Education, Our Key to the Future

Students of Frankton High School will long remember this year . . . 1967-68 . . . as the year when football was added to expand the sports program . . . several new clubs offered opportunity to students to develop interests . . . additions to the faculty provided additional subject areas . . . With these changes F.H.S. moves forward with a great deal of optimism; the KEY to the future is in our hands, and this year has helped us to use it . . . The door to success is here; the KEY is also here . . . We feel that our school, with the help of faculty and administration and the cooperation of students, is very well prepared to give you, the reader of this 1968 EAGLITE, that KEY to education.

The future is already beginning to unlock before us as we review the many changes in our school . . . Third year Spanish, more specialized shop courses, and other improvements have been made available to us . . . We invite you to pass through the doors and enjoy a view of the future as we present F.H.S. in pre-view . . . which is made possible by having used the aid of our important KEY of education . . .

Varied Activities

Senior boys Kerry Hobbs and Greg Wiggs seem to be enjoying themselves as they "fight it out" in the eight inch snowfall that blanketed the area.

School life is many things at Frankton, and is important in the lives of the students. Club activities, Athletic events, plays, and noon-time activities are all mixed to form a unique kind of school life.

The beginning of the year brought in new personalities that filled the gap the graduating seniors had left. In addition to new personalities, other changes were made. Five new additions to the faculty contributed to educational and social life. Many Freshmen and Sophomores found Football an interesting new sport. All of this contributed to the school life of the students.

An important part of the annual school open house is the art exhibit. Mike Land made an on-the-spot display of drawing portraits.

Helping students to find the right job or college after graduation is the job of the guidance department. Ava Likens finds the help of head guidance counselor Mrs. Andrew very informing.

Are the Key to School Life at F.H.S.

Our library has a wide variety of magazines and other periodical literature, and Jim Burger tries his own reading posture.

Win or lose, our athletic teams are backed by all the Eagles. The pep club and the other Frankton students went wild as the Basketball team pulled ahead of Hamilton Heights for a 64--63 victory.

“Isle of Golden Dreams” Theme Provides

Queen Marsha Kirby and escort Dan Smith preside over the lovely "Isle of Golden Dreams" with their royal Court Ron Sigler and Debbie Gunn, Dan Bennett and Bonnie Kennedy, Diana Dellinger and Ralph Zerbe, and Sandy Fisher and Frank Stansberry.

Beachcombers Buddy Clark, Jan Heniser, Lisa Denise, Brenda Hutcheson, Keith Coryell, and Dal Canfield provide atmosphere as they glide over the Isle performing those tasks which made the '67 Junior-Senior Prom a success.

Background for Memorable Jr.-Sr. Prom

Cindy Scott goes over her up-coming speech with Mary Canfield.

Ball State's Cardinal Hall set the scene for the '66-'67 Prom. "The Humbugs" provided the music, while Cindy Scott charmed guests with her tribute to the Juniors, Seniors, and faculty. The class prophecy was read with an Hawaiian accent, by Becky Conklin, while Greg Wiggs served as Master of Ceremonies.

Mr. Heniser, governor of the Isles, speaks to the "Islanders" on the subject of "ideals."

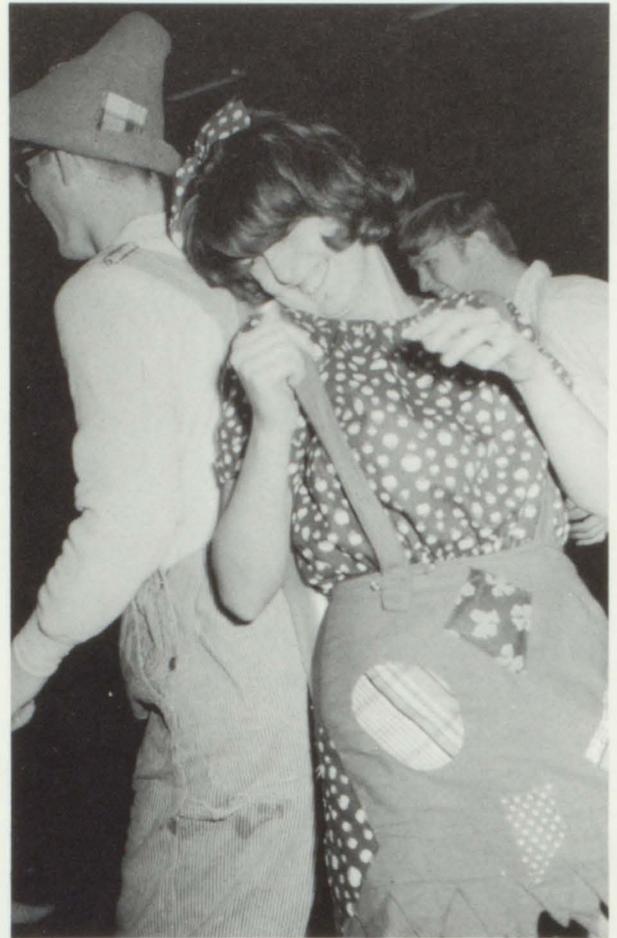

Couples, charmed by the music of the "Humbugs", dance under the palms.

School Life Is Enriched by Dances and

The receiving of their annual EAGLITE helps brighten the day for these FHS students. The joining of, and initiation into new clubs is a tradition among the student body. The fun of Sadie Hawkin's Dance, and the tension of Parent-teacher day are all part of the everyday life at Frankton High.

Open house, sponsored by the guidance department, gives students, parents, and teachers a chance to confer.

School dances are an exciting part of school life, as Roger Ashby and Diana Burris enjoy the annual Sadie Hawkins dance.

The delivery of yearbooks is a time looked forward to by student and teachers each year, and this year is no exception, as Greg Wiggs and Sheela Whitten pass out these valued editions.

by Participation in Clubs & Activities

Homecoming was an extra thrill this year since it came at the beginning of Christmas vacation. The queen and her court are Sandy Fisher, Queen Marsha Kirby, Bonnie Kennedy, Diana Dellinger, and Debbie Gunn.

Every year, new members of the Future Farmers get a "warm" welcome to the club. Carl Webb and Glen Tomlinson prepare to initiate a "greenhand."

Ralph Zerbe explains his problem to the members of the "Music Committee".

"Take It Easy", the 1967 Comedy Musical under the direction of Mr. Robert Barker, was presented to the FHS students, faculty, and public last spring. Choir members, Ralph Zerbe and Diane Elliott held the leading roles, while Steve Poe directed the "swinging" dance band."

