'69 Variety Show and Spring Sing Reveal

A sparkle was added to the evening by Swing Choir's rhythm.

Curtains going up to "Block M Concert March" the 1969 version of the Panther Band Varieties began. Directed by Mr. Richard Wheeler and Mr. John Hamer, an evening of fantastic entertainment unraveled.

One of the highlighted sections was Entertainment--U.S.A. featuring various songs from television shows and Broadway musicals. The Willkie majorettes, Dance Band, Renner's Kids, "Super Juniors," Kaleidoscopes, and Willkie Ceremonies for the evening were led by Diane Carlson and Ted Moser.

Pantherettes were featured in another big section as a tribute to Walt Disney.

The Willkie Choir, directed by Mr. Brugger, presented a song and skit entitled "Tell Tale Heart." The Swing Choir sang "Rock-a My Soul."

Closing with the section Our America--Tribute to our great country and people, the Grand Finale was played by the band as the entire cast sang "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Tom Wesseler, Kris Knauer, and Tom Moser give trumpet presentation.

Individual Talents and Musical Aptitude

Mary Braddock displayed vocal talents.

Glockenspiel art was demonstrated by Kenny Myers.

The Spring Sing highlighted the beginning of May. The program began with the numbers "Reach Down Dat Hand," "A Taste of Honey," and "Chim Chim Cheree." The Swing Choir changed the pace of the program with a number called "Muskrat Ramble." The group also presented the ever popular "Five Hundred Miles" in the spirit of the "Indy 500."

The Male Quartet accented the program with their presentation of "Cherish," and the Kaleidoscopes, with "I

Dig Rock and Roll Music," and "Gonna Get Along Without You Now."

Linda Leonard, Carl Leth, and Mary Braddock sang vocal selections "Embraceable You," "I Believe," and "Can't Help Loving Dat Man," respectively. Keith Sherman was the piano soloist, playing "Bumble Boogie."

Accompanists on the piano were Mary Braddock, Connie Durm, and Keith Sherman.

Kaleidoquintet comically performed "Gonna Get Along Without You Now."

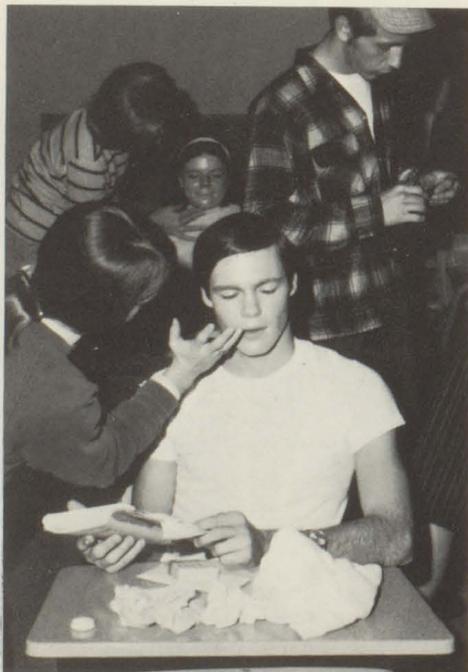

The Class of 1970 Displayed Dramatic

"So this is the young man who gets a ring put through his nose!!"

The problems of production that confronted the Seniors in their presentation of Caroline Francke's comedy, "Father of the Bride," were almost as nerve racking as those experienced by the characters they were portraying. The production was directed by faculty advisor, Mrs. Judith Himelick and assistant director, Miss Roberta Sammis.

Ability in Presentations of Class Plays

"I see now. It's a nice diamond, Grace. Who?? Bud Merkle??"

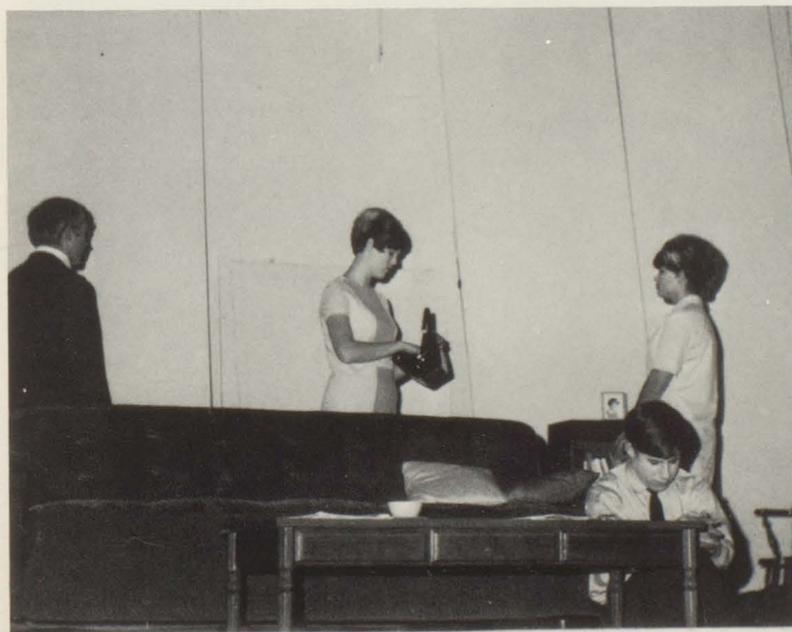

So enthusiastic was the response of the audience to "The Death and Life of Larry Benson" on the nights of March 20 and 21, 1969, that a command performance was later given on March 27.

This one-act production by Reginald Rose dramatized the homecoming of Larry Benson. Reported missing in action three years ago, Larry returned home to an excited family. However the family is shocked to find he is not Larry Benson even though he knows every detail about them.

Under the leadership of Victoria Crull and Roberta Sammis, the student directors Janet Crimans and Greg Cole worked with the cast in presenting a fine display of dramatic abilities.

"I hope I haven't barged in at the wrong time--I'd feel simply awful!!"

"Wouldn't be surprised if ya started praying for trouble like they pray for rain."

Neither Dark Skies nor Rain Discouraged

Pat Rice and Joe Williams rang the Victory Bell in the parade supporting the Panthers.

The 21st annual Homecoming began Saturday afternoon, October 11, 1969. A parade held in the downtown area was led by the Mighty Panther Band. Others participating in the "best Homecoming Parade ever" were floats from the high school classes, the queen candidates, Polly Panther, the snorkel, filled with Pep Club members, and the E-Men's "Liberty Bell."

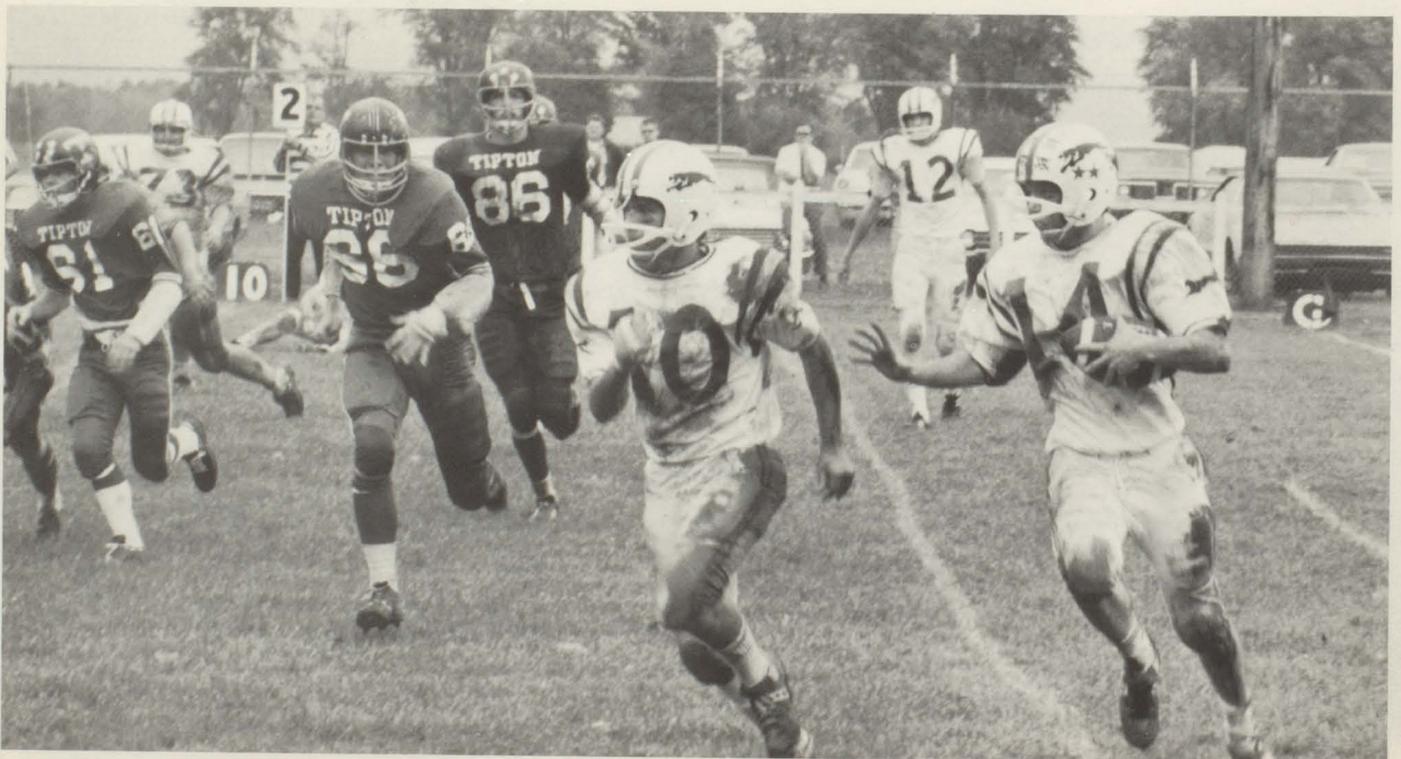

The highlight of the halftime activities was the crowning of the Homecoming Queen, Miss Sandy Fakes, by the '68 Queen, Miss Marcie Fettig.

The Freshmen float was awarded the best in competition among the class floats with the runner-up going to the Seniors.

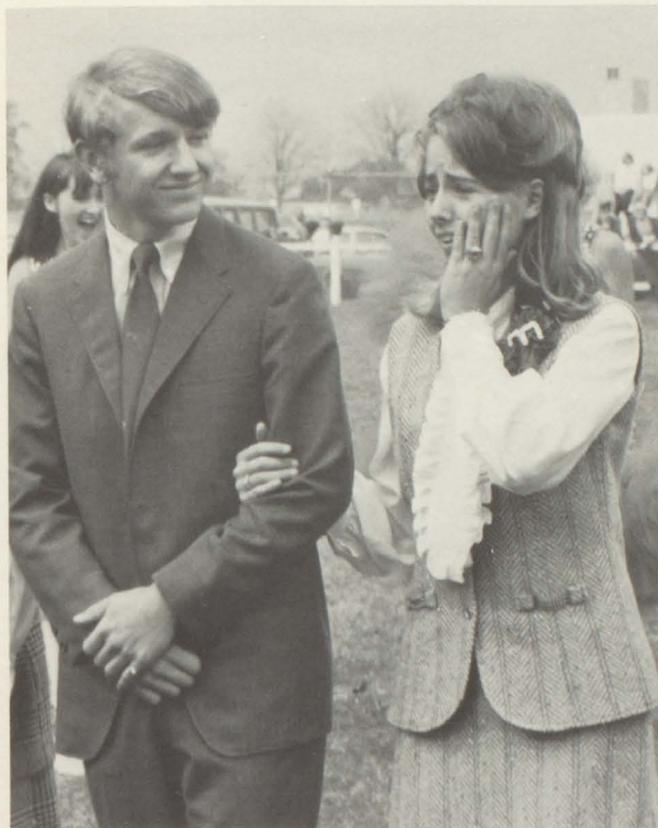

The Panther Gridders didn't fare as well in their portion of the day as they lost their clash with the Blue Devils, 47--0.

Climaxing the day's activities, the queen and her court reigned over a dance held in the Panther Den.

Lee Barnes blocked for Bill Davis as he attempted to gain yardage.

Homecoming Candidates, Parade, or Game

Kris Knauer looked on as Sandy Fakes shed tears of joy after being selected 1969 Homecoming Queen.

The Mighty Panther Band led the festivities in the parade.

Queen Candidates: Julie Hobbs, Debbie Clouser, Susan Glenn, Jo Runyan, and Queen Sandy Fakes.

Pep Club members rode on the snorkel in the Homecoming parade boosting the Panther team.

The Spotlight Shone Upon Excalibur and

On the evening of May 23, 1969, Willkie High students entered across a flowery drawbridge into the romantic land of Camelot. Couples danced to the music of Bobby Long and his Orchestra in the ballroom which was converted into the entrance hall of King Arthur's castle. Senior prom-goers had their coat of arms on the palace walls; however, the center of attraction was a huge stone in which the great Excalibur was deeply plunged.

In the next room, the couples entered into the "Mystical, Magical World of Merlin"--King Arthur's sorcerer. Candlelight set the atmosphere, while Willkie's own fair ladies served refreshments.

As the evening grew to an end, the honor of Willkie's 1969 Prom Queen was bestowed upon Miss Jan Bradley, by Tim Harris, President of the Junior Class. A red carpet led to Her Majesty's throne, which was backed by the Royal Crest.

Tim Harris crowns Jan Bradley after she received a bouquet of roses.

Queen Candidates: Kathy Tyner, Brenda Fuller, Queen Jan Bradley, Debbie Himburg, and Kathy Foor.

Merlin's World in Camelot—The 1969 Prom

Senior prom-goers Loren Culp and Jack Kinser are served by the castle servants, Susan Hobbs, and Maria Updegraff.

Freshmen Tim Williams and Gary Harting were doormen to the entrance of King Arthur's castle.

English Students Learned Fundamentals of

In this age of speaking, writing, and reading, it has become important for us to know how to use our language well. The purpose of the English classes is to help the student become familiar with many of the basic or most important ideas and rules of our English language. Because English is so essential, all Willkie students are required to study at least three years of English.

First semester classes are devoted to the study of grammar, the important tool for putting the words of our language together so they will express our ideas.

An oral report given by Greg Conwell entices Mrs. Starkey's English class.

Setting a good example for her English students, Mrs. Barr makes use of the school library.

Writing, How To Appreciate Literature

During the second semester literature is studied. Many famous writings and authors are introduced to the students to help them understand what literature is and how to enjoy it.

The classes offered by the department are English and American literature, grammar, journalism, speech, honors English, and advanced composition.

The journalism students prepared the weekly Willkie Hi World, the monthly Megaphone, and the daily broadcasts over WBMP.

For the seniors who wished to further their knowledge Honors English and advanced composition were offered.

