Welcome to Frankton Jr./Sr. High School !

Welcome to Frankton High School where the Eagles "fly" high and give the best effort they can to succeed in every area in school. We attempt to be the best students that we can be. For the second year in a row we, as well as our sister school Lapel, were awarded the honor of being a "Best Buy" school in the state of Indiana. We do not just excel in our academics, but also in our sports.

Sports at Frankton are really important to the students, faculty, coaches, and parents. Our football and volleyball teams did not do the best, but definitely gave a valiant effort as both made it to the second round in sectional. Our basketball teams both did really well as both had winning seasons. The boys compiled 16 wins while the girls won a record straight 18 games in the regular season and won 19 on the season. Both teams were defeated in the sectional championship games. The baseball team struggled while the softball team was a smokin' hot team.

Frankton is an amazing place to go to school. Everyone knows everyone and people are the best of friends. Fun with your friends never ends!

Frankton People

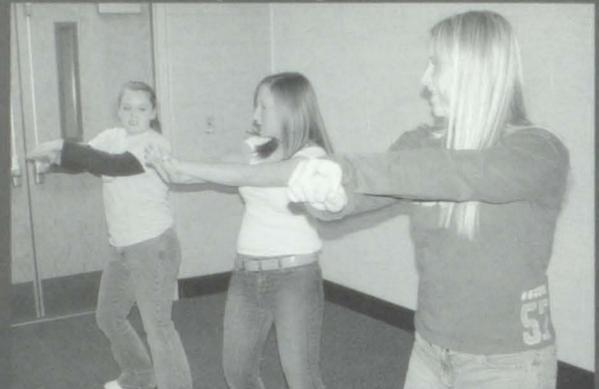

Sitting in the hallway, cheering at sporting events, special activities, hanging out with friends, these are the moments that we remember, time spent out of class where you can truly be yourself.

Billy Huntsinger, Dave Revolinski, Jill Harrison, Jon King, Allan Schmelzel, Aaron Tuttle, Jessica Paugh, Michael Church, and Vic Foster cheer at the Girls' Basketball Sectional in Knightstown.

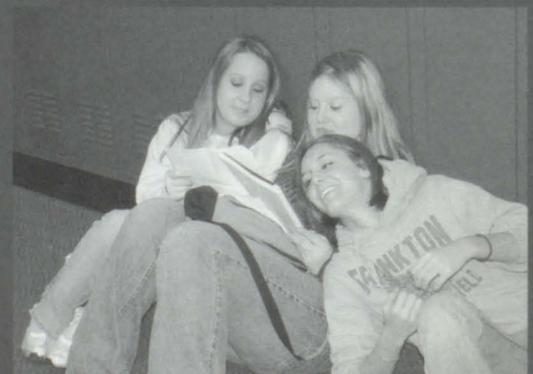

Juniors raise money at Heritage Days selling snowcones.

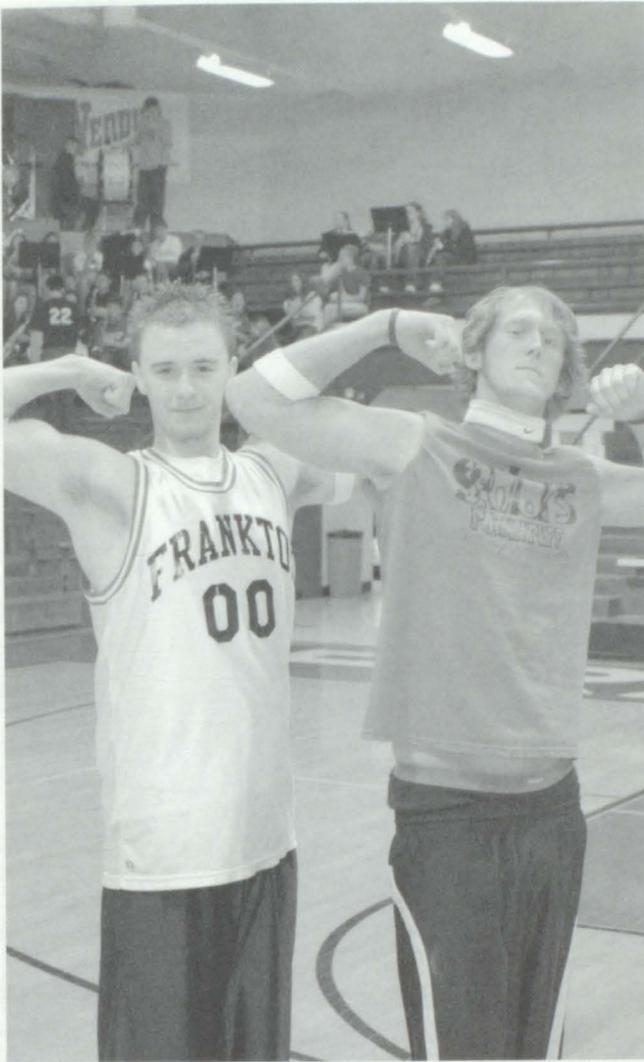

Random girls dance in the hallway.