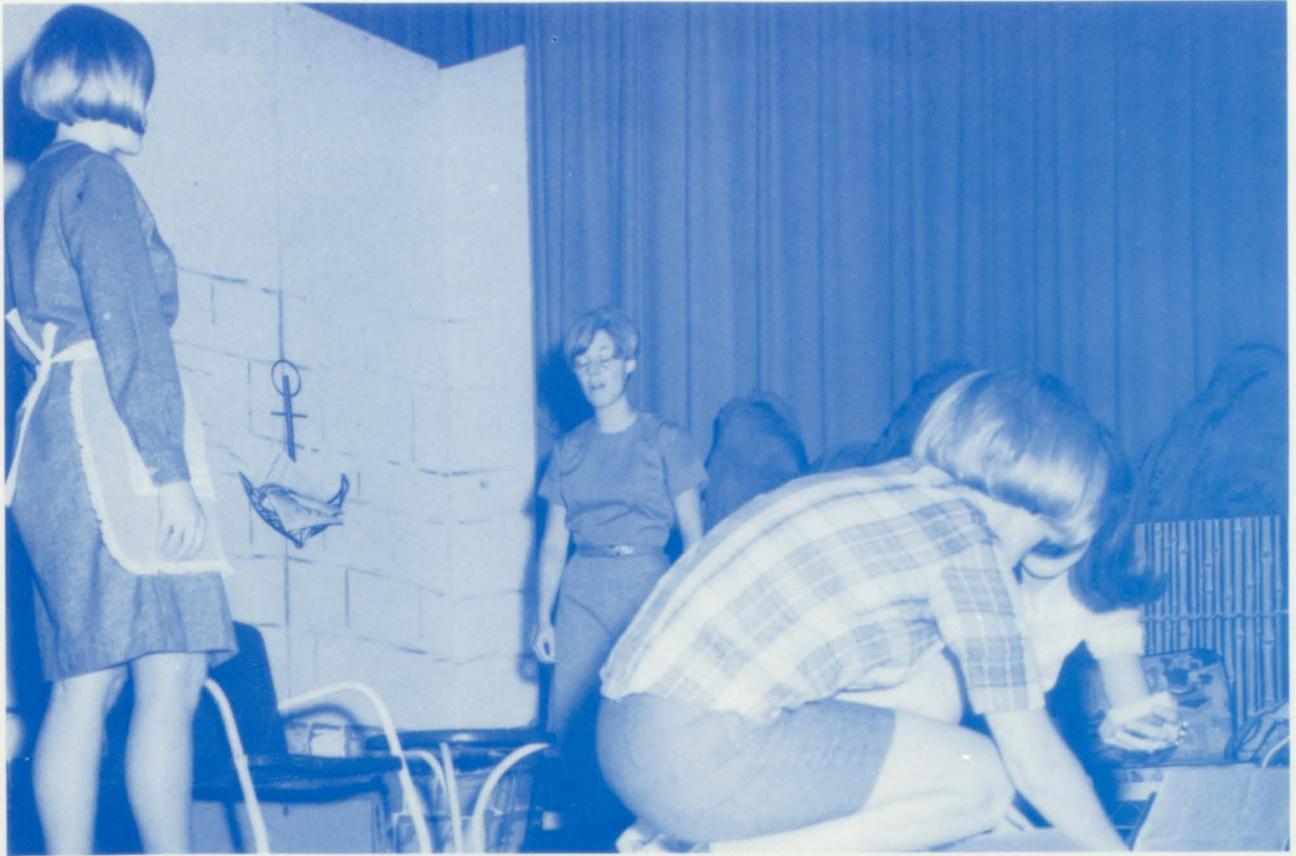

Jerry Snider and Mary Canfield played comedy leads for "Take It Easy".

"Take It Easy" & "Too Young Too Old"

Karen Drake leads the other members of the cast in singing "Shady River."

A charm kit direct from the mail-order house is designed with the 'young lady in mind.' Becky Conklin and Vickie Hiatt are certain it will help them to 'get their men.'

Give Students Chance to Show Ability...

A foot bath provides the only comfort Father Dale Sharp can get after a night out.

"Too Young, Too Old," a family comedy gave members of the Senior Drama an opportunity to just be themselves without fear of interference from the outside, when they presented the play early in the school year.

The play centered around the active Jordon family with the harried father, Dale Sharp; his society bent wife, Sandy Fisher; a sixty-five year old Gram, Marsha Kirby; and their two daughters, Becky Conklin and Debbie Gunn.

Life was poured into the play with the addition of a supporting cast which included Marilyn Lucas, Vickie Hiatt, Mike Land, Ron Sigler, Rick Pike, Joe Merritt, Donna Holder, and Marle Faulkner. The production was under the direction of Sterrett L. Nash.

As Each Day Goes by, F.H.S. Students . . .

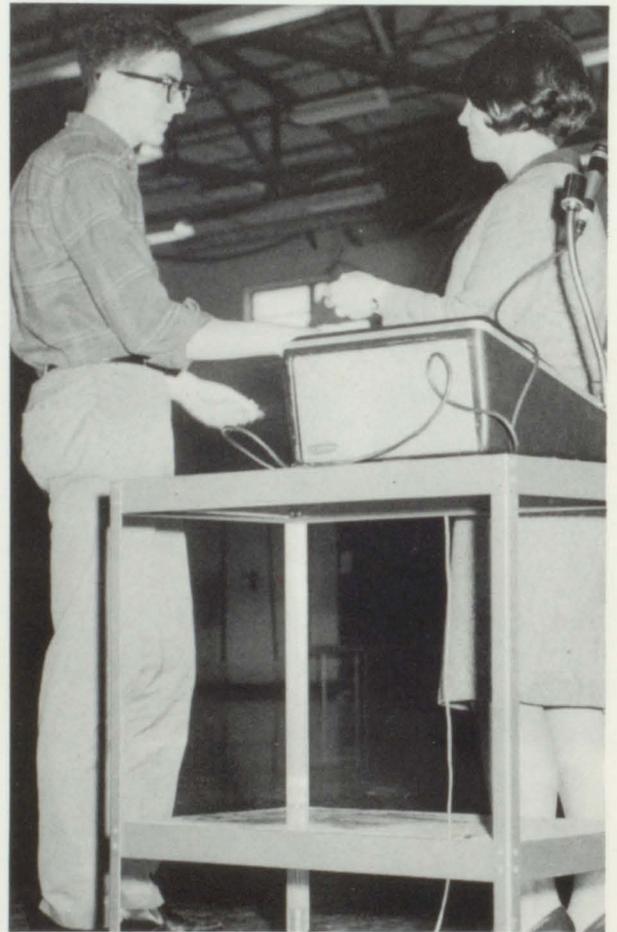

Heavy rains followed by freezing weather turned the school lot into a skating rink. Doug Holder and Larry Davis, junior and sophomore, respectively, enjoy themselves as does an unidentified down-but-not-outer.