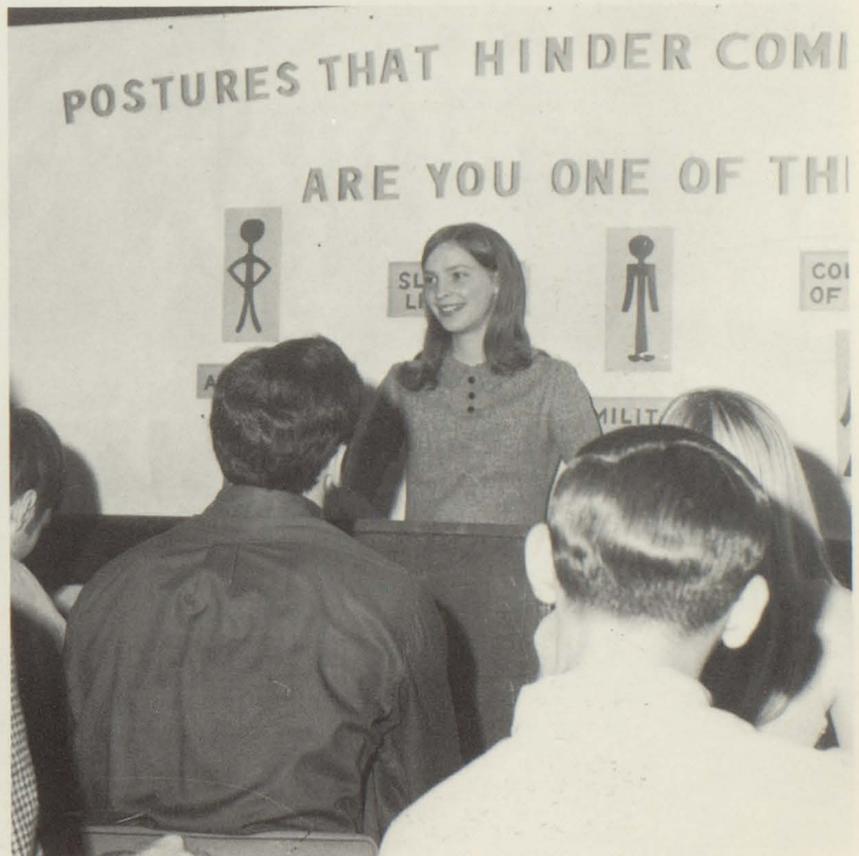

Assisting in distributing freshman literature books, Jack Pittman gives Miss Sammis a helping hand.

Francis Weaver works with a teaching machine in Mr. Snyder's class.

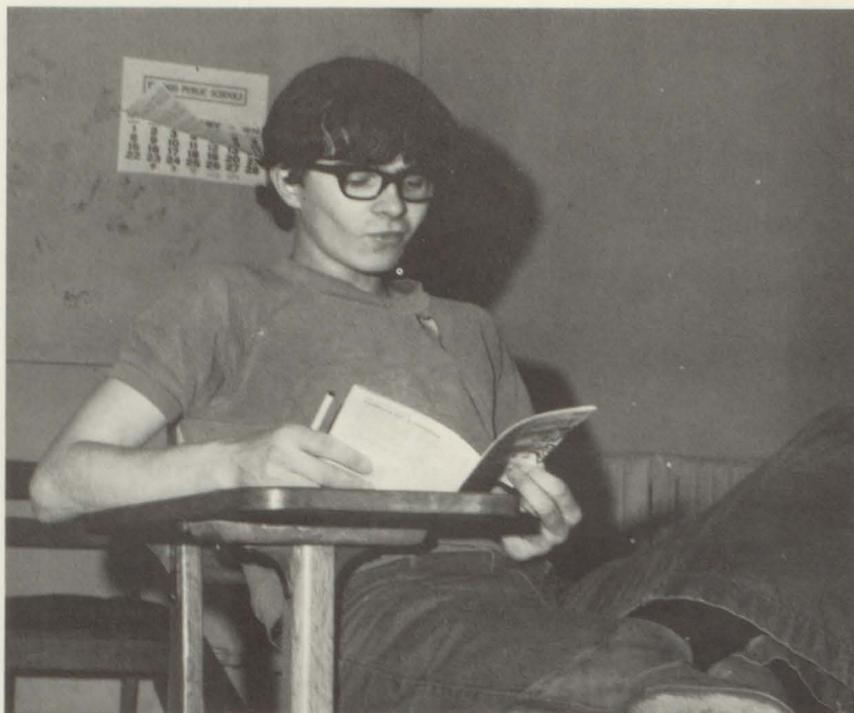

Speech class offers an opportunity for Debbie Miller to express her views.

Social Studies Are Taken in Order

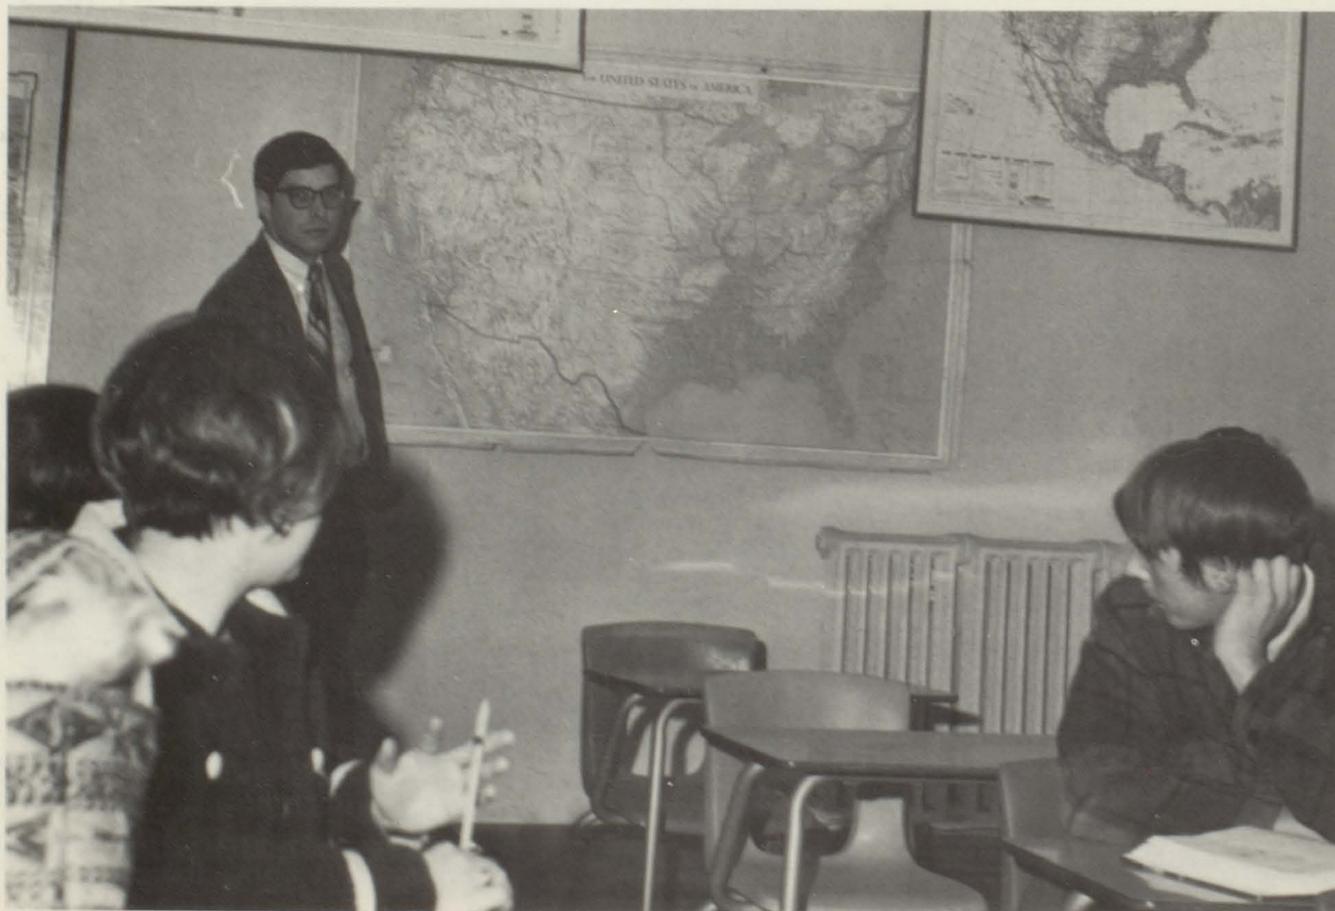

The social studies department offers world history, United States History, geography, psychology, civics, sociology, and economics. In these classes, the students of Willkie High learned of the important movements of mankind.

Politics, law, economic stability, and the development of civilization is studied in the social studies classes. Many heated discussions and debates involving our world and how it is operated made the students aware of the social, economic, and governmental problems in the past and present.

In civics class, Dan Sperry reads the bi-weekly magazine, ISSUES TODAY.

Mr. Hoffman's history class often refers to the colorful wall maps in his room.

To Meet Graduation Requirements

Attractive manors were put on display by Mrs. Merritt's world history class.

There were several innovations for the 1969-70 school year. This year there were some new film strips on the world's greatest religions. For the first time, all juniors were required to write term research papers. The seniors in civics and sociology used TODAY'S ISSUES, a bi-weekly new publication.

New textbooks were adopted for the entire department. Mr. Phillip Brown became head of the department when Mr. Singleton was named assistant principal.

During the year, four university students did their student teaching in the department. Department teachers for the year were: Mr. Brown, Mr. Hiatt, Mr. Hoffman, Mrs. Merritt, Mr. Spear, and Mr. Ward.

In U.S. history class, student teacher Steve Wingrove points out antiquated locations on the globe to Jim Vest.

Industrious Science Scholars Operated,

Willkie High's science department offers classes in general and advanced biology, physical science, physics, and chemistry. To extend one's knowledge in these areas, students participated in labs and experiments, and in field trips, as well as studying from textbooks, reference materials, and workbooks.

They took field trips to Eli Lilly in Indianapolis, Chicago, Ball State University, Copher and Fesler Funeral Home, and the local water and sewage plants.

Pennie Williams and Dave Morgan receive Mr. Smith's approval of their experiment.

The general biology class performed an operation to discover what really makes a worm wiggle.

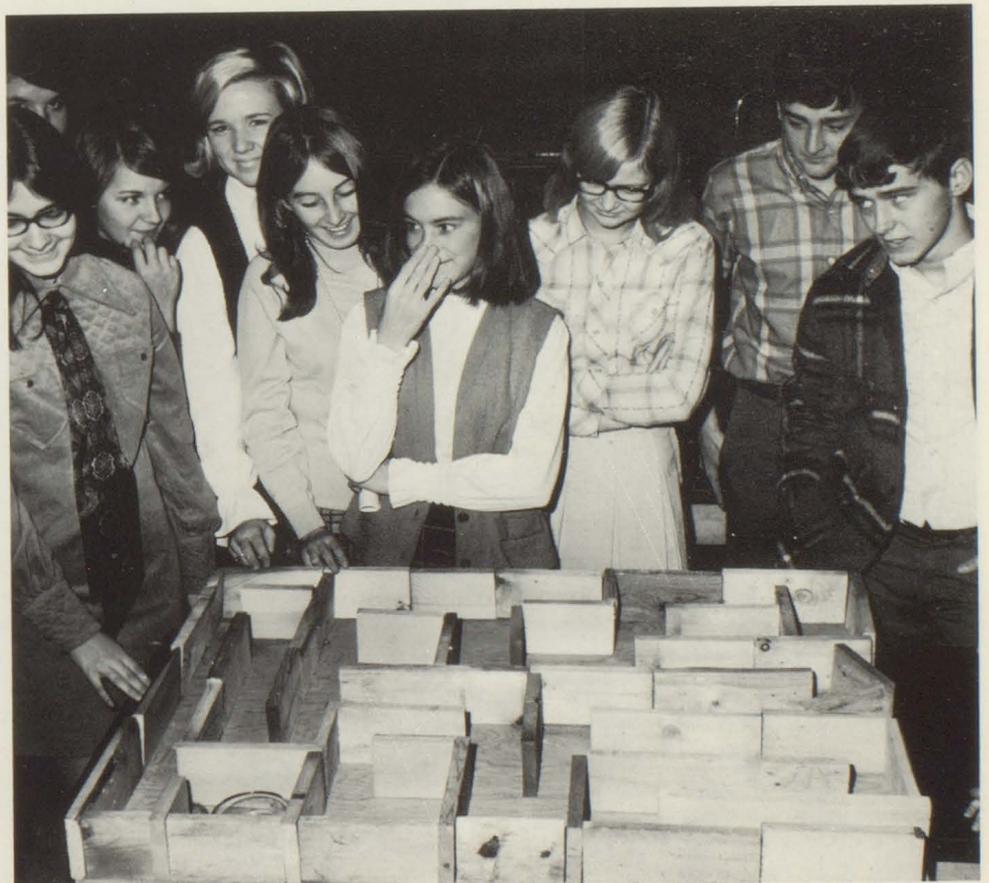

Molded, Titrated, Acquired Knowledge

An explanation by Mark Kelly is given to Rick Coston about the use of scales in measuring powders for individual experiments.

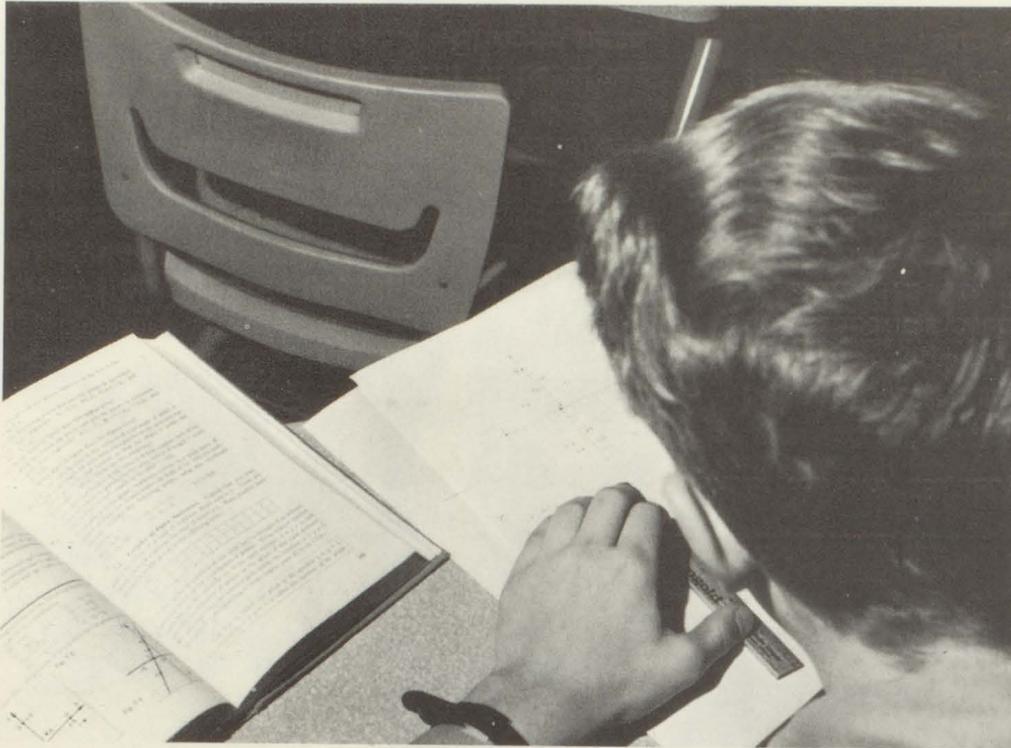

The advanced science classes furnish background material for those who are academically interested, and who plan to further their education and opportunities.