Alex Davis and Max Hains anchor the live video announcements.

Karissa Salyer, Stephany Finney, and Ashlee Teders hang out in the hallway.

"The thing I will remember most about this year is picking on teachers with my friends."

Austin Jenness '07

Lindsay Hobbs and Stephanie Steiner help on their float.

French Club members gather before going to The Melting Pot restaurant.

Cotie Long and Walter Stamp decorate a Christmas Tree in the hallway outside the Cafeteria.

Breanne Snyder climbs the rock wall at Heritage Days.

Juniors and Seniors smile before Powder Puff.

Homecoming Parade

Who would have thought that paint, plywood, cardboard, napkins, a catchy slogan, and hard work could come out so well? The results are shown in the annual Homecoming Parade class float entries.

The Senior float, "Hey Indians, We Bet You Lose", won first place and continued the Class of 2005's winning streak with a casino theme.

The Hammer Float holds Sophomores Walter Stamp and Randall Graves.

The Juniors plan to "Mow'em Down" on their float.

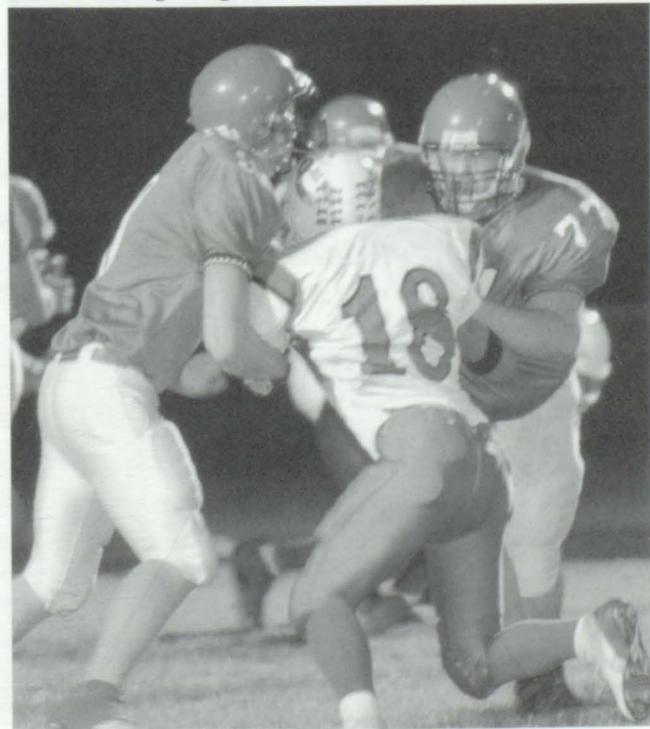

Float judges Mrs. McClintock, Ms. Edwards, Mrs. Huntsinger, and Mr. Scholl deliberate on the results.

The Freshmen float parades down the road during Homecoming.

Kayla Lacy and Eli Whitesel are crowned the 2005 Homecoming King and Queen.

"I had fun working hard on the Freshmen Class Float."

Cody Young '08

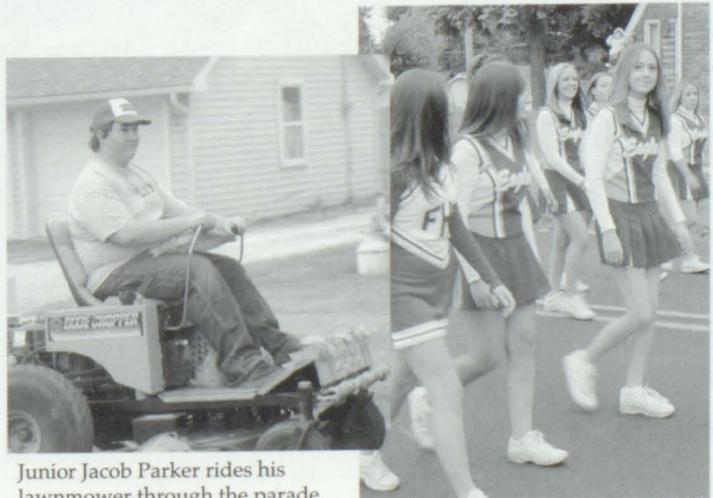

Homecoming Queen Candidates:
Shelby Borum, Kayla Lacy, Chelsea Smith, and Jill Harrison.