Many interesting convocations, such as the one that featured Charles King, a well-known vocalist, were planned throughout the school year.

Convocations, merit awards, dancing, and after school activities are as important to the life of a well-rounded F.H.S. student as are the more thought provoking studies of the classroom. The KEY to success for a future citizen of our society is to have many and varied activities which may develop into a worthwhile talent.

Students are called upon to assist the administration in securing outside talent which will be both inspirational and entertaining. Students are rewarded for scholastic, leadership, and service abilities at an annual Awards Day convocation.

The awards day program honors outstanding students for several reasons. Norman Walker received an award for excellence in Spanish II class.

Look Forward to Various Activities.

Several times during the year, local bands played for the students at noon. The girls seemed to enjoy the dancing, while the boys were content just to watch.

Senior Sandy Fisher concentrates on a long-distance phone call which she made during home room.

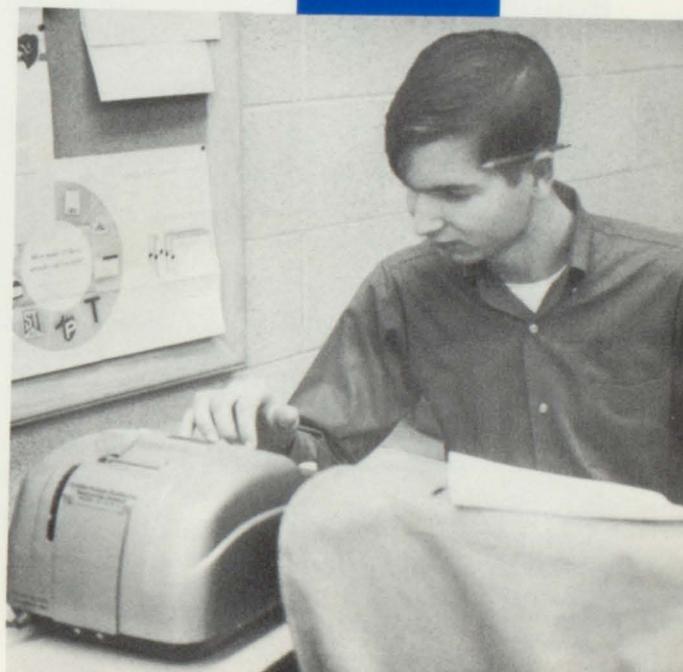

Keeping the students healthy is an important job, as Phil Webb is given the tuberculin test.

ACADEMICS

Education is the K E Y to job security. Several of the 450 students at F.H.S. are among the 750 million American youth who will not complete high school within the next ten years; however, by 1970 they will be competing for 350 million unskilled jobs . . . more than twice as many drop-outs as jobs. F.H.S. attempts to make school work interesting enough to the students to prevent their being drop-outs . . .

Students

Learning the fundamentals of Algebra is a pleasure when there is cooperation between student and teacher. Mrs. Sigler, center, learns, too, with avid students Clint McClelland and Andie Neese.

Donna Lucas and Kent Burris study triangles and prisms, an important part of learning about Geometry.

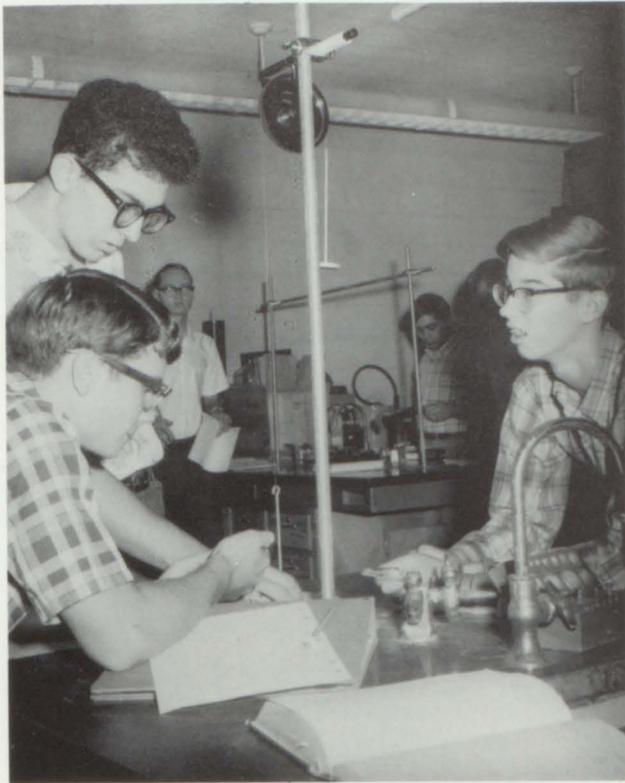

To expand the students' knowledge and workable experience in the classroom and in society is the goal of the FHS math and science teachers. As freshmen, General Math or Algebra I is offered along with Biology. Sophomores struggle with Geometry, while their Junior comparts rack their brains with Algebra II and Chemistry. If the Seniors always seem to be walking around FHS in a daze, more often than not they have gotten back test scores from Physics and Trig.

Mrs. Sharon Hasecuster, a new addition to the FHS math department, works with her fifteen Senior boys in the application of Trig functions in their daily lives.

Debbie Davis seems puzzled about a problem in Algebra class, but Mr. Emmert is always willing to help.

Gain Knowledge for Scientific World

Searching for the amoeba through the microscope are biology students Ralph Hammond and Keith Simmons.

Norman Walker, Rick Pike, and Dale Vancleave learn about forces and pulleys in Physics class.

Sheela Whitten knows that measuring chemicals correctly is an important part of every experiment.

In Pursuit of Greater Knowledge . . .

Written term reports are a part of the requirements in English III. Connie McClelland shows a model to her class with the aid of Mr. Hubbartt.

