To

James H. Monahan

A skilled teacher in the commercial field, a fine soldier in World War II, a supreme gentleman, and a real friend, Mr. Monahan has endeared himself to hundreds of students of Fairmount High.

F. Stanton Galey

During the years that Mr. Galey has guided the educational program in the Fairmount schools he has proven his ability to cope with problems of various sorts. Maintaining an enthusiasm for achievement and fun, striving ever for improvement, he has commanded the respect and friendship of the students and citizens of the community.

MISS DONNA KIND
School Clerk

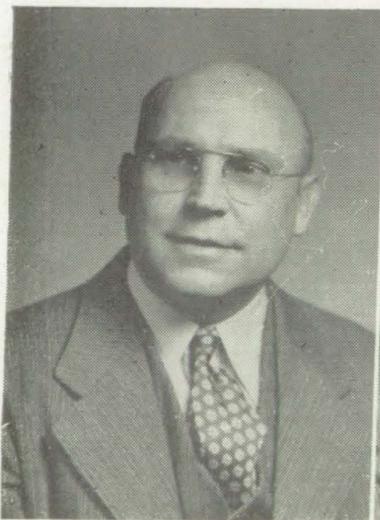

CHARLES NICHOLSON
President Joint School Board

Roland L. DuBois

Fair play, equal rights, and just treatment are elements of school administration that the students of Fairmount High have learned to admire in the three years that Mr. DuBois has been principal. Democratic, yet firm, he is earnest and friendly.

Senior Class History

Dear Diary:

Has it actually been four years since we started our journey through Fairmount High, on September 2, 1947? Oh, what a long road it looked to us, then!

The seniors that year gave us an initiation day to remember. How they decorated us with shoe polish, nail polish, and lipstick, and perfumed us with limburger cheese! What torture we went through, dear diary, before we felt as if we belonged in Fairmount High.

Our first class party was a wiener roast, more or less a get-acquainted social gathering held at the Boy Scout camp. The class officers were: James Spahr, Martha Jane Pulley, Cora Lee Clement, Pete Beck, Patsy Brown, and Janet Roth.

Traveling on up the educational road, we came to our sophomore year. This time we chose David Nall, class president; Pete Beck, vice-president; Bob Roth, secretary-treasurer; Janet Roth, historian; Mike Cosby and Delores Huston, social committeemen.

About the first thing we did was to order our class sweaters in October. We chose red, white and blue for our colors. Weren't we patriotic, dear diary? We felt like it, anyway, and proud, too.

Also, in October of that year, Martha Belle Lewis was chosen to be our carnival queen candidate, while those of us attending our skating party on October 17 had lots of fun. We were a peppy bunch!

On February 7 we presented the plays, "Which Is the Way to Boston?", "The Ghost of a Show," and a minstrel. We sponsored a Sadie Hawkins Dance, March 4, and senior Elenora Titus and junior Roy Yater won prizes for being the best dressed Daisy Mae and Li'l Abner.

Advancing to our junior year, we found our group a little more mature and working harder than ever to make money for our trip. Our class officers had changed some. David Nall was president; John Mitchener, vice-president; Donna Rich, secretary; Janet Roth, treasurer; Martha Lewis, historian; Pete Beck and Delores Huston, social chairmen.

A combined Junior-Senior skating party on September 19 started our year's activities, and it proved to be a successful financial and social event.

Delores Huston was our carnival queen candidate on October 14, and our class play, "Meet Me in St. Louis," was presented October 20 and 21. We certainly had a good turn out. Then a Kid Party was given at the home of Patsy Brown November 20. Lollipops and dolls made us feel young again.

Another grand day for us was December 12, when we received our class rings and pins. We were so bright and flashy, dear diary, that everyone thought Santa had come to visit us early.

On January 26, we sponsored a Western Dance in the high school gymnasium. All those cowboys made us feel (at least for one night) that we were out West.

In the following month, on February 21, we gave a box social in the gym. Janet Roth and David Nall were selected from the class to attend Girls' and Boys' State, June 10 to 17. Weren't they lucky, dear diary?

Then to end another year we had the honor and privilege of giving a prom-banquet for the seniors. The food was delectable, and after the banquet, the dancers gliding o'er the floor made a beautiful picture.

Then we were seniors, dear diary, advancing our last mile of the way (in high school, I mean). It surely sounded wonderful to us, and yet it made us rather sad to say farewell to our old friends, pals, and teachers in F. H. S.

To get organized for the year, our class elected for officers David Nall, president; Bud Cox, vice-president; Patsy Brown, secretary; Janet Roth, treasurer; Martha Belle Lewis, historian; Pete Beck and Phyllis Florea, social chairmen.

On our schedule for that big year we had nine Penny Suppers; three Skating Parties; a Sadie Hawkins dance, October 16; a Cowboy dance, November 20; a Bunny Hop dance, March 19; the senior play, "Harvey," April 26 and 27; a barn dance jamboree; two food sales; a paper drive; and to climax our wonderful school career we were guests at a prom-banquet, May 5, given by the junior class.

The senior class of '51 was organized into three committees, with each activity being sponsored by one committee. Mr. Donald Sollberger and Mrs. Adeline Nall Brookshire were our faithful class sponsors all four years, with Gurney Mattingly assisting when we were sophomores.

During our last year the senior mothers performed as wonderful trojans for us along with members of the faculty. They did a fine job of cooking delicious food, making our Penny Suppers successful with Martha Holloway acting as chairman of almost all the suppers. We enjoyed all four years in F. H. S., and we thank everyone who helped make it a journey of many fond memories.

So, dear diary, we said goodbye on our last day, Friday, May 11, to Fairmount High. May 20 was our baccalaureate, and May 21 our Commencement; then on Thursday, May 24, we left on our trip, which we had dreamed of taking for a long time. May the wonderful following in our footsteps experience as wondrous a journey as we had.—

SENIOR CLASS '51.

Senior Class Will

We, the Senior Class of 1951 of F. H. S. while being of sound mind and body, will the thirty-four seats in the Government room to the juniors as long as they do not mar the beauty of the gum under the desks.

We bequeath to the faculty our appreciation for a task well done.

We, as a body, wish to leave our last will and testament as stated below:

BONNIE WILSON: I will my seat in Government to my sister, Martha, and I hope she has as much fun as I did.

MARTHA HARROLD: I will my ability to anyone that can go with the same boy for two years and stand it.

DAVID NALL: I, David Nall, being of sound mind (ha) and body, will the Empire State building to the junior class to hold class meetings in. Also to Phil Eastburn, I will my superior speed so he won't be getting in late all the time.

RICHARD BECK: Last year I was willed the pitcher's mound by Vic Hilton; so this year I will the pitcher's mound to Gordon Hoheimer.

MARGIE COSBY: I leave nothing but take my husband, Mike, with me.

JOYCE RICH: I will the fun I've had this year to anyone who is lucky enough to move to Fairmount, go to F. H. S., and remember it always.

BOB ROTH: I, Bob Roth, will my ability to stay in at night and to get on the starting five to my cousin, "Wink" Payne.

PHIL GRINDLE: I, Phil Grindle, will my ability to keep out of trouble to nobody; I might need it.

MARTHA LEWIS: I will my picture to Marlene Yale, so she won't miss me next year.

MARTHA HOLLOWAY: I will my duties as co-editor of the Black and Gold to my sister, Esther, and my place in the Breeze both to my brother, Jack.

THURMAN HARTER: I, Thurman Harter, will my position on the football team, on which I played at noon, to someone who thinks he can push the tree out of his way.

MIKE COSBY: I will my ability to get along with Mr. DuBois to anyone who likes the office.

DONNA RICH: I will my luck in driving without a license (and not getting caught) to Dickie Grindle.

MARLENE PAYNE: I will my natural curls to Marietta Kemmer.

PAUL TAYLOR: I will my ability to Charles Johnson, who wants to work in the principal's office second period so he can run around and visit with Madonna Kind. You also have to work, Charles.

JOHN MITCHENER: I will my 215 pounds of solid muscular make-up, my 6 feet, 3 31/64 inches of tall, dark and handsome height, and my wonderful intellectual brain with that magic touch to Joseph Wayne Blake. Also my place on the basketball team to Dwight "Hotshot" Crouch.

JACK SHEETS: I will my ability to keep out of trouble to Dick Jones.

PHYLLIS FLOREA: I have nothing to will, so I will plenty of nothing to Margaret Webster and Kay Ann Smith and hope they have as much fun with it at Fairmount High as I did.

