The Inner Movement

It stirred . . . It irritated . . . Alone it guided through dark passages and narrow crosswalks. It was the hidden fear, and yet the towering strength that arose and quelled all opposition. It mastered everyone, allowing none to defy its tenacity. Man or fool, loved or lost, peaceful or discontent--all lay in the balance of its scales . . .

Although found differently in each of us, it explored its environment, adjusting separately to that pattern of life. You laughed. You cried. You bragged. These were its traits which shaped your personality. Why? No one ever knew. Some explained it by genes and chromosomes, others by the will of God. Whatever it was, whether found in the crevices of the mind or the depths of the unknown soul, it was the power that controlled all mankind, the Inner Movement.

Summer Explodes with the Beat of the

After receiving their jackets at the end of summer, Fred Graham and Roger Sprague become the first to model them during an early cool spell.

Recounting the historical moon shot, Weldon Farley finds the usefulness of the library between classes.

Brass to the Squall of Tires on Asphalt

Boom! The drums roared as the marching Eagles strode before thousands of people watching during Band Day at the Indiana State Fair. Practicing twice a day in the hot summer sun, they prepared for the fair where they placed a very significant 56th out of the entire state. But the band wasn't the only group busy as Driver's Education, 4-H, Church camps, and summer sports consumed the time of students while the world watched as two men walked on the moon.

Discovering that parking isn't as it looks, Driver Education pupils begin preparing for their final tests.

TOP: Bringing the crown to FHS for second time in two years, Senior Cindy Richwine is the present Madison County 4-H Queen.

Various Activities

Telling students of the overseas study program, Mr. Roger Coonrod and Mrs. Lucas introduce this new system, which she will head.

During Awards' Day, Jim Cobble receives his letter from Head Coach Scott Kratovil for his fine work in football.

School life includes community and personal life as well.

Keep Students Interested in School Life

Fear, anxiety, or sudden relief-- all were part of the annual Open House as it brought the dangerous solution of parents and teachers together. Serving as guides, the people in the National Honor Society directed lost parents to teachers while the Art Club revealed and sold their latest masterpieces.

Convocations such as organist Kenny Goodman provided interesting entertainment for the students while weekend soc-hops attracted nocturnal visitors. Fashions also played an important part in school life as boys experimented with bell-bottoms, some even trying bib overalls, while girls continued the miniskirt craze.

Preparing the school for the first basketball game, Vicki Allen and Cathy Hertle place spirit posters on the team's lockers.

Catering to the wishes of the Juniors and Seniors are Deanna Jackson, Pam Todd, and Chris Lambesis.

Queen candidates are Cindy Richwine escorted by Gene Clevenger, Brenda Vice escorted by Larry Davis, Vicki Allen escorted by Dave Benefiel, Leah Wilhoite escorted by Chuck Adams, and Cathy Hertle escorted by Kevin Crawford.

Performing for the prom, "the Humbugs" supply the evening with their own unique style of music.

Couples leave the problems of school behind as they explore into a new and deeper world.

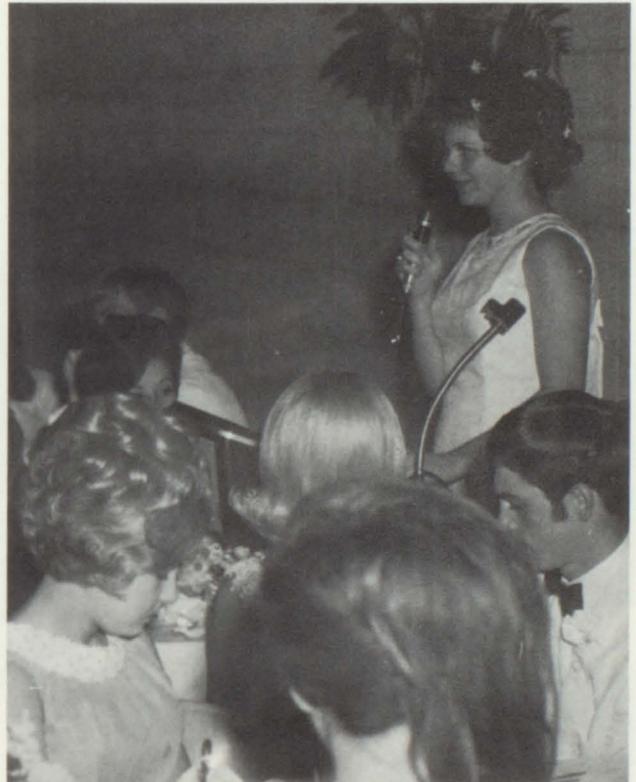

Jr.-Sr. Prom Becomes 'Heaven on Earth'

Softly the music played, as the couples slowly drifted across the room. The committee meetings, class assemblies, decorations, and the many last minute preparations were completed and tremendously enjoyed. 'Heaven on Earth', the theme of the 1968-1969 prom, was quickly coming upon its own Cinderella hour.

The evening had consisted of the Welcome by Cindy Richwine, the Response by Mr. Gene Heniser, Class Accomplishments by Mike Fleenor, the Class Will by Cathy Hertle, and the Class Prophecy by Ava Likens. The speeches were followed by dancing enlightened by the picturesque setting provided by the Elwood Elks Club while the 'Humbugs' performed for the rest of the evening.

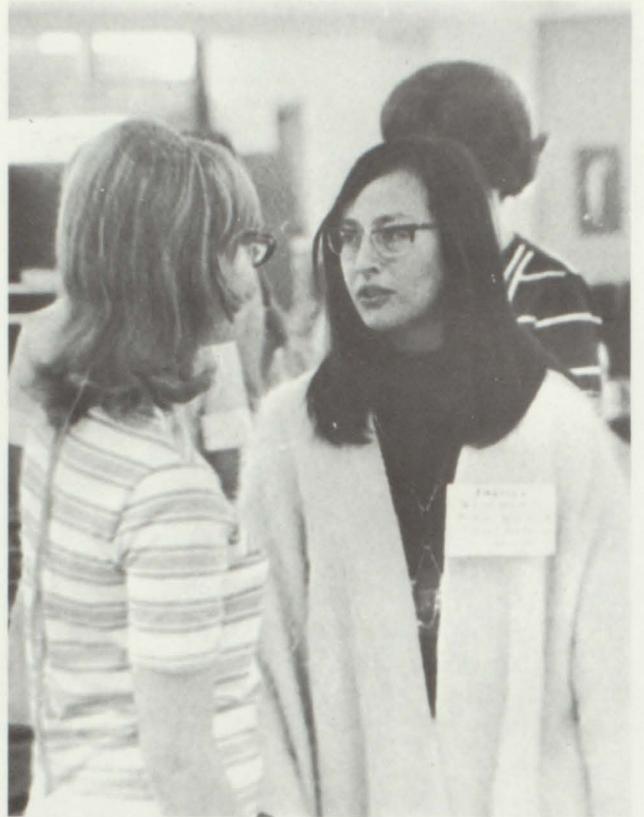

Unanimously highlighting the prom is the crowning of lovely Queen Vicki Allen with her escort Dave Benefiel.

Predictions made by Ava Likens are received by Seniors with mingled feelings as she delivers the class prophecy.

With a mixture of Spanish and English, Rosa Yllanes and Wanda Bradburn get to know each other.

Rosa Yllanes takes advantage of September weather conditions to try a favorite pastime at FHS.

Greeting and becoming Rosa's first American family are the Bradburns. They are: Debbie, Rosa, Mr. Darrell Bradburn, Mike, Mrs. Bradburn, and Wanda.

Ambassadors of Youth Create Good Will

Smoothly, the huge Delta airliner landed and let its engines coast to a stop. Aboard, was Rosa Yllanes from Peru, South America, acting as FHS's second foreign exchange student. Greeting her at Weir Cook airport was the welcoming committee of the student council. Wanda Bradburn, who had just returned from Argentina as an exchange student, and her family also greeted Rosa who stayed at their home during the first few months of her trip of learning.

Being her first trip to the United States, Rosa made many new friends while participating in a variety of clubs as she blended in beautifully with the students and faculty. Near the end of her long journey, Rosa stayed at the homes of Debbie Clifton and Kim McGuire.

The student council members meeting Rosa were: FRONT ROW: Wanda Bradburn, Lisa Allen, (Rosa), Chris Lambesis. SECOND ROW: Debbie Bradburn, Janet Post, Vicki Allen.

Rosa listens to the teacher while Juanita Clear and Ila Minton discuss English IV problems.

TOP: As part of the Spanish Club initiation, Timmi Grissom and Rosa are made to sing in Spanish as they walk in the halls.

Frankton Jaycees Host First Annual Junior

Twelve weary candidates had had a long day. Starting early on "the" Saturday morning, hopefuls completed their final rehearsals of when and where to be. Next came interviews on current events, as the judging panel provided by the Frankton Jaycees was given the task of selecting a winner among the lovely contestants. During their performance, each girl went through various forms of gymnastics, as skill and talent were emphasized.

By evening, the committee, headed by Miss Elwood, Jennifer Hood, had decided upon senior Juanita Clear as the spirit of the first event, Miss Congeniality. Both she and runner-up Ava Likens received silver trophies at the Christmas Convocation. Senior Donna Lucas was chosen queen of the pageant as she was awarded the right to represent FHS at the state finals in Frankfort in addition to a $300 scholarship and several new clothes.