Returning science teachers for this year were Mr. Smith, head of the science department, Mr. Huffman, and Mr. Mitschelen. Mr. Laughman was new in the department.

Biology students are not quite sure about the gerbil running through the maze.

Computations Enlightened Mathematicians

Graphing in algebra class is essential in determining "opening sentences."

Jim King seems awed at the fact that the wooden "egg" held by Anita Baugher is a true geometric figure; Tom Oldag, Kim Shaw, Debbie Hobbs, and Mr. Brown also wonder.

The Math Department here at Willkie High is under the direction of Mr. Donald Brown. Now the people concerned in this department are working on a new project. They are trying to introduce algebra in the eighth grade level. This way, interested students will have an opportunity to acquire more math skills in their high school years.

Many classes, such as beginning algebra, general math, geometry, and advanced algebra are offered to Willkie students. Senior math is offered to those seniors who plan to attend college, and take courses in math or sciences.

The instructors in the math department are: Mr. Brown, Mr. Compton, Mr. Herndon, Mr. Keesling, and Mr. Smith.

They Practiced Health, Learned Reasons

The Willkie physical education department has once again tried to reach its goal of developing a student physically, mentally, and emotionally through organized games and activities.

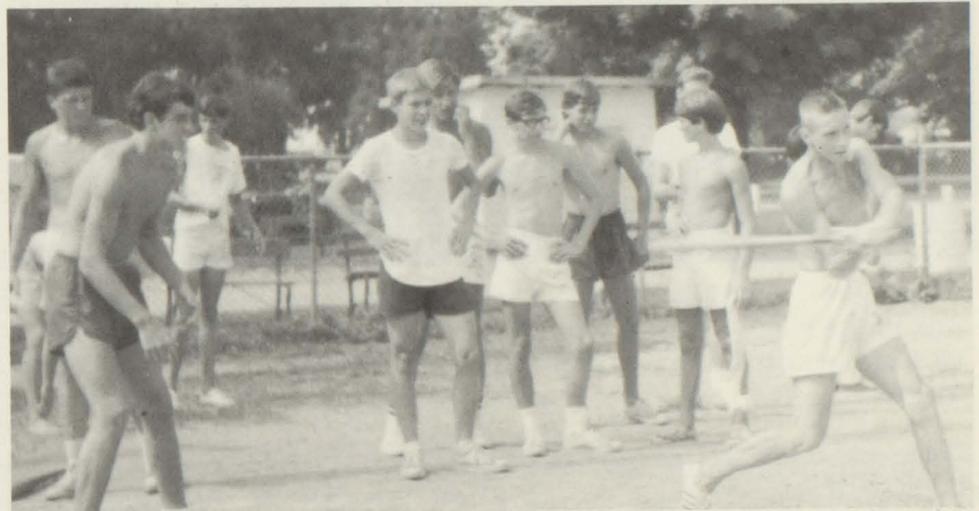

Weather permitting, the P. E. classes went outside to participate in softball, field hockey, archery, and other recreational sports.

The P. E. classes were offered in the summer term of school as well as the regular fall, winter and spring terms.

The instructors for the classes were Mr. Hicks, Mr. Bailey, Mrs. Watson, and Mrs. Merritt.

Boys' physical education classes engage in rousing games of "dodge ball" and the summer-time favorite, softball.

Mrs. Watson proudly poses by the "turned-on" display arranged by the narcotics class.

The narcotics class, under the direction of Mrs. Betty Jo Watson, has proven to be one of the most interesting classes offered in the high school. This class presented an interesting display in the front hall on the most popular drugs now in use.

The teacher is certified through the Indiana Federal Narcotics Bureau of Indianapolis and South Bend. Because of this certification, she has the right to obtain drug displays for classroom use.

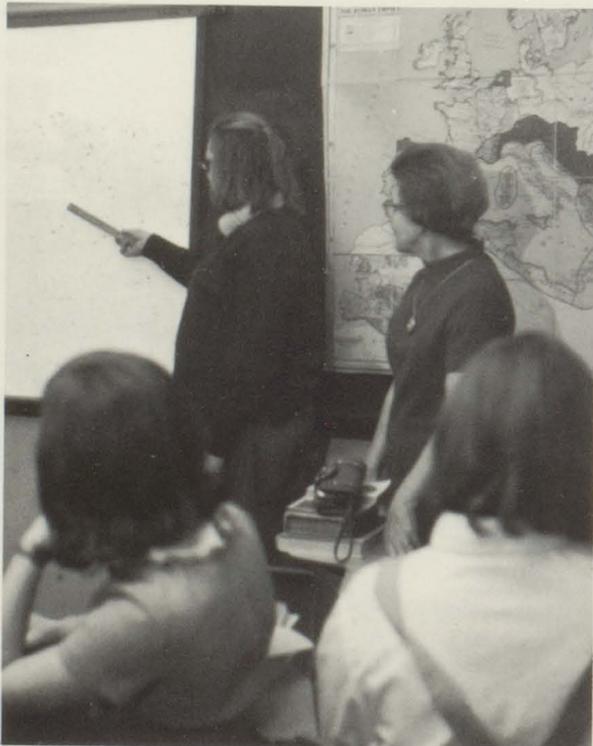

During both terms in which the class was offered, they received filmstrips and pamphlets through the Indiana State Board of Health.

Foreign Language Study Entailed New and

"Grecian Holiday" was the theme chosen for the annual Latin Club initiation.

Slides are shown of the Roman cultures and country-side.

Presenting a play in Latin is not as difficult as one would expect.

Interesting Techniques of Teaching

French class studies their assignment before reviewing with Miss Cole.

In past years the foreign languages were taught differently than they are today. Before, the language was only read and then briefly studied, and a thorough understanding was not achieved.

Since then, new techniques have been introduced to the teaching departments. One of the new techniques presently being used at Willkie is the Audio-Lingual lab. This involves an eight-station tape recorder, used in order that a number of students could learn at the same time. Other teaching facilities included film strips, records, and individual tape recorders which were used so that students could record and hear themselves speak the language.

The goals of the foreign languages were to learn and better understand the country, customs, and cultures, and to appreciate the literature of the particular country studied.

After this was accomplished, the students could better understand their own language.

Margaret Magers and Mike Garner learned the correct pronunciation of words with the help of Mr. Compton and the use of the tape recorder.

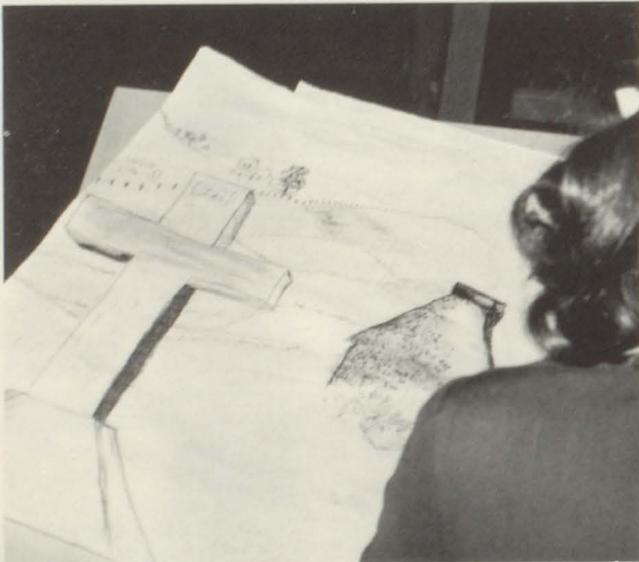

Art and Music Classes Developed Interest

The art classes donated time to create a colorful "Carnival for Richie."

A sketch done by Mary Fettig portrays individualism.

Suddenly the mind is filled with thoughts and ideas for a drawing with expression.

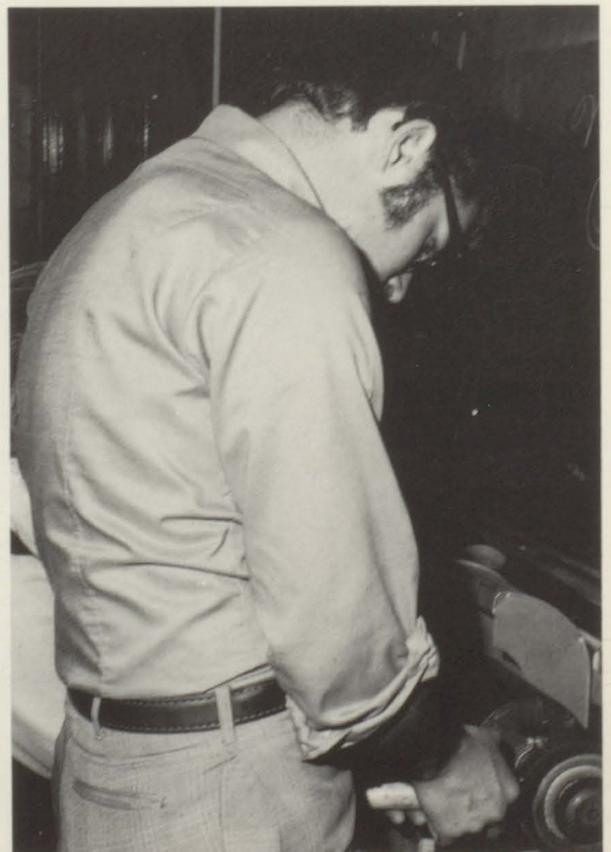

The high school art department offered up to four years of art. Under the direction of Mr. Miller, students were given the opportunity to express themselves and to create.

The purpose of the art classes was to give the student a basic concept of the elements of design. Its goal also was to improve the aesthetic taste of the student. By taking this course, a student was given the chance to come in contact with a contemporary view of today's art.

The art course was not offered with the idea of making everyone who takes it an artist, but with hopes to create an appreciation within the student.

As a contribution to the Richie Plake Memorial Fund, the art students painted the windows of the old Coca-Cola Building, which was to be the site of a carnival given as a means of raising money for the drive.

Bob Rogers displays his talent in designing jewelry in advanced art class.

in Projects To Raise Money for Others

It seems as though everyone has "eyes" for music in choir rehearsal.

The music department was composed of band, choir, and music appreciation. One of the goals of music appreciation class was appreciation of all music: jazz, opera, and symphony. The class was offered for all students who enjoy music and wish to know more about it.

The choir received a new catalogue of music which included religious, patriotic, and pop songs as well as great numbers from Broadway hits.

Drum major, Bob Goodnight leads parade.

The choir and the music appreciation classes were under the direction of Mr. Clifford Brugger.

The band presented colorful half-time shows at both football and basketball home games. The large group accompanied the cheerleaders in leading the students at pep sessions.

Band director, Mr. David Nash, was assisted in instructing the band class by band captain, Kris Knauer.

Lorrie Welcher practices before Homecoming performance.

Emphasis is on "practice makes perfect" in the bandroom during sixth period class.

Profitable Business Opportunities Await

The liquid duplicator is a snap for business student, Anna McPhearson.

Always alert, Miss Clayton keeps an eye on students who are in need of assistance.

Young, Experienced Business Students

Learning to gain speed and accuracy are personal typing students, Mark Gerth and Gay Garrison.

Education in this country is on the threshold of a great new era marked by swift and urgent changes.

Change is the keynote of education today, and the Business Education Department of Wendell L. Willkie High School is keeping up with the pace of the changing demands of society.

The business course offerings at Willkie High have expanded in the past few years to include not only the traditional offering, but also pre-vocational training in the Data Processing, Distributive Education, Stenographic Training, and General Clerical Training.

Offered at the high school are typing and personal typing, shorthand, general business, business law, business math, bookkeeping, and record-keeping.

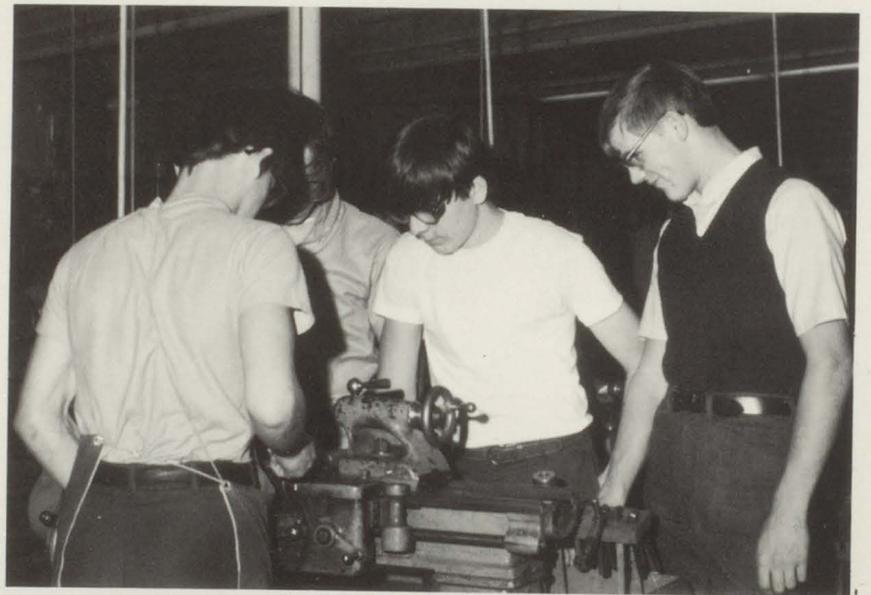

Shorthand students will profit from fast note-taking.

Industrial Arts Classes Outline

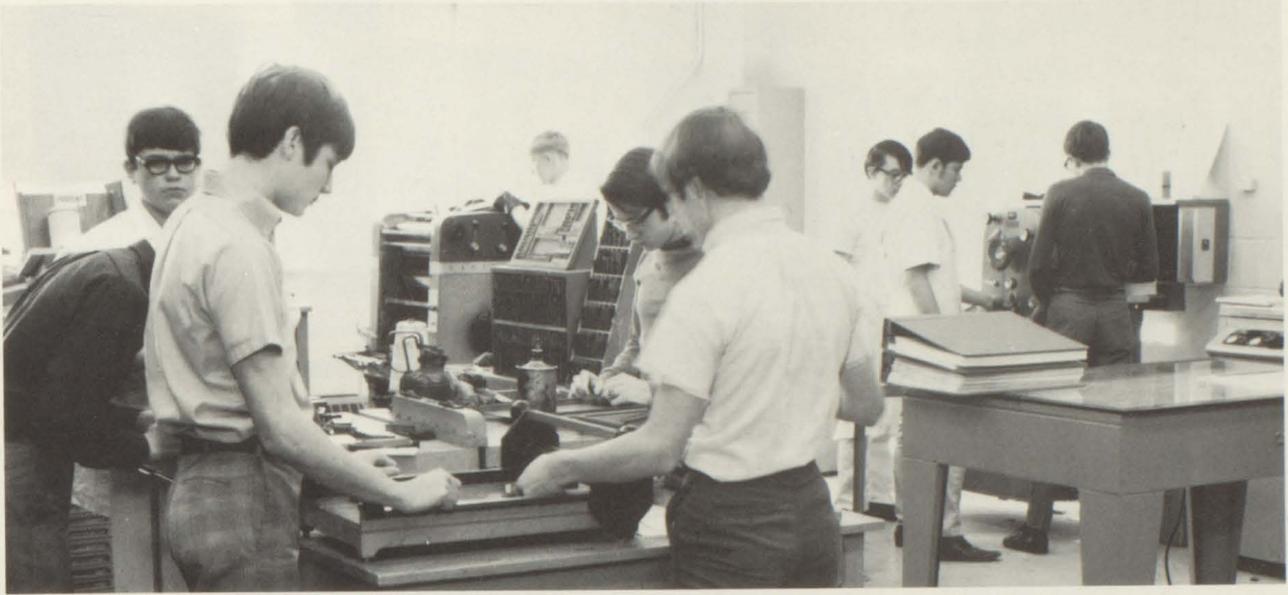

Beginning Woods class helps Thad Wright and Henry Martinez get acquainted with the different types of graining.