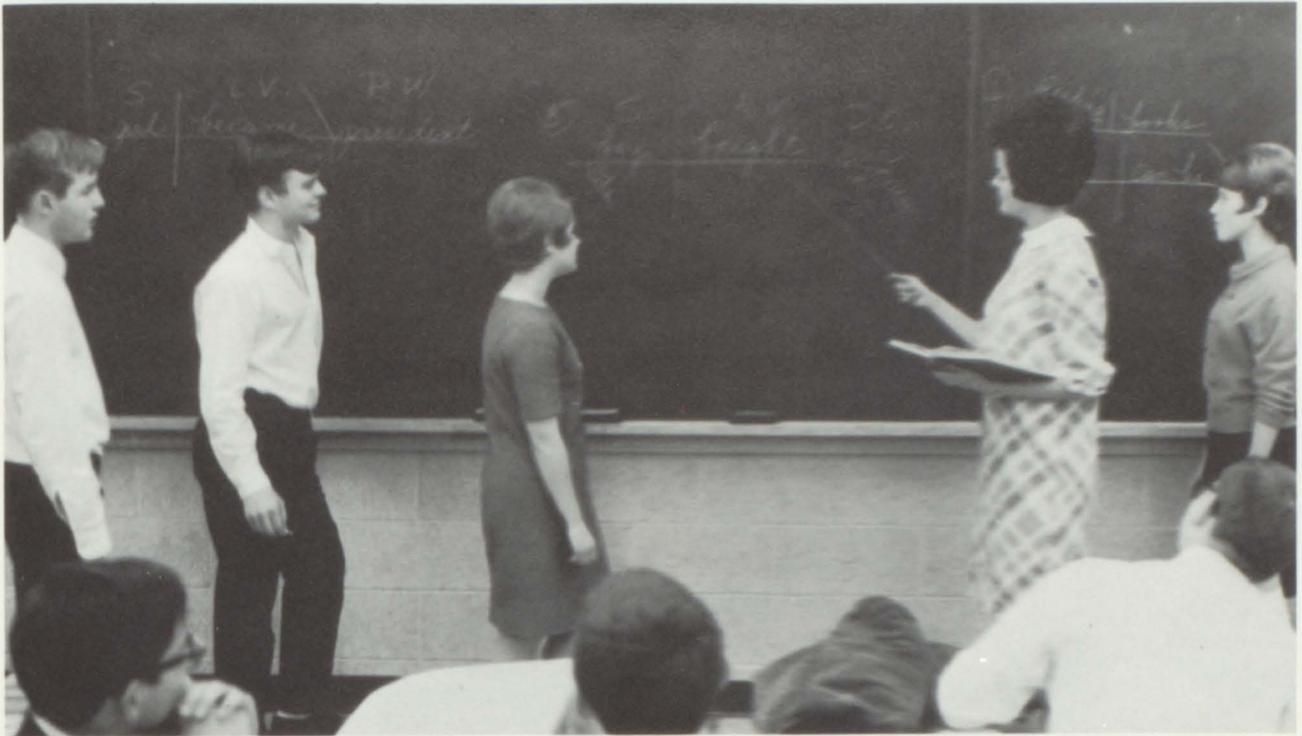

"Motorcycles" proved to be an interesting topic for oral reports in Senior English Class. Dan Smith puts a point across to classmate Rick Pike.

Conjugation of Latin verbs prepares students for later classroom work in translations.

Students Learn Basic Language Skill

Diagramming sentences is the easiest way to learn parts of speech and to see relationships of words to one another. English I students watch with interest as Mrs. Sisson makes the sentence come to life.

Speech making, book reports, themes, term papers--all are a part of the English courses at F.H.S. Five teachers comprise the staff in the department to help the students to better their knowledge of the English language and world literatures. Radio WBMP-FM, Elwood, gives seniors of English IV opportunity to broadcast school news. Reading extra books increases the students knowledge of those around them and gives insight into their problems.

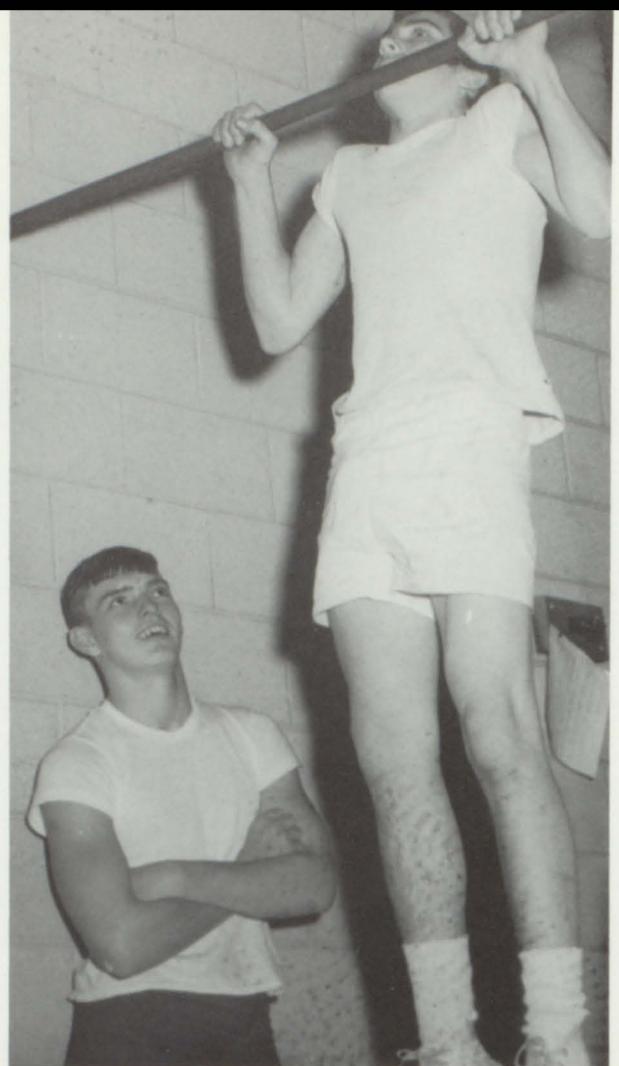

Students have a choice of taking either Latin or Spanish at F.H.S. Students spend two years learning the basics of the Latin language and delve into the culture of the great Roman Empire and of the people who originally spoke the language. Spanish has been taught at F.H.S. for the past five years and students are offered three years of the language. Students learn the basic principles of the language and then work for perfection in the art of speaking and writing in Spanish.

Mrs. Spurgeon makes use of the tapes to allow students to hear the sound of the language.