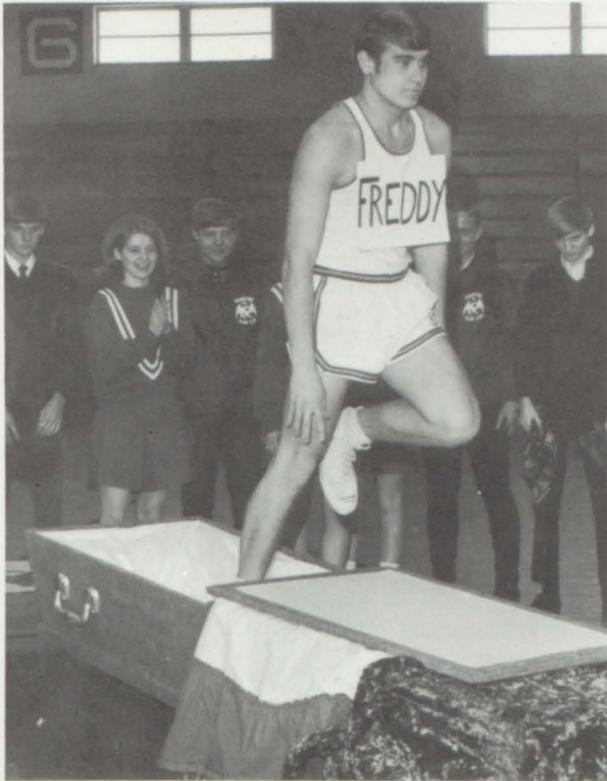

Contestants, Brenda Vice, Cindy Richwine, Peggy Brown, Barb Davis, (in background)--Ava Likens and Becky Wise discuss thoughts before rehearsal.

Miss Pageant Among Other FHS Activities

After the mammoth snows of January, city workers start to clear the school parking lot of snow.

First Homecoming Parade Draws Big Crowd

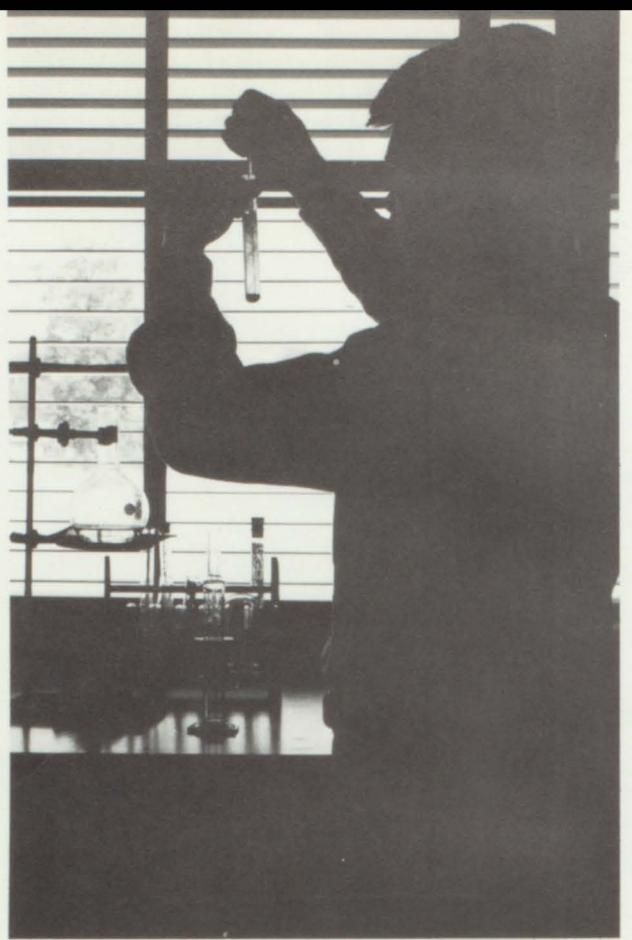

Homecoming 1969 became something special and different. Occuring for the first time during the football season, the outdoor atmosphere provided refreshing changes to the ceremony. Started with a parade through town, the queen candidates were driven by their escorts in flashy new convertibles while floats followed with the band performing behind. Arriving at the FHS gridiron, the floats were driven before the stands and later judged. The queen candidates were: Debbie Beeman, Peggy Brown, Cathy Hertle, Cindy Richwine, and Brenda Vice with their respective escorts Chuck Adams, John Tomey, Dave Benefiel, Doug Sheward, and Steve Gray. During halftime, Mr. Heniser and Gene Clevenger, football captain, announced and gave their best wishes to Queen Brenda Vice.

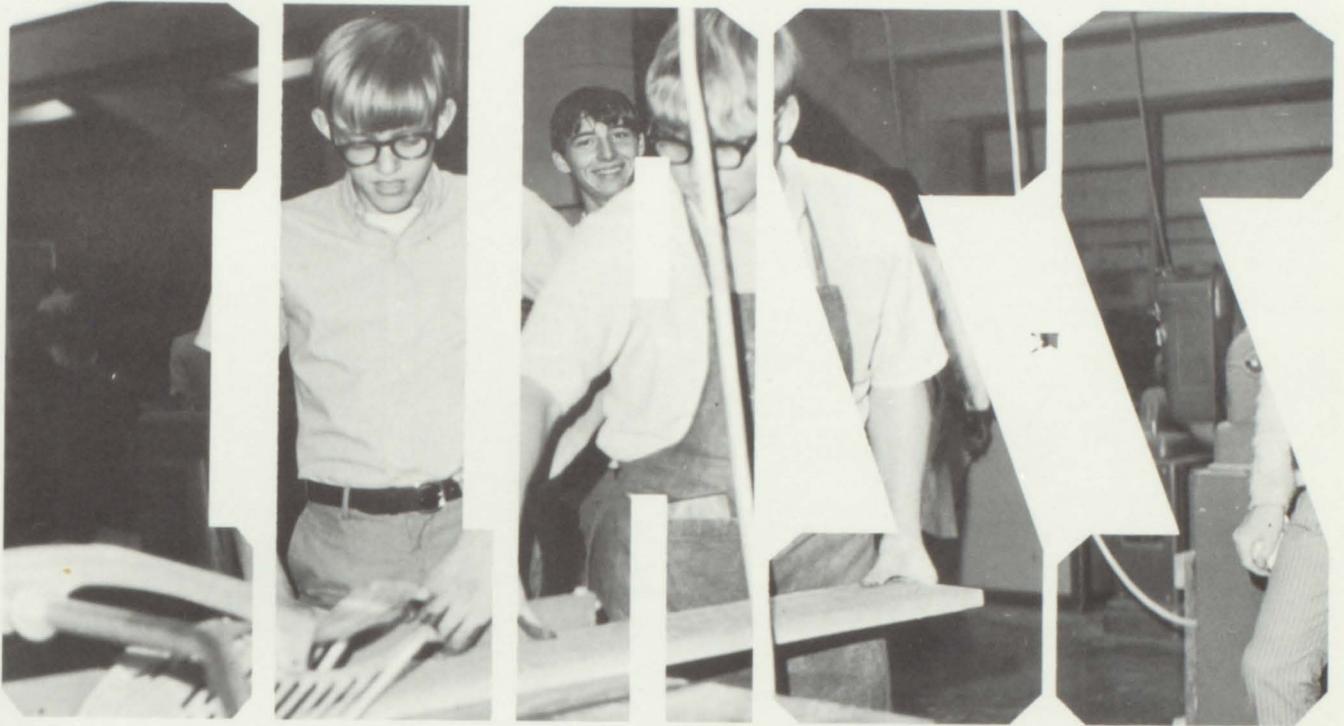

Portraying "the old man" from the popular television program "Laugh-In," Ted VanCleave performs in the Homecoming skit during the pep rally.

Receiving a short pass is Weldon Farley as the Eagles lost the closely fought Homecoming game to the Hamilton Heights Huskies with the final score being 14--0.

TOP: Spending many hours on their winning float are juniors Ted VanCleave, Pam Roy, Ben Singer, and Dave Bright.

Those who had the will to excel had been motivated by something no surgeon's instruments have ever found. Striving to achieve, they conquered their problems leaving only a varied trail of accomplishments behind.

Those who were conventional or orthodox were no less honorable. Free from the worry experienced by others, they led their carefree life living and hoping for a freak, one chance dream. But what happened to the dreamers who gambled and lost?

No matter which they were, they were all as one, and yet, no two were alike or equal. That alone was determined by the Inner Movement.