Homecoming King Candidates:
Eli Whitesel, Alex Davis, Daniel Knotts and Tommy Ochoa.

Homecoming King and Queen Candidates and the Underclass Prince and Princess winners pose at halftime.

Homecoming 2004

Thursday afternoon's Powder Puff game gave victory to the Class of 2005 for the second year. The games left the Juniors and Seniors tied for top honors until the float competition was complete. The Seniors finished a sweep of the contest during their high school career making them the ultimate victors. Friday night, Frankton played host to the Mississinewa Indians and fell to defeat 35-8 in the CIC match-up.

The Senior Powder Puff team celebrates their second victory.

Lillie Foust, Kayla Powell, Kelsey Davis and other Juniors cheer at the pep session before the games.

Maggie Isaacs chows down on pie for the Sophomore Class.

"My favorite part of Homecoming was Powder Puff because the Seniors dominated the field yet again."

Nicole Heath, '05

Cotie Long and Brittany Lawrence dug into the bottom of their closets to find these '80's outfits.

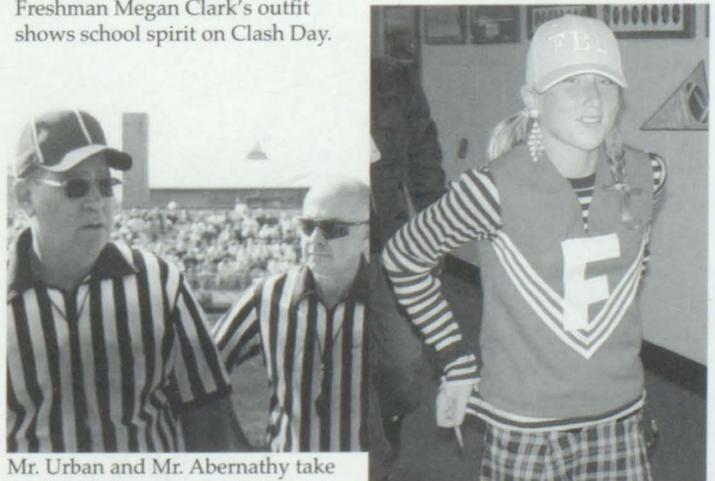

The High School Band plays on Friday afternoon.

Ashley Curtis represents the Junior Class in the Limbo competition.

Freshman Megan Clark's outfit shows school spirit on Clash Day.

The Senior girls of the Volleyball team get together after Senior Night and celebrate.

The Class of 2005 Breaks Away!

THE GOOD TIMES THAT WE HAD AS SENIORS

Our last year here is filled with memories, accomplishments, and future plans. Being a Senior means first dibs on lunch, euchre games any time of the day, and the “nose goes” game. Making your senior schedule meant trying to get a “student prison time” every other period.

Also becoming a senior tradition was tailgating in the fall before football games, and bonfires every week end in the spring.

All of these memories and traditions come at a high price. After spending upwards of $200 on graduation, $250 on Senior Trip, anywhere from $100 to $500 on Prom, and even more on college prep classes there’s not much left, but somehow we still had fun.

There’s no doubt we’ll miss our senior moments, but someday we’ll look back, Ricker’s pop in hand, and know that we did, in fact, “Breakaway.”

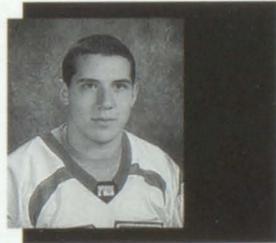

Favorite Senior Moments...

“I will never forget the night Jayda and I walked back from Hammerhead Fred’s in Panama City on Spring Break in the pouring rain. It was 15 minutes to our condo and our flip-flops kept falling off. By the time we got back we were unbelievably soaked and we both ended up with one of each others flip-flops on with them on the wrong feet.”

“Senior skip day was awesome because it’s a tradition at every school. Although we did have to take the heat for it, we really came together as a class this year.”

“Spring Break was totally righteous!”

“When I was accepted to college and realized I would be living in downtown Chicago in a matter of months. Senior year has definitely been the most memorable.”