NORMA MILLER: I will my scientific knowledge, what I have of it, to Lowell Blair.

JAMES SPAHR: I will my ability to graduate to Harold Scott.

WAYNE NAVE: I, Wayne Nave, will my good behavior to Dean Shrontz; he'll need it!

PATSY BROWN: Ability to take typing for two years and still be sane I leave to any underclassman who can do the same.

ARLENE DAVID: I will my ability to tell jokes and get a big kick out of them myself to Sue Smith.

BUD COX: I will my ability in chemistry to my niece, Ramona Stroup.

JANET ROTH: I will to my sister, Linda, the courage it takes to sit in front of Mr. DuBois' desk in U. S. Government class.

CORA LEE CLEMENT: I will my ability to write lots of letters, read part of the time, flirt with the boys, keep a messy locker, and still get my school work done to anyone who thinks they have the time.

JACK DRAPER: I will my place in geometry class to anyone who wants it.

LEONARD KIMES: I will the fun, which I have had the last four years, to anyone who wants it; and I wish the kids who take Plane Geometry by one means or another, good luck.

PAT KIRKWOOD: I will to my brother, Valgene, my ability to get a diploma, but I doubt if he ever does.

ESTHER MAE DUNHAM: I will my interest in chemistry to Marilyn Sue Harvey.

CLINTON MOORE: I, Clinton Moore, will my baseball suit to my brother, Tom.

MARJEAN PAYNE: I will my typewriter to anyone who can make it spell better for them than it did for me.

BARBARA PRATT: I will my office position to anyone who likes to wait on teacher's slips.

JOHN WEBSTER: I, John Webster, will my ability on the basketball team to "Deadeye" Dickerson.

MARTHA JANE PULLEY: I will my position as president of the Booster club to Uva Hollenbeck.

BETTY TODD: I will my ability to follow in Mrs. Brookshire's footsteps to anyone who thinks she won't weaken.

BARBARA KISTLER: I will my ability to be engaged for a year and yet remain single to anyone who thinks they can wait that long.

BETTY ASHBA: I will the ability to make up 12 weeks of school to my sis and brother, if they are dumb enough to quit.

BILL UPDEGRAFF: I will my car driving ability to Francis Stephens and John Smith.

Class Prophecy

After strolling through the halls of Fairmount High School, I have found a lot of kids still running around that I know. Of course, they were a lot younger when I was a senior. 1951 doesn't seem like 10 years ago, but lots of things have happened since then to the gang I graduated with. I've been checking up on some of them since I arrived home.

I've made several trips to various parts of the World in the past 10 years. Most of my time has been spent in Africa, where I've done a lot of exploring for science and quite a bit of work for several U. S. zoos, capturing wild animals. I've written a lot of books in my spare time, several of them have been best sellers. I ran across one of my old friends, Jim Spahr, on several of my expeditions in Africa. He's a well known animal hunter there. He's a dead shot, having killed at least one of every kind of animal in Africa. He's generally on a safari; his wife, Joyce Rich, another old friend of mine, always goes along to do the cooking for him.

On my way back to the coast to catch my boat, I cut across part of the Sahara Desert and ran across a division of U. S. soldiers. Behind them, in a jeep was their commanding officer, and was I surprised to find out that it was Thurman Harter, a four-star general in the U. S. Army. He still looked the same, even in his khaki shorts and sun helmet.

When I arrived in New York City, I looked up Arlene David. She's a Powers model now. We went to a baseball game that afternoon at Yankee Stadium. Richard Beck was pitching for the Cleveland Indians against the Yankees, defeating them in a shut-out game.

On my way home, I stopped in Ohio to see one of my old classmates, Phyllis Florea (Mrs. Jim Norris now). Her husband is teaching at Ohio State. I learned while I was there that Esther Dunham is working in a laboratory in Toledo as an assistant to a noted scientist.

When I arrived in Marion, I ate supper at Miller's Supper Club where Betty Ashba is singing now. She sings in American and Chinese (to go with the food). I went down to the Chronicle Publishing office to see Martha Jane Pulley (Mrs. Harold Rogers) who is copyreader for the paper. Her husband is head printer for the firm.

I took a bus to Fairmount and got off at Fulkerson's corner on State Road 9. Mrs. Fulkerson is the former Marlene Payne. I went on down the road a piece to see Marjean Payne, who runs a fruit and vegetable stand during the summer. She collects a pretty good income from it. She told me Donna Rich and her husband, Bill Druck, owned a large cattle ranch in Texas. Jack Sheets is in Texas at Lackland Airbase, testing jet planes.

Bill Updegraff is down south, too. He runs a showboat on the Mississippi, and I hear he's the best card shark on the river. John Webster is down there also, but he'll be back soon. He runs a private bus line from Fowlerton to Miami. His bus stop in Fowlerton is Kirkwood's cafe. Pat Kirkwood runs this new restaurant, which Nave Construction Co. just finished building for her. Wayne Nave is head of the company. Phillip Grindle did the plumbing job, and John Mitchener, who owns a large electrical plant in Fairmount, was hired to do the wiring. John is a stand-in for "Gorgeous George," in his spare time, now.

Leonard Kimes just kept on farming after graduation. He has been very successful, too. He owns one third of Indiana now. Mrs. Lee Moorman has been doing some work for him lately. She's the former Barbara Kistler and the only lady veterinarian in Grant county.

Several of the boys have stuck with basketball. Bob Roth is head coach at Butler University, and Buddy Cox is the star player for the Minneapolis Lakers. Speaking of Minnesota, I learned that Mrs. Emory Ring (Martha Holloway) is up there as a traveling evangelist. Paul Taylor is up north also and I mean really! He's in the Yukon digging for gold. He intends to furnish the money for a new high school at Fairmount. One of his best backers is my old friend, Cora Lee Clement, who is teaching French at Fairmount High School.

Several of the kids have stayed in the thriving metropolis of Fairmount. Martha Belle Lewis has been managing the Ben Franklin Store for Mr. McAlister since he retired. Clinton Moore runs the Fairmount Mill and his friend, Jack Draper, is a practicing physician at the new Fairmount General Hospital. Mrs. Gene Miller (Norma Nelson) has a large family, but she says 12 children are no trouble at all. Bonnie Wilson has a beauty parlor on Washington Street. She's Mrs. Kenny Harrold now. Her sister-in-law, Mrs. Morris Stewart (Martha Harrold) is very busy on her large chicken farm.

Some of my classmates have gone west. Mike Cosby is in Hollywood as a stand-in for Gene Kelly. His wife, Margie, is his private secretary. Barbara Pratt went to Chicago where she is playing the part of "Baby Snooks" on the radio.

I'm going to Washington, D. C., my first visit since 1951, very soon to see one of my dear friends, David Nall. As you all know, he's President of the United States, the first successful Republican since Hoover. Patsy Brown is his private secretary. Janet Roth is in Washington serving as a private secretary to J. Edgar Hoover of the F. B. I. And last of all, Betty Todd is busy campaigning just now as Republican senator from Indiana. Don't forget to vote for her.

CLASS HISTORY

The 1950-51 Junior class officers were elected in the spring of 1950 so that the big problem of earning money for junior and senior activities could be tackled early last fall. Consequently, the resumption of school in August was a matter of routine for the class of '52.

With the opening of school, the juniors were eager to order their class rings. On October 6 these were selected and ordered from the Herff-Jones Company in Indianapolis. Finally, on December 4, the rings were received with much joy.

October brought plenty of work in connection with the fall festival. Junior activities consisted of a fun house, shooting gallery, and the Junior Follies. As candidates for king and queen, the class chose Martha Wilson and Larry Lee Smith.

Next came the junior class play, which was enjoyed thoroughly by all who attended the two school showings and two evening presentations on November 20 and 21. The title was "Our Miss Brooks." Billie Jo Wallace was "Connie."

To make money for a much anticipated senior trip, the movie "Mr. Belvedere Goes to College," was booked for an all-school showing on April 2. A work day and three bake sales were also organized for raising trip and prom money.

Plans for the eagerly awaited Junior-Senior Prom were being worked on to climax a great year of fun and accomplishments as this annual went to press, and in the minds of all class members there already existed a definite "senior" feeling.

Class sponsors for the year were Miss Marilyn Kimberlin, Mr. Paul Weaver, and Mr. Hugh Caughell, while their Student Council representatives were Billie Jo Wallace and Larry Hughes.