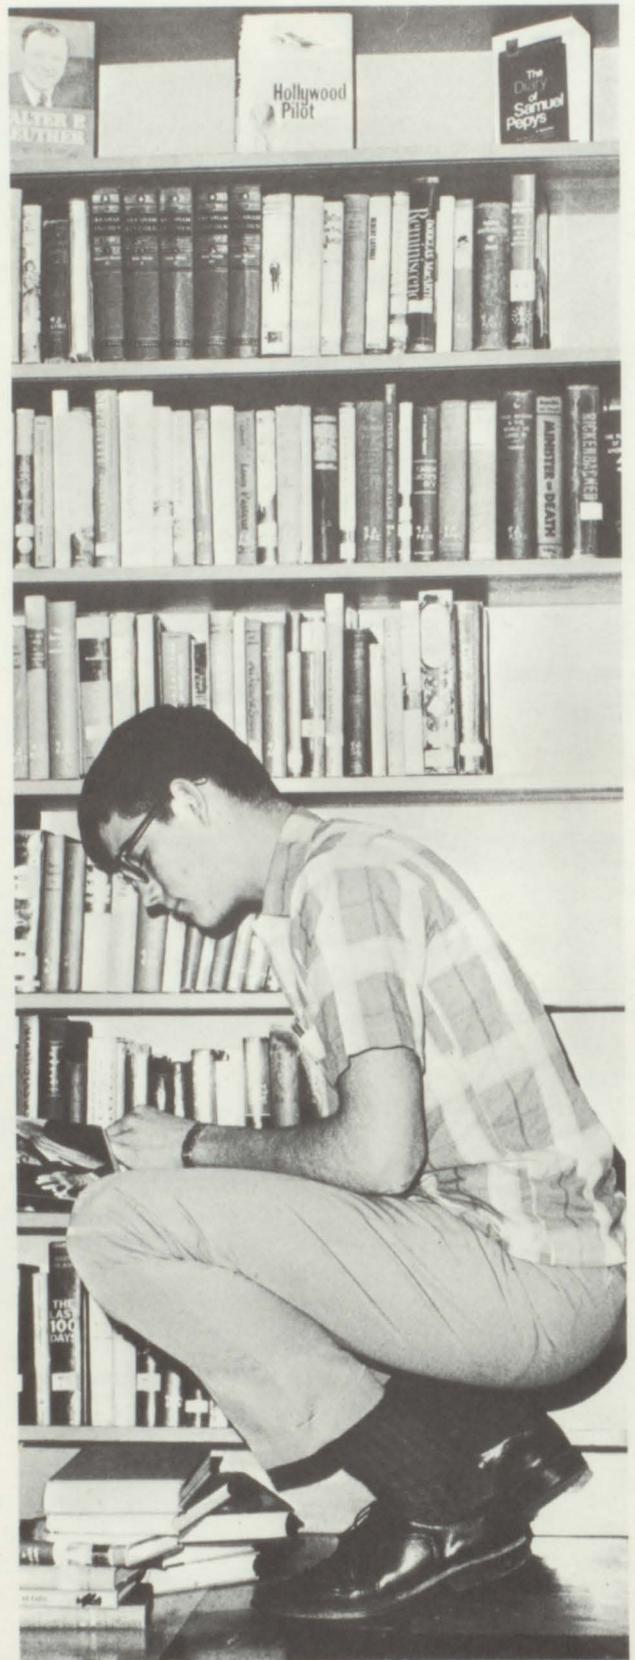

English Departments Overrun by Pizzas, Sal

ads, and Cakes as "Talk Demonstrations" Occur

How to make a pizza or clean a gun became sources for the English I and II demonstrations. While juniors worked on term papers, seniors built their grammar for college. Visiting from Lima, Peru, Dr. Roberto Koch, Foreign Curriculum Consultant authorized under the Fulbright Hays Act, gave various speeches to English and literature classes between lecturing in other countries.

"Heil Hitler!" was not the study of German at FHS. Coming back after a two year absence, the German class replaced Mrs. Winifred Owens' Latin organization. Mrs. Rosemary Edrington became head of the German department while Mrs. Ruth Culp, after doing her student teaching here in 1968, began her first year as English and Spanish teacher. Mrs. Culp acquired her B.A. degree from Anderson College.

In one of the daily spell-downs, Peggy Brown learns the meanings of the German language with help from Miss Edrington.

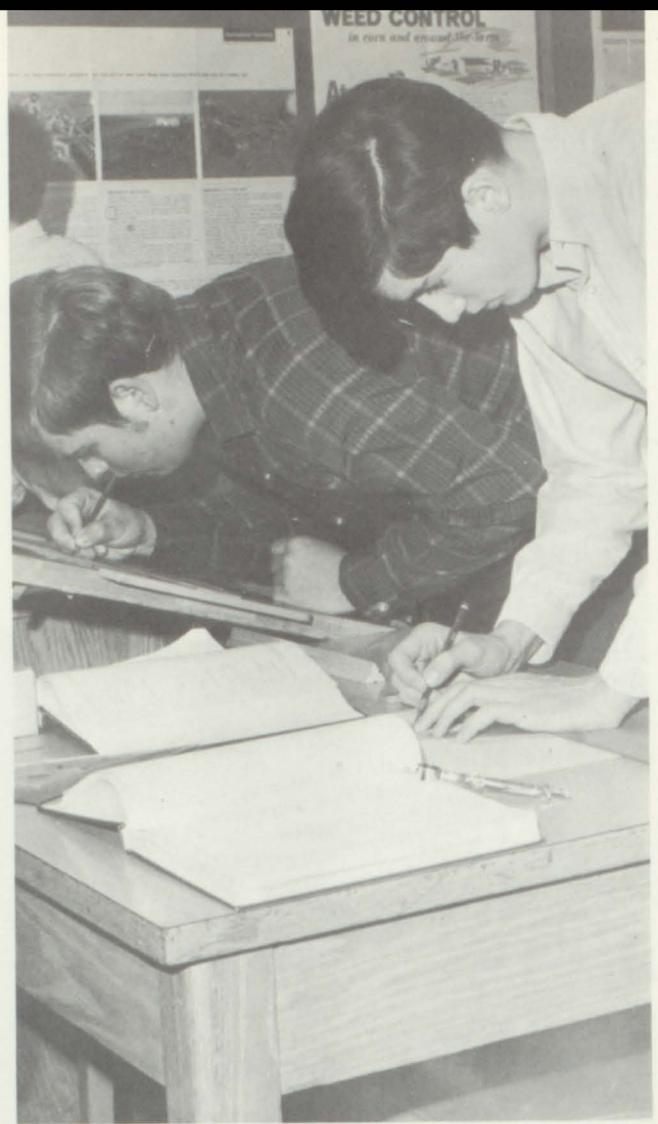

Dividing her class into small groups, Mrs. Culp speaks Spanish to members Becky Gibson and Fred Graham.

Two Trig Boys Take Computer Programming

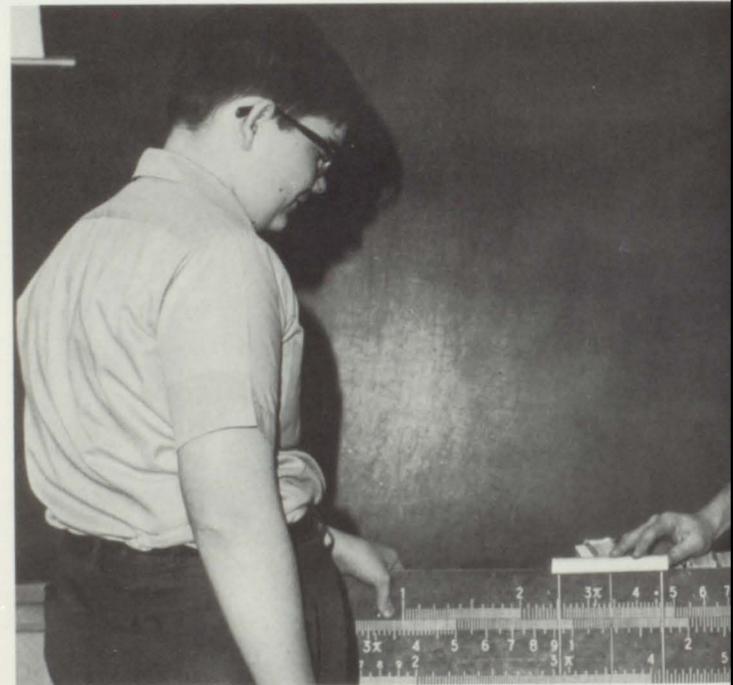

Freshmen in Algebra I were introduced to ghastly items such as monomials and graphs. Sophs explored the unobvious horrors of innocent looking triangles. Juniors went into the world of charming story problems while seniors struggled with complex slide rules. Together, four years of math brought unbearable pain.

Mathematicians Mike Fleenor and Reid Compton participated in courses on Computer Programming through the FHS math department. Occuring at the Indianapolis Extension of Purdue University, the boys learned how to operate different machines during their Saturday classes.

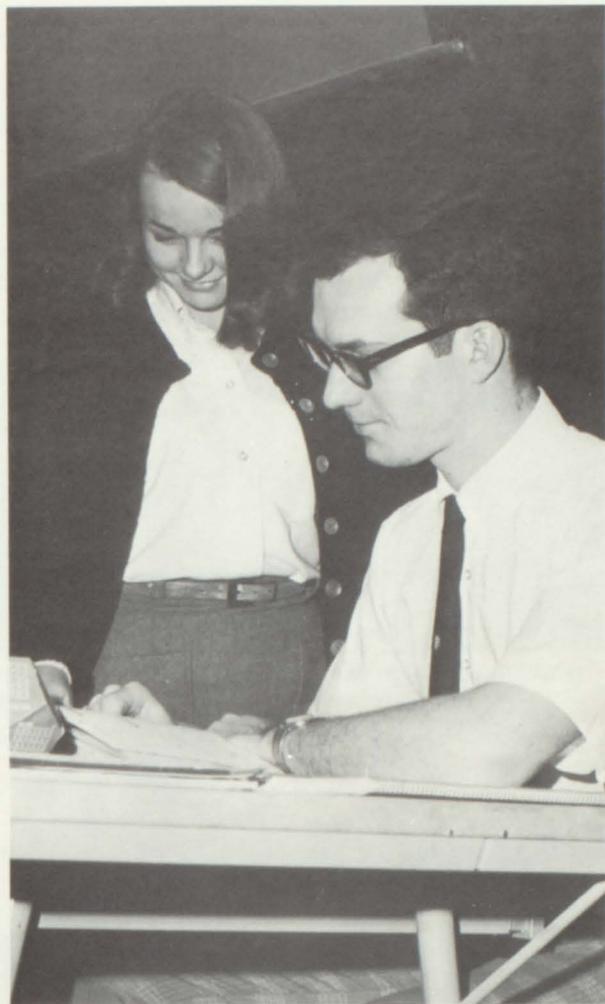

Freshmen Gary Carmen and Steve Swan begin their first year of mechanical drawing where they learn to sketch various tools before advancing second year drawing class.

Paper, pencils, and Geometry books are the essentials for the second year course at FHS.

Seniors Reid Compton and Debbie Cannon are puzzled over the wonders of the slide rule as Mr. Bob Dailey demonstrates its uses.