Familiar Faces of the Underclass

The underclass has been fun this year. The sophomores did the compatibility test and put on a junior high dance. The juniors put on prom and did fund-raising for the class. The junior high was learning how to prepare for high school while the freshman class did some fund-raising during Halloween and started high school ready to continue through.

Older in Age, but Smaller in Size

Eighth Graders are now not the new kids in school. They've adjusted to having seven classes a day. They are the oldest class in the Junior High and they might pick on the seventh graders. Compared to the seventh grade, eighth grade is smaller than they are. Eighth graders have one hundred and thirty-one people in it. The eighth graders have forty-six more people than the seniors do.

The seniors have eighty-five people. The eighth grade had to do a couple of projects in science class with Mrs. Andis. You have probably seen them lining the hallway outside of the library. They will have to find out what classes they are going to take next year. The way it's been, there will be more people coming to this school in the future.

Seventh Graders Largest Class in School

Seventh graders are new to this school, and you can't miss them. They are most likely smaller than everyone else. They will have to get used to having seven different teachers. They will have to get used to being at the bottom of the food chain. They are no longer the biggest people in the school, they are the smallest. Since the new Frankton Elementary was built, more and more seventh graders filed in. Take this for instance; five years ago only eighty-five people came to this school as seventh graders. You may have to give or take a few people, but that's close. Every year it seems like, more and more people are coming to Frankton High School. Right now, there are one hundred and forty people in the seventh grade. That's about fifty-five more people that the seventh graders have compared to how many the seniors have. I believe that there are going to be a lot more people coming to this school.

Behind the Scenes with the Faculty

The faculty was a blast this year playing basketball, supporting our basketball season, with the women faculty dressing like basketball players and some of the men faculty dressing like cheerleaders. They were a big support to the students for all we did.

The year started with a few new faculty members and ended with a few more. David Gilbert was new and taught Social Studies and SPT. There were two new counselors, Emily Moulton and Patricia Catt in the guidance department, Emily Moulton said that she liked Frankton, enjoyed the staff and the students were good. The most exciting thing that she did since she came here was the skit at Snowcoming. She said that she is looking forward to next year.

Joe Dodridge became the new band director. Cathy Kelich filled in the nurse's position vacated by Peggy Hendricks while Sue Kilburn filled the new LD teaching job and was later replaced by the retired Fran Folsom. Also, Phil Abernathy became the Athletic Director.

There were three student teachers: Mrs. Deshaney had a student teacher at the beginning of the year, Claire Hunter. Mr. Ritz had a student teacher, Gabe Tudor, who started second semester. Mrs. Huntsinger also had a student teacher second semester, Ashley Mathewson. About two days a week, Bethany Whitcomb filled in for Katrice Mills, guidance secretary, who was helping out at the Central Office on a temporary assignment.

At the end of the year, principal Mike Gustin was reassigned and in early June, Jerry Hoss was named principal and James Morehead as Asst. Principal.

Sports: The

Where success is never lacking!

Frankton High School athletics is not just the same old thing here. We have pride in our sports. With a football program that has racked up numerous undefeated regular seasons, conference titles and sectional championships-they are the pride of the fall. The volleyball program received a lot of recognition this year as well because of their outstanding heart and play; as they built up their spirits in the win column. In winter comes a roar in every Indiana high school, but more so in Frankton. With winning traditions alive in the minds of this year's teams both battled for sectional championships. The boys posting a 16 game winning season and the girls posting a 19 game winning season. In the spring came the boys and girls of summer. The boys did have an off season, but did host the sectional. The girls had a tremendous season. Only losing five games this season the girls made a run for the state title. The team came up just one game short of the title losing to the Eastern Comets for the second time in the year.

Eagles Falls Short of Sectional Goal

13 Seniors to depart via Graduation

At the beginning of the season hopes were high for the veteran laden Eagles, but those hopes fell just short of a sectional championship. The Eagles, who had what is considered a subpar season, did improve as the year went along. The offense had two different quarterbacks: Ryan McAtee and Aaron Tuttle, and struggled to put points up on the board. Many of the games that the Eagles played in were low scoring and the Eagles were never really eliminated from contention. That is because their defense was definitely a force to be reckoned with. The defensive side of the ball was led by senior linebackers Billy Whitworth and Gabe Shively as well as sophomore Billy Huntsinger.

The Eagles finished the regular season 3-6, but they did not hang their heads low. They came out in the opening round of the sectional and beat arch rival Lapel, who earlier in the season handily defeated the Eagles. It truly was a defensive struggle, as the first and only touchdown of the game, the Eagles scored to win the game 7-0. The next week in the semi-finals of sectional the Eagles came up short as they lost to Carroll High School. The Eagles are going to have many retiring lettermen who should help the Eagles have a better season next year.