Working with a small model lathe are Ralph Knopp, Zane Gardner, Kenny Slatyon, and Gary Harting.

Tim Ross and Norman Alexander learn to operate a large scale lathe.

Vocational Arts and Pre-Vocational Fields

Printing class in the new vocational school proves to be quite a challenge.

Now that we have built our long awaited vocational education building, industrial arts is one of the departments which holds classes in both buildings.

The industrial arts classes include drafting, welding, woods, machine shop, and home mechanics and repairs. These are geared toward skill areas, and teach the fundamentals necessary for entering into vocational areas. Since most of the classes are for beginning industrial art students, they are composed mostly of freshmen and sophomores. The classes are conducted by Mr. Watson, Mr. Selkow, Mr. Rayschick, and Mr. Waterman. The intensified training in this department is scheduled at the Mid-Central Vocational Building.

Adult classes in drafting aid in learning the new techniques.

Fundamentals in mechanical drawing are discussed by Joe Williams and Bruce Wisler.

The Mid-Central Area Vocational School adds educational opportunities for youth and adults. Many display cases add to the beauty of the school.

The bus, a much-used facility, provides transportation between the two buildings.

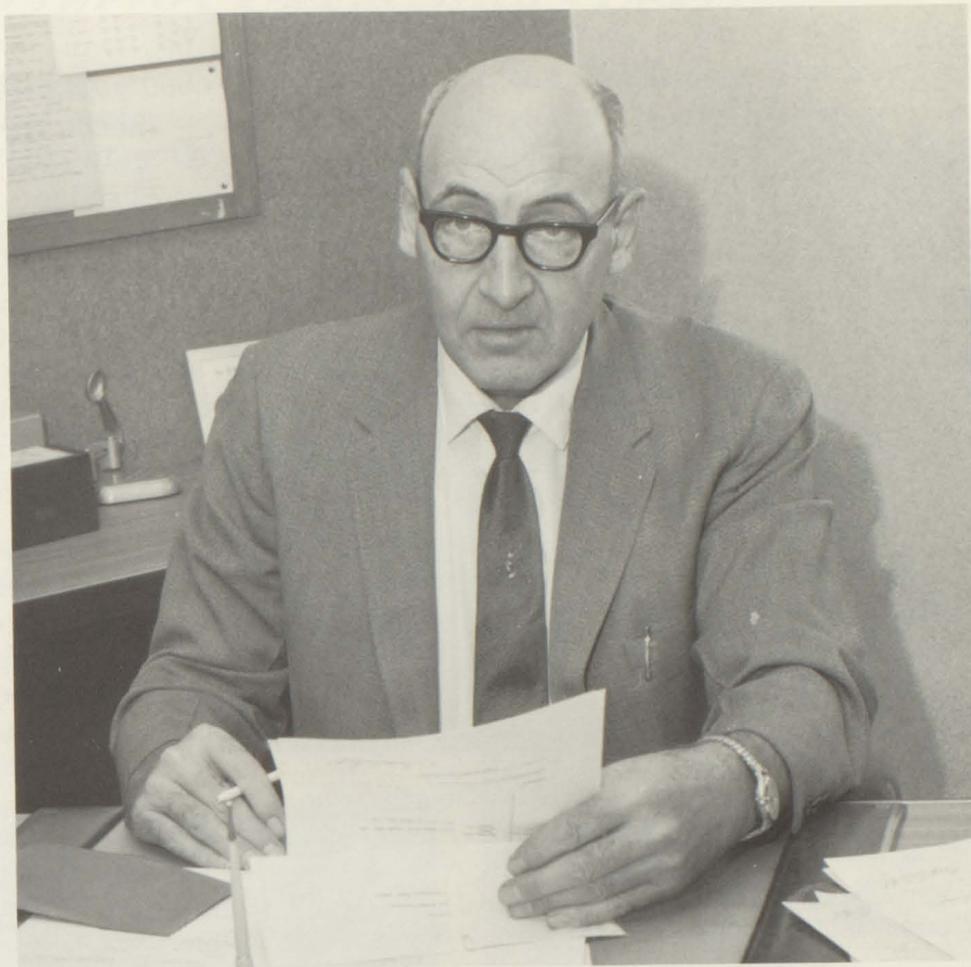

In 1967, plans for the Mid-Central Area Vocational School were drawn up. In the second semester of the 1968-69 school term, classes began. Now in 1970 the vocational classes are in full swing.

Dedication of the building was formally held on Sunday, November 16, 1969.

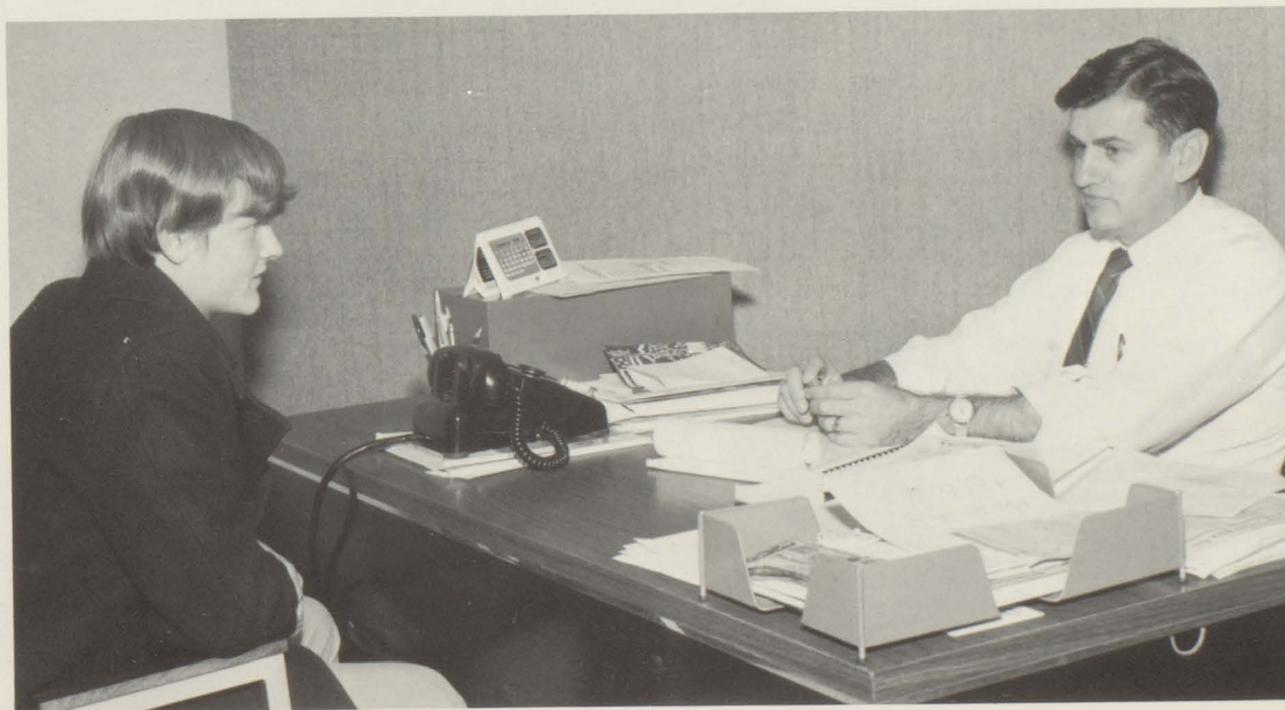

Classes offered to the students are of one to three hours in duration. Also, summer school classes are held in the air-conditioned vocational building, and during the regular school term, evening classes are held for adults.

The vocational school is open to interested people in Elwood, as well as the surrounding area.

As director of the vocational school, Mr. Kintzel contributes many hours in planning in order to provide vocational curricula.

Mr. Baker confers with alumnus Steve Miller about the solution to everyday vocational problems.

V.B.T. and V.E. Provided Background

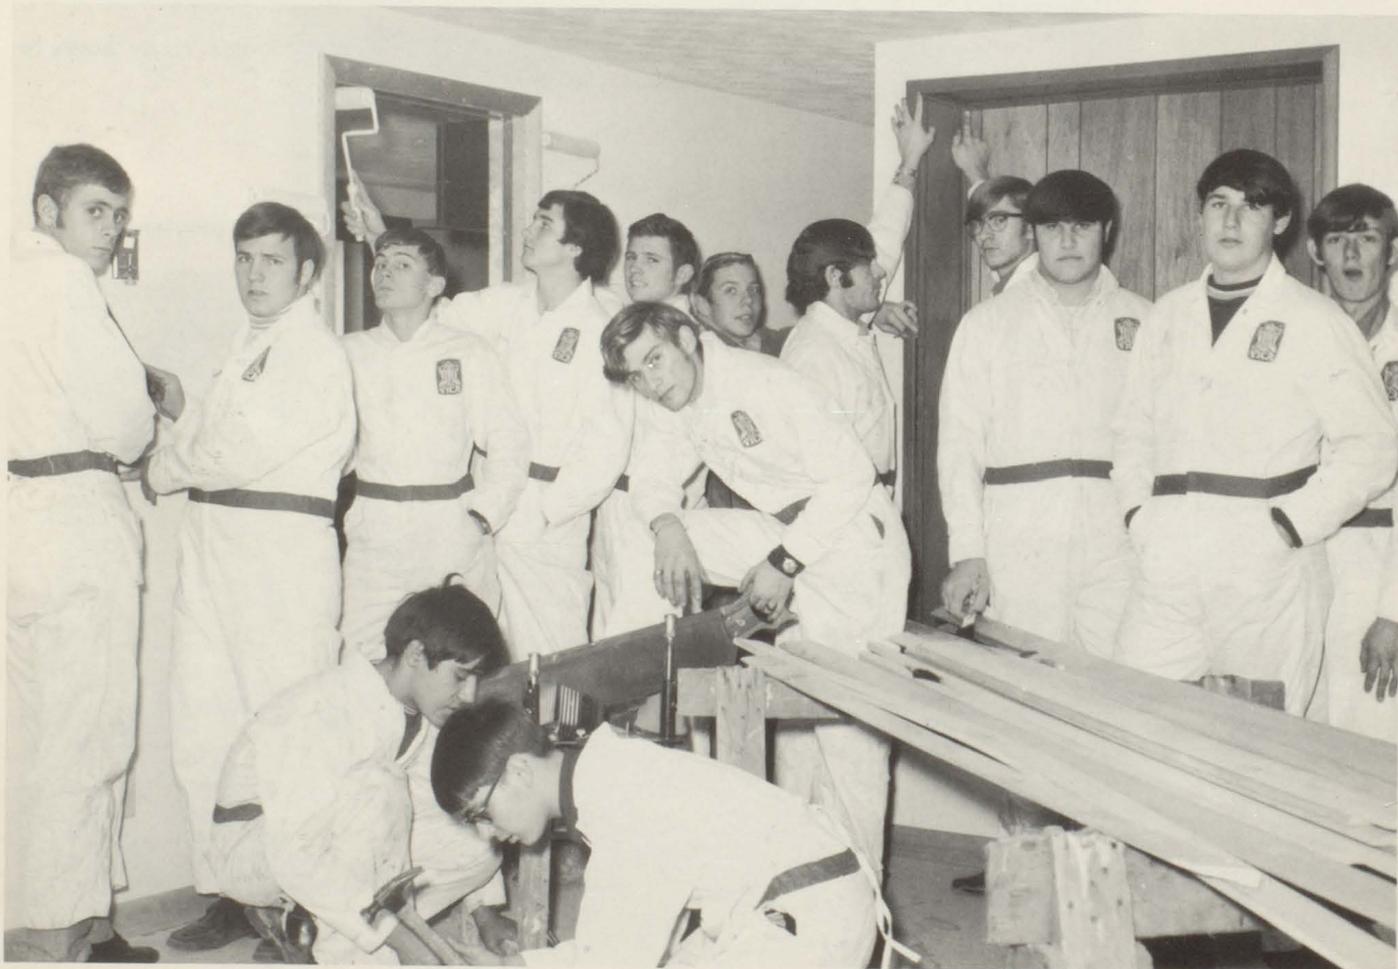

This 3-bedroom home, on North 13th Street is to be completed by the summer of 1970.

One of the ways of meeting the needs of more students is the course, Vocational Building Trades. The course is offered as pre-apprentice type training. Objectives and methods may differ from other high school classes, but the end result remains the same, that is, preparing the student to take his place as an educated, productive citizen in our contemporary, democratic society.

It has long been known that learning takes place more readily, and is more permanent when there is a strong motivation for learning. It has been well established that we learn by doing and that the greater number of senses that are involved in learning, the more permanent learning becomes.

V.B.T. Class: STANDING: B. Thornberry, M. Carpenter, J. Cook, R. Day, K. Beeman, D. Jones, J. Alexander, T. Cannon, D. Beeman, J. Parish, R. Moss, J. Scholl. KNEELING: J. Teachnor, D. Sizelove.

and Experience for Future Employment

Good vocational courses utilize methods involving hearing, seeing, and performing the skills of an occupation correctly under close supervision.

The V.B.T. program gives students an opportunity to learn skills in many of the construction trades, such as carpentry, masonry, plumbing, and plastering, along with other special trades. Most of the students who go through the building trades program enter into one of the construction trades or a related occupation.