After watching two successful moon walks, sophomores Paula Wittkamper and David Walls study the effects of the moon, sun, and earth.

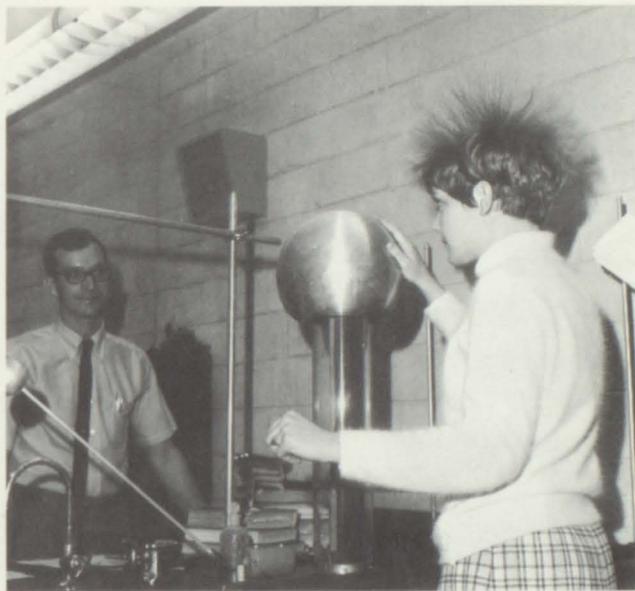

Juniors Jim Cobble and Fred Graham discover the reactions of phosphorus and air when the two collide. Shortly after the smoke appeared, the filter paper broke into flames.

Gases to Microbes Probe Young Scientists

Many "physical changes" took place in the science department as new teachers and classes were offered. Mr. Gordon Kerkhoff was reactivated to his chemistry post while the physics class, which diminished to an all time low of eight members, was instructed by Mr. Robert Dailey. A class in Earth Sciences was also given for the first year by Mr. Sterrett Nash for those in the freshman-sophomore grades. Aided by new charts and laboratory equipment, teaching became much easier.

Senior Randy Harrison was awarded a six week trip to Clarion State College, Clarion, Pennsylvania, by the National Science Foundation. Chosen from 861 applicants in the nation, he and 41 others attended the college where they studied Field Archeology.

Experiments in physics class turns out some very unusual results. Mr. Dailey and Donna Lucas see the hair-raising event provided by touching an electric generator.

Gary Wylie finds a new world of bacteria surrounds him while he studies its behavior and environment.

Student Historians Record Armstrong's Epic

While studying his world history, Robin Bragg takes time to study the conflict in Vietnam.

American Problems students Jerry Alexander, Linda Westerfield, Mike Hershey, and Gene Clevenger study America through group discussion.

TOP: Mark Marsh and Mike McNamee discuss the day's lesson shortly before class begins.

Journey to the Surface of the Distant Moon

History has repeated itself again and again, but 1969-70 contrasted a change from what was. While students continued studying the ancient past, they converged upon the present as they observed a young administration try to remedy the nation's problems. They witnessed the Vietnamization of an undeclared war, the turmoil of the black ghettos, and the growth of student dissent upon campus. Customs and traditions fell as they sought to correct themselves from other's previous faults.

Inside classes, teachers assigned group discussions so students could express their own ideas that weren't the once exclusive, accepted answer. Guided by their instructors, they independently solved and thought as the chances of history repeating itself again were lessened.

Mrs. Hover watches the class as the health girls begin their last big test before school lets out for Christmas vacation.

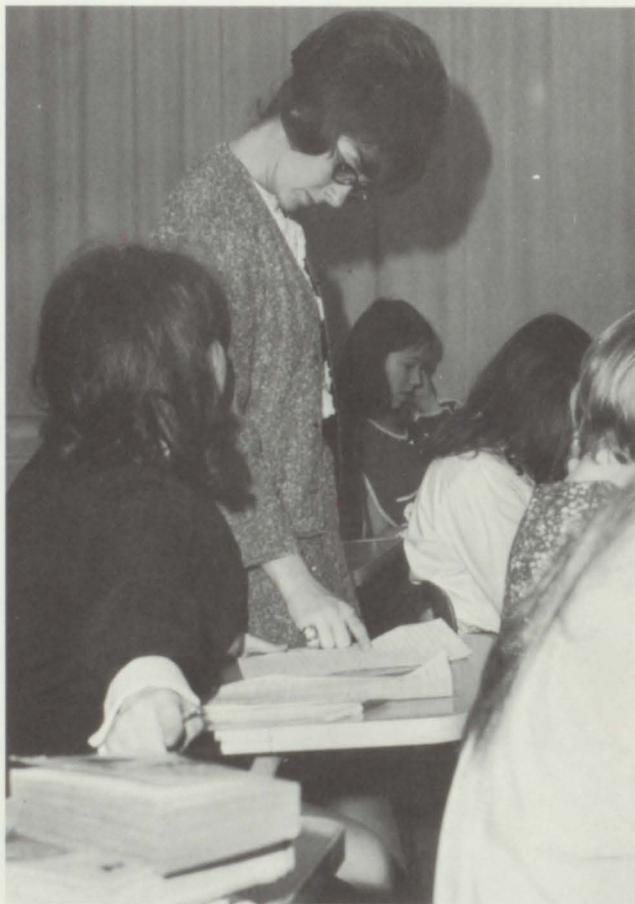

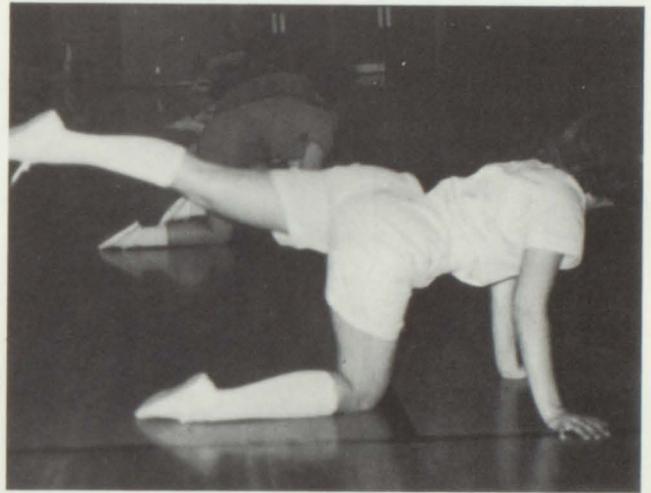

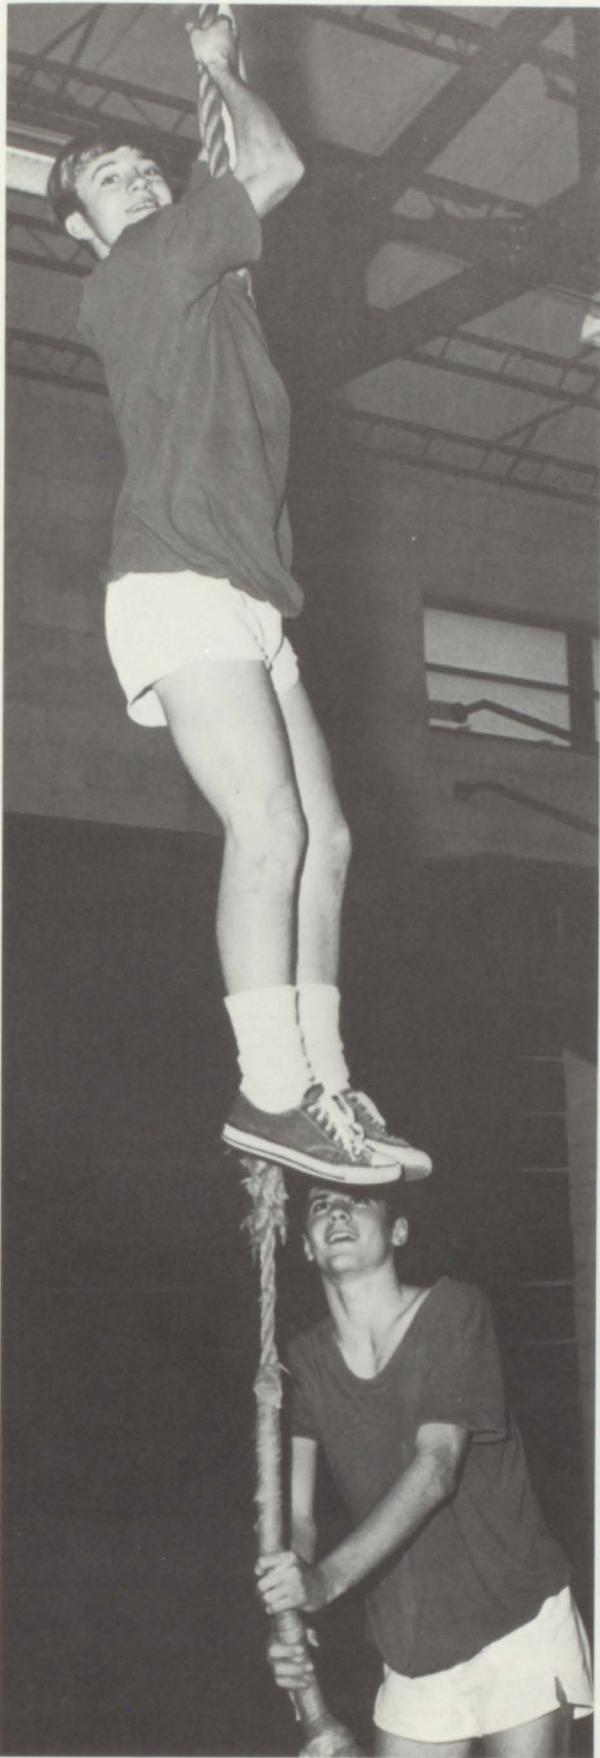

Junior Girls Capture Volleyball Tournament

Building strong bodies many, many ways was attained through strenuous physical education workouts and mind expanding health classes. Between the regular jumping jacks, push-ups, and sit-ups, the P.E. boys organized inter-class basketball sectionals, putting teamwork ahead of individual ability. The boys were also dared by the phy. ed. girls to a wild volleyball game, spiced by the boasts and challenges of each side.