Junior High Struggles, but Success Looms!

The seventh grade football team did struggle somewhat this year, but when talking to Head Coach Bill Cress he assured me that this team will be extremely good when they get to the high school level. "They will be very good eventually. They just need to learn how to play the game more. When they learn how to play together as a team and grow as they get older both mentally and physically, they will be really good. They will definitely help Otis Cress out because they bring many different talents to put on the table." Coach Cress said there were still some things these young men had to learn. "They need to learn that grades matter the most. We had 30 boys go out and only 18 finish the season.

Mr. Huntsinger was not as happy with the performance of the eighth grade. "We played very up and down football. We played really well against Elwood even though we got beat, but teams that we could have beat we just played bad." Though all of the comments were not negative. "These kids were a very enjoyable group, though. They just need to learn dedications. They need to learn what it is to come to practice and work hard. Hopefully they will learn that and be successful."

Lady Eagles Fly High In Sectional

Huntsinger, Humphries, and Smith named All-Conference

The Frankton Lady Eagles Volleyball team had a tremendous year as they played in the sectional semi-championship against Muncie Burris, who went on to win the National Championship, as well as posting a pretty good record. "Anyone who came and watched the Shenandoah sectional game can use that to be an example of how much this team has improved over the year. We had great leadership from our six seniors and they really helped show the younger girls how to work together and win while doing so," said Varsity Coach

Connie Hinshaw. "Playing Muncie Burris for the Sectional was really a boost to this program. The girls finally realized that they could play with Burris and that really boosted their confidence," said Hinshaw. Next year will be a rebuilding year as there are six seniors, who also were the six starters that are leaving the program via graduation. "It will be a rebuilding year, but I think we will be just fine."

Freshman: Jeske advances to Sectional

The Frankton cross country team showed strides that have not been shown in recent memory. The girls were absolutely in every competition that they entered. "We improved so much and our times were terrific. If we would have had those times last year we would have won county easily, as well as the CIC, and would have advanced out of sectional and into the regional," said Senior team captain Taylor Linville. "We improved so much, but so did everyone that we competed against, so if you just looked at the numbers and the win to loss ratio you wouldn't think that we improved that much."

Freshman, Danielle Jeske was the only person on the team that did manage to make her way out of the sectional and into the regional. "Danielle just has this natural talent that just allows her to run and never seem to get tired," said Linville. "She is just an amazing runner!" Jeske is going to be a big boost to the program in years to come. She is going to be the shining star with the veteran seniors that were really good leaving the program to pursue their own ambitions in the collegiate atmosphere.

Junior High Shows Help is on the Way

Hodges optimistic for High School in 2006

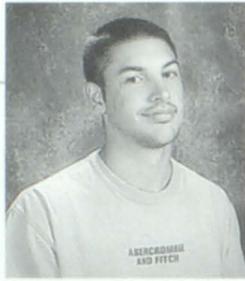

Speaking with Junior High Cross-Country Coach Abby Hodges, she guaranteed that help is on the way for the high school teams. She said that the boys as well as the girls performed so well that she believes that participation should be at an all time high next season in the high school. "The eighth grade was extremely tough and should really help out the high school if they so choose to participate. The girls had an extremely good record and were really competitive. This is one of the strongest groups when it comes to junior high cross-country."

Looking into the near future of the junior high track team Miss Hodges is just as optimistic. "We have some really good sixth graders coming up into junior high next year and this year's seventh graders are really good as well. One sixth grader in particular has really caught my eye in Ally Brown-ing. She is going to be tough." The future sounds optimistic for the near future for both high school and junior high.

Eagles Fly High With Improvement

Sanders only Eagle to advance into Sectional

Even though the Eagles tennis team finished the season 1-10 there were many bright spots. The first of many is that the team was extremely young. So many kids were either playing tennis for the very first time or were just inexperienced. The team was so small that it almost did not have a team. They just had enough and were extremely young. The next bright spot is that there were only two seniors who departed from the team. Brett Sanders and Alex Davis were the leaders of the team. "A lot of the team is young and it is hard to overcome our inexperience as a team," stated Sanders. "Yeah, I try the best I can, but I go out there to have fun," added Davis.

The final bright spot is that Brett Sanders was the only Eagle to advance to the sectional final round. Sanders was extremely happy that he got to go that far. "It was fun and a good experience to get out of sectional. Even though I played that kid from Yorktown that was really good and he beat me pretty bad it was a good experience. The last time anyone did that was in 1992 or 1993 and it was really cool," stated Sanders. "My goal was to get out of sectional and that happened, so I am overall happy with my effort and the success that I had this year."