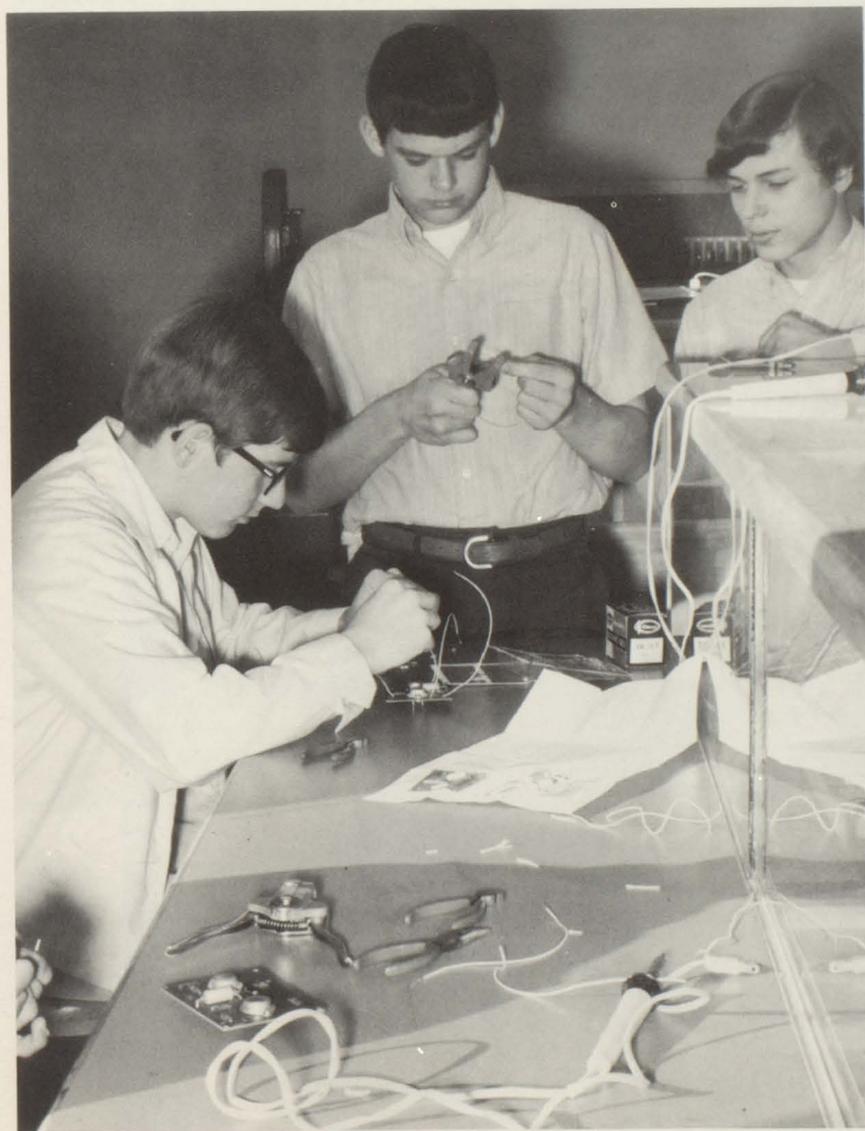

To give the student practical experience in the electronics trade is the main purpose of the Vocational Electronics course.

Trouble-shooting procedures and the use of test equipment are stressed. The students build, test, and maintain many types of electronic circuits, including amplifiers, radios, and televisions.

The Vocational Electronics course is taught by Mr. Hawkins. This year, many new pieces of equipment were added to fulfill better the need of each student.

Intercoms prove to be intricate work for V.E. students Tony Henn, Jeff McElfresh, and Greg Conwell.

Working with oscilloscopes and 3-way receivers are Rick Metz and Gary Fettig.

Machine Shop and Auto Mechanics Give

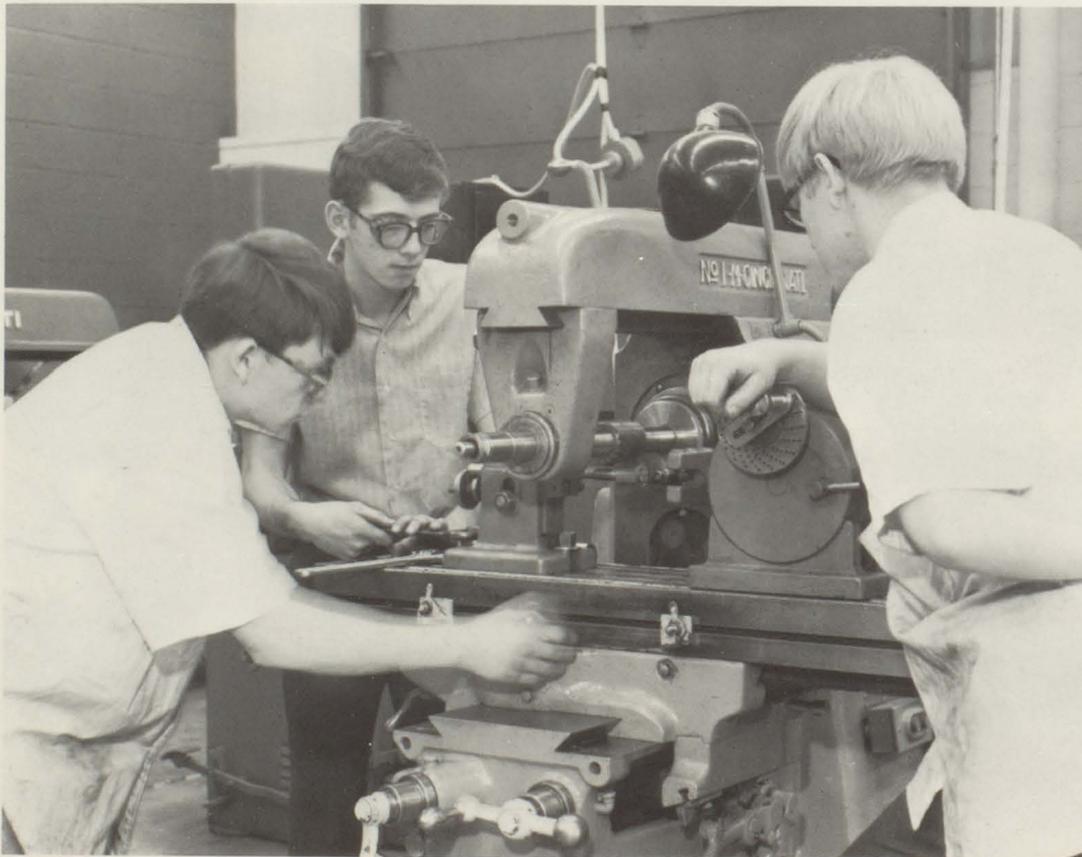

Mike Skillman works with agility and exactness to produce precise details.

The Mid-Central Area Vocational School's Machine Shop helped students discover their real potential in the machine trades area. Elwood's shop, one of the finest in the state, gave the junior and senior boys an opportunity to learn the skills necessary for machine trades entry.

The three-hour course, featuring such new innovations as numerical control and electro-discharge machining, also taught the students the leadership qualities needed for the future. Mr. Rayshick is the instructor of the course.

Through V.I.C.A., the boys not only learn the trade, but also had lessons on being a good citizen.

Planing a surface with a horizontal mill is Mike Waymire, John Shepard, and Carl Horn.

Apprentice-Type Training for Future Jobs

Vocational Auto Mechanics is a two-year course offered to juniors and seniors. It is designed to show what a career in the auto mechanics world is like, so that a student could make a decision as to his future, or as a background in mechanics for those who have already decided on this as a profession. It is a vocationally oriented half-day course which not only teaches how to service an automotive engine, but also where trouble begins.

V. I. C. A. has 17 members in the class. The officers of this organization are: Carl Watters--president; Joe Townsend--vice-president; Gary Rominger--secretary; and Claren Johns--treasurer.

The club's activities for the next year will include the Plymouth Trouble Shooting contest and another shooting contest.

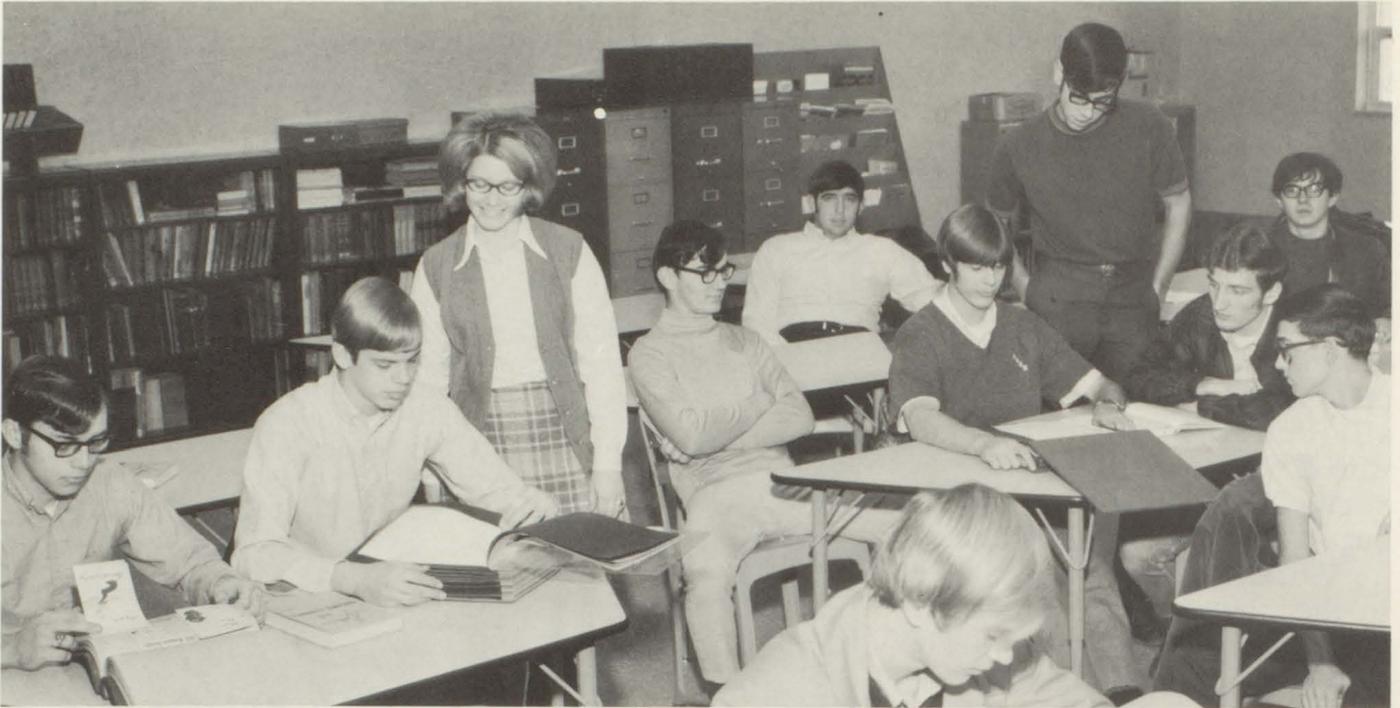

Greasing an axle is an important step in the maintenance of the car belonging to Carl Watters.

Assisting with the disassembling of a car, Claren Johns and Joe Townsend give a fellow mechanic moral support.

41 Juniors and Seniors Faced Responsibility

A review of scrapbooks from past years helps ICT students set their own goals for the future.

Industrial Cooperative Training class paved the way for careers for many Willkie students. Knowledge was gained through valuable work experience obtained at places of employment throughout the Elwood area. This was made possible through the cooperation and effort on the part of faculty sponsor, Mr. Everidge, of students interested in learning, and of the people in business and industry.

The class studied consumer economics, learned the proper way of filling out tax forms, and read and discussed many topics which arose in the daily performance of one's job and responsibilities.

State requirements for the vocational program involved work permits, amount of time employed during school hours, type and responsibilities of work, and inspection of the place of employment by a state official.

To be eligible for the program, a student must be sixteen years of age, a junior or senior with the desire to work, learn, face responsibilities, and have a good character standing.

ICT Officers: President--Emma Warfel, Vice-President--Randy Beeman, Secretary--Sandy Fakes, Treasurer--Randy Murdock, and Parliamentarian--Kerry Showers.

Kerry Showers, an ICT student, cuts meat at Joe's Stop & Shop.

and New Experiences in De and ICT

Distributive Education is in its third year at Willkie. The program provided an opportunity for local merchants to provide an on-the-job training for students. Senior students attended classes for three hours a day and worked at least fifteen hours a week. The program was taught and coordinated by Mrs. Karen Leonard.

The program was set up to encourage careers in all areas of marketing and distribution, advertising, public relations, and selling.

DECA is a co-curricular club working with the educational program.

This year's club conducted a community survey, participated in regional contests, state and national conventions, and held a ceremony for installation of officers. Such fund-raising projects as the Carmel apple sales, rent-a-Santa Claus, and calendar towels, provided money for the employer-employee banquet. The club also worked at a Richie Plake carnival booth for the fund drive.

Members of this class strove to become the business leaders and merchants of the future.

DE Officers: President--Dave Vinson, Vice-President--Randy Hinshaw, Secretary--Marlene Reigel, Treasurer--Rick Bombolt, Parliamentarian--John Sattler, Reporter--Jill Benedict and Assistant--Bruce Parker, Historian--Dave Perkins and Assistant--Jeff Brown.

Ron Romig arranges display at Hook's.

The Distributive Education class enjoys listening to a discussion led by their teacher and club sponsor, Mrs. Karen Leonard.

Data Processing and Vocational Stenographic

Data Processing was offered for the first time this year. Whether gainfully employed in the field, looking toward similar employment, or simply as a part of the world so vitally influenced by it, a basic understanding of Data Processing is essential for effective communication.

Mrs. Kintzel, instructor, taught the three-hour course to high school students and post graduates. Students received training in the operation of all unit-record equipment, and in computer languages. Next year students will also receive "hands-on" training on a computer, as plans are being made for leasing a computer for the coming year.

All members of the Data Processing class belong to the Office Education Association, a co-curricular vocational business club. Officers of the D.P.-O.E.A. club are: Connie Durm--president; Pat Rice--vice-president, Patricia Hicks--secretary; Rosann Sutton--treasurer; Kathy Stafford--reporter-historian; and Nicci Jack--parliamentarian.

The club members sold candy and stationery to raise money for attending the state and national O.E.A. conferences and for their annual banquet. Formal initiation and installation of officers and members was held in November. The club made several fieldtrips to the IBM center and visited the Data Processing Center at Guide Lamp.

Perfecting their talents on the key punch machine are Nicci Jack and Kathy Satfford.

The Data Processing class watches as a fellow student operates the machine.

Training Teach Fundamentals of Office

This display case shows the awards won at the state and national O.E.A. contests for the last two years. It includes a large plaque on the right which was won by Jackie Gardner in 1968, when she took top honors in the state as Miss OEA, and first place winner at the national level.

The Vocational Stenographic course is a three-hour course for senior students interested in becoming stenographers. The students become one of the people in a simulated office situation with facilities of an office. Many of the projects are actual office work sent by local firms. Members of this class are also members of O.E.A.

O.E.A. is a co-curricular club to stimulate interest, and to enhance the desirable characteristics of the secretary. Money-making projects for the year were used for the annual banquet, and for entrance and expenses for O.E.A. participants.