CLASS HISTORY

The class of '53 or the present sophomore class of 1950-51 got off to a rather slow start in regard to class activities. However, the intensity of organized group projects later on made up for their lax beginning.

Heading their list was the all-school carnival or Fall Festival, as it is generally termed. This event required much discussion and later lots of hard work. But the class felt their efforts paid off in dollars and cents. Particularly profitable were their concessions which included basketball toss, spill the milk bottles, palm reading by Mrs. Gilbreath, and telegrams. Of course, the class' popular king and queen candidates, James Ellingwood and Wanda Carr, brought in a considerable sum.

With the reorganization of the school's Student Council the sophomores were obligated to appoint two members. They chose Phyllis Shaver and Bill Payne.

The next big occurrence was ordering and arrival of class sweaters. Maroon trimmed in white was the final choice, which proved very satisfactory when they finally donned their class garb on November 15.

December 21 was the date for their first semester party. Their next project was an all-school skating party on February 7. In spite of the bitter cold the affair was successful both socially and financially. A second skating party was then scheduled for Monday, March 5.

To end the year the class planned an Auto-graph dance to be held in connection with the "Black and Gold."

Freshman Class Officers

CLASS HISTORY

Food sales, plastic towel sales, initiation, a mothers' club of "54", apron special, assembly program, Fall Festival, election of officers, class meetings, Kid party — these were some of the many activities of the freshman class.

The class of '54 started off with a bang with 72 members at the beginning of the school year, but losing about 14 of them during the year. Class sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cloud. Student Council representatives were Judy Sicks and Rex Buller.

The freshmen had a big year. Some of the money making projects included three food sales, a plastic towel sale, and apron special. All were financially successful. A Mothers' club was organized for the class of '54. There were class parties both semesters. The first was a kid party and the second one an out-door event.

Candidates for king and queen in the Fall Festival were Jim Mitchener and Judy Sicks. The freshmen booths were the sponge toss and balloons and darts.

On the lighter side, the freshmen initiation was one of the best in recent years, thanks to the seniors. Who will ever forget Mary Agnes Partridge's skating exhibition or Buss Williams' refreshments, pictured elsewhere in this book. The freshman class program revealed a lot of talent, especially in the singing category.

Although they have just completed one year of high school, most of the members are looking forward to the next three years of work, fun, and achievement, climaxing in commencement and the much-anticipated senior trip.

Eighth Grade Officers

CLASS HISTORY

When the eighth grade class entered Fairmount High School last year from Fowlerton, North Ward, and West Ward, they elected Roger Pulley, Bill Pulley, Dorothy Nelson, Ramona Stroup, and Carolyn Small as class officers, while Mr. Earl McAnally and Mr. Raymond Elliott sponsored the group. Their candidate for carnival queen was Patricia Corn.

To begin their second year at Fairmount, the class held a meeting to elect their new officers for the year. Those selected are pictured above. Representatives for the Student Council were David Blair and Sara Hayes.

On October 6, the class enjoyed a wiener roast and scavenger hunt. Also in October, they sponsored a pony ride at the Halloween Carnival. Ramona Stroup and David Blair were chosen by the class as the eighth grade class queen and king candidates.

The class was very successfully sponsored by Miss Joan McTurnan and Mr. Earl McAnally.

Outstanding in the year's activities was the Christmas play, "The Christmas Apple," which the class gave as their assembly program. The occasion will be especially memorable to Miss McTurnan, who received a beautiful bouquet of flowers from the class for directing the play. Larry Thompson had the honor of making the presentation.

No longer are these students children, but young men and women, ready to embark on their regular high school career as freshmen when school opens this fall.

Seventh Grade Officers

CLASS HISTORY

The seventh grade of Fairmount High School opened the 1950-51 year with 77 scholars present. They came mostly from North Ward, West Ward, Fowlerton, while two entered from Summitville.

On October 13, 1950, the high school held its annual Fall Festival at Playacres, and in line with established custom the seventh grade supervised the fish pond. Shirley Thompson and Mike Kemper were the candidates chosen for king and queen by class members. Sue Gaither and Jerry Blake represented the class on the Student Council.

One worthwhile event of the year was a project to help the P. T. A. in purchasing a movie projector. The seventh grade did this by selling iced tea for the P. T. A. back to school party in September. They earned a profit of $14.50.

The seventh grade held its first party on December 7 in the gym. Planned by the social chairman, Susan Johnson, and aided by the room mothers, Mrs. Roy Eltzroth and Mrs. Lewis Crist, the party was a success despite the cold weather.

Class sponsors for the year were Mr. Raymond Elliott and Mr. James Monahan, who helped guide and adjust the young students to the more mature ways of our school. However, the class members were quick to become a part of the school by playing on the junior high ball team, serving in the Booster club, participating in the band, acting on the Student Council, meeting with the Polly Pigtales, and in general becoming an integral part of Fairmount High by their daily progress in academic, athletic, and social groups.

Fall Festival

Fall Festival time in F. H. S. exhibits more school unity and cooperation among all school groups than any other period during the year. An outstanding example of this united effort to provide fun and fund raising projects along with a little formal social life is the election and crowning of the carnival King and Queen. Each class has the privilege of choosing a candidate for these regal offices. The practical angle is supplied by the cash that must accompany each nomination and every vote. Nominations cost a quarter while votes were a penny each with no limit to the number of votes a person could cast.

This year the Festival occurred October 13, at Playacres, the first time it had been held completely outdoors. Although competition was keen as usual this year, the king and queen chosen were the senior candidates, an almost traditional result. The selected rulers were Robert Roth and Marlene Payne, who demonstrated many times throughout the year their worthiness of the honor.

Four Honor Awards

D. A. R. Winner

Patsy Brown was one of three senior girls chosen by her classmates as candidates for the school's best citizen. From this slate the faculty voted for Patsy to represent Fairmount High in the county D. A. R. contest. It was a great honor for our school as well as for Patsy to win over the girls from other county schools. As Grant County's choice, Patsy's winning paper was entered in the state competition.

Receiver of Don Rhoads Trophy

For the second time Kenneth Martin awarded the Don Rhoads Trophy, which he originated, to a member of the varsity basketball team. John Mitchener was the '51 recipient, having been chosen for his sportsmanship, academic achievement, and value to the club during the season. The presentation was made at a dinner given the team by the American Legion at the Ranch House on March 8.

Delegate to Girl's State

Sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary, a junior girl of F. H. S. is privileged each year to attend Girl's State, which meets for a week during June in Bloomington. The delegate is chosen by the high school faculty for her leadership, character, service, and scholarship. This year Billie Jo Wallace received the honor of representing Fairmount High School.

Delegate to Boy's State

Joe Kelsay was chosen by the faculty for his sociability, alertness, and good sportsmanship to attend Boy's State next June in Indianapolis. Each year the American Legion sends a junior boy to this meeting in Indianapolis. Both Joe and Billie Jo should represent Fairmount High School well and reflect credit to their sponsors, the American Legion and Legion Auxiliary.

QUILL AND SCROLL

The local chapter of the Quill and Scroll was organized in November of 1945 under the direction of Miss Roberta Wills. This is the chapter's sixth year at Fairmount.

Members for this society are chosen from the Journalism class each spring. Quill and Scroll is a purely honorary society; therefore, it has no officers. Each member must be of junior standing, rank in the upper third of his class and must have done some type of superior journalistic work. Too, he must be approved by the journalism advisor, the principal, and the executive secretary of the national organization. Members for 1950-51 received their pins during the class period on January 26. Special recognition was given to the editors and business manager by the addition of an extra bar attached to the regular pin bearing the person's position.

Standing: Martha Holloway, Donna Rich, Martha Jane Pulley.

STUDENT COUNCIL

As the result of student demand and through the encouragement and guidance of Mr. Roland DuBois, principal, the Student Council was revived last fall as an active group in the life of the school. Starting off with a vigorous campaign for the election of a president, the organization membership culminated in class meetings and elections following auditorium speeches by president candidates and their supporters. Backed by David Nall, Thurman Harter won on the platform, "Fun, Freedom, and Fair Play for Fairmount High." Harter's only opponent was James Spahr, whose campaign manager was John Mitchener.

While the Student Council's progress has not been phenomenal it has been steady. Exercising governing powers over the student body in areas where the school administration is ineffective as well as those areas wherein the administration works hand in hand with the student body, the Student Council was able to promote the general school welfare effectively. One example of their successful efforts was the formulating of some definite rules concerning the cafeteria line. The council suggested that the line be formed by class segments, with a different class having the privilege of being first on succeeding days. Controlling behavior in the line also fell under their jurisdiction.