Brittany Gardner

"The most memorable moment was having fun while doing this for four years."

Jayda Rushton

Eagles have a Historic Season

But still fall short of ultimate goal, Sectional Title

The boys basketball team started out on a good note this year. They started out going a school record 9-0 before finally losing to Anderson in the Madison County Tournament at the Wigwam in January. The boys hit a rough patch after that losing in the consolation game to Lapel and then losing five out of the last ten games in the season. The Eagles though did not falter and battled hard during their run for the program's first ever sectional championship. They could not finish the run though, with what they had hoped, falling just short of their goal by failing to beat Knightstown in the sectional championship game.

"I think that we had a good season considering some of the adversity that we had such as injuries and whatnot. We were good though because we won more games in the last two years than what we had in a season the past 20 years, so that is good. I hoped that we could be more successful in the conference and in the tournament, but I would not consider this season a failure. We grew better and put out a good product game after game. Looking at next year I think that we will be just as good. We are losing great leadership in my three seniors (Sanders, Davis, and Gardner), but the other kids will come in and put their own personal stamp on the team. We are going to work had this summer and develop our skills and come next winter we should be good," said Coach Keck.

Lady Eagles Fall Short of Goal

State Contenders Lose in Sectional Championship.

On a night that was full of hope and a continuation of Frankton Girls Basketball tradition, dreams were shattered and tears fell on every cheek. The Lady Eagles who broke numerous school records, and were arguably the most explosive in history, could not contend with the illness. Three of the five starters were extremely ill heading into the week of sectional. After expending all of their heart into a game against Knightstown on Friday, the ladies could not ward off the attack of the Shenandoah Lady Raiders. The Eagles who beat Shenandoah by one point at home in the regular season were the underdog in the papers, but in the eyes of the school the girls were the contenders to win it all, even State.

"The season was really quite a success," said senior forward Amy Huntsinger, "I wish that we would have been more successful in the sectional, but there is nothing more that we could have done. We were really a fun group of girls and we have fun playing with each other. The only thing that could have been better was having Tod all four years instead of two." "We were definitely better than Shenandoah! Winning the CIC against Elwood was great," added senior guard Chelsea Smith. "Considering we had three coaches in four years we were a well rounded team. We got along and performed really well. Getting Tod as a coach was a really good move by the administration. Hopefully he is here for a long time."

Junior High Struggles

7th and 8th struggle to get in rthym

The seventh and eighth grade basketball teams found out that having talent does not necessarily mean that you will win a lot. During this season there were many distractions that the players had to overcome. The most significant of those was the ice storm of 2005. That pushed games back weeks or just ended up cancelling many of them.

The eighth grade was very talented and had good size with 6 plus foot centers/forwards in Dylan Forrer and Brandon Gore. They also had some pretty good ball handlers like Drew McGuire and Trevor Cress. Even with this talent their record would not show you that. They finished below .500.

The seventh grade also had their fair share of depressing times as well. They too finished the season below the .500 mark. The team was laden with talent and some good height as well. If the boys just keep on working they will turn out to be even better at the next level with Coach Keck.

The seventh grade were the ones to experience the extreme highs. The seventh grade coached by Chad Vinson was really successful. They accomplished beating rivals Shenandoah, Elwood, and Alexandria. They had a finishing record of 9-5.

Taylor Linville(Captain)
Frankton High swim team

"My most memorable moment was getting to the sectional finals. Three-fourths of Highland's team did not, so that was really monumental."

Screamin' Eagles Swimming

Taylor Linville was the swimming team for Frankton. She was the first swimmer for the school since Doug Huntsinger who graduated in 2000. Taylor participated in the Hamilton Southeastern swimming sectional and was the representative for our school. During the season Taylor swam with the Highland Lady Scots swim team. "I enjoyed swimming this year. I wish that I would have done this before my senior year. The opportunity to do this was an extremely good opportunity. I kind of wish that I could have swam with a smaller program so that I would have been able to swim more. Making it to finals in sectional was my biggest accomplishment this year. Half of Highland did not make it to day two where I did. Highland never left me out of the loop though. Those girls just accepted me and made me part of the team. I felt so comfortable being around them. During meets I felt a little secluded because I swam at a different time, but it was a great experience and I loved every moment of it."

Barbie Howard
Senior

"My most memorable moment was just that it was fun and everybody became really close."