V.C.T. and Jr. V.S.T., V.C.T. Yield

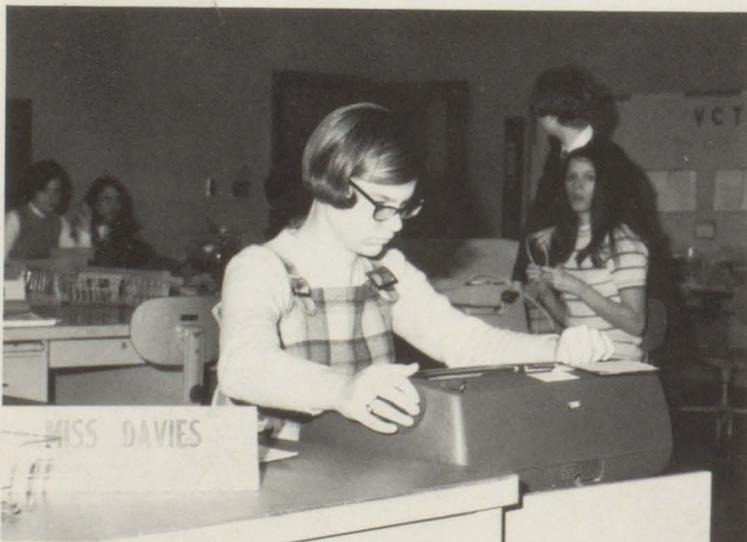

Mike Hirsch demonstrates the use of a particular adding machine in V.C.T. class.

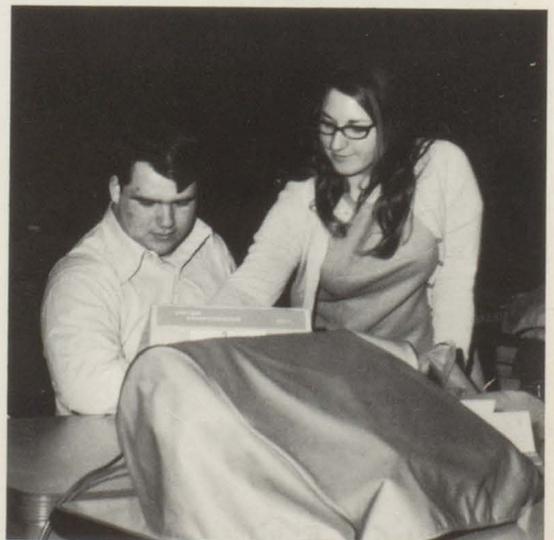

The difference between V.C.T. and V.S.T. is that shorthand is not required. The class is actually designed as an office. When students enter the classroom, they punch a time clock, and at the end of the week they receive paychecks with deductions. Every two weeks, these students rotate positions, such as office manager in charge of the laboratory, assistant office manager in charge of production of letters, supply clerk who takes care of supplies for class and makes the inventory, and receptionist-secretary who greets visitors to the class and types personal material for the instructor.

These students meet three hours per day, and participate many times at work stations. They are also members of O.E.A., which is a co-curricular club. The class sold poly-foot animals, and had a car wash as their money-making projects. This money was used for field trips to Bell Telephone and Guide Lamp in Anderson, entrance fees for state contests and a banquet at the end of the year.

Before typing on an electric typewriter, Karen Davies centers the paper.

Experience in Actual Job Situations

Junior V.S.T. is a two-hour course for junior students who plan to enroll in senior V.S.T. It provides beginning shorthand, advanced typing, and orientation to office machines, filing, and office procedures. Students are required to take bookkeeping during the year, beginning typing, and it is recommended that General Business is also taken. The members of this class also are members of O.E.A. and can enter in state competition. A money-making project was selling hot chocolate, at some football games.

The junior V.C.T. class is a two-hour program for juniors, and gives a chance to participate in an office atmosphere.

Students receive special instruction on typing, office machines, and office practices.

"Accurate job finishes are mandatory," commented Bruce Heflin.

V.S.T. students are kept busy with routine daily assignments.

Following her shorthand notes closely, Paulette Clouser checks for grammatical errors.

Home Economics Classes Prove To Be of

Checking to see if the beans are done, Roger York receives moral support from Judy Horseman and Yvonne Anderson.

Home Economics is a fresh substitute from a regular academic class in that it gives practical lessons for a future life in the home. Our home economics classes here at Wilkie are shared by both boys and girls.

Beginning clothing is a class in which the various fabrics are studied and how they fit into a particular dress style. The basic dressmaking skills are put to use on a pattern of the girl's choosing. Advanced clothing dwells on the more professional method of dressmaking and tailoring. These girls finish the class with a tailored suit or spring coat.

While discussing past furniture styles, the interior decorating class set up an antique display in the showcase. Room arrangement and color co-ordination were required to be shown in a miniature house. The curtains for the clothing room were made by the interior decorating class to demonstrate how draperies are measured, cut, and hung.

actual practice this past year by visiting the Edgewood kindergarten class, and by offering free babysitting for morning Christmas shoppers.

Advanced food classes are taught the finer arts of cooking. One six-weeks of home nursing is included in this class. Patient care and special diet plans are planned here. The vocational foods service class is now in its second year. This morning class prepares lunch for vocational students and teachers. Institutional style cooking is learned, and practice is gained by working in a related job during the second semester.

The senior boys have a special foods class just for them. Their lessons include measuring techniques and simple food preparations.

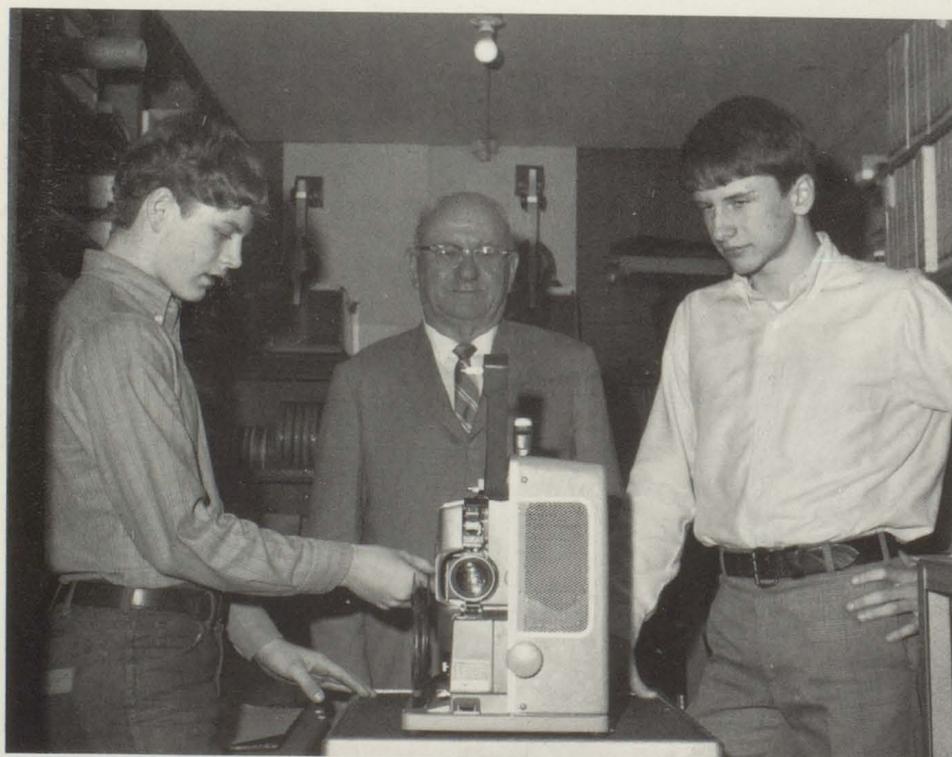

In beginning clothing class, Mrs. Schwear assists Patty Hankley, Theresa Burton, and Jenny Poynter in matching plaids when cutting a skirt.

Assisting the children with "Musical Chairs" in Child Care class is Carrie Jackson, Pam Silvey, and Debbie Hobbs.

of Many Created the 1970 Crescent

In May of 1970, volume 54 of the Elwood High School Yearbook, the Crescent, was distributed. Creative construction, eye-catching copy, and snappy headlines were added as new dimensions to the work.

Co-editors Nancy Coffin and Emma Warfel, worked many hours to make the yearbook a success. Mrs. Hilda Chapman, the yearbook advisor, worked equally hard and assisted the editors throughout the year. However, one must not forget the advertising, circulation, photography, and copy committees, for they worked diligently, also. New ideas were put forth in all divisions of the annual to make it more enjoyable for the present time, and in future years.

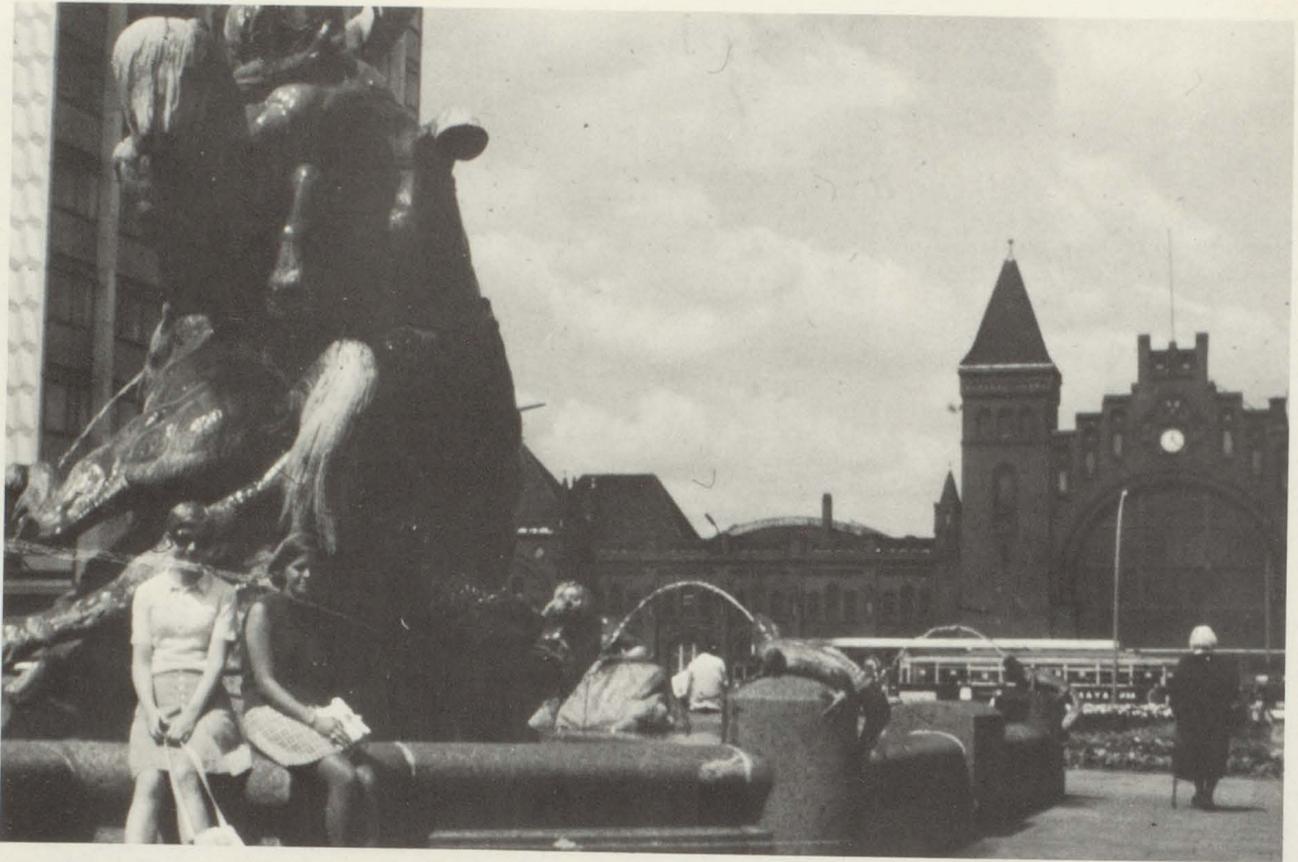

Crescent co-editors, Nancy Coffin and Emma Warfel, employed many hours of work to meet the deadlines for the publication of the Crescent.

Abroad; Student Council Upheld School Ideals

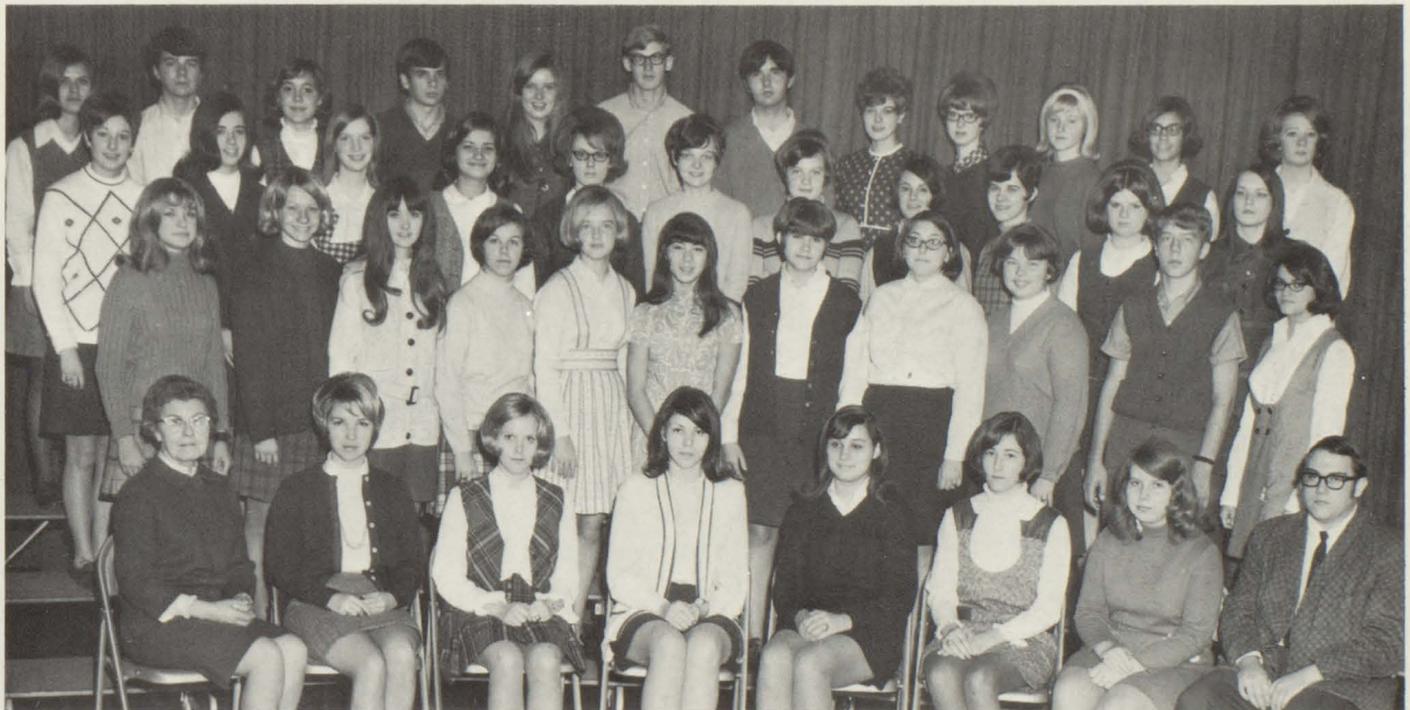

"Let's settle down!" and "Order, order!" were the familiar chants of the Student Council president, Dave Tatum. The Student Council sponsored the 1969 Homecoming Dance held in September. The band providing the music for the evening was the Split Six.