Now that this much needed link between students and faculty has been established, another year should see widening spheres of influence and increased prestige for the Student Council. One money-making scheme was sponsored during the year. This was the sale of Quaker T-Shirts. Mr. DuBois performed the duty of faculty advisor.

Standing: Sue Gaither, Sara Hayes, Rex Buller, Billie Jo Wallace, Phyllis Shaver, Judy Sicks, Larry Hughes, David Blair, Jerry Blake.

Seated: James Spahr, vice-president; Martha Lewis, secretary; Mr. DuBois, faculty advisor; Billy Payne, treasurer; Thurman Harter, president.

HONOR SOCIETY

On March 23, 1927, a group of out-standing students at Fairmount High School received a charter officially designating them as chapter 589 of the National Honor Society.

To be chosen a member of the National Honor Society is the highest honor that can come to a student of Fairmount High School. Since the creation of the local chapter there has been a steady succession of students who have had the distinction of belonging to this group.

Leadership, character, service, and scholarship are the four fields in which high school boys and girls must excel to achieve membership in the National Honor Society. Then each candidate must be voted upon by the faculty.

The society chose the following officers for the year 1950-51 early in the fall: president, Donna

Ruth Rich; vice-president, Patsy Brown; secretary, Janet Roth; and treasurer, Martha Belle Lewis.

New members were taken into the society on February 1, and a party was also held in February for the following new members, Shirley Hill, Jack Sheets, John Mitchener, Marlene Payne, Martha Holloway, and Joyce Stitt.

It is unfortunate that senior members who are elected in May cannot be listed here; nevertheless, the honor is none the less.

Second row: John Mitchener, Martha Holloway, Marlene Payne, Shirley Hill, Joyce Stitt, Jack Sheets.

PRAYER BAND

The Prayer Band, a religious organization, met during the year every Wednesday noon in the auditorium. At one of the fall meetings the group elected new officers for the year as follows: president, Martha Belle Lewis; vice-president, Jim Colter; secretary, Phyllis Stanley; treasurer, Evelyn Adams; pianist, Linda Kerschner; song leader, Jim Cromer; and assistant song leader, Evelyn Adams. The group enjoyed many interesting and worthwhile lessons prepared by their president and faculty advisor, Mr. Raymond Elliott. During the meetings they talked and meditated upon the Bible, which was read and discussed.

In 1940 the Prayer Band was first organized under the inspiration of Betty Todd Love and Maxine Spence King. This organization, however, did not become a school organization until 1945 when Mrs. Myrtle Gilbreath became the faculty advisor, a position she held for four years. Mr. Elliott became the faculty advisor in 1949.

F. H. A.

The Fairmount chapter of the Future Homemakers of America was organized October 1, 1948, with Miss McTurnan as advisor. The first meeting of the 1950-51 school year was held in August early last fall. As chapter mother for the year the group selected Mrs. Edward Rich, mother of Donna Rich. Officers for the year were: president, Donna Rich; first vice-president, Billie Jo Wallace; second vice-president, Kay Ann Smith; secretary, Sue Hill; corresponding secretary, Lola Small; treasurer, Jill Corn; song leader, Janet Roth; recreation leader, Margaret Webster; parliamentarian, Wanda Carr; historian, Lucretia Smith; reporter, Gardenia Latta.

As usual one of the school's most active organizations, the Homemaking girls sponsored numerous projects including Fall Festival booths, a Valentine's day Soc Hop, an unusually successful courtesy week, starring Billie Jo Wallace, Sue Hill, David Nall, and John Mitchener in the courtesy court, which climaxed the week. Teas for all six classes of the school provided real experience for formal conduct as a part of the courtesy program. Mr. and Mrs. Galey and Mr. and Mrs. DuBois along with representative students formed the receiving lines.

POLLY PIGTAILS

For two years now the Polly Pigtales have existed as an organized activity. Membership into this club is limited to seventh and eighth grade girls who are interested in homemaking and the acquisition of social poise and grace. For the year 1950-51 the girls elected the following officers:

President ..... Janet Reasoner
Vice-president ..... Norma Sullivan
Secretary ..... Judith Kerschner
Treasurer ..... Jane Crist
Recreation Leader ..... Janet Holloway

Assistant Recreation Leader ..... Susan Johnson
Historian ..... Bonnie Ancil
Song Leaders ..... Sue Gaither, Phyllis Dailey

Two girls from the Future Homemakers served as student sponsors. These girls, Lola Small and Marjean Payne, assisted Miss McTurnan in guiding the Polly Pigtales in their activities. Projects for the year were selected to acquaint the girls with the different phases of the Homemaking and Home Economics department of Fairmount High School.

OFFICE HELP

One of the smallest but most important groups in school is Mr. DuBois' crew of office assistants. Composed of both boys and girls, these student helpers are chosen for their courteous manners, efficient methods, and willingness to serve the students and teachers.

Some of their many duties include receiving out-of-school callers who have business with the principal, taking messages to students and teachers, and keeping office records. This last-mentioned function is probably their most essential work and includes such duties as writing excuses and passes when Mr. DuBois is in class, checking and collecting absence slips first, fourth and sixth periods, and recording data of this nature in the permanent records.

Naturally a knowledge of typing is a necessary requirement for some of the helpers who work on records. Of course, the principal has many other tasks which demand skill in typing like preparing official letters, making up honor rolls, listing names of students, etc. Mr. DuBois was fortunate this year to have an industrious and efficient corps to assist him with the routine and unexpected business, which is always present in a high school principal's office.

Standing: Martha Jane Pulley, Pete Beck, Barbara Pratt, Paul Taylor, Marjean Payne, Joyce Stitt, and Mr. DuBois at the desk.

PROJECTIONISTS

Supervised by Mr. Donald Sollberger, the "Projectionists" are a group of boys who run the movie projector for the showing of films to classes. Such an organization had not been active in Fairmount High School since 1948. However, the acquisition of a new projector by the P. T. A. for high school service was an incentive for renewed interest and reorganization. Mr. Sollberger, who has taken special training in the operation of visual aid equipment has taught his assistants well and arranged a schedule making at least two boys available each period. Student operators have not only proved highly efficient in the performance of their duties, but they have also relieved the teacher who is using the film, of looking after the technical aspects of showing an educational movie. As a result, far more teachers have employed teaching films than ever before. The school is indebted to the P. T. A., Mr. Sollberger, and the projectionists for making its visual instruction program pleasant, efficient, and educational.

STUDENT LIBRARIANS

"Where can I find something about plastics?" "Do you have a copy of 'In Flanders Field'?" "What was the U. S. population in 1900?" "Is 'Cheaper by the Dozen' in?" "Who wrote 'Little Britches'?" Such are the questions which student librarians must be able to answer constantly. Besides furnishing this steady stream of information they have to check out books and magazines, card and shelve books, keep the books in order, dust, prepare bulletin boards, collect fines, help prepare new books for circulation, and perform myriad routine duties to keep the library a usable center of knowledge and data.

The 1950-51 staff provided excellent service. Martha Dunning opened the library and readied it for the day's activities. Martha Holloway's typing ability was helpful in cataloging new books. Fines and overdue book records were left up to Betty Todd. Pat McDermitt's art talents were employed in making up bulletin boards and book displays. All assistants did their work efficiently. At the beginning of the second semester Janet Hoke and Janet Howell took over Ellen Miller's place the second period; Dorothy Nelson assumed her sister Norma's duties, and Gardenia Latta replaced Billie Jo Wallace during the last period.

Back row: Dot Ailes, Ellen Miller, Martha Leckron, Mr. Wood, Dorothy Nelson, Billie Jo Wallace, Pat McDermitt, Cora Lee Clement.

Seated: Martha Dunning, Martha Holloway, Gardenia Latta, Betty Todd.

Y-TEENS

With Miss Marilyn Kimberlin and Mrs. Annalee Cloud supervising, the Y-Teens met in the art room every activity period throughout the year. Their first business quite naturally concerned the election of officers, who were as follows: president, Carolyn Sullivan; vice-president, Joyce Stitt; secretary, Sue Smith; treasurer, Phyllis Shaver.

Christmas time was a period of vigorous activity. White gift baskets of food were prepared and given to needy families of the community, and, as usual, the girls purchased and decorated a large Christmas tree for the main hall. On January 23 a beautiful recognition service was held for new members in the basement of the Methodist church. In February they sponsored contributions to the National Heart Fund by soliciting all twelve grades of the city schools. March 17 was the date of an important food sale, which helped finance the sending of a member to the Y-Teen Summer Camp.