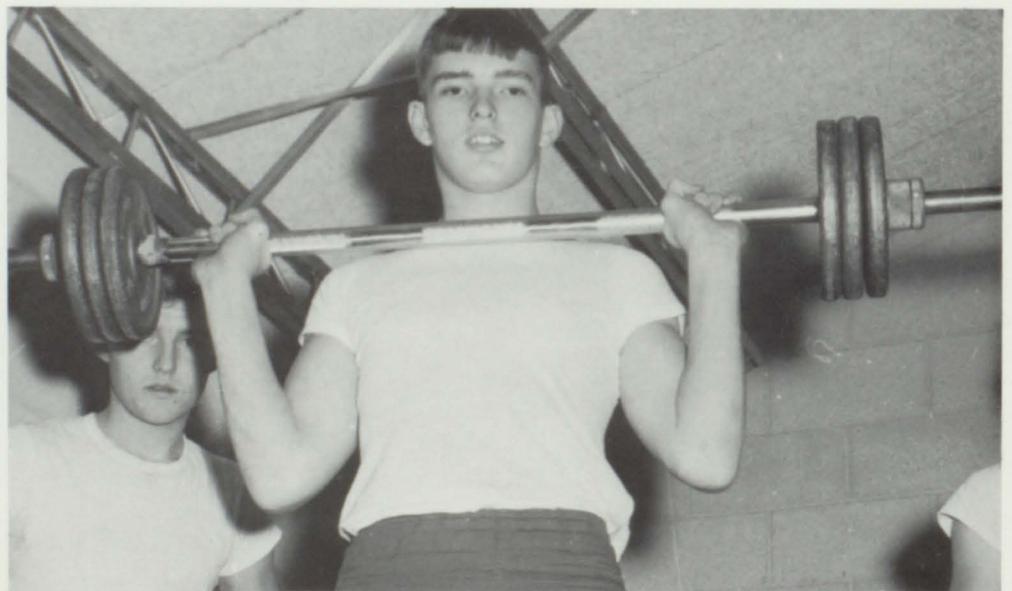

Doug Sheward "spikes" the ball in a Phy. Ed game of volley ball.

Gary Hunter goes for ten pull ups, as Fred Graham stands by ready to give encouragement.

Girls and Boys Health and P. E. Classes

Weight lifting helps to build strong bodies observes Riley McCord as he watches Fred Graham through the push-ups.

Following the Successful heart transplant, health students found the study of the human heart much more interesting. Clevenger, Arbuckle, and Hobbs do a bit of research.

Kathy Ayres takes over to put girls' physical ed classes through their exercises.

Exercise Both the Body and the Mind

F.H.S. students improve their physical condition by participation in health and physical education classes. Girls' classes are taught by Mrs. Sue Hover, while boys' classes are taught by Mr. Ted M. Harbit and Mr. David Meek.

The Girls Athletic Association has been re-activated this year with over 100 girls participating. At their regularly scheduled meetings held evenings, the girls play soccer, volley-ball, basketball--girls rules--, etc. The girls also play these same games in their phy. ed classes.

The major areas taught in the boys' phy. ed classes are individual and team sports and body building.

Both girls' and boys' health classes stress care of the body and knowledge of how the body functions.

Mrs. Sue Hover, right, girls' health instructor, introduces class members to the human digestive system.

Homemakers Learn Through Participation

Alice Mauck, Eloise Hobbs and Connie Hartz learn about child behavior through these small visitors to Home Ec. class.

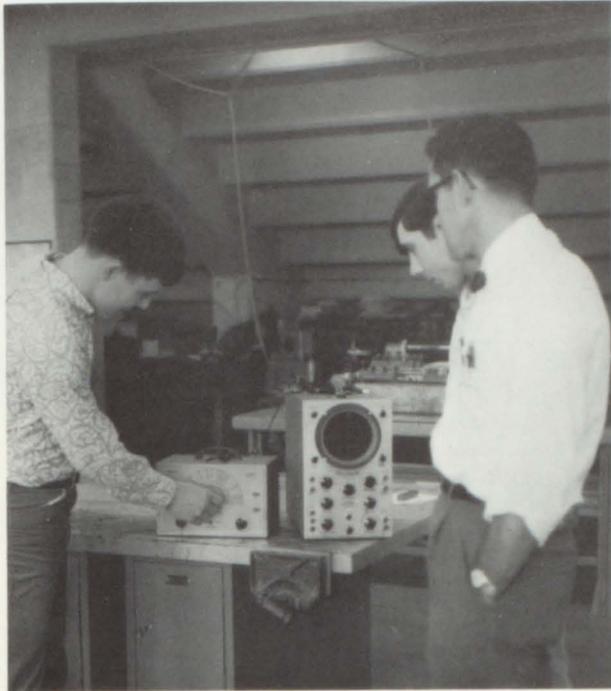

Ruth Alther reads the sewing machine, so she can begin.

Becky Mauck knows that the clean-up is important too, as she and Linda Cawthorn do the dishes.

Prepare Students for Modern World . . .

One phase of the shop course is electronics. Steve Remington checks a piece of equipment showing his aptitude in electronics to Mr. Fuller and Jim Hunter.

To prepare himself better for a job after school, Ron Ritter gets first hand knowledge by actual experience in running the metal lathe.

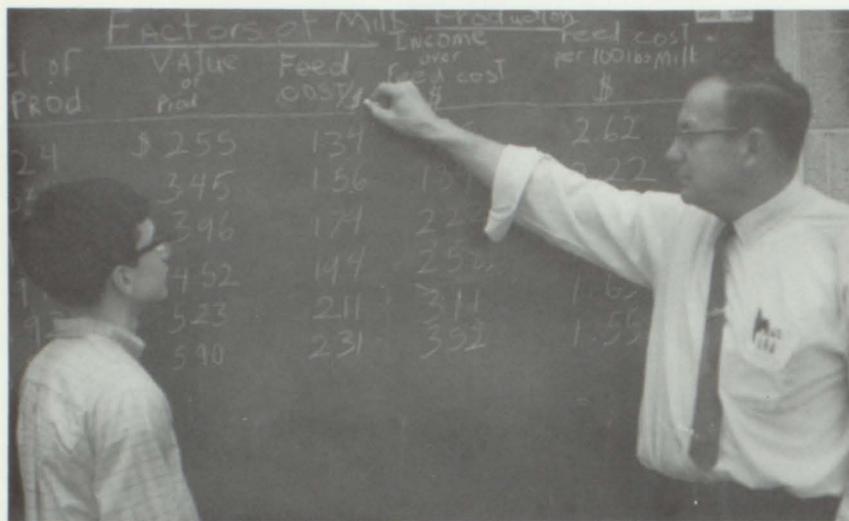

Mr. Scott Kratovil, specialized tools, and expanded curriculum modernize the Industrial Arts Department. Mr. Kratovil, shares the vocational lead with Mr. Glenn Fuller, veteran teacher. With the aid of government funds, F.H.S. has added various metal and wood working machines. Besides the standard mechanical drawing course, advanced electricity, woods, and metals have been added.

The challenging world of homemaking is opened through the enlightening Home Economics classes taught by Miss Sue Raymer, a new addition to the F.H.S. faculty. Beginning classes are taught the fundamentals of clothing and foods, while advanced classes, usually seniors, are primarily concerned with child care and development. Every sophomore girl works diligently to gain points towards her Home Nursing pin, awarded each spring.

Will Hart demonstrates proper procedure in running a drill press to fellow student Steve Davenport.