The main objectives of the Student Council are to represent the student body and their interests. Also the student government is to uphold the rules of the school constitution.

The Foreign Exchange Club originated as a committee in Student Council. This year the club decided to become a separate organization, and is now fully organized. The purpose of the Club is to sponsor students to visit our country and to send our students abroad. The Foreign Exchange Club sponsored a student from Chile, Gloria Elena San Miguel Lopez, who lived with the Rev. Jack King family from January to June.

Many long hours of hard work and tears went into the annual State Fair Show. After the strenuous efforts of the band, they placed 38th at the State Fair Band Day contest. The band participated in the Ball State Band Day and two Veteran's Day parades. The band also presented their annual Christmas Concert, Variety Show, and participated in the Solo and Ensemble contest at Ball State University.

The Band sponsored various money-making projects including a ham and beans supper and candy sale. The money will be used to purchase new uniforms and equipment.

The Music Department of Willkie High was very proud of their three small vocal groups composed of the students from band and choir.

The groups were the Kaleidoscopes, Male Quintet, and the newest group, the Counterpoints.

Along with the Willkie Choir and the Swing Choir, the small vocal groups contributed their musical abilities to the varied school functions. Among these were Variety Show, Spring Sing, and the "Sing Out For Our Servicemen."

"Sing Out for Our Servicemen" Tribute

The Willkie High School Choir was composed of 42 students who enjoyed singing and had a love for music.

The choir, under the direction of Clifford S. Brugger, performed in the annual "Sing Out For Our Servicemen." The proceeds from this went to finance gifts sent to servicemen from the Elwood area serving in Viet Nam.

They helped to set the mood for school convocations by their participation.

The choir, as it is today, was organized in 1955. Since then, it has been on the entertainment scene at Willkie High School.

Dramatists chose one-act plays from wide selection for public performance.

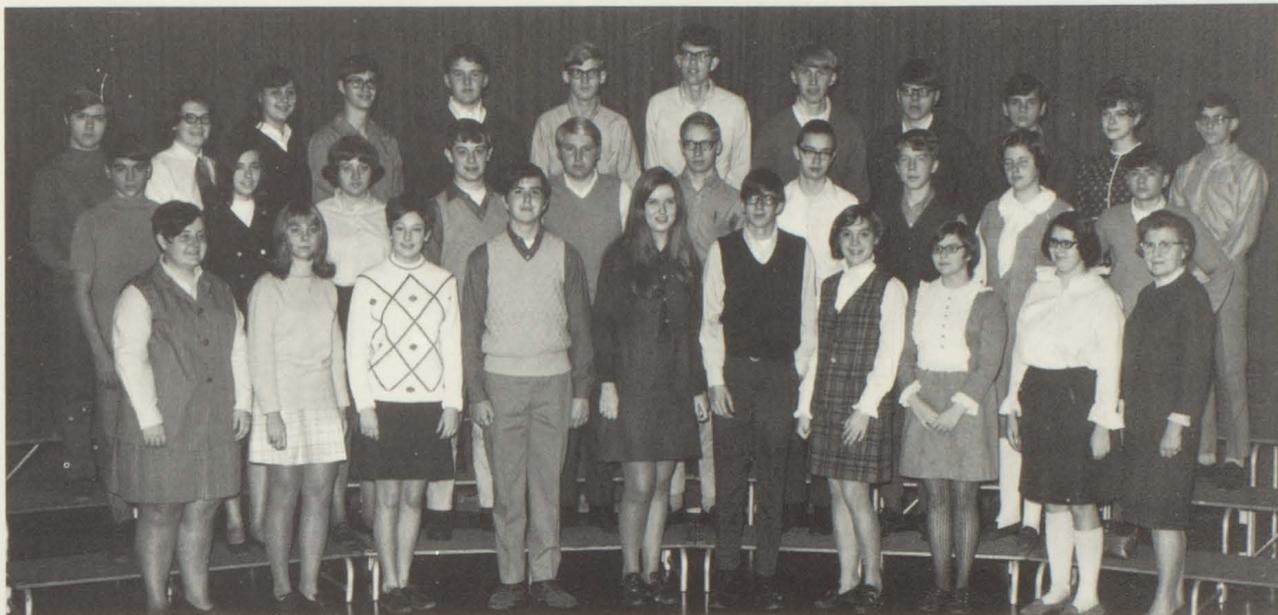

This year the Thespians troupe began an array of activities with an auditioning for new members. Those trying out were to demonstrate poise, confidence, good speech patterns, and general interpretation of a character while reading a part in a play. Twenty new members were taken in, bringing the total back up to a limited number of sixty.

Soon after, the troupe held a "Work Day" to raise money for the "Richie Plake Memorial Fund." A goodly sum was made. The club also donated to the "Dollars for Scholars."

The annual "Snow Ball Dance" was held Dec. 18, with the Boss Tweeds being featured. Candidates for "Snow Ball Queen" were Christie Hood, Carolyn Updike, Jerita Carroll, and Connie Parker.

A set of competitive one-act plays was presented. A three-act production was later presented. Several field trips were also taken by the group.

Under the direction of faculty sponsor, Mrs. Sharp, the Willkie Latin Club, Inter Nos, meaning "among ourselves," had 33 members.

Since 1945 when the club was organized, the members have tried to promote a more thorough knowledge of Roman life, history, and literature and to interest others in the study of Latin.

Under the guidance of the two consuls, Jeff Leathers and Pete Wingrove, a chariot was built and used as a float in the Homecoming parade. Students in Roman costume rode in the chariot with two slaves walking along each side. An interesting trip was taken to the state Junior Classical League Convention held at Ball State on April 4, with Elwood being represented by two voting delegates.

A party was held in the spring to invest new members, with the participants in full Roman costume.

Learning about France--the country, its people, and customs--was the main objective for the twenty-five members of the French Club.

To be eligible for membership in the club, students must have completed one full semester of the French language.

The Latin Club worked with the French Club on the production of two one-act plays. One dramatization which they worked together in presenting was titled "Triple Trouble." On December 10th and 11th, the full length film, "Wait Until Dark," was shown, open to the public, in the auditorium.

In the fall, the club donated $30 to the Richie Plake Memorial Fund. A money-making project was scheduled to rebuild the treasury, with any profit over the sum donated, given to the Memorial Fund.

The French Club was joined by the Latin and Spanish Clubs for the yearly caroling and Christmas party.

Christmas Carolling Party with Latin Club

The Spanish Club this year gave its members an opportunity to further their Spanish education in a more informal atmosphere.

Meetings of the Club were held once per month. To be eligible for membership a student must have had at least one semester of Spanish.

For some of the meetings films were shown on various Spanish countries. The Club was also entertained by speakers who have traveled or lived in Spanish countries or who are Spanish in origin.

Among the many projects undertaken by the Club was the making of a Christmas pinata portraying a jolly old Santa Claus. This was for the caroling party held for all of the foreign language clubs of Willkie.

The re-organized Science Club, under the sponsorship of Mr. Huffman, boasted a membership of approximately forty-five. The purpose of the club, which is open to any student interested in science, is to learn more about the many aspects and phases of science.

Five science students attended the Ball State University Workshop on November 15, 1969, where they learned the problems involved and answers to questions about projects entered in the Science Fair, which was held in April. A total of ten Science Club members attended the Chicago University Open House on November 8, 1969. While there, they observed lunar samples, an electron microscope, a cyclotron, and many other valuable pieces of scientific apparatus.

The Science Club traveled to Anderson College to hear a bio-physicist speak, and to the Ball State Science Building. Local field trips were of much interest to the students also.

The Science Club planned a short scientific demonstration which was given at the grade schools.

The aims of the Mathematics Club were to promote an interest in mathematics and to explore the many possibilities of math careers. To be eligible for membership, a student must have completed a math course with a minimum grade average. A student can join the organization when he is a sophomore. Annual dues are $1.

Since the Math Club has been active only a few years, a complete revision was made of the organization's constitution. Faculty sponsor, Mr. Herndon, and the officers planned entertaining programs for the meetings. Mr. Charles Mayfield, a representative of the Elwood Federal Savings and Loan, discussed possibilities of math in computer programming. Mr. Larry Mercer, a former Willkie math teacher, was a guest speaker demonstrating scale model geometric figures. Other guest speakers included a real estate agent and an engineer.

There were 19 members in the club this year. The requirements for membership into the club were to have com-

In 1966, the F.B.L.A. was granted their state charter. This year, the F.B.L.A. participated in activities to make its purpose worthwhile to the students.

Another vocational club here at Willkie is the Future Homemakers of America. Although it is referred to as a vocational club, the sole requirement for membership is to have taken one semester of home economics in junior or senior high. This national organization is open to boys and girls alike.

The basic program of work is to help individuals improve personal, family, and community living. Major national projects for the next three-year period are classified into two different objectives. The first of these two is to strengthen bonds within the family and between the family and community. Objective number two is to help youth comprehend the problems of society and work toward their solutions.

Now being in its third year at our school, this active chapter finds the roll call increasing with each membership drive. The concern of every member and his future home is the concern of the club.

The objective of the Future Teachers is to help students have a better understanding of the life and work of a teacher. These students receive information about various teaching areas and about teaching techniques.

This year, the F.T.A. sold Homecoming mums, sponsored a "Red Apple Day" for the teachers, attended the state convention, and participated in actual classroom situations. In its seven years at Willkie, the F.T.A. has aided many students toward their goal of a teaching career. The sponsors of the F.T.A. for this year were: Mrs. Barr, Mrs. Merritt, Mr. Baker, Mr. Hiatt, and Mr. Rayshick.

School News Supplied by Journalism Staff

"Remember, deadline date is only one week away!" "Ken, be sure to take that picture of the 'Student of the Week'!" These familiar words were spoken before deadlines for the Willkie Hi World and Megaphone deadlines, by Mrs. Nina Hiatt, sponsor and teacher of the journalism class.

This year the journalism staff had a membership of 25 members. The editor of the staff of writers for the Megaphone was senior Mark Gerth.

Willkie Hi World, the weekly school news supplement, appeared each Thursday in the local newspaper, the Elwood Call-Leader, and school news broadcasts were made daily by a journalism staff member on the WBMP radio station.

The purpose of this class was to present the student body, as well as the faculty, with the current news topics of the school.

Staff members hurried down the hall to distribute Megaphones, while others checked to see whether their articles were printed.

This organization was originally started by Mr. Ward when he first came to Elwood. Its purpose is to promote good citizenship and school morale, and to uphold all school-sponsored sports and athletic programs. Any individual who receives a varsity award in any sport is eligible for membership.

Our E-Men's Club is noted for providing the varsity football and basketball games with programs, and for selling concessions at underclass ball games.

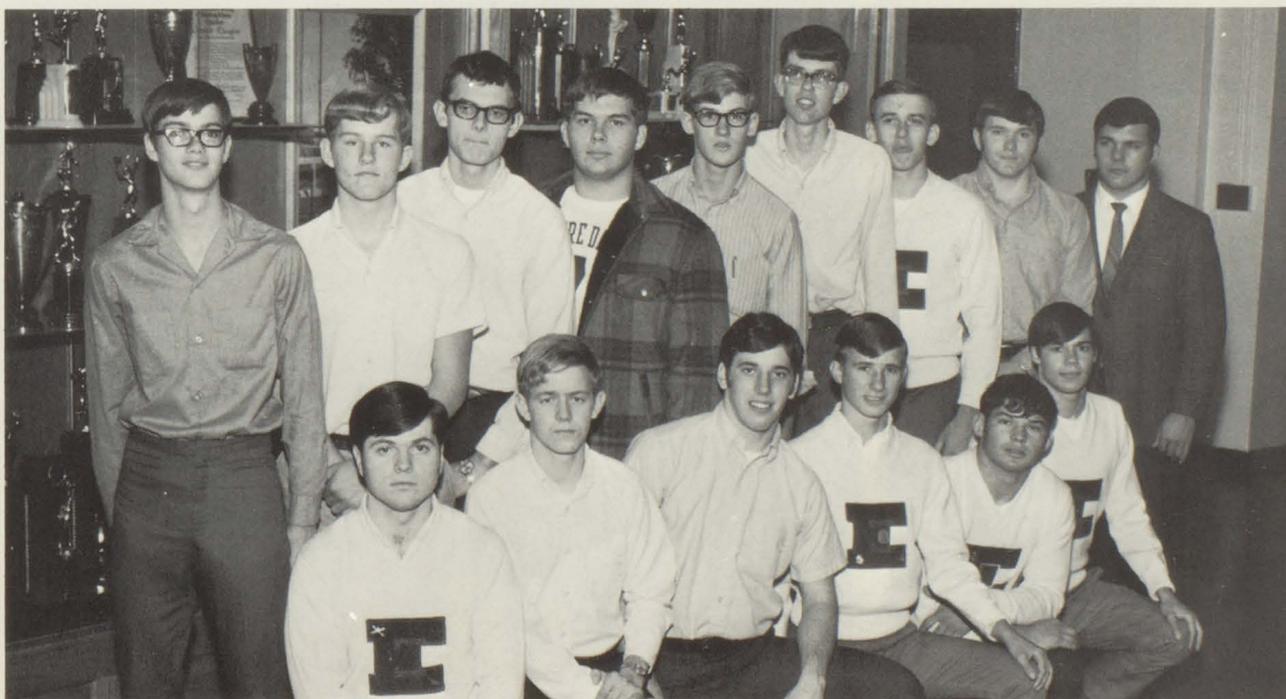

Under the guidance of Mr. Mitschelen, the Fellowship of Christian Athletes had a very rewarding season. The group encouraged sportsmanship and Christian attitudes toward all competition. Eight young men attended the F.C.A. Camp held in North Carolina, along with Mr. Mitschelen and Mr. Huffman as chaperones. Officers for this year were: Jim Mock--president, Kenn Wardwell--vice-president, and Ken Low--secretary-treasurer.

“Panther Potency” in Supporting Athletics

Varsity Cheerleaders: Beth Burton, Cheryl Shepard, Pennie Widmeyer, Sandy Fakes, Jo Runyan.

The Willkie High School Pep Club is one of the most important organizations in the school. This club promotes school spirit and supports our athletic teams.

This year's club consisted of 90 vigorous, enthusiastic girls.

The dues of one dollar and being a student of E.H.S. were the only requirements to be met by Pep Club members. Mrs. VanWagner was the sponsor for this year, and the officers were:

Karen Williams--president, Patti Green--vice-president, Rosann Sutton--secretary, and Jan King--treasurer.

The first Pep Club was organized in 1947; since that time these girls have participated in the Homecoming Parade and supported the athletic events. As one of the money-making projects of this past season, the Pep Club sold Panther seat cushions to the ball fans.

B-Team: K. Bambrough, A. Myerly, K. Low, B. Burton.

The Elwood Track Team had a year of great improvement as well as record-breaking ability. Coach Bailey was encouraged by the effort and team work of the young cindermen.