BUS DRIVERS

Among the unsung heroes who serve our school is a small group of men who drive the school busses daily. Seldom seen by the student body, as a whole, or the teachers, these men are most intimately acquainted with the students they transport. Perhaps they have a broader understanding of Fairmount High than any other individuals, for they hear the frank reports of students from all grade levels.

The mechanical manipulation of the bus is only one phase of a driver's work. For one thing, he must know how to get along with children and young people, be sympathetic toward their problems, settle their disputes, and keep them happy.

Standing: Lora Hayden, Max Pemberton.

Seated: Paul Dye, Bill Hoppes, Paul Horine.

Too, a driver must feel the responsibility of safely delivering his pupils to school in the morning and back home in the evening. Whether the weather is good or bad, hot or cold, he must not shirk whenever school is in session.

Basketball games, skating parties, class field trips, etc., constantly rely upon certain bus drivers for transportation. For their many services the school is appreciative and grateful.

The Black and Gold is sorry that Bryan Titus, and Walter W. Gibson, who have driven Liberty Township busses for 22 years, are not pictured with the group.

4-H CLUBS

Although 4-H work is not specifically a part of the school program, the clubs are composed of students in the homemaking and agriculture departments, and the clubs are advised and supervised by the teachers of the subjects, Miss McTurnan and Mr. Hugh Caughell.

Members pictured on the opposite page represent the following clubs: Senior Jolly Workers, led by Mrs. Hubert Sicks and Mrs. Wade Morris; Junior Jolly Workers, led by Mrs. Bruce Satter-thwaite and Margaret Thomas; Rekamemoh, led by Mrs. Robert Ellingwood and Mrs. John Charles Peacock; Fowlerton Evergreen, led by Mrs. Fred Monahan and Mrs. Dudley Williamson; Liberty Jolly Workers, led by Mrs. Ronald Smith and Mrs. Riley Scott; Roundup, led by Lawrence Rhoads; Strawtown, led by Ronald Smith.

NATIONAL FORENSIC LEAGUE

The National Forensic League, more commonly called the Debate Club, did a lot of work this year in the field of speech. Under the supervision of their sponsor and advisor, Mrs. Adeline Brookshire, and their president, Betty Todd, they had several debates including one with Dunkirk, to which the Fairmount Debate Club played host.

The A team for this year was composed of David Nall and Billie Jo Wallace, while Negative debaters were Betty Todd and Martha Dunning. Most of the debate students attended a debate conference December 1 and 2, at Purdue University. In the Legislative Assembly, organized there, David Nall represented Fairmount in the Senate and Betty Todd represented Fairmount in the House of Representatives.

This Fairmount speech group was host for its district in the Indiana state speech contest. They also attended the state National Forensic League speech contest in Hammond. Understudies directed by Betty Todd were members of the junior debate club which met once every week to work on speech and debate projects. Robert Plue was the able president of this group.

BAND

The band was organized at the beginning of the school year under the direction of Mr. Donald Ratcliff. Sixteen students enrolled at that time. Although it was a small band, its music was heard throughout the school during the third period with perceptible improvement as the year progressed.

The band practiced marches first semester to get ready to play at the home games. However, the band was able to play for one game only, since there were so few games played on the home floor.

At the beginning of the second semester, five more students enrolled in the organization. These were Joyce Rich, Larry Wood, David Allred, Shirley Thompson, and Jane Anne Buffington. Also at the beginning of the second semester, band officers were elected as follows: James Fisher, president; Bill Updegraff, vice-president; Joyce Stitt, secretary-treasurer; and John Powers, librarian.

Recording a group of numbers for broadcast over WMRI was a late winter activity. Then in February the organization began practicing hard on overtures to be ready for the Spring Festival. This Spring Music Festival was held April 13. In addition to the musical selections from the band, there were also choir numbers, solos, duets, trios, quartets, and numbers performed by grade school pupils. The twirlers also took an active part with the band. To finish up the year, in accordance to tradition, the band played at commencement and baccalaureate. Thanks to the untiring efforts of Mr. Ratcliff, prospects for next year are much better. Already there are seven known students to come into the band next fall.

Twirlers: Dot Ailes, majorette; Phyllis Jones, Jill Corn, Wanda Carr.

Row one: Bill Updegraff, Janet Hollenbeck, Larry Wood, Joyce Rich, John Powers.

CHOIR

The Fairmount High School girls' choir this year, under the direction of Mr. Donald Ratcliff, music director, was composed of twenty members, who met every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday in the auditorium. This sixth period choir consisted of fourteen juniors, three sophomores, and three freshmen.

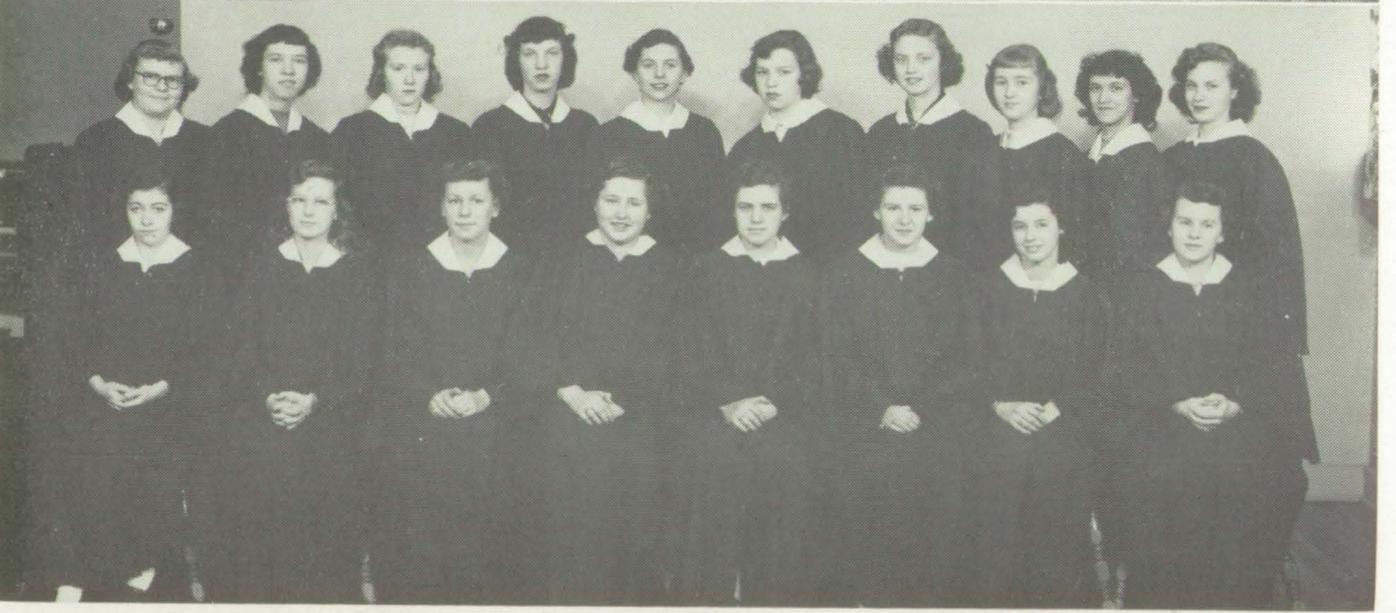

Traditional robes of maroon with white collars were worn by the girls when they sang for special programs and church appearances. Some of their activities for the year were an appearance before the Fowlerton Methodist Church, singing for a special service at the Back Creek Wesleyan Methodist Church, and the recording of a group of songs that were broadcast over WMRI of Marion.

To highlight their season of song, the girls chorus presented a selection of numbers at the baccalaureate on Sunday, May 20. Then on May 21 their final performance was given at the Bethel Tabernacle for the 1951 commencement.

EDDIE THOMAS RECEIVES F. F. A. AWARD

Eddie Thomas and John Jessup of the Fairmount Chapter of Future Farmers of America attended the National Convention of their organization at Kansas City from October 8 to 14, 1950. John Jessup was state secretary and attended the convention as a state delegate. Eddie Thomas attended as a member of the national F. F. A. chorus. Eddie was also Indiana District VI director. Eddie also received a $100.00 check from the national Future Farmers of America Foundation for his achievement in "Farm Mechanics Activity." A bronze medal accompanied the check award. Medals were also received by Jack Sheets for his "Soil and Water Conservation" work and by John Jessup for his "Dairy Production Activity" and for his public speaking achievement. John placed fourth in the state F. F. A. speech contest.