Mrs. Sue Hover sponsored a girls' volleyball tournament during homeroom and noon, pitting class against class. The juniors defeated the seniors in the first game and later the sophomores as they became school champions for the year.

Debbie Clifton questions Mrs. Hover while pointing to the answer to her problem.

Members of Agriculture Class Participate in Senior Debbie Addison is puzzled as she begins her Business English assignment.

Mr. Bartlow instructs the class during bookkeeping as senior Marcie Starr gets last minute instruction.

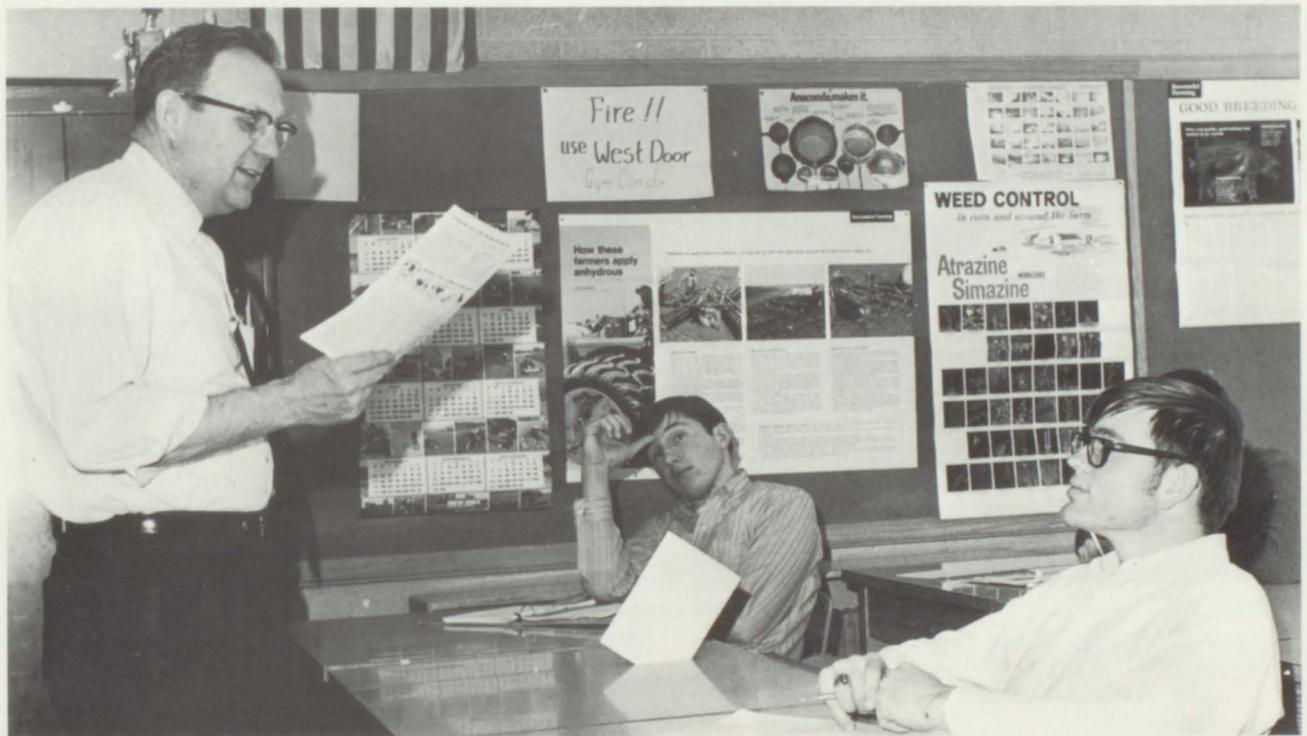

Pest Control Drive and Local Grain Judging

Besides their everyday class work and participation, Ag boys aided in trying to control the destructive rodents that plague local farms. The boys worked hard, as they invaded the secret domains of disease carrying birds and rats.

Agriculture students Larry Norris and Dick and Doug Hendricks placed first in the area with their exhibit of ear corn. Mr. Gordon Kerkhoff, instructor, also took the class to area farms where they learned better quality in animals and grain.

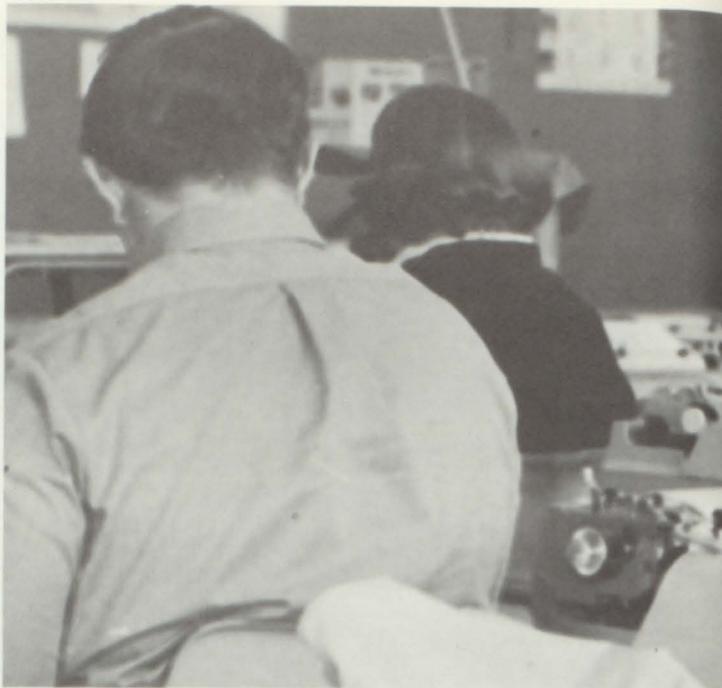

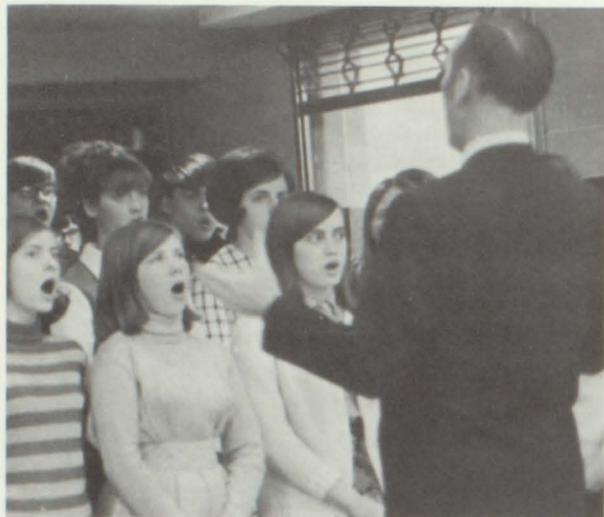

Senior Gary Cunningham illustrates to the Agriculture class the different numbers of certain types of cattle.

Band Receives Award from 'Miss Indiana'

as They Perform in Veteran's Day Parade

Whether marching in the scorching heat of August or the early chills of the football season, band members performed their best for the crowds. During the summer, they attended band camp at Smith-Walbridge in preparation for their second State Fair entry. Although considered a class, the musicians acted as a club having a party at the home of Dan Wisner, electing officers, and selling fruit cakes and calendars for support.

Led by Randy Thomas, drum major, and Teresa Voss, head majorette, the band conducted its annual Christmas concert and played for the Veteran's Day Parade in Anderson. For the fine work, they received a large trophy from Jill Jackson, Miss Indiana. The band also attended IU Band Day at the Hoosier's football game. Shortly before the semester break, senior band members were given, for their participation, red and white jackets from the rest of the band.

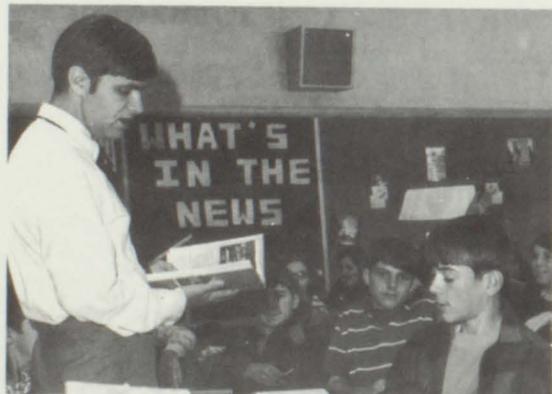

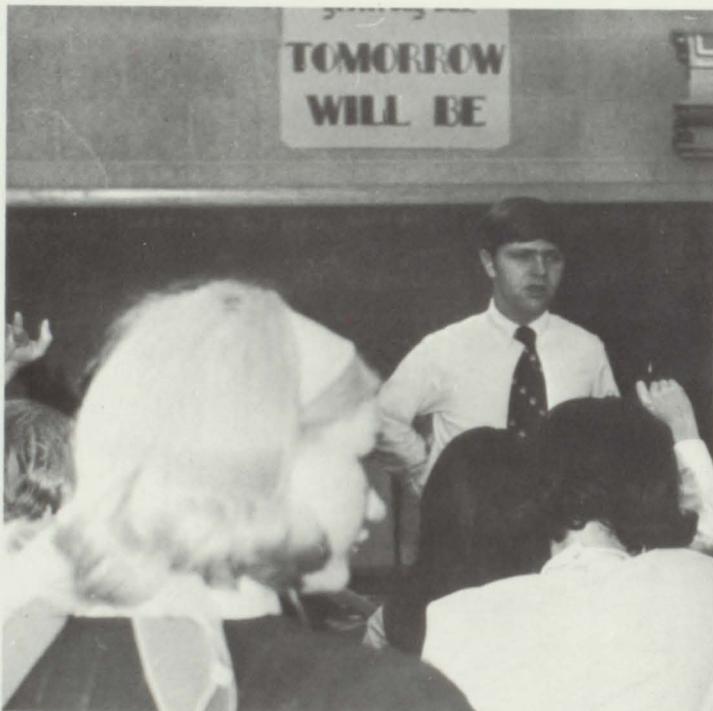

Drum major Randy Thomas takes the band through its warmup for the night's basketball half time show.