Shanna Seegraves

"My most memorable moment was that it was just really fun and I think that I am going to miss it really badly."

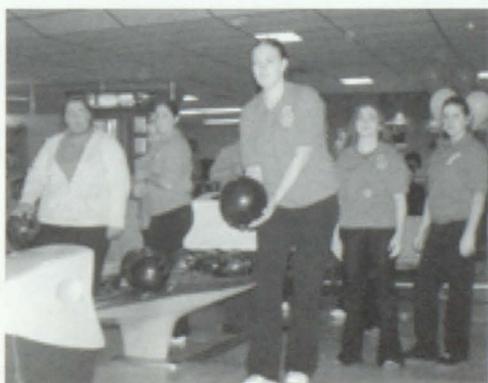

Bowling Team (Girls)
Barbie Howard, Crystal Murray, Shanna Seegraves, Sabrina Detrick, Coach.

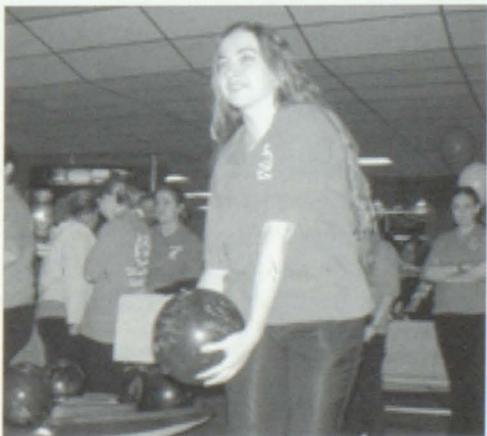

Screamin' Eagles Bowling

The bowling team was pretty successful this year. They did not manage to win any more games compared to the record last year, but according to the members of the team it was a better season. "We got along a lot better this year, stated senior captain Barbie Howard. "It was really fun to finally have some fun while participating."

Next year the bowling team will be very inexperienced with only one senior on the team. "Shanna will be a tremendous leader if she decides to come back for one more year. She is just really positive and good," again stated Howard.

Rebuilding Year

Baseball looks for success next year

Mr. Brad Buckingham and Mr. David Gilbert returned as well to coach baseball again. Coming off his second year removed from State, Buckingham is still rebuilding. That is evident in their record. "We are rebuilding, but we have a lot of good, young talent that we are developing," said the head coach.

The team did win some games and showed glimmers of what they will hopefully be in the future. "We showed what we are all about a couple of times. The kids developed a lot over the course of the season and we hope to be really good next year," stated Buckingham.

Only one senior, David Revolinski was on the line up for the Eagles. The team in excellent shape for continued improvement next year.

Lady Eagles Fall Short of State Title

The Frankton softball season was one of historic measures. The girls fell just one win short of becoming the second team in five years to win a state title. The girls completely dominated the entire season only losing six games this year. Two of those losses came to the eventual state champs in the Eastern Comets. "We open with them next year and we are really looking forward to that game. It is really going to be a great game," stated fifth year head coach Jeremy Parker.

The girls gave it their all on the way. Hosting Sectional and defeating arch-rival Shenandoah in the final innings 1-0 and then going to regional and defeating Cambridge City and No.2 ranked Indianapolis Scecina. After also conquering Bremen in the Semi-State the run came to an end with a crushing loss in the title game.

The team only lost two girls via graduation; Chelsea Smith and Jayda Rushton. The core of the team will all return to the diamond next year to hopefully bring home what was left at Ben Davis High School; the IHSAA Class 2A State Trophy!

Success for Some

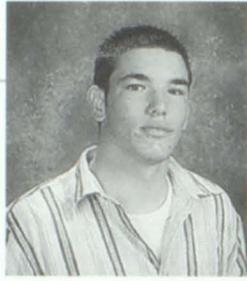

Eagles Tennis loses much leadership

T.J. Kettery returned to Frankton to coach girls tennis for a second straight year. This year was a little different. The team managed to have a little more success because of their hard work and determination.

Doubles teammates Jill Harrison and Maggi Campbell again had a tremendous run. "Jill and I had great success over the past four years. We really worked hard and it paid off," said Campbell.

They advanced to the sectional championships and failed to qualify for the regional but their run was a good one. No. 1 and No. 2 singles players Tenley Rhoades and Shoko Kawabe also had a great season.

The team loses a great deal of leadership in Jill, Maggi, Shoko, Brittany Boyland and Katie Hamilton. Four via graduation and Shoko returning to Japan. Good luck next year!