Working Experience Thru VOC Subjects—

"Small" farmers perhaps as much as the large farmer are concerned with cost of feed, etc. This information is a part of regular class work in Vocational Ag. Mark Wiggs, the small farmer, gets his information from instructor, G. Kerkhoff.

Learning to make as well as to read drawings is a part of the mechanical drawing class required of all shop majors. Jim Epperly finds this quite fascinating.

Woodworking classes learn how to finish the wood as well as to make a project. Bill Waymire, Jerry Caldwell, and John Tomey (before he lost a finger) prepare chests for the finish.

Ag boys are instructed in today's modern farm implements and farming techniques. They take field trips to local farms to judge livestock. They participate in county poultry, livestock, grain, dairy, and soil judging contests throughout the school year and bring home many ribbons.

Students Earn Credits During Summer

Summer school students take a speed test as a part of the summer school program in typing.

Summer school offers students an opportunity to earn extra credits and to take courses not offered during the regular school year. Driver Education, Music Theory, and an eight weeks typing class along with the summer band program rounded out the credit summer school curriculum. An athletic program under the supervision of Mr. Paul Davis kept some 100 youngsters as well as the baseball team busy.

With some driver ed groups beginning at 6 AM classes ran until early afternoon. Teachers for the summer classes included David Meek, Ted Harbit, Keith Davis, Robert Barker and David Bartlow.

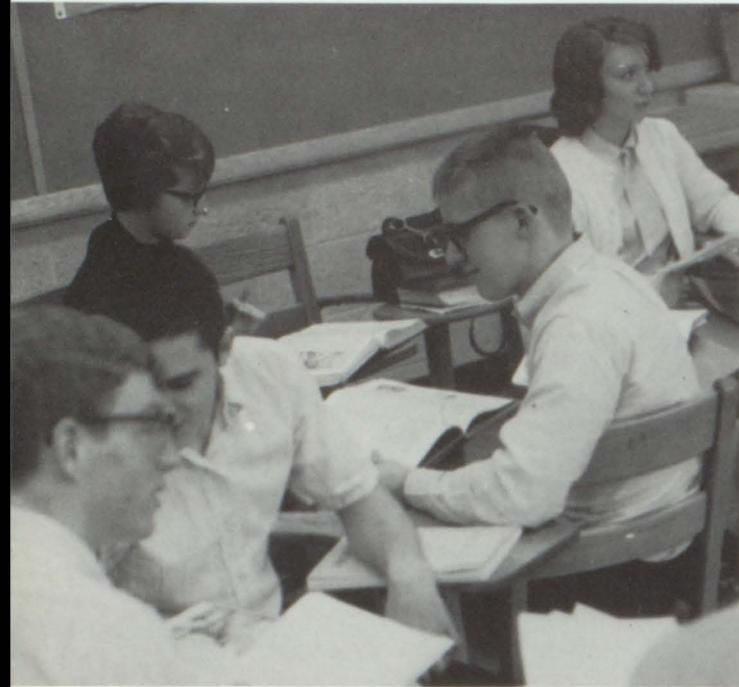

Good depth perception is an important part of being a good driver. Greg Hobbs checks Rhonda George to make sure she passes the test.

Mike Davenport and Debbie VanBriggle seem happy about taking their final drivers test.

History, Sociology, and Government

Group projects make American history classes come to life. Research plus class discussion adds interest.

Mrs. Barker, and student teacher, Mr. Orbaugh, discuss future plans for the Sociology class.

Dallas Canfield points out important battles of the Civil War to fellow students in American History Class.

American History is required for all High school juniors. The classes are taught by Mrs. Barker and Mr. Dave Meek. The students study everything from the first colonists to Americas's part in the atomic age.

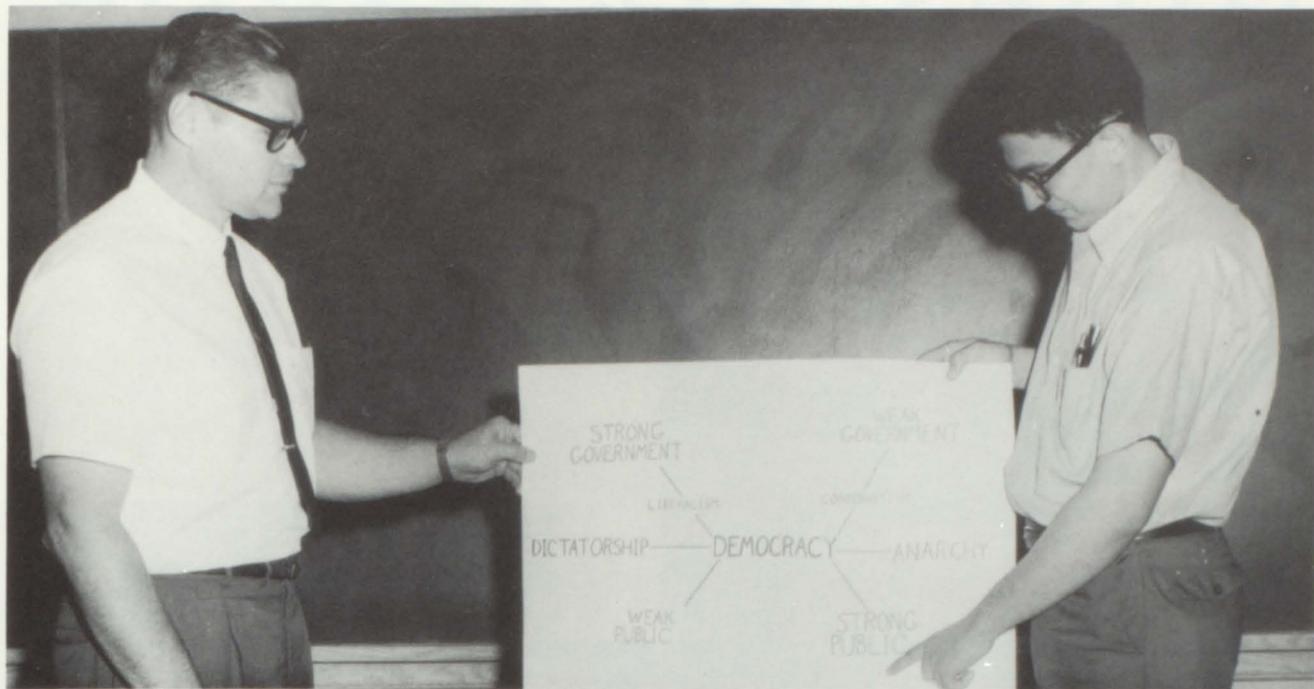

The Sociology class, usually referred to as American Problems, is taught by Mrs. Barker. The class is open to juniors and seniors.

