school year of 92-93 comes to an end we will all carry on memories that will last us a lifetime. Although we all had our shares of ups and downs, it is up to us which times we choose to remember.

As the class of '93 moves on they will leave behind many memories of their four years at Frankton. bomb threats, changes of administrators, dances, as well as many special sporting events.

Another thing that will be leaving along with the class of 1993 is our vice-principal, Mr. Shipley. After twelve years of being band director, one year of being the athletic director, and three years of being the vice-principal, Mr. Shipley has decided to use all of his experience and become a principal at Eastbrook Junior High School.

As an appropriate closing to this '93 Eaglite, we would all like to thank Mr. Shipley for all of his time and effort trying to make Frankton Jr/Sr High School a better place.

Misty Hall 8, tries to explain just how stupid the situation really was as she waits for the next good song to come on.

Craig Rodewald leads these underclassmen as they prepare for one of their many fall contests that they participated in this year.

Marc Campell 12, gets a quick picture taken of this Kodak moment after Brad Douglas 11, was named Prom King.

Editor's Note

It's been one tough, long year, and I literally thank God for getting me through it! Although I was apprehensive about taking the job of being yearbook editor to begin with, I have to admit that I have learned alot in the last year. The main thing that I have learned is that it is impossible to please everyone when you only have 200 pages, but I have done the best that I could. I hope that all of the long hours I spent after school and on weekends has paid off and made a book that we can all be proud of.

First of all, I would like to thank my parents for putting up with me through all of my complaining and crying over this yearbook. Without them constantly pushing me on I'm not sure if I would have made it.

I would also like to thank Andy Lamaster for helping me so much even though he had his own deadlines with the newspaper. Andy's creativity and his knowledge of the Macintosh computers made everyone's job a little bit easier.

Next on the list is Jama Stewart. I greatly appreciate all of your help this summer. This next year will have many ups and downs since you are the next editor-in-chief of the Eaglite, I just pray that you have more ups than downs.

I would also like to thank all of the people who took over the sports in this year's book. Laura Mauck took over the sport's editor job and without all of her help and jokes after school things would have been a mess. Those Wheat Thins also came in pretty handy! Thanks to Josh Cress and Cam Paddock for taking care of all of the spring sports.

My biggest thanks goes to Jenny Springer, my assistant editor, who took over for me when I had all of those meetings, practices and games. If it wasn't for you I know this yearbook would never have gotten done on time. And Mr. Sipe I would like to thank you for all of your help when the deadlines came around. I hope our compromises will make the students, faculty and parents satisfied and very happy with the '93 Eaglite.