"We are really excited to have Tod here," said Senior Elliott Whitson. "He is a golf pro and the sport is a big part of his life. He knows the game really well."

The team did not really succeed a whole lot this year though. Elliott Whitson is the only Senior graduating and so the core of the team will be back. "We improved a lot and should be better next year," said Windlan.

Boys Struggle with Low Numbers

Frankton Boys Track had a very rough year. Going a dismal 0-34 during the regular season was really a downer but also is very deceiving. The talent on the team was really good. The low number of participants really made it hard for the team to compete in dual meets. It makes it almost impossible to win any meet.

The team is not going to lose that much leadership as only three seniors are graduating, Daniel McMullen, Paul Price, and Chris Sipe. Hopefully the Junior High boys who are really talented, will come up and make a difference in the team.

Team Improves, Four Advance

Girls track did a really good job improving this season. Lead by team captains Amy Huntsinger and Katey Betz the team compiled a 16-18 record overall. The biggest improvements did not come in the overall record though. The girls came in fourth in county. That is a great accomplishment given the fact they were one of the smallest teams in number of participants. Only Highland (Champs), Pendleton, and Anderson finished in front of Frankton.

The team also had four qualifiers for Regionals: Katey Betz, Candace DeLong, Amy Huntsinger, and Danielle Jeske. The team will lose some leadership. Four seniors will depart the program via graduation: Katey Betz, Amy Huntsinger, Stephanie Belesky, and Nicole Heath. If the talent in the junior high goes out for high school; the team should be good once again.

C.O. Cox

A dedicated bus driver for many years, C.O. Cox passed away in October. C.O. was the captain for the bus drivers. He liked to be around the kids so much that he drove a lot of field trips. He was a grandfatherly figure and will be missed by all.

Robert Martin

A former seventh grade student at Frankton, Robert Martin passed away in early June. Robert was visiting from Tennessee and was playing with friends around the swelled Pipe Creek when he was pulled under and drowned.

In Loving Memory Of...

Lacey Curtis

Lacey Curtis and Whitney Mason both passed away Saturday, May 7, 2005 from injuries sustained in a car accident. The two girls, along with three friends, were traveling westbound on county road 700 West when the car lost control and struck a tree. Whitney and Lacey, who were in the front seats, died instantly.

The two sophomore girls were always together. Having fun and laughing together were the two things they did best. They will be truly missed.

Jessica King
 1989-2005

As this publication neared completion we became aware of another tragedy on August 1, 2005.

A close friend and former student of Frankton Jessica King, passed away from complications from the May accident.

Best friend of Lacey Curtis and Whitney Mason, Jessica King attended Frankton schools until the second half of her sophomore year. Her enthusiasm and effervescence will be greatly missed.

Closing Remarks from the Editor-In-Chief...

Well Frankton, this is my last hooray! The yearbook is my last project of my high school career. My years here have been great, but I do feel the pull of life telling me to move on to greater and better things.

We as a school have experienced many things this year, some good and some bad. We all supported our sports teams which had really good seasons. We all performed well enough academically to be recognized by the state of Indiana as a "Best Buy" school again. We also had to deal with losing teachers, administrators, and friends. Miss Hodges left in late April for Hamilton Southeastern. She is teaching French 1, 2, and honors there. Mr. Gustin was reassigned within the corporation and left the principal job to Mr. Hoss. C.O. Cox passed away, and a tragic accident claimed the lives of three of our fellow students. Even through tragedy we stuck together and made the best of everything. I hope that this book does the experiences of this year justice.

I need to thank a lot of people though for putting in their efforts on this book. First, I would like to thank Mr. Sipe for having faith in me to do this job. I was a big one and stressful at times as well. Looking back though, it was fulfilling. Second, I would like to thank my staff: Amy Huntsinger, Shelby Borum, Taylor Linville, Allison Sipe, Anthony King, Ryan McAtee, Max Hains, Brynlee Engle, Megan Guffey, Shanna Seegraves, Caleb Green, Diana Loepke, Cassie Parr, Ashley England, Casey McGuffey, and Brittany Lawrence. You all did a really good job and I am proud of every one of you. Third, I would like to thank the newspaper editor-in-chief Kristen Kuntz. Thanks for helping with the design of the cover and for being an ear to yell into when I needed it. Lastly, Herff Jones for publishing the book for us when it was done.

The end has come and the book is done. I thank you for all that you have done for me Frankton. Good Luck to all of you still here and keep the good name of Frankton alive. That is it...Cress out!

Thank You,

Jacob Cress