World Geography is an elective offered to all grade levels. This year, the class is taught by Mr. Paul Davis.

Government class is taken by all seniors. The class is instructed by Mr. Paul Davis, and its purpose is to help prepare FHS students for future roles as citizens of the United States.

Together these classes have made our Social Studies Department valuable in preparing our college bound students and those who will enter our society as workers upon graduation.

Prepare Students for an Expanding World

Norman Walker, right, emphasises a point by way of the "Eye Gate" as he speaks to members of the United States Government Class on the subject of "Democracy."

Peggy Widmeyer pays close attention to Ben Singer as he points out various places on the globe that they had previously studied in Geography class.

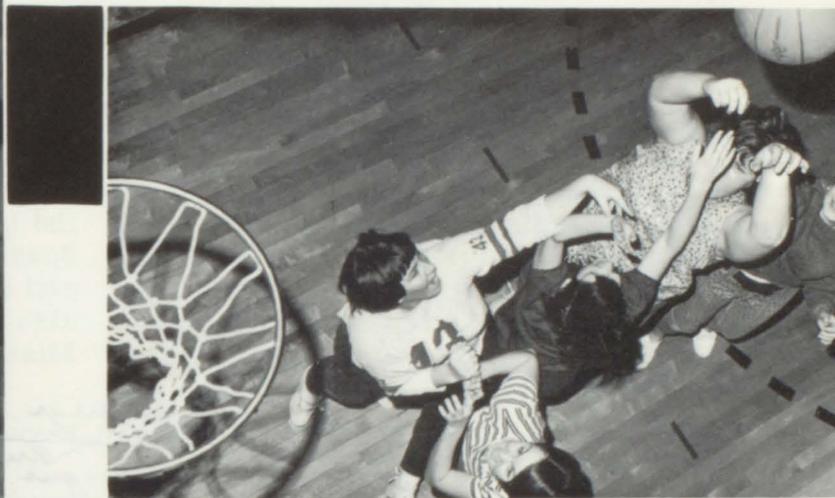

Mrs. Barker looks on as Sociology Students, Pam Berkebile, Wilford Alexander, Mike Nacoff and Norman Walker act out their roles as legislators.

ORGANIZATIONS

Organizations are the KEY to success at Frankton. The wide variety of clubs and activities add to school life and develop students into young adults. The girls athletic association was a new addition to our existing academic, religious, and athletic organizations. These clubs helped to make the school year more educational as well as more fun.

N.H.S. Members Study, Lead, and Serve . . .

Service to the school is a part of the activity of the National Honor Society. Providing decor for the annual Christmas tree gave N.H.S. girls opportunity to show their artistic ability.

Induction into the National Honor Society is the highest honor that can come to students in the Frankton High School. All students with "B" or above, with no "D's" on their record, are considered as potential candidates for the society. Faculty then choose those who are outstanding in character, leadership, and service.

The fall induction carried a patriotic theme. Officers are Marsha Kirby, president; Rick Pike, vice-president; and Connie McClelland, treasurer. Sterrett L. Nash has served as faculty sponsor since the beginning of the Eureka Chapter in 1958.

Latin Students Learn Ways of Romans

The purpose of the Latin Club is to help each member to understand the Roman customs and the Latin language. The club sponsored several major projects during the school year. A coffee table was run by the members at each home basketball game, brownies, coffee and sandwiches were sold. A Christmas party was held for the members and their guests. This included caroling and taking plates of fudge around to shut-ins. The Latin club of F.H.S. is also a member of the National Junior Classical League. Several of the members attended the district meeting at Ball State University last year. The major event to which everyone in the club looks forward to is the Latin Club Banquet. The members dress as Romans and have their banquet in Roman-style.

SPORTS

Recreational activities, including sports, contribute greatly to our enjoyment of life and provide a KEY to our becoming physically fit. Exercise promotes physical fitness when it is performed regularly. The maintenance of physical fitness is an important factor in the maintenance of health. Physical education at F.H.S. is not limited to the inter-school competitive sports but includes the regular physical education classes manned by a competent staff where students learn the correct way to exercise.

The sports program covers track, summer baseball, cross-country, football, and basketball. Football was inaugurated this year as a new high school sport.

F. H. S. Team Closes

Ron Sigler, a senior, passes the baton to running mate Phil Holt, in an exciting event against Highland HS and Pendleton.

The broad jump is an open field for FHS track men as few availed themselves last year. Faithful men stood by, however, to record the distances of those who did jump.

Getting a head start in track as a junior high track man gave Bob Ayres opportunity to win many blue ribbons in his chosen sport--the races.

Throwing his weight around brought much satisfaction to Tom Pruitt and honor to FHS as he participated in track and field events.

with 13 wins—12 losses—1 Tie Record . . .

With a record of 13 wins, 12 losses and 1 tie, Coach Harbit's Eagles started the athletic teams into a winning year. Freshman Bob Ayres set a school record in the 2 mile run of 10:36.0 on 5-5-67 at the WRC Meet.

Jim Epperly demonstrates his punting form on one of the few times the Eagles were forced to give up the ball.

After a good year as junior high football men, the newly organized "C" team composed of Freshmen and Sophomores found rather easy sailing in the first year for football at Frankton High

Coach David Meek with the able assistance of Scott Kratovil, both ex-football men themselves, began putting the boys through the paces early in August for the opening game on September 7 when they met Sheridan.

The team had a 7 win--no loss season and is looking forward to a stiffer schedule next year.

PERSONALITIES

People are the K E Y . Without them there would be no participants in our Great Modern Society. No two persons are exactly alike. It is the experiences of these individuals that tend to make personalities. These in turn make up the school and its spirit. These then are those people that play the K E Y roles at Frankton High School . . .

Keeping our students well-fed are school cooks Selma Huth, Pearl Whetsel, Alberta Land, and Edith Waymire.

Keeping the building "ship-shape" for the busy students and faculty is the tremendous job set upon the shoulders of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Henderson, FHS custodian and matron.

Thirteen loyal bus drivers haul 450 FHS students through all sorts of weather, be it rain, sleet, snow or sunshine, to school and to other activities.

Spoo, and Leonard Heaton, pause for a picture before taking the students home.

ADVERTISING

Good advertising is the K E Y to a successful business .
The business men of Madison County recognize this when they cooperate with the Eagle Staff to make the publication of the book possible --today's students are tomorrow's customers . All signs point toward Frankton which lies as our customer's

are growing

Keeping up with the increasing demands and expanding needs of our customers for more electric power is a full-time job.

To do so, we're constantly expanding.