Early in the year Eddie coached the F. F. A. ball team, but Uncle Sam put an end to that activity as well as his job as president of District VI. Eddie was stationed at Wichita Falls with the Army Air Corps when this account was written.

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

The Future Farmers of America, better known as F. F. A., was organized nationally in 1928. The training in leadership offered in this organization proved a desirable addition to the training for farm boys taking vocational agriculture. With this in mind Mr. R. C. Arbuckle came to F. H. S. in 1935. Fairmount's Chapter 62 of the Future Farmers of America was chartered April 10, 1936. There are 6,000 members in the state and 200 active chapters. In the six years Mr. Caughell has been here Fairmount boys have won 5 of the district speaking contests and numerous other awards.

Jack Sheets and Joe Kelsay won first in the district speech and essay contest this year. "Save Our Soil" was the title of Jack's essay; "The Price of Carelessness with Fire" was the title of Joe's speech. These boys competed in the state contests held at Purdue, April 5, 6 and 7.

The group had approximately 40 members during 1950-51. Officers were as follows:

President .....	Leonard Kimes
Vice-President .....	Jack Sheets
Secretary .....	Joe Kelsay
Treasurer .....	Jim Fisher
Reporter .....	Bill Payne
Door Keeper .....	Dick Grindle

Third row: Buddy Hale, Phil Compton, Dale Titus, Jim Reynolds, Benny Underwood, Phil Smith, John Stinger, Charles Benninghoff, Bob Plue, Harlan Haisley.

BOOSTER CLUB

Coming early . . . staying late . . . wearing gold sweaters . . . using flash cards . . . Hey-bob-a-rebob . . . Quakers . . . Yeah! Rah! Fight! Yelling with all their might. These phrases describe the Booster Club of Fairmount High School for 1950-51. Made up of 50 girls and their substitutes, it was one of the most outstanding and active organizations in Fairmount High School during the year.

The Booster Club held its meetings at noon on the day of games. Besides their own meetings,

the group arranged many pep sessions with the entire student body before big games. On January 16, a club party was held which was followed by an hour's rehearsal for the County Tournament. These loyal girls have had a splendid year and have really supported the team.

The officers of the club were: president, Martha Jane Pulley; vice-president, Janet Roth; secretary-treasurer, Marjean Payne. Sponsoring the group were Mrs. Annalee Cloud and Miss Marilyn Kimberlin.

"F" CLUB

On September 22, 1950, the "F" Club held the first meeting of their fifth year as an organization of school athletes. The group convened in the gymnasium and elected the following slate of officers for the year.

President . . . . . Bud Cox
Vice-President . . . . . John Webster
Secretary-Treasurer . . . . . John Mitchener

As a major project the club decided to bend their efforts toward the acquisition of a badly needed, new, trophy case. A ball game pitting the Has-Beens against the Will-Be's was one means of raising money for the case, which they hoped to have purchased before the close of school.

The 23 members of the club were boys who had acquired letters in a major sport, such as basketball, baseball, or track. One rule was stressed particularly during the year, namely that a boy could not wear a black "F" unless he had rightfully earned it.

G. A. A.

The G. A. A. or Girls Athletic Association was organized in Fairmount High School this year for the first time. The first two charter members were Kay Ann Smith and Wanda Carr. Officers who were elected in February were: president, Kay Ann Smith; vice-president, Wanda Carr; secretary, Dot Ailes; and treasurer, Lola Small. The G. A. A. was organized in Fairmount to develop good sportsmanship, health, and friendship in girls' sports, such as ring toss, ping pong, bowling, badminton, swimming, volleyball, and basketball.

Two representatives were sent to the State G. A. A. camp held at Columbus, Indiana, May 11, 12, 13. The group is affiliated with the Indiana State High School Girls' Athletic Association. An informal initiation was held in April for the girls receiving their required points.

The Girls' Athletic Association is expected to continue its activities at Fairmount High School in the future with more students enrolling.

YELL LEADERS

Pep, enthusiasm, plus originality, hard work, and novel yells, were demonstrated by our yell leaders, Sue Smith, Marlene Payne, and Margaret Webster.

Marlene, senior; Sue, junior; and Margaret, sophomore, were chosen by the faculty and class officers of each class, with each person trying out individually. They were judged on character, ability, personality, rhythm, leadership, grooming, cooperation, and appearance. These three girls worked hard this year and were always supporting the team with their representation of a high standard of school loyalty at all basketball games.

Loretta Price and Mary Lynn Beck were chosen this year as the cheer leaders for the freshman class. They were chosen by the entire class by a popular vote. These two girls have gone all out in making the year a success by their cooperation and loyalty to the freshman and varsity teams.

Cute, pert, neat, and challenging the best, Marlene Crouch and Jane Crist served as the cheer leaders for the seventh and eighth grade teams. These girls led a small but mighty section and have done a splendid job of it for new-comers to F. H. S.

SENIOR JAMBOREE

Another dramatic activity of the year, which is not pictured, was the Senior Jamboree presented on the evening of March 30. The main attraction was a melodrama entitled "The City Slicker and Our Nell." The cast included the following:

Sheridan Douglas ..... Wayne Nave
Frank Beard ..... John Mitchener
Toby Snodgrass ..... Bob Roth
Dan Tucker ..... Phil Grindle
Claribel Worth ..... Barbara Pratt
Violet Beard ..... Bonnie Wilson

Nellie Beard ..... Cora Lee Clement
Minnie Beard ..... Martha Harrold
Aunt Marthy ..... Joyce Rich

In the jamboree which followed, outstanding acts included John Mitchener and Betty Todd as "Pa and Ma Kettle"; reading and dance routine by Billie Jo Wallace; guitar music by Lavern Richardson; gag and dance routine by Mike Cosby and David Nall; alternating M. C.'s Mike Cosby and Phyllis Florea. Mrs. Brookshire and Mr. Sollberger, class sponsors, also participated.

JUNIOR PLAY

The cast and setting pictured second on the opposite page is that of the junior class play, "Our Miss Brooks."

THESPIANS

Five years ago on March 13, 1943, charter 682 designated a group of Fairmount dramatic students as a part of the National Thespians Society. Mrs. Adeline Nall Brookshire was the sponsor then and still remains their capable advisor. Ever keeping in mind the truth of Shakespeare's lofty words, "Act well your part, for therein all the honor lies," these aspiring dramatic performers are always ready to assume the roles which will serve best their school. Presenting in dramatic art the humor and seriousness of living, the Thespians reach into the heart of every student.

Thespian activities for the year of 1950-51 consisted of a play, "The Ghost Wore White," given before the student body at the Fall Carnival;

"Polly Put the Kettle On," along with two plays, "Just Before the Prom," and "Gray Bread," which were given by the Sophomore speech class, was presented to the student body on October 31 to leave a spooky effect for Halloween night; and for Christmas, "Pop Reads a Christmas Carol." Then on March 8, the Thespians held their annual initiation, at which time thirteen students became new members. Preceding the initiation the play entitled, "If Men Played Cards as Women Do," was staged by four Thespian boys just to liven things up.

Officers this year were president, David Nall; vice-president, Bob Roth; secretary, Patsy Brown; and treasurer, Pete Beck.

1950 Farewell Banquet

Under a tropic setting of South Sea Islands decorations, the class of '50 was given a farewell banquet just before their graduation. With several of the sophomore class members acting as waiters and waitresses, the juniors and seniors were served a delicious dinner.

Carol Ricks and Phillip Underwood, both seniors of '50, were chosen by their class to reign as king and queen of the prom. After their coronation by Mr. DuBois, speeches were given by Eddie Thomas and David Nall, presidents of the two honored classes.

Following a short intermission, a dance was held which lasted until midnight.

On May 5, 1951, exactly one year after the '50 prom, a banquet and dance were given in honor of the '51 class. This annual affair was very similar to the one of the previous year with the exception of the decorating of the gym. The theme, that of an evening in Paris, was very effectively carried out under the supervision of Miss Marilyn Kimberlin, art instructor.

SCHOOL CAFETERIA

Good food and a pleasant place in which to eat it were provided by Mrs. Dunn and Mrs. Parrill and their student assistants in the cafeteria during the year. Three changes were inaugurated in the fall: 1. students and faculty were required to purchase tickets by 9:30 a. m; 2. the line was formed by classes and rotated daily; 3. teachers took turns collecting tickets. Again this year the cafeteria proved a great benefit to the school.