Seniors Becky Wise and Leah Wilhoite study all the up-to-date happenings of today's modern government as it progresses in the world.

Students of Mr. Watson's government class question the philosophy and reasons behind the U.S.'s political parties.

Outdoor Drawing Sessions Stimulate Artists

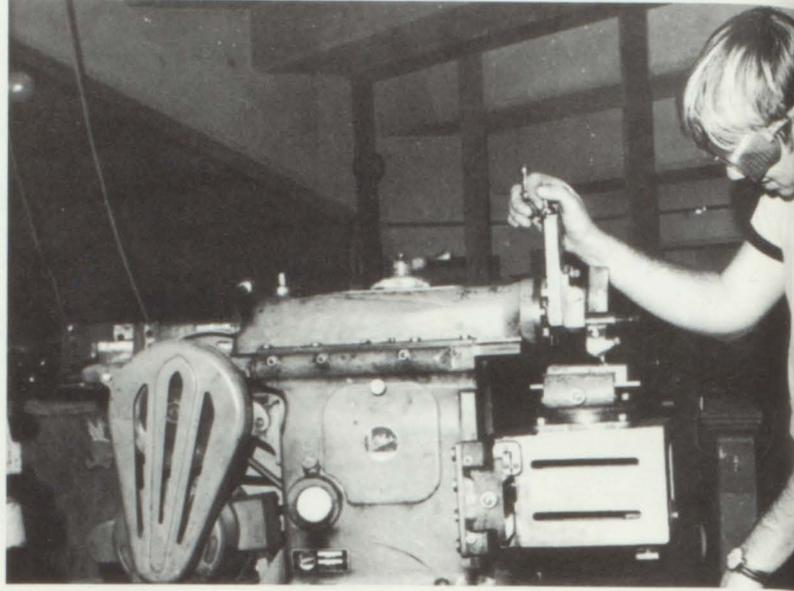

Through shades of red, white, and blue, the artist created the effect he wanted. This was found throughout FHS as art students were in quest of ways to best express their feelings. During the warmer months, they used nature as a model for their etchings while concentrating upon its effects and lurking shadows.

Classes exhibited various styles of printed letters in an art display featuring some of their better works in the front hall. Mrs. Catherine Lucas, art instructor, ran many fine films depicting current art trends and characteristics in the U.S. with those of Europe and abroad included.

Senior Dennis Trice prepares the undercoat for his lettering project as JoEllyn Hamilton works in the background.

Industrial Cooperative Training Joins Metals

Having class during noon, Roger Bledsoe and Harold Back study ICT booklets while preparing the day's lessons for Mr. Van Zant's first year class.

TOP MIDDLE: Goggled mechanic John Dwiggins set his machinery for action as the senior learns through the advanced metals class.

and Home Economics in First Year at FHS

Learning to deal with the "people on the outside" came through the ICT program. In its initial year at FHS, Industrial Cooperative Training was conducted by Mr. Randall Van Zant as students were instructed during the noontime period. At class, they were given valuable information needed to work in their various occupations.

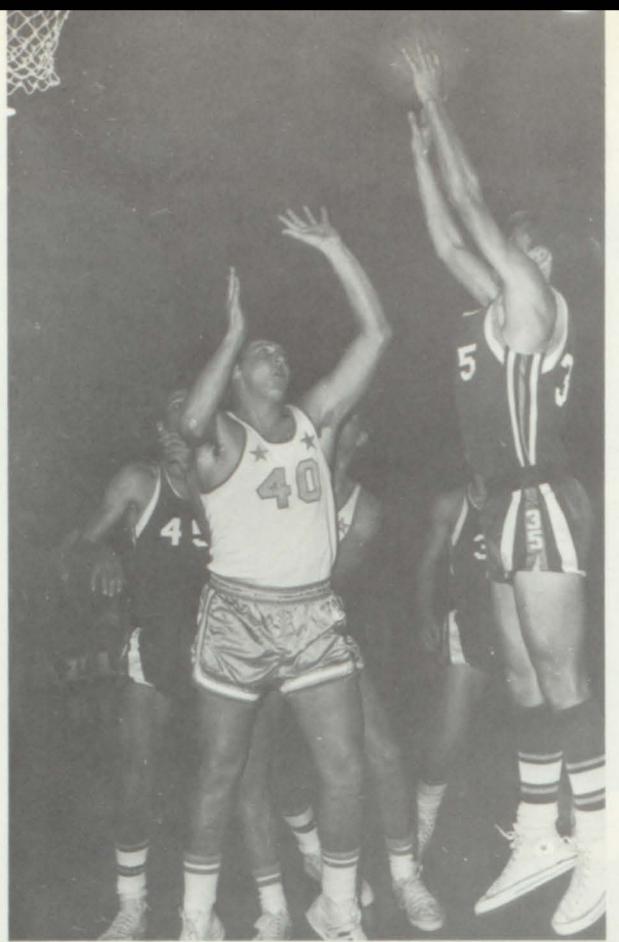

If ICT wasn't exactly your ideal, the home economics or shop classes were available with big enrollments. Girls learned to prepare interesting meals while boys concentrated on how to cut a board evenly and squarely. With sparks flying, welders employed their resources at metal work as Mr. Scott Kratovil directed the group.

SPORTS

WRESTLING

Hearts pounding, muscles strained, and lungs gasping, the Inner Movement relentlessly commanded . . . Pressured, pushed, and tired, it never let up on those who competed. Only the driven athlete felt its awesome power while the spectator had only emotion.

When victorious, the feeling flowed from the athlete onto those around him. When beaten, the spirit died and left only emptiness . . . The groan of the crowd as the final period ended, the exhaustion of the body, and the silentness of the locker room, all surrounded the suffering of defeat . . . The long hours of practice now meant nothing. But they had fought to win, that being their only desire, and it was enough.

Route to a Very Successful 18-8 Season

Spring meant only one thing at FHS and that was Track. While having a very fine season, the trackmen set several new records including Doug Holder's 13 1/2 foot leap in the Pole Vault competition and the Mile Relay record of 3:37.5 set by Jim Epperly, Jim Cobble, Clint McClelland, and Will Alexander. The 880 Relay record of 1:35.9 was tied by the combined talents of Terry Harrison, Will Alexander, Gene Clevenger, and Dave Benefiel. Harrison was also voted the Most Valuable Player with a team high of 97 points and Holder was chosen Captain. The team placed third in the Pendleton Invitational and eleventh out of 27 area teams in the Sectional after being edged by Anderson with one-half point more than the total of the Eagles.

Sprinting hard, Clint McClelland finishes the final lap of another gruesome 880 yard run.

Batsmen Struggle Through Dismal Season

Baseball wasn't dead, or at least not at FHS. Playing for the first season under the newly bought lights, interest increased and baseball again became one of our major sports. Although the record stood at 4--10, the young Eagles, starting for the first year under new Coach Larry Merica, became charged and exhibited an exciting style of ball. Selected as Most Valuable Player, Captain, and chosen to be on the White River Conference Team was Gary Hosier, as he led the team throughout the year. As the returning Sectional Champions, the Eagles were stunned early this year as they fell to an experienced Elwood team (11 to 3), in their opening game, eliminating them from area Sectional play while finishing the first half of the year.

After catching an opponent in a rundown, Dave Harper receives a low pass from Gene Clevenger.

Taking his turn on the pitching staff, Ron Wright delivers another strike to the plate near the end of the game.

"Doing their thing," juniors Clint McClelland and Larry Tucker pour it on for another Cross-Country Victory.

Struggling to win, Alan Hancher maintains his slim lead over a Hamilton Heights' opponent.

TOP: Rounding the corners is a tiring feat for the men in white, Clint McClelland, Chuck Hazelbaker, Dave Benefield and Dave Harper.

Some More To Compile a Victorious Season

Although not among the more glamorous sports, Cross Country was certainly one of the toughest physically. Used by most athletes as a preparation course for further athletics, it became the filler for the sports gap between summer and winter games. While a builder for the next season, it also provided points toward the All-Sports trophy for which FHS was defending champions. Chosen as team captain for his fine work was senior Dave Benefiel. Clint McClelland was selected as Most Valuable Player. The team finished fifth in the Conference while falling to fifteenth in the Sectional.

Watch in hand, Coach Harbit clocks harrier Clint McClelland as Deanna Jackson waits at the finish line to hand him another blue ribbon.

First Varsity Season Ends with 3—5 Record

Slightly cold and mildly successful best explained the first varsity football season. Elements such as Jim Truex's interception which led to victory against Eastbrook, the loss to Highland in the last three minutes, or the absence of leading ground gainer, Mike Hershey, with a shoulder separation--all explained the large crowds present throughout the year.

In records, Harold Back became the winner of the annual star chart while Most Valuable Linemen went to Gary Hosier and Most Valuable Back to Gene Clevenger. Voted as Captains were Harold Back and Jim Cobble.