Led by sectional qualifiers Terry Jones, Joe Davis, Kim Shaw, Dave Swinford, Dennis Baldwin, Pat Rice, Larry Oliver, and Greg Harting, three school records were set. The 880-relay team composed of Jones, Swinford, Baldwin, and Rice, set the school record at 1:35, bettering the old mark by two seconds. Baldwin broad-jumped 21'1 1/4" to break the old mark and Virgil Leisure set his two-mile record at 11:02.

Joe Davis, winning the pole vault, and Greg Harting, placing fourth in the high hurdles, both went to the regionals. The Inter Club Award was presented to Greg Harting for his regional qualification.

The reserve squad showed promise for the future having a record of 3--1--1. Standouts for the B-team were Joe Williams and Pat Rice; the leaders of the C-team were Dave Tatum and John Acres.

Pole vaulting proved to be a specialty for Joe Davis in the regional meet.

The Panther Baseball Squad Struck

Playing through sunshine, rain, sleet, or snow in many hard practices described the workout of the 1969 Baseball team. Mr. Spear coached the team to an overall record of 12--7 with four wins and three losses in the CIC. The most frustrating event for the Panthers was the loss to Peru, which dropped them from a first place position in the CIC meet.

The mighty Panthers won two easy games over Frankton and Markleville before losing to Anderson. The team lost to Anderson 5--4 in a rain-shortened game. During the sectional, the Panthers had 38 hits and 29 runs.

The leading hitter for the squad was Joe Williams. He ended the season with an average of .439. Williams and teammate Bill Davis made All-Sectional team. In the CIC, Bill Davis, Ron Romig, and Ken Runyan made the All-Star team, while teammates Bill Skillman and Terry Jones made Honorable Mention.

Senior player Joe Davis was on guard for all "pop flies" coming in his direction.

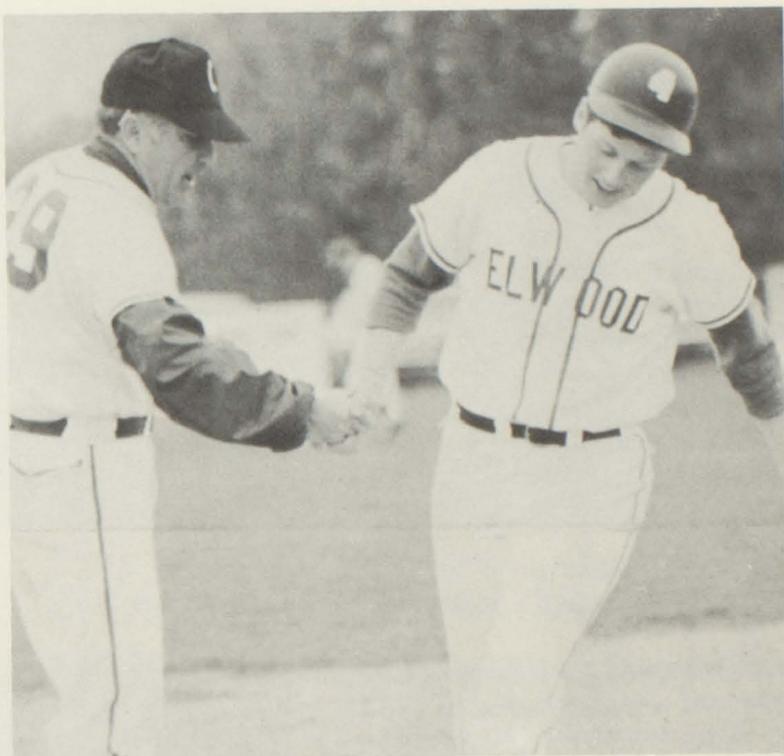

The fast winding pitcher for the Panther squad was senior Chris Juday.

Junior Jeff Balsler showed his "hard-slugging" abilities as a member of the baseball squad.

This year's Cross Country Team was coached by Mr. Burton. Great effort was put forth, but the season wasn't too successful as the Panthers finished with a 0--9 record.

At the Burriss Invitational, the Panthers came in second and in the CIC meet, they came in sixth.

Most of the members of the Cross Country Team were underclassmen; however, Bill Skillman was the only senior.

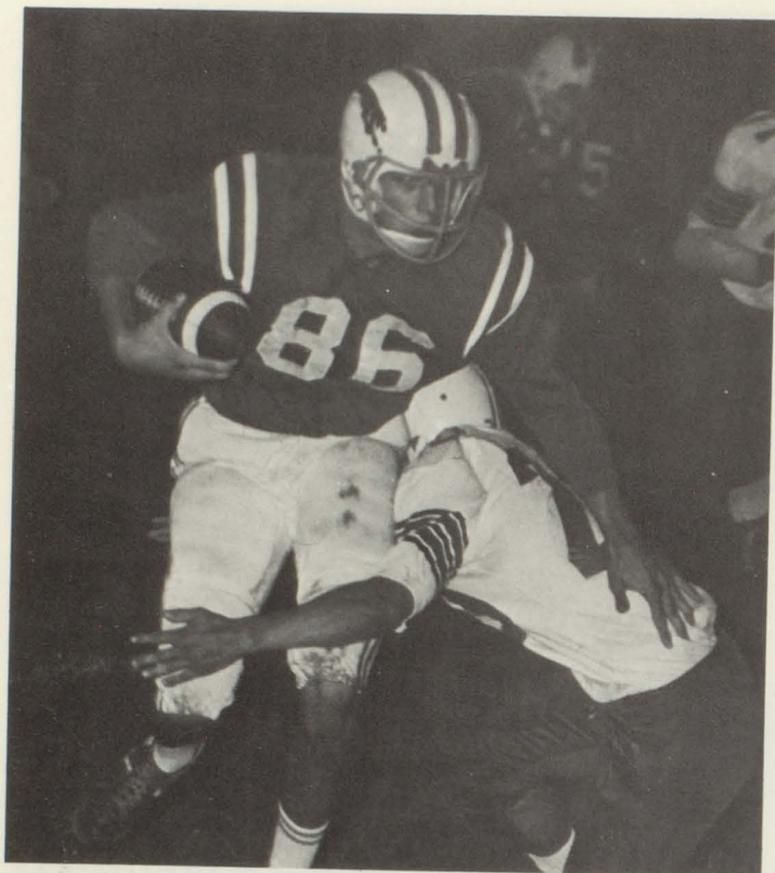

The "B" Team finished with a final record of 1--6.

Cross Country members ran into a second place position at Burriss Invitational.

As he finishes his run, Bill Skillman is applauded by Coach Burton and timed by Mark Copher.

and Sportsmanship During Winless Season

The Panther gridgers ended the season with a record of 0--10, but, the statistics do not tell the whole story. The team's spirit and drive held up during the entire season and their sportsmanship was unsurpassed by any team they played. This was largely due to the enthusiasm of their coach, Mr. Keesling, who was in his first year at Elwood. It is certain that he would have preferred a 10--0 record, but the lesson he taught in sportsmanship was a suitable replacement.

The team came in last place in the CIC, but three of the players received top honors for their outstanding play during CIC action. These boys include Dave Tatum, who was selected for the CIC First Team, John Acres and Don Powell, who were chosen for the honorable mention team.

Bill Davis displayed fine muscular coordination in clash with Tipton.

The Freshman Football Team finished the season with a record of 2--4. Although four games were lost, the Panthers scored the same number of points as all of their opponents together.

The 1969 Elwood Junior Varsity Football Team had a losing season on paper only. This "never say die" squad compiled a record of no wins, six losses, and a tie with the Peru Tigers.

The team was coached by Mr. Bailey and Mr. Hicks, who displayed a marvelous degree of temper control to match their "go get 'em" attitude.

The Junior Panthers scored only 28 points this time around, but this was attributed mostly to the wide open area blocking offense; yet, a good defense is the best offense and this proved to be a small point in their favor, as Leo Dauenhauer led the team in tackles, with Rusty Loy, Tony Henn, and Tom Smith turning in close seconds.

Another outstanding record was Senior John Acres with a season record 17--3, CIC champion, and third in the sectional. Junior Rick Coston's record for the season was 17--3--1, second in the CIC eight-way championship, and runner-up in the sectional.

Junior Dan Prieshoff's record for the season was 9--3, a CIC champion and Tipton eight-way runner-up.

A final outcome of 7--13 pinpointed the track of the Panthers in the 1969-70 Varsity Basketball season. The team for the upcoming basketball season will lose six members from the class of 1970. The Central Indiana Conference was strong; there was not a weak team in it. Although the team lost over half of their games, the cagers gained much insight on sportsmanship and displayed their marked improvement at each meet.

This year marked the third season as head basketball coach at Elwood for Mr. Spear.

Individual improvement governed each member of the Junior Varsity Basketball squad during the 1969-70 season. The final outcome of the season was a record of 2--16. The scrimmage with arch-rival Tipton proved to be one of the most rousing games in the junior basketball period.

On the B-team squad, coached by Mr. Hicks, the cagers consisted of four junior and nine sophomore men. In Freshmen action, the final record was narrowed down to 5--15. Each member of the squad received 1/2 point to add to their individual scores, which are used to obtain their "E" sweaters.

Senior Officers, Steering Committee Were

The sound of the traditional processional march, mixed with laughter and tears, was a dream only four short years ago. But reality has drawn that wonderful day here. As we realize that we will no longer be students in the halls of Willkie, we reminisce all the joys and despair encountered here. The knowledge we obtained will remain with us for the rest of our lives.

As we undertook our high school education as lowly freshmen, we elected eight Student Council representatives. We gradually adapted to the life of a typical high school student.

When we entered our Sophomore year, we chose Jeff Balser as president, Bruce Starkey as vice-president, Lorraine Bourff as secretary, and Susan Glenn as treasurer, to lead the class through this important year. Our class also elected its first steering committee, which soon began work on the annual candy sale. The profit from this was put into the Junior-Senior Prom fund. The class ended the year by selecting jackets and rings.

The autumn of 1968 brought our class to the position of upperclassmen. To preside over the class, we chose Tim Harris to serve as president, Mark Rogers as vice-president, Connie Parker as secretary, and Susan Glenn as treasurer. Much work was put into the spectacular performance of the Junior Class play, "The Death and Life of Larry Benson." Long hours of cutting letters and shields, and of adding glitter were needed for the successful Junior-Senior Prom. The most important facet of the Prom was the medieval elegance and beauty of "Camelot."

Embarking on the last stepping stone of our high school career, we realized the closeness of graduation. To lead us along with the aid and guidance of the steering committee, we elected Tim Harris as president, Debby Clouser as vice-president, Jo Runyan as secretary, and Susan Glenn as treasurer. To start off the year we built a Homecoming float entitled, "Blast-Off." Our Senior play, "Father of the Bride," even with all its misfortunes during practice was a tremendous success.

Assuming the role of Seniors, we chose navy blue and white caps and gowns to be worn on graduation day. We also chose our announcements which were printed in Old English lettering on ivory paper. We received continual help from our sponsors the four years we were enrolled.

With all the excitement of graduation, we look back over all four years at Willkie with a little nostalgia. As we filled out our college and job applications, the reality of graduation became more evident, but we must take our position among the other former graduates, constantly seeing ourselves reflected in the image of the students we left behind us. As life must continue, we will remember these four years at Willkie merely as a small stepping-stone on our path toward our future goals.

Junior and Sophomore Class Officers, Steering

Junior Class Officers:

President:
D. Preishoff

Vice-President:
R. Coston

Secretary:
L. Harting

Treasurer:
B. Butcher

The Junior class proudly recognized themselves as upperclassmen by traditionally ordering their class rings, which they received at the end of their Sophomore year. To kick off the 1969-70 year, the students built their class float for the Homecoming affair. They selected their class sweaters, which were navy with white letters.

Since this class produced the annual Prom, they had to raise the money for the activity. They undertook many money-making projects such as a chili supper and class dues. This money was put into the fund for the Junior-Senior Prom.

The faculty sponsors for the Junior class this year were: Mr. E. Everidge, Mr. V. Bailey, Mrs. M. Barnett, Miss R. Sammis, Mrs. K. Leonard, Mrs. B. Watson, Mr. G. Smith, and Mr. R. Hicks.

Junior Steering Committee: SEATED: J. Carroll, S. Bannon, C. Richardson, T. Moser, C. Backer. SECOND ROW: M. Smith, J. Pearson, D. Stage, J. Mock, C. Garcia, L. Harting. STANDING: B. Heflin, C. Walters, B. Goodnight, P. Hankley, B. Courtney, J. Williams, R. Coston, D. Preishoff.

Committees, Sponsors Lead Students

The Sophomores, organized for the first time, held the annual sale under the leadership of class president, Mike Skillman. An array of prizes was presented to the students who sold the largest amount of candy for their class. The money raised in this project was used in decorating the 1971 Junior-Senior Prom.

They participated in the Homecoming festivities by decorating a Volkswagen to resemble an eye-catching shaggy bug.

The Sophomores were responsible for a Pep Session before the first home basketball game.

Class rings were chosen and ordered by the students in the spring.

Sponsors for the Sophomore class were: Mr. R. Hiatt--Head Sponsor, Mrs. N. Hiatt, Mrs. E. Smith, Mr. P. Brown, Mrs. J. Himelick, Mr. R. Snyder, Mrs. F. Sharp, and Mrs. C. Wagner.

Many persons other than students, administrators, and faculty help to make high-school days pleasant. The secretaries in all offices assist in solving many problems and furnishing information.

Often students wish to eat lunch outside the building. However, on sub-zero days or on the warmest days the cooks are ready to serve all just as efficiently as on any other day.

The custodians keep our buildings clean and in good repair. They spend much time in caring for the grounds. Two of the custodians serve as drivers of the newly acquired buses which furnish transportation between the two buildings and to athletic contests.

Guitars and cars and movie stars; they're all part of the American business structure. And the interesting thing is, anyone at all can own a piece of the action!

Wall Street starts in New York, runs to California, turns and ends in Indiana. Which is another way of looking at who owns American business. Not a "handful of rich men" at all, but millions of everyday citizens who have decided to buy into the Free Enterprise System.

Free enterprise. That's not being content just to own a guitar, but wanting a share of the company, too.

James Wardwell, Owner and Operator

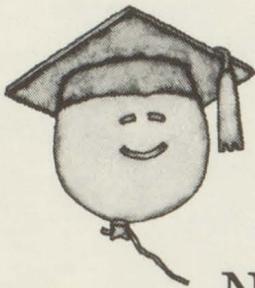

Education is a gas.

It lights up dark places.

It lifts your sights.

It inflates the ego.

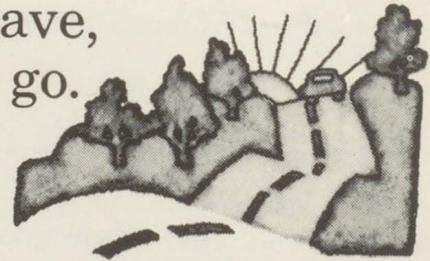

Not everybody likes it.

But nobody goes far without it.

And the more you have,
the farther you can go.

We hope you'll keep going with your education. And, when the time comes, you'll think about Delco-Remy as a good place to work.

Mrs. Talle
A very nice teacher whom I marked with 4th period the first semester
& it was nice marking for you. I wish you the best of luck & success also in your more future teaching years.