CLARENCE CLIFFORD

ACE SELLERS

Students of the journalism class wish to dedicate this page to Clarence Clifford and Ace Sellers, pictured above, whose ceaseless efforts continue to make our old building one of the best kept in the state. From early in the morning until late at night they provided for our individual needs and comforts during the past nine months. On the following pages are photographs of typical classes and classrooms which Ace and Cliff have cleaned and heated daily, while we pursued our high school education.

The 1950-51 Quakers

During 1950-51 our Quaker team piled up one of the outstanding records in our school's history, winning 18 and losing only 4. Highlights of the team's play came during the Dunkirk, Lapel and Marion games. In each of these games our Quakers came up with peak performances. The loss of seven seniors will leave berths in the 1951-52 team wide open.

Coach Paul Weaver

Coach Paul Weaver has every right to be proud of his accomplishments as athletic director at Fairmount High. Not only his well-trained 1950-51 basketball squad but all other phases of his work are proof of his effort and ability. This is Mr. Weaver's fourth year as coach and physical education teacher in Fairmount.

JOHN "MOE" MITCHENER

Senior center, second year of varsity ball. Anywhere near the basket, "Big Moe" was a real threat. Ranking third in the county, he led his team in scoring.

ROBERT "BOB" ROTH

Senior guard, second year of varsity ball. Having developed into one of the best two-handed shooters in the county, Bob was second high scorer on the team. In defensive play his talent contributed greatly to his team's success.

RICHARD "PETE" BECK

Senior forward, first year of varsity ball. "Pete" probably revealed more improvement than any other player on the team. Displaying accuracy in passing and shooting, he was a particularly dangerous scorer under the basket.

JOHN "RED" WEBSTER

Senior forward, second year of varsity ball. To John fell all the tough defense assignments, which he controlled superbly. Known for his hook shots, he came through with an envious record.

PHILLIP "BUD" COX

Senior guard, fourth year of varsity ball. One of the top rebounders in the county for the past three years, "Bud" was at his best when the opposition was toughest.

PAUL "MOOSE" TAYLOR

Senior center, first year of varsity ball. As assistant to John Mitchener, Paul's ability and determination proved a valuable asset in more than one emergency.

THURMAN "CURLY" HARTER

Senior, forward, first year of varsity ball. In his one year with the Quakers Thurman participated in a good many games and more than once proved his worth under the basket.

CHARLES "CHARLEY" JOHNSON

Junior guard, first year of varsity ball. Although not a regular starter, "Charley" was always ready for action. He should be one of the Quaker's top men next year.

Student Managers

Athletic managers David Nall and Larry Smith were an integral part of the year's activity. Not only did they perform the regular duties of their job, but they contributed to team morale with their interest and knowledge of basketball and sports in general.

Compliments of Bud's Barber Shop

SECOND TEAM

The Little Quakers started off their season without losing a game. Then on January 13, they met Eastern, at Marion, and lost the one game that spoiled an otherwise perfect record. At the end of the year, the Little Quakers came out with a record of 15 wins and 1 loss.

CROSS COUNTRY

Sparked by the fleet-footed ability of Thurman Harter, the Quaker harriers ran to victory many times this year. Almost daily last fall these boys would run from three to four miles in their training for this sport. But this hard training paid off, for the team won a good percentage of their races.

1950 SCHEDULE

Date	Team	Fairmount	Length	Time
September 20	St. Paul 38	17	1 1/4 Miles	7 Minutes
September 26	Sweetser 38	17	1 1/2 Miles	7 Minutes 54 Seconds

October 17	Eastern (Greentown) 27	28	2 Miles	10 Minutes 39 Seconds
October 24	Sectional at Anderson

Fairmount placed 11th out of 15 in the sectional. This was a two-mile race and was run in 9 minutes and 49 seconds. The low scoring team is the winner in cross-country running.

Sponsored by Hasty Implement Company

Middle row: Clinton Moore, second baseman, outfielder; Bud Cox, catcher; Pete Beck, pitcher, outfielder; John Mitchener, third baseman.

1950 BASEBALL CHAMPS

The fall of 1950 saw the best baseball team in the history of Fairmount High School. The boys were undefeated in thirteen games, and became, of course, the Grant County Conference champions.

SCHEDULE

Opponent	Fairmount	Opponent	Fairmount
Van Buren 1	10	Van Buren 2	19

Second row: Lee Persinger, Paul McCormick, Vernon Harrell, Jack Sheets, Jerry Lewis, Henry Prine, Bud Thurston.

First row. Joe Kelsay, Dick Grindle, Don Cromer, Bill Wilson, Phil Grindle, Lowell Blair.

THE TRACK TEAM

The 1950 track season at F. H. S. found many underclassmen participating for the first time. Holdovers from 1949 were few; one however, Charles Lewis, became one of our school's top cindermen. Lewis broke the school record in the half-mile run while competing in the sectional meet at Kokomo. His record time was 2 minutes and 6.7

seconds. The old record was set in 1933 by John Stookey.

Other point makers were Pete Beck in the hurdles; Charles Johnson, in the 440 yard dash; Lawrence Kinch, in the mile; and Bill Wilson in the pole vault.

THE 1951

March 30—Fairmount vs. Swayzee at Sweetser.
April 13—Fairmount vs. Alexandria at Alexandria.