Unable to plan his path, fullback Harold Back breaks tackles while the FHS offensive line clears his obstructions.

Varsity Football members are: FRONT ROW: G. Clevenger, R. Flanagan, G. Hobbs, M. Konkle, R. Kerkhoff, B. Minton, J. Cobble, J. Ehman, W. Farley, F. Quimby. SECOND ROW: Manager--D. Jones, M. Unites with New Head Coach in Rebuilding

With losing most of last season's players, '69-'70 started as a growth and rebuilding year. Mr. Ted Harbit was moved up from his B-Team spot to the vacant position of head mentor. Along with this addition, members of the varsity were welcomed with white new uniforms for home games with the Purdue-type styling.

The team played more of a steady, ball control game as they acquired needed height and muscle to equalize the strength of area teams. In the County Tourney at Pendleton Heights, the Eagles fell to an early defeat in the opening game against the tall Lapel Bulldogs in their revenge of 2 Eagle inflicted losses last year.

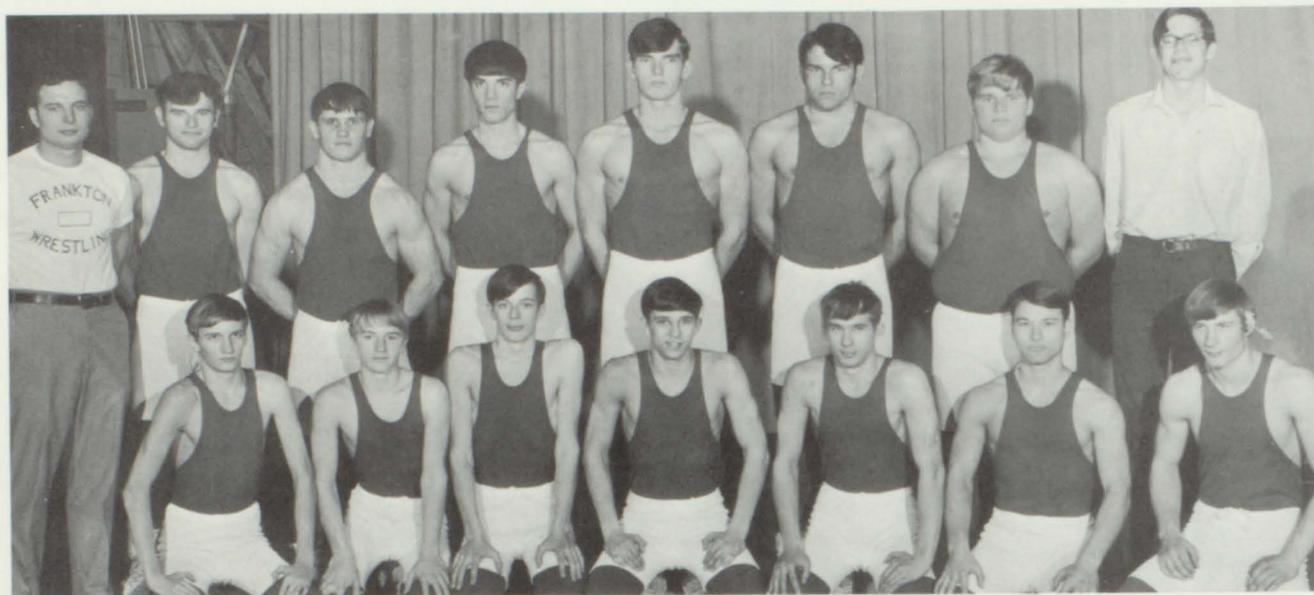

After pulling down a big rebound, Ron Wright begins to work his way back to the goal.

Completing its second appearance, wrestling had definitely attracted a crowd of followers. After the three opening losses, Coach Scott Kratovil got the team fired up as they fought back without suffering another loss. In the conference, the wrestlers won more ribbons than any of the other six schools competing. Larry Marcrum and Clint McClelland received first place ribbons as they beat all their opponents in their division. Placing second were Roger Bledsoe and Harold Back. Capturing third place were Ted Vancleave, Ben Minton, Mike Fleenor, and Fred Graham. Against 14 teams in the sectional, McClelland received the highest score, finishing fourth.

After being down on the mat, Ben Minton tries successfully to escape his grasping opponent.

Cheerleaders at Camp Receive 'Spirit Stick!'

Shouting calls of Two! Four! Six! Eight! all season, the cheerleaders backed our Eagles. During the summer both B-Team and Varsity yell leaders attended Camp Crescendo at Lebanon Junction, Kentucky. Testing routines and quality, the varsity members won three superior awards along with the spirit stick and another excellent rating. The B-Team members collected several honorable mentions in their initial year at camp.

The varsity girls placed third at Indiana University out of 40 other squads as they turned in the town's finest performance. Participating in the Elwood and Anderson YMCA drives, the girls did yells for the luncheon held to boost membership.

Feedback on the Way for Annual Queen Contest

In pursuit of social acceptance, they were bent upon building a name, one that was known and respected . . . that stood above the rest. To attain that symbol, they entered into a hail of activities which engulfed much of their time. They planned and worked with their goal as the reward for their labor. Many became discouraged and discovered it was useless while a few continued on, searching for the ingredients of success. The Inner Movement, this desire for everything or nothing at all, had become the division between people and the drive behind their lives . . .

Prepare Exhibition for Annual Open House

Painting rocks, sanding wood, and collecting leaves were absolutely necessary for the Art Club's auction which was held during open house. Using both their talents and skills, they assembled a beautiful display that was quite original and valuable to those who attended.

With money obtained from the sale and their drive on pop bottles, they helped send members Patty Lynch and Janet Huffman to Ball State for the summer art workshop. There, they spent a week studying various new art techniques to bring back to FHS.

'Swinging Chicago' During Winter Field Trip

Certainly the most lively of all clubs was the FFA group. After the spring banquet, the farmers resumed activities in the fall with their annual initiation. There, they used the new "greenhands" to demonstrate their way of hair styling with a sheep shearer, eating raw pumpkins, and other welcoming operations that were sacred to those in the club. Next came their candy sales project led by Dan Waitman, who was their best salesman with over two hundred dollars sold. All the earnings together went for their journey to Chicago. While there, they visited the Museum of Science and Industry and later the main event, the International Livestock Exposition.

The future farmers also went on a soil judging contest with several other schools of which they placed fourth. Dick Hendricks became FHS's top competitor as he led the FFA men.

National Honor Society Inducts 8 Students

With a tap on their shoulders and years of hard study, eight students of FHS became regular members in the Eureka Chapter of the National Honor Society. After the spring banquet, the club assisted parents during the annual Open House and also operated the coat check at basketball games.

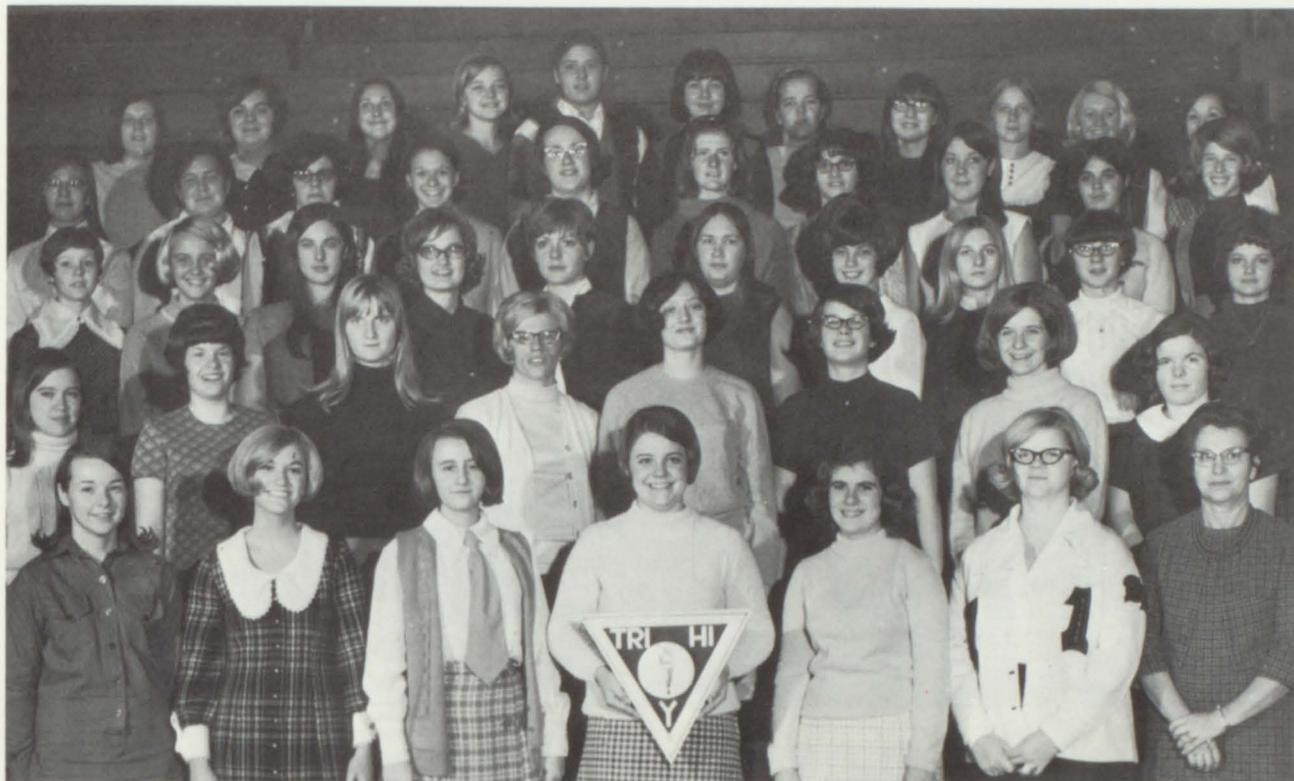

Talon Club had a hayride early in the year at the home of Gene Clevenger. The athletes then settled down to matters of finance as members flooded the school with ball points, having the basketball schedules on the sides. The club also bought blue windbreakers with Frankton Talon Club branded on the fronts denoting the sportsmen of FHS.

