

Wed. Jan. 31, 1945

Burma

To My Dearest Wife,

Some mail finally arrived today; two v-mails from you. I wish they wouldn't come so far apart, it don't seem like I get very much mail when they arrive in bunches.

I see you still work at the store once in a while. Do you work every Friday or just when Ida and Bill want to go someplace?

I have not heard from Russ Harper for a long time; I may have a letter on the way though. He is lucky to be close enough to home to get a three day pass.

There is going to be a stage-show tonight. This is the second one that's been here. I will tell you about it in tomorrow's letter.

I love you, darling.

Your husband,

Earl

Wed. Jan. 31, 1945
Bismarck.

To My Dearest Wife,

Some mail finally arrived today; two V-mails from you. I wish they wouldn't come so far apart, it don't seem like I get very much mail when they arrive in bunches.

I see you still work at the store over in a while. Do you work every Friday or just when Elda and Bill want to go some place?

I have not heard from Russ Kooper for a long time; I may have a letter on the way though. He is lucky to be close enough to home to get a three day pass.

There is going to be a stage-show to-night. This is the second one that's been here. I will tell you about it in tomorrow's letter.

I love you, darling.
Your husband,
Evel