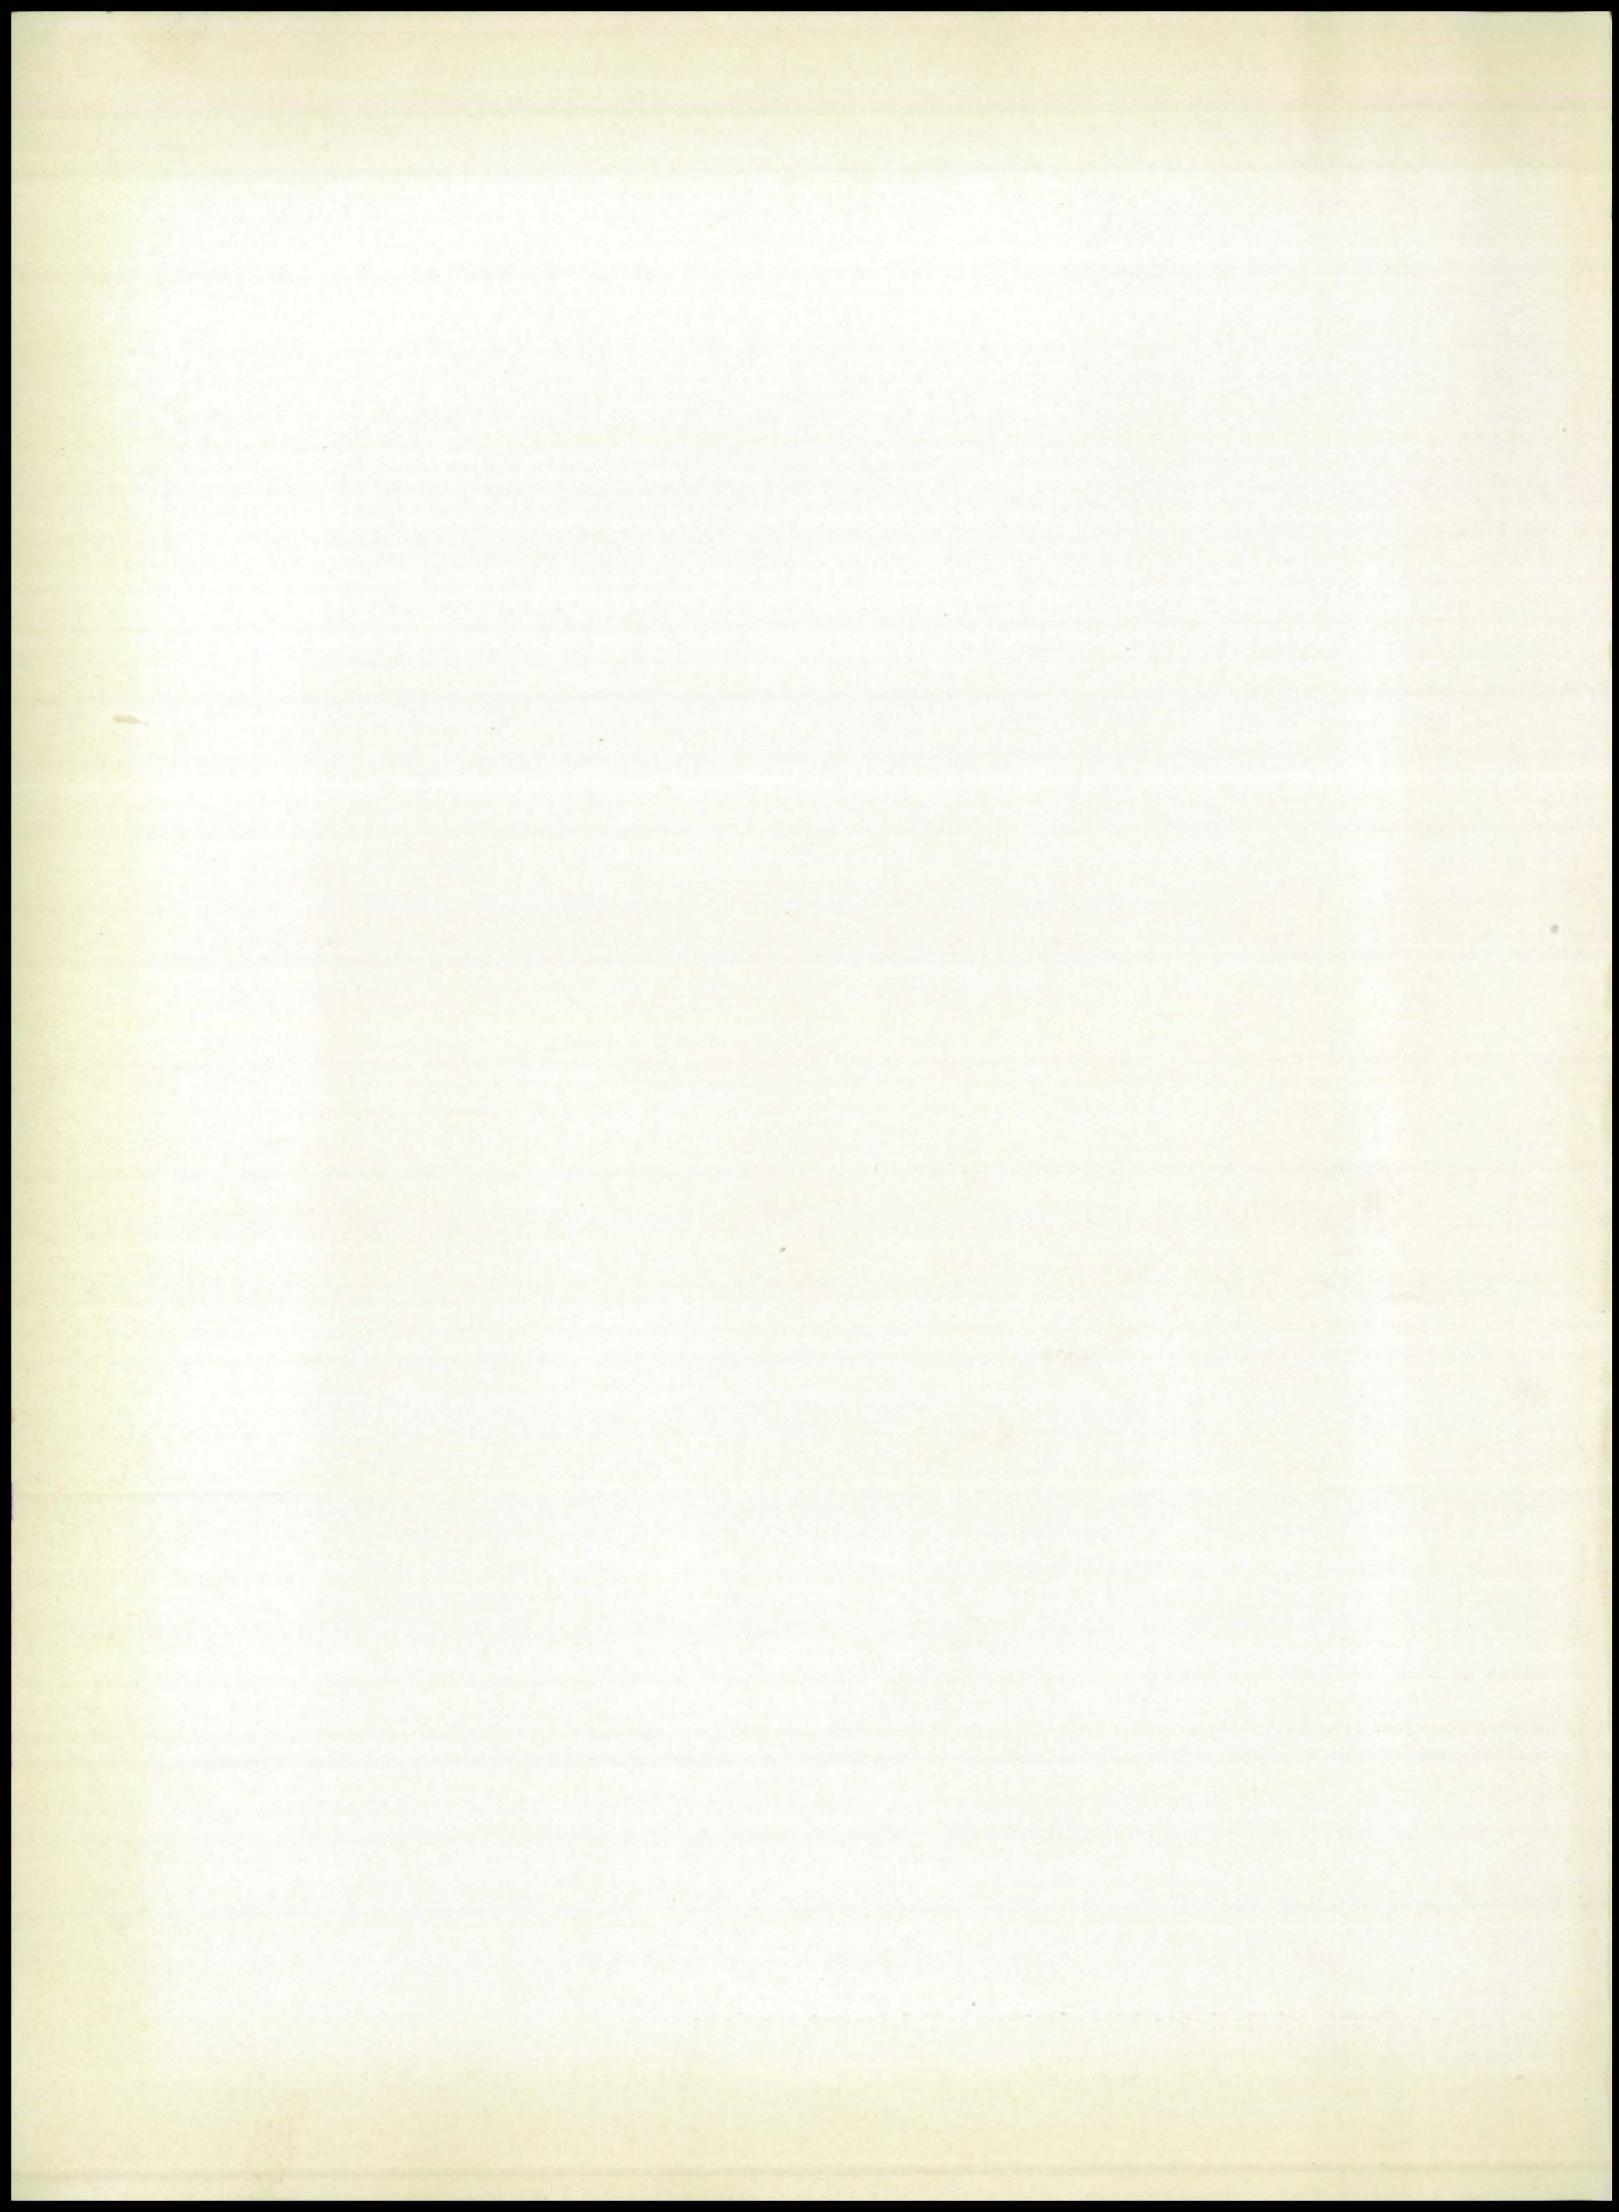

April 18—Triangular meet at Taylor University with Van Buren and Jefferson Township.

SCHEDULE

April 25—Fairmount vs. Sweetser, there.
May 2—Triangular meet at Tipton with Tipton and Lebanon.

Date to be arranged—Fairmount vs. Montpelier.