German Club Assumes Latin Table Role

Historians do not always record everything exactly right, members of IJHS found out as Robert Montgomery, director of IJHS, told. Speaking on "Little Known Facts About Hoosiers," Mr. Montgomery explained many things that most chroniclers misinterpreted about famous people of Indiana.

During the state elections in the spring, Donna Lucas ran for IJHS Vice President and won as she became the first state officer from FHS.

The Foreign Legion or the Spanish Club changed their name this year to Casino de Espanol, as only those in Spanish class could enter this club.

Radicals Have Annual Chess Tournament

With the call "Checkmate," two mentally drained competitors ended a long, silent fight upon a bloodless battlefield of wits. Math Club has struck again. Sponsoring the FHS Chess Tournament, the "Radicals" had 24 contestants entered in their special event. After 22 eliminations and defeats, junior Dennis Church overcame runner-up Jim Truex in the first official classic. Both were presented trophies during the spring Award's Day program. The Student Council was also busy as they played for sock-hops instead of local DJ's.

140 Voices Compose Largest Cheer Block

Sporting bright, new, red and white uniforms, the Pep Club supported the Eagles at home and away. Not only with cheers, they also had a bake sale with which they used the money to buy new sports jackets for the Varsity Basketball team.

Back from a two year absence, F-Troop reorganized and helped the girls with its own style of volume. This year's soundmen donned farmer apparel as they took to bib overalls to accompany their strange yells. Eaglite members, besides doing their regular duties, started their sales drive which sold 390 yearbooks. Ava Likens led the sellers as she sold over 25 of this year's books.

People . . . all endeavoring to solve their own private problems while they reached out and attempted to discover the mysterious meaning of life. They were a new breed. They sought answers to un-asked questions as they stalked a world of disappearing illusions and growing reality. Childhood abandoned, they left its experiences forgotten and treasured in the mind's recesses. They faced a vast, technical universe where the individual was the common denominator, with even his role being weakened by man's progress.

The Inner Movement had changed. It was no longer maturing, but directing their actions. Through the conscience with its inmost thoughts, it dictated the feeling's demands. People . . .

While Anxiously Awaiting Their First Prom

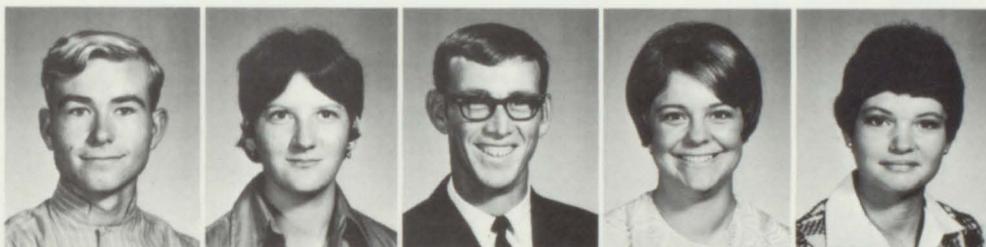

The sale of candy and potato chip products, the construction of a home-coming float, the anticipation of an early arrival of class jackets kept the juniors from becoming impatient for the prom. The jackets came in a navy blue with white and gold trim near the close of summer vacation. The class float, for which the class received a first prize, resembled a hugh bee with the theme "Sting 'em."

Juniors Break All FHS Magazine Records

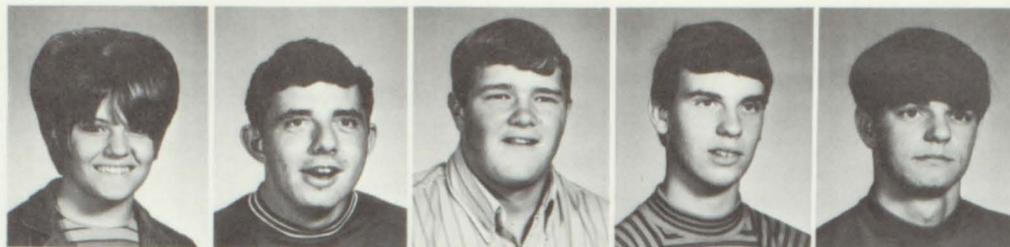

Selling "Life", "Look", and other popular magazines, the juniors sold $5,250 worth which excelled all past classes. Emily Shuter was the best salesman as she sold $445 worth with Cheryl Pierce and Teresa Voss close behind her. Celebrating their sales, the juniors were treated to an ice cream party with all they could consume as the limit.

Chosen from over 600 high schools in the Midwest, junior Peggy Flowers was awarded an expenses paid trip to the Cotton Bowl in Dallas, Texas. There, she saw Indiana's Notre Dame meet "No. 1" ranked Texas in the New Year's Day classic. Awarded the trip by Sports Illustrated magazine, she and her mother were thrilled by one of the greatest football spectacles.

Work, Fun Fill Memorable Sophomore Year

Class rings became the first and only thought of sophomores at FHS. Choosing from a wide selection, they decided upon an oval and rectangular style setting with their own personal choice of stone.

As their money making project, they sold various types of ice cream during the noontime period throughout the year. This money was used to help supply material for their homecoming float which was very unique and interesting. The theme for the float was "Beat'em Up" with a small dog on top of a tissue covered dome.

Studying teacher's baby pictures, David Wise and David Walls prepare to decide which is which.

Although all freshmen were called green, this year's ninth graders seemed different from others of the same age. Blending in with the entire student body, they became respected more easily than others. Their chief project was the building of a home-coming float on which they all worked very hard. The theme of the float was "Hog the Ball" and had a large pig upon it. Officers for 1973 were "Gena Canfield--Pres., Steve Quear--V.P., Kay McClelland--Sec., and Teresa Cobble as Treas.

Join Fight Against Disease of Ignorance

Teachers find a variety of things to do during their "off" season. Mrs. Sue Hover spent time as a swimming instructor at the Elwood Country Club. Visiting his son in the army, Mr. Sterrett Nash vacationed in Washington D.C. Miss Emma Alspaugh kept the library up to date as summer school went on. Participating in the National Championship Drag Races, Mr. Ted Harbit saved Indiana from a complete shutout as he took its only placing. Mr. Gordon Kerkhoff continued his work in the local 4-H club. Experimenting with her hobby, Mrs. Frances Sigler worked on her special interest of photography. Many teachers labored on their various degrees while some just spent the summer like other normal, average, and ordinary people.

ROW 1: MR. ROBERT C. BARKER: Band, Choir, Majorettes, Glee Club Sponsor; MRS. RUTH CULP: Spanish I and II, English IV, Spanish Club Sponsor, Eagle Outlook Sponsor.

TOP: Providing attractive lunches for students are Mrs. Jean Gordon, Mrs. Merida Waymire, Mrs. Mildred Legg, and Mrs. Edith Waymire.

Keeping FHS clean and spotless are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Henderson, serving as custodian and matron.

People with ideas of pleasing by selling only the best. The bankers, car salesmen, supermarkets, and large factories--all supported us. They were the ones who gave of their time and their money to form the foundation of our annual and brought it to a successful outcome. They were the backbone of the 1970 Eaglite. To these advertisers, we offer our thanks and appreciation.

where does most of that sales dollar go?

When you spend a buck in a drive-in, how much of it ends up as a profit in the owner's pocket? Much less than you might think. Whether it's a drive-in or a huge industry, only a few cents of every sales dollar is retained. From this dollar must be paid employees' wages and benefits. This amounts to about 27 cents. State, local and federal taxes take approximately another 25 cents. Part of it goes to those who supply the business with supplies and services, and financial institutions must be paid for borrowed capital for operation and expansion.

No, the business dollar isn't all profit! The 500 leading U.S. corporations retain only six cents of every dollar as profit on sales.

I&M operates in much the same manner as other industries. We too provide a large share of each sales dollar for salaries and employee benefits. We pay large state, federal and local tax bills. And, we also plow a share of every dollar back into a constant program of improvement — improvement designed to provide better electric service to our customers at the lowest possible rate.

Anderson, Indiana

50 years ago Indiana was a great place to get a start.

It still is.

We were pretty young ourselves when we joined General Motors. But look at us now. We're the world's largest producer of automotive electrical equipment, making everything from generators for cars to batteries for missiles.

Indiana was a great starting place for us, it'll be a great starting place for you. Because here at Delco-Remy we need people like you. Young people trained and anxious to meet the many challenges of transportation.

If science, engineering or research interests you, dig in now. Study hard. Prepare for a career.

Then look us up. Right after college. Here in Anderson, Indiana.

Sorting various pictures, Editor Dennis Church works desperately trying to complete the last deadline.

Spending much of his time in the darkroom, Head Photographer Dave Walker frames another picture for the Eaglite.

The Graduate of 1970: Today and the Future 'What Shall It Bring?'

Gone were their times of oneness. They were no longer together as each had to accept their responsibilities of a dawning decade. The goals they chose were varied. Some saw success. Others were doomed to what had to be failure. But importance was measured only through the needs of those few around them.

For many the spirit has died, not again to revive itself. They meant no decisions for what was questioned was over. Some still hunted learning with their intentions unfulfilled and not knowing what they wanted. It had somehow always haunted them. But it didn't matter now, the directions they had taken had differed only in the balance of the Inner Movement . . .