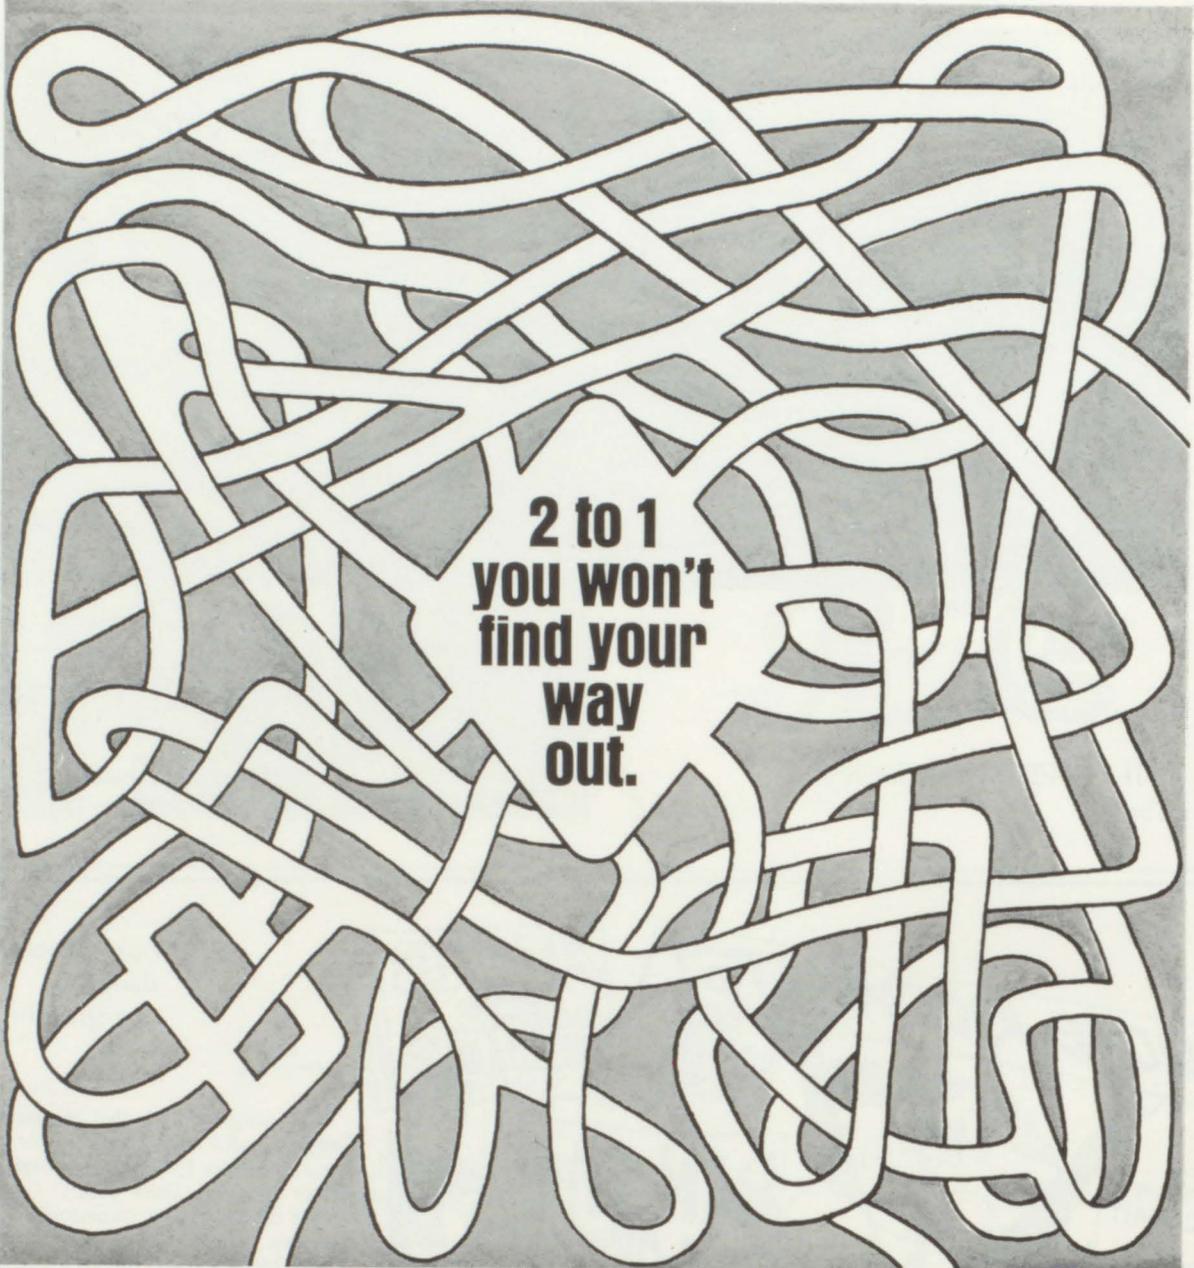

I & M will soon begin construction of a nuclear generating station on Lake Michigan that will be one of the world's largest. It will produce some 2.2 million kilowatts of electric power to serve the homes, farms, businesses and industries in I & M's two-state service area.

Using the atom for power generation is just another way we can better serve our customers with low-cost, dependable electricity.

We say that because two out of three people would have flipped this page without ever trying to get through the maze. But you didn't. And that's a good indication of the kind of career you might enjoy.

Scientists, for instance, are the kind of people who thrive on challenge. That's what leads them to science courses in school. And draws them into a lifetime of problem-solving in a scientific career.

Take our scientists. They keep seeing a better way to design ignition systems—and they do it. They never stop looking for further improvements in our generators. Without their curiosity and appetite for challenge, we could never have designed our silver zinc batteries for missiles.

And without students like you, we won't be able to meet the fantastic challenges of the future.

So, if science interests you, dig in now. Tomorrow not only needs you—it needs you to be good.

Here at Delco-Remy, we're definitely a part of tomorrow.

So we'll be looking for you. Right after college.

Before Leaving Be Sure You Have the Key

As the long school day ends so comes the close of a school year with the publications of another yearbook.

Staff members prepare to leave the building after completing the final pages of the 1968 EAGLITE.

As editor of the 1968 EAGLITE, I would like to thank everyone who helped to make the publication of this yearbook possible. Without the Delmar and Elite studies, and the American Yearbook Company, our book would have been greatly impaired. I would also like to thank the advertising solicitors and local businessmen for making our book a success financially. Thanks also go to the staff members who dedicated many hours of their time, but especially I appreciate Mr. Nash, our sponsor, who was always willing to help. And thank you, the students of F.H.S. for making the EAGLITE a success throughout the years.